Cantata rehearsals slated to begin

Rehearsals for a community-wide Christmas cantata entitled "Christmas Rhapsody" to be presented Sunday Dec. 11, have been announced by the director, Cheryl Thayer.

Rehearsals will be held at the Community Reformed Church at 8:10 p.m. every Sunday evening. "We are starting early and meeting every week in order to allow everyone an opportunity to attend at least part of the rehearsals" Mrs. Thayer said.

Rehearsals will be held at the Community Reformed Church for the cantata composed by Phil and Lynn Brower and Don Wyrtsen.

Jeannie Lignell will be the pianist and Frances Boss the organist.

Mrs. Thayer has extended an invitation to vocalists in the area to join in singing the joyful Christmas music of the cantata.

Erber-McKeown Welcomes Joe Simons

We are expanding our complete transportation services at Erber-McKeown Ford Inc. We have the good fortune of adding to our staff "Joe Simons" who will assist management in strengthening the car and truck rental and leasing phase of our business in addition to selling.

Mr. Simons is well qualified, working 10 years with the Ford Division, Ford Motor Company specializing in fleet and leasing sales. He also owned, organized and successfully operated Floyd Rice Leasing Company of Detroit for 17 years.

Mr. Simons feels because of the influx of people to Northern Michigan the potential for car and truck leasing is increasing and opening a new market in our area. In conversation Mr. Simons mentioned that 40% of the driving public rent a car or truck.

Mr. Simons adds strength to our already outstanding sales and leasing force.

Watch, Inc.

(Water & Air Team For Charlevoix)
First Quarter Report — September 30, 1983

Watch, Inc. was organized on July 1, 1983 as a Michigan non-profit corporation by a group of concerned Charlevoix citizens. Its purposes and Articles of Incorporation are recognized by the Michigan Department of Commerce as qualifying it as a charitable organization. An application has been made to the IRS for recognition of Watch as a Section 501(c)(3), giving it Tax Exempt Status. According to our attorneys, Watch, Inc. will in all probability receive such status before the end of the year, thus all contributions will be tax exempt under the I.R.S. Act of 1954.

WATCH OBJECTIVES

Charlevoix has both air and water quality problems. The water quality problem is currently being effectively investigated by city officials, State Board of Health officials and more recently the E.P.A. Super Fund representatives, all of whom are eminently qualified and who will unquestionably discover causes of this problem and come up with alternative solutions in the near future. Watch, Inc. is therefore concentrating on upgrading air quality in the Charlevoix area.

Charlevoix air quality has been a chronic problem of increasing deterioration for the past several years. The cause stems from cement dust emissions generated by the Medusa plant at Southpoint. Let their be no mistake, Medusa is in non-compliance with several sections of the Michigan statutes relating to the Clean Air Act and has been cited for violation on several occasions. Watch, Inc. is a concerned citizens group who is attempting through a cooperative program with Medusa, the air Quality Division of the D.N.R. and consultants of our selection, to rectify and isolate problem areas and otherwise assist the Medusa plant in correcting this air pollution problem. WE DO NOT as "some would have the Charlevoix citizenry think" want to close this plant. We DO KNOW that this plant with proper management, a responsible labor attitude, proper equipment maintenance, and a corporate recognition of its responsibility to the community can operate within the law. Finally WE WILL continue our spirit of cooperation for a REASONABLE PERIOD of time so as to allow Medusa to get its house in order, but make no mistake, if reasonable progress in solving this nuisance is not forthcoming, then regretfully we shall be forced to go to litigation to bring relief to the nuisance.

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

As we are a public non-profit corporation, your board of directors decided at the outset to provide its members and the Charlevoix Community with periodic public reports on our progress. We are all aware of the polarization existent in the community related to Medusa and the cement dust problem. The "perceived threat" to employment of local residents, the cash flow "such employment generates to local merchants, understandably impart a form of resentment to and fear of Watch, Inc. Being conscious of this resistance it behooves us all to be sympathetic and continue to reassure the "year around resident" as to our real objectives. Because of this widespread local antipathy we decided to concentrate our initial fund raising activities to the summer residents, condominium community, summer home associations etc. The results have been truly encouraging. We now have 402 members. Of this total only 17 are "year around residents". The contributions have been most generous and will be reported in a separate six month unaudited report you will receive later. Suffice it to say, we owe no money, have paid out $16, 406 in legal, consultant and miscellaneous expenses and have a very strong financial and pledged reserve which will allow us a comfortable litigation fund, which hopefully it will never be necessary to use in this manner.

In fairness to Medusa officials they have demonstrated a cooperative and reasonable attitude which we have every reason to believe will continue. Several meetings have been held including Mr. Dan Somes, President of Medusa; Mr. Ed Keiser, National Plants Manager-Medusa; Ardon Tolan and four other D.N.R. representatives; Mr. Don Lustre, Medusa Air Consultant; Mr. Gene Dennison, Princeton Laboratories; Watch Air Consultant and, of course, members of Watch. A positive dialogue has been established and certain air testing programs put in place some of which have been operating 30 days. A data base is in the process of being accumulated which it is hoped will be extremely helpful to Medusa in the future in solving their problems. Mr. John Schmidt has recently been appointed as Manager of the local Medusa plant. We have met with him and he appears to have impeccable credentials. We shall be watching his performance with interest and wish him well on his new assignment.

On September 20, 21 and 22 the Air Quality Division of the D.N.R. conducted a "stack test" at the Medusa plant. This is a very complicated test which the average layman would have difficulty in understanding. Briefly it is a test to determine the amount of pollution being emitted from the "stack". Results of these tests are currently being evaluated by the D.N.R. — we understand that preliminary evaluation showed Medusa passing this test with favorable results. To us, two conclusions can be drawn. First, if Medusa can favorably pass a three day stack test with D.N.R. officials on hand, then it proves that the plant is capable of operating a clean stack all of the time! Second, we have maintained that very little of the fugitive dust and pollution is being emitted from the stack. It is coming from the quarry, the kiln area and two or three other areas which must be controlled.

Watch, Inc. is interested in "long term" results and most definitely intend to remain diligent until "short term" improvement is translated into year around optimum performance by Medusa.

Howard F. Neilson

To: Charlevoix Residents (Year Around):

For Watch, Inc. to operate as a viable and effective instrument for clean air in Charlevoix, community support is necessary in the form of membership. As noted above currently, only 17 year around residents are stockholders (members) of Watch. Watch, Inc. takes the blame for this as until now we have made no direct appeal to the local community. We make that appeal now.

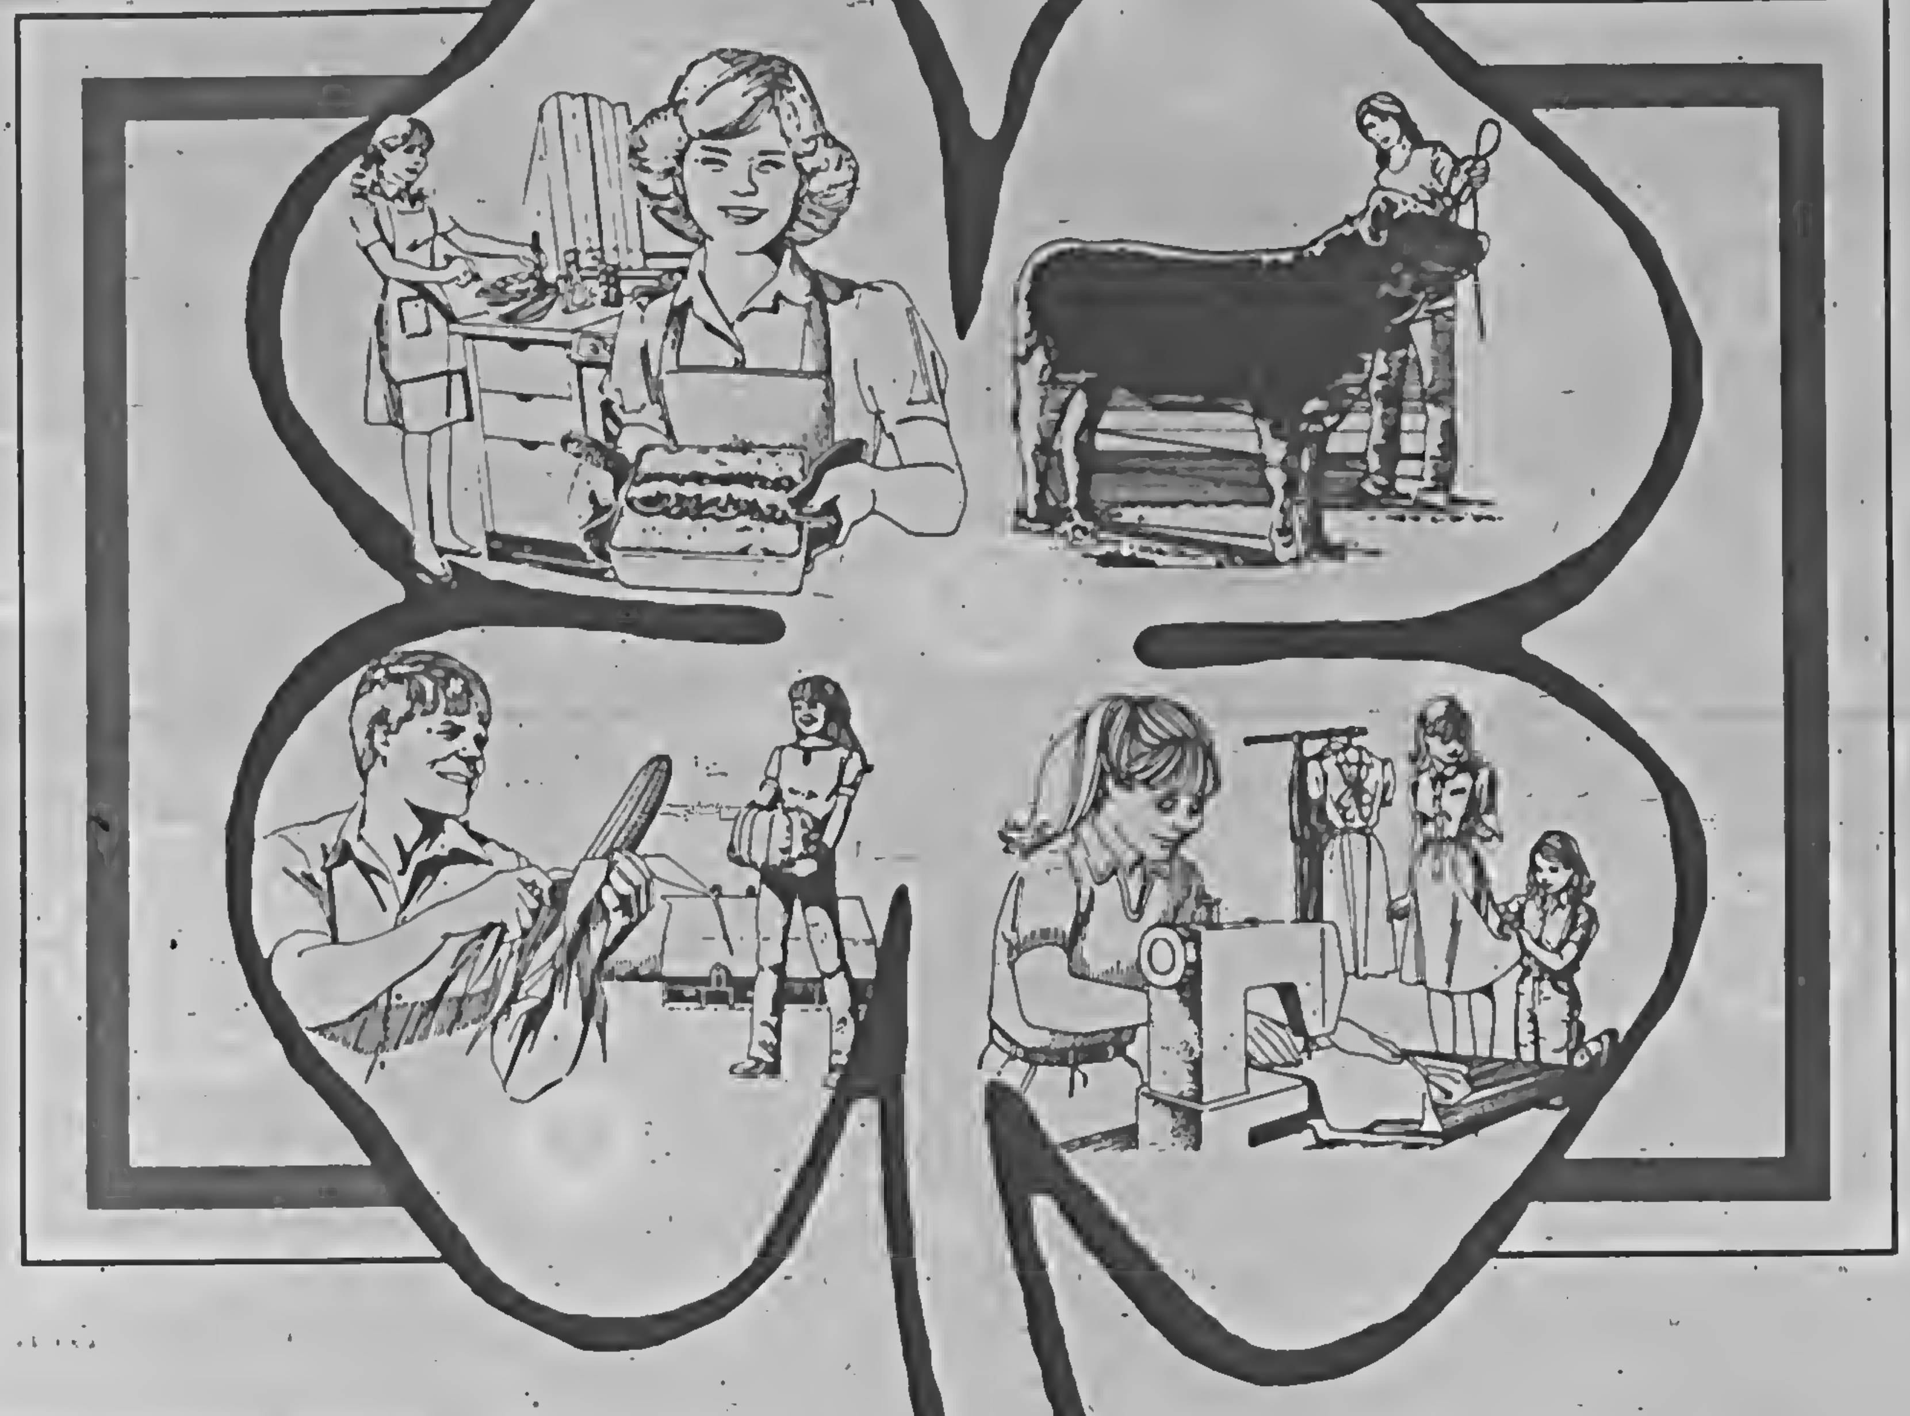
To become a member send $5.00 (five dollars) and your name and address to Watch, Inc., P.O. Box 615, Charlevoix, MI 49720. To become a life member send your check for $25 (twenty five dollars). Contributions in excess of these amounts are also welcome.

We find it very difficult to believe that anyone in Charlevoix is opposed to unpolluted air. We also believe all of us — resident, summer resident, condominium owner, summer home people, want to maintain this beautiful area on a pollution free basis.

Even though you don't join us we welcome your constructive criticism. Write us at the address above.

4-H WEEK, OCT. 2-8

4-H: BUILDING ON EXPERIENCE



4-H ... Pathways to the Future

by PEG DHLE

For as long as most of us can remember, the four-leaf clover insignia of the 4-H Clubs has been a familiar sight.

In Charlevoix County, that insignia has special meaning for the 1,200 or so boys and girls who participate in 4-H work. To them it means a special 4-H project, an entry in the Emmet County Fair, a camping trip on Beaver Island, a learning experience in Lansing, competition in a horse show, and many other activities.

This is National 4-H Week, proclaimed in Charlevoix County by the County Board of Commissioners to recognize 4-H members and leaders. This special week also gives those outside the realm of 4-H Clubs a chance to learn what is behind that clover leaf insignia:

Each H and each clover leaf stands for something important in the life of a young person – Head, Heart, Hands, and Health – as incorporated in the 4-H Pledge:

"I pledge my HEAD to clearer thinking, my HEART to greater loyalty, my HANDS to larger service, and my HEALTH to better living, for my club, my community, my country, and my world."

4-H Clubs were preceded by corn clubs for boys and canning clubs for girls, organized early in the century by public school educators.

The Cooperative Extension Service (of which 4-H Clubs are a part) was created when Congress passed the Smith-Lever Act of 1914.

A four-leaf clover replaced the three-leaf emblem after World War I, and 4-H Club work began to be noticed.

A National Committee on Boy's and Girl's Club Work was organized in 1921 to encourage private sector support, the first National 4-H Congress was held in 1922, and the first National 4-H Camp was held in 1927.

After World War II, 4-H moved rapidly to other countries around the world (now 80 countries), and the International Farm Youth Exchange began in 1948.

At the present time, there are some 30 4-H Clubs in Charlevoix County, with about 60 volunteer leaders.

Club leaders in the Charlevoix area are Dan Berg, Bob Bellairs, Judy Clock, Gary and Sue DeYoung, Evelyn Farrell, Don and Barb Finley, Helen Foster, Richard Hand, Janice Harvey, Mary Keem, Shiela North, Dr. Merle Plagge, Don Reyes, Kris Schenck, Susan Turski, Dee Janz, and Lois Lamp.

County Extension Director Rod Cortright heads up the 4-H program in Charlevoix County. He is assisted by Elisabeth L. Horrocks, Area 4-H Agent, and Leah Green, County 4-H Program Assistant. Their offices are in Boyne City.

Charles Myers of Boyne Falls serves on the State 4-H Council.

Last year, Charlevoix County 4-H members completed about 350 projects and displayed 120 of them at the Emmett County Fair.

All 4-H activity is designed to help young people acquire life skills along many lines, including a positive self image, good communication skills, practical skills, problem solving skills, leadership skills, understanding of and respect for the environment, ability to relate positively to the community, and eagerness to learn.

The positive impact 4-H Club work can have on boys and girls across the country is illustrated by the fact that last year 4,763,021 young people nationwide participated in 4-H activities. The greatest number of these were members of one of the 91,780 4-H Clubs in the country. Other young people were members of 4-H special interest units, 4-H school enrichment units, 4-H individual study programs, or enrolled in 4-H instructional TV series.

Over half of these 4-H members lived on farms or in towns under 10,000 population; others lived in larger towns, suburbs, and central cities. Girls outnumbered boys by over eight percent.

During 1982, there were 489,392 adult volunteer 4-H Club leaders in the country and 130,012 junior and teen volunteer 4-H Club leaders. These leaders worked directly and indirectly with 4-H young people, assisting them in educational projects and activities, serving on advisory committees, or on state or district planning groups.

As with most volunteer programs, there is a need for 4-H leaders in Charlevoix County in several different roles:

Project Leader: To work with 4-H members and assist them with their projects and any activities related to the projects.

Activity Leader: To work with club members on activities other than projects.

Organisational Leader: To handle the organisation and operation of a Community Club and guide the overall direction of that club. Could serve several small clubs.

Resource Leader: To share his or her training or experience in a project area. Would act as speaker, teacher, or consultant to the club.

Teen Leader: Young people 14 to 19 to be club leaders on their own. An opportunity to learn independence, practice responsibility and experience increased self-esteem.

Junior Leader: Young people 12 to 19 to assist an adult leader. Really an apprentice.

Further information about 4-H volunteers may be obtained from the 4-H office, phone 582-8232.

We are proud of our 4-H'ers!

March of Dimes jamboree attracts country music fans

The lure of country music and auction bargains brought over 150 people to Crew's Inn in East Jordan on Sunday, September 25, for an afternoon of old-fashioned fun benefiting March of Dimes.

Midnite Rain, Little Mike and the Country Connection, And Good Ole Boys provided music for listening and dancing. Harry Pearsall, well known on the charity circuit, auctioned off clothing, lamps, cookies, tools, and hunting equipment, along with many other articles donated by merchants and individuals from Ellsworth, Charlevoix, East Jordan, Boyne City and Petoskey.

Jerry and Mona Krall, owners of Crew's Inn, hosted the event and donated a percentage of the profits from food and drink to March of Dimes. Their staff also donated their time and services for the day.

Paula Sweet, coordinator of the event, announced a total of $915 raised from the auction-jamboree for the March of Dimes Northern Chapter, which includes Emmet, Charlevoix, and Cheboygan Counties. Forty per cent of the money raised remains in the chapter to be used for funding genetic counseling field clinics, nurse scholarships, nutritional aid for Char-Em Alternative Education for Pregnant Teens, individual patient assistance, and pre-natal classes. She praised the generosity of the local merchants, the staff of Crew's Inn, and all the willing volunteers involved.

Obituaries

EVERETT C. CONN

Funerel services for Everett C. Conn, 72, who died Oct. 1 at his home in Echo Township, Antrim County, were held Tuesday at the Ellsworth Wesleyan Church. The Rev. Dale Kessler officiated. Interment was in the Ellsworth Cemetery.

Born in Bellefontaine, Ohio, June 20, 1911, Mr. Everett was married to the former Edna Neill on Jan. 30, 1931, at Bowling Green, Ohio. They lived in Madison Heights were he was employed at the General Motors Corporation's Chevrolet Division until he retired in 1971 and moved to his Echo Township home. He was a member of the Royal Oak Lodge No. 551, F. & A.M.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Beverly, at home; a son, Charles, of Canton; four grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Herman (Florence) Patrick of Bellefontaine, Ohio, and Mrs. Charlotte Reiter of Utica, Ohio.

The family suggests memorials to the Wesleyan Church or the Antrim County Chapter of the American Cancer Society. Envelopes for this purpose are available at the Hastings Funeral Home.

JERRY J. HAGGERTY

Funeral services for Jerry J. Haggerty, 89, of Hayes Township who died Sept. 26 at the Petoskey Nursing Center, were held Sept. 29 at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The Rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home Wednesday evening.

Born in Hayes Township Oct. 8, 1893, Mr. Haggerty was a lifelong resident of Hayes Township on a farm that was recognized as a Centennial Farm earlier this year. He was a veteran of World War I, having served in the U.S. Army. On June 19, 1919, he was married to the former Hazel Shearer. He always resided on the family farm. He was a member of the St. Mary's Church and the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion.

Besides his wife, he is survived by a daughter, Margaret M. of Charlevoix; two sons, Daniel W. of Charlevoix and Richard J. of Milford; four grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Nora Routley of Ellsworth and a brother, George D. of Charlevoix.

RUDOLPH HINRICHS

Private funeral services for Rudolph Hinrichs, D.D.S., 87, who died Sept. 25 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held at the Winchester Funerel Home.

Dr. Hinrichs practiced orthodonics in Oak Park, Ill.

He is survived by his wife, Maria; a daughter, Maria Kranz of Oak Park, Ill., and two grandsons.

The family suggests memorials to the Charleviox Volunteer Ambulance Service.

ARLENE W. DAVIS

Funeral services for Mrs. Arlene W. Davis, 66, who died Sept. 30 at Harper Hospital in Detroit where she had been a patient for 10 days, were held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 1 p.m. Tuesday. The Rev. David W. Yingling of the United Methodist Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

The former Arlene W. Burdick was born in Boyne City Nov. 21, 1916. She was graduated from the Boyne City High School and attended Davenport Business College in Grand Rapids. On May 20, 1983, she was married to Fay C. Davis at Boyne City where they lived until coming to Charlevoix in 1940. During the late 1960, Mrs. Davis was Deputy City Clerk in Charlevoix. She was a member of the Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild and attended the United Methodist Church.

She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Jill Deacon of Wolverine Lake, a son, Terry C. of Orchard Lake; five grandsons; two sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Tobey of San Jose, Ca., and Mrs. Nada Ypma of Holland and two brothers, Victor Burdick of Indian River and Glen of Waterloo, N.Y.

The family suggests memorials to the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

MR. & MRS. WALTER T. McCULLOUGH

Funeral services for former local residents who were killed in a two-car crash near Dagget in Menominee County Sept. 25 were held Sept 28 at the Moravian Church at Dagget.

The couple was Walter T. McCullough, 47, and his wife, Carole J., 43.

The family had lived at Susan House in Hayes Township during the late 1960's until 1977 when they moved to Dagget in the Upper Peninsula. Mr. McCullough was employed by an aluminum siding company in Petoskey and later operated his own business in the area. They had operated a bar at Dagget until this year when he returned to the construction business.

Among their survivors ard daughters, Terry and Tammy, both married, and Tiffany, nine, and son, Troy, five, both at home.

Tom and Tom's Mom take some Tom's Mom's to Ron

Tom Kneeland, left, and his mother Mrs. Dorothy Kneeland are shown above at the annual White House-Congressional Barbeque to which they delivered 3,000 fresh Tom's Mom's chocolate chunk cookies. The cookies have attracted widespread notoriety for Kneeland since his aunt first presented some to President Ronald Reagan earlier this year. The Kneelands, with the White House in the background of the above photo, enjoyed a performance by the Oak Ridge Boys at the barbeque and were also introduced to President and Mrs. Reagan. Balch resigns as City Clerk; job may now be downscaled

by DAVE KNIGHT

City Clerk Deanne Balch resigned Monday and with her resignation may go the role of city clerk as it has been recently defined.

Mrs. Balch, who has held the position of city clerk since first being elected in 1979, cited "a current health problem" in a letter distributed to City Council Monday night announcing her resignation effective immediately. She has been on indefinite leave from the post for the past few months for health reasons.

"Deanne Balch has done a fine and professional job during her tenure as city clerk," wrote City Manager Robert Hunt in a memorandum to council members, "She took her responsibilities seriously, carried them out expeditiously and was a faithful and dedicated servant to the City in general and the City Council in particular."

Hunt told council that the increasing number of financial chores added over the years to the clerk's statutory responsibilities have become a burden, however, and he outlined a proposal Monday night to shift all city financial operations to the city treasurer's office, making the clerk's position part time.

Complicating the issue is the fact Mrs. Balch's name will appear on the November 8 general election ballot as the only candidate for a two-year term as city clerk. Mrs. Balch has indicated, however, that she does not intend to serve if elected.

City council has 30 days to name a replacement, according to the city

Smaller cars mean less money for County Road Commission

by PEG OHLE

The trend toward smaller automobiles is good for Charlevoix County roads. Right?

Wrong.

Fred Welch, engineer-director of the County's road system, explained to the Board of Commissioners last week that smaller automobiles mean lower gasoline sales and lower license plate fees. And it's from gasoline taxes and license plate fees that most of the money comes to maintain County roads.

The decrease in State Highway monies has been steady since 1979, Welch pointed out. That year, Charlevoix County received $1,056,489; in 1980, it was $1,037,208; in 1981, it was $968,413; in 1982, it was $934,005; and in 1983 the cut was even greater – down to $731,572.

"That's bad enough," Welch told the Commissioners, "but our costs have been going up regularly, too, due to inflation."

The cut in State funding means not only that less maintenance and repair work can be done on the roads, but that replacement of equipment has to be postponed.

This is the main worry of Welch, the County Road Commission, and Road Commission employees.

It is a heavy equipment business. The Road Commission has an inventory of 33 different pieces, including trucks, graders, tractors, back-hoes, and others that carry price tags of many thousands of dollars. The Commission has not bought any equipment since 1981, and only four of its trucks are new

Watch Inc., now three months old, plans to see dust problem through

by DAVE KNIGHT

Complaints about dust emanating from the Medusa Cement Company plant in Charlevoix have traditionally been affairs of summer. Two factors are involved: prevailing winds during the summer months are more apt to blow in a direction from the plant toward the city and there are more people around, summer residents and vacationers, to notice any cement dust fallout.

Watch, Inc. would like to change that, however. Now entering its fourth month of existence, Watch (Water and Air Team Charlevoix) is continuing its monitoring of dust pollution in the area as autumn descends and is seeking to involve more year-round residents to maintain its vigil over the winter months.

Howard Neilson, president of Watch, Inc. and an original organizer of the group, says that the dust problem has had its ups and downs since the formation of Watch, Inc. on July 1.

"On a scale of ten, the plant rated about an eight for the months of July and August which was satisfactory to us," said Neilson, "But from about the last week in August until now, I would rate their (Medusa's) performance at about a six. Recently the problem has been pretty bad again."

In stack tests recently conducted by the Michigan Department of

Plenty of activities to highlight CHS Homecoming Week

by FRAN MARTIN

It's homecoming time at the Charlevoix High School!

Five candidates are seeking the title of Homecoming Queen 1983, classes are busy building floats using the theme of "Cereals", the band is rehearsing in preparation for its halftime show and the senior class is readying plans for the homecoming dance to follow the Homecoming game.

Candidates for queen are Pam Drury, Jacque Erber, Lisa Mosher, Carrie Richardson and Karen Speigl. The student body is voting this week for their choice.

The identification of the 1983 Homecoming Queen will not be announced until the time of coronation during the halftime festivities of the homecoming game. At that time, the new reigning royalty will be crowned by the 1982 Homecoming Queen, Linda Joy.

A highlight of the halftime ceremony will be the dubbing of the team captains, Dan Buday, Tim LaBlance and Pat Mitchell. Shawn McLelland will be master of ceremony. The Charlevoix High School Band, directed by Terry Isenberger, will present a program honoring the queen and the team.

The Charlevoix Rayders, 4-1 for the season, will take on the Gaylord Blue Devils in the Homecoming game.

The homecoming parade will precede the game and the coronation at 6:15 p.m. The starting point of the parade will be Grant St. at the Charlevoix Middle School. Led by the Charlevoix High School Flag Corps and the Marching Band, the parade will follow the usual route traveling east on Mason St., south on State St. to Garfield Ave. and east on Garfield to the high school.

Riding in the parade will the 1982 Homecoming Queen, the 1982 Queen candidates and cheerleaders with the homecoming floats.

Judging the homecoming floats will be Meredith Krell, Sue Bolt and Mrs. Dennis Heck.

At the homecoming dance that will follow at the Charlevoix Elementary School the music will be provided by KHQ's disc jockey, Mark Kage. The senior class is sponsoring the dance.

The Student Council, headed by Dan Buday and Amy Sell, are in charge of the Homecoming festivities. Gayle Gennett is faculty advisor.

More awards

In the Michigan Press Association Newspaper Contest results announced last week, the Courier received four awards in its circulation category of weekly papers under 3,000. The Courier won first place in Local News Reporting, first place in Use of Graphics, second place for Enterprise Stories and honorable mention for General Excellence.

In results of the MPA Advertising Contest listed last week, the correct awards received by the Courier were first place in Best Ad Idea, two second places in Best Use of Newspaper Art Service and an honorable mention in Best Special Section.

Hearing on education set

State Representative Ralph Ostling (R-Roscommon) today encouraged all area residents to attend a legislative hearing in Petoskey this week where the future of K-12 education in Michigan will be discussed.

The Speaker's Ad Hoc Committee on Michigan's K-12 Education System has scheduled a hearing for 10 a.m., Friday, October 14 at the Petoskey High School Auditorium, 1512 E. Mitchell Road, Petoskey.

"The bipartisan committee is seeking testimony on how the state's K-12 system can be run more efficiently and effectively," Ostling said. "This would be an excellent opportunity for any parent, student, teacher or administrator to express their feelings on how Michigan should run its schools."

Ostling is a co-sponsor of legislation recently introduced in the Michigan House that would require competency tests for all new teachers and graduating high school students. The bill is part of a program Republican legislators have proposed to set tougher curriculum and certification standards for students and teachers while providing adequate funding for a system of excellence."

"The Republican legislation is built on the premise that every Michigan student should meet a minimum level of achievement," Ostling said. "The teachers who instruct them should also have basic competency. I think the public supports the concepts expressed in the Republican proposals and will testify before the ad hoc committee that they want fundamental changes in our state's educational system."

Historical Society hears of early local doctors

The history of the doctors of medicine who have served the residents of Charlevoix from its early days to the present was presented by Andrew Stewart at a recent meeting of the Charlevoix Area Historical Society.

The first doctor of record was a Dr. Gilbert who came to the small village in 1868. He was followed by Dr. Levi Lewis who came here in 1870 and built his home at a site overlooking Round Lake in the sparsely settled community. He was a student of the eclectic school of medicine. The third doctor to practice in the community was Dr. William M. Preston, a native of Philadelphia who first settled in Ironton and then moved to Charlevoix in 1881. Dr. J.A. Carlstein, a native of Sweden, came here in 1883.

Dr. Robert B. Armstrong came here in 1894 and opened an office at 404 Bridge St. on the first floor of the building now occupied by the Parkside Restaurant. He made his calls by horse and buggy in the early days. In 1923 he flew to Beaver Island to treat a man injured in a logging accident. It was his first plane trip and he said it was his last. When Dr. Armstrong first came to Charlevoix, he grew a beard because everyone thought he was too young to be a doctor. He was a well-loved doctor. He died in 1940.

The first hospital was built around a private residence on W. Hurlbut Ave. now the site of the Hillcrest Apartments. This was in 1920. The first x-ray equipment in Charlevoix County was used here, according to Stewart's report.

Dr. F.F. McMillan came to Charlevoix with his family in 1918. He practiced here with Dr. Armstrong and continued in his practice until 1948. The two doctors worked together very well, each served his own practice and became good friends, Stewart said.

His report went on to say that they worked together for 22 years; that Dr. McMillan (who was Stewart's great-grandfather) lived on Park Ave.; was active in community affairs; was county coroner for 20 years and served as Chief of Staff and President of the Board of Directors of the Charlevoix Hospital.

Dr. Robert McClintock came to Charlevoix in 1946 and, following Dr. McMillan's death, took over his practice. He later moved to Petoskey before leaving the area.

Dr. Gilbert B. Saltonstall, who began his practice of medicine here in 1934, first came to Charlevoix in 1912 when he was four years old. As a boy it is said that when he was to have his tonsils removed he asked not to have an anesthetic so he would know what it was like. During his years of practice, he gave the first injection of penicillin and the first blood transfusion at the local hospital. He also delivered 3,000 babies. He retired in 1976. He was honored recently by the American Medical Society for his 50 years of practice.

In the ensuing years, the community attracted several doctors. Among them were Dr. Lawrence E. Grate who joined Dr. Saltonstall in his practice; Dr. Isaac Terr who practiced here several years before going to Arizona, and Dr. Robert G. Martin who came in 1954 and who went into semi-retirement in 1976. He presently serves the Grandvue Medical Care Facility.

The present Charlevoix Area Hospital was completed in 1954 with several additions since then. In conclusion, Stewart listed the present staff of the hospital. The list includes 15 doctors and three dentists.

Stewart also ran a tape recording of local residents reminescing about doctors they had known. Frances Durance, who is 90 years of age, recalled that there four drug stores on main street in the early days; that Dr. Armstrong brought many new medicines to Charlevoix when he began his practice here; that he charged $1.00 for a house call and that he had treated her family before they were able to pay him and when they could be asked for only $100. She said he was a very generous and well loved doctor.

Dr. Saltonstall also spoke on tape telling of doctor's offices, allocated on the second story of downtown buildings and the hospital and its facilities when he came here in 1934. He recalled that Dr. Lewis Bartlett and Dr. Armstrong cared for his family in his early years.

Bob Miles and Dale Boss will present the history of Mt. McSauba at the Nov. 1 meeting of the Charlevoix Area Historical Society.

Hospital is asking those who pledged to fulfill their commitment

Charlevoix Area Hospital is asking its supporters who pledged $839,381 in 1978, for the building and renovation project, to come forward with the still unpaid balance of $139,620.

In 1978, pledges for annual donations to the hospital over three and five years were made by 900 people. On the basis of the pledges the hospital was able to obtain a low interest loan for over $3 million from the FHA to undertake the project.

The project basically involved expanding and remodelling such departments as the Emergency Room, Pharmacy, Respiratory Therapy, Radiology, Physical Therapy and the Laboratory. To provide the additional space for the expansion within the main portion of the hospital a new wing was constructed. The upper floor of this wing, which parallels the Lake Michigan shoreline, includes surgical patient rooms moved from the old section, an enlarged nursing station and a new solarium and chapel for patients and visitors. The lower floor includes classrooms for employee education, patient education, and community education, as well as administrative offices.

The unpaid pledge balance of $139,620 is 17 percent of the total pledged. Most people have met their pledges. Some 49 people have actually given more than they originally agreed, providing the fund with an extra $12,000.

However, the unpaid balance is significant enough to concern the hospital administration and board of directors.

"The Board of Directors committed themselves and the future of the hospital when they pledged to go ahead with the major building and remodeling program, on the basis of community support" Board President Louis Hollow pointed out.

"Because of those committments the Board was able to fulfill the expectations of many people in the area by improving hospital services. It was a timely and necessary action," Hollow explained.

"We went to the FHA on the promise of these pledges," commented Thomas Carey, member of the Board of Directors. "It is unfair to those who have completed their pledges that 131 people have not, and 62 people have never made a single payment.

"The hospital needs all those pledges," Carey continued. "Every dollar that was pledged but not paid, means less money for the hospital to buy needed equipment, make the improvements that are constantly required to keep pace in medicine, and to meet our skilled personnel needs.

"People must not think that because the project was completed we no longer need those pledges. Those pledges that are paid help us meet our indebtedness on this project," Carey said.

Next week some 183 people will receive letters from the hospital Board of Directors explaining the importance of their pledges and encouraging them to complete their pledge payments.

In order to meet the committments made five years ago and look to the future as a financially stronger hospital, we need the continued support of the community and the completion of those pledges," Hollow concluded.

Plan drill at Elem. School

Do not be alarmed if you notice ambulances hurrying from the Charlevoix Elementary School to Charlevoix Area Hospital Thursday morning, October 13.

The hospital and school are cooperating in a "disaster drill", which puts the personnel at the school and hospital, as well as local ambulance crews, through their emergency preparedness paces.

Planners of the drill explained that several selected students will be transported to Charlevoix Area Hospital by ambulance. Each student will be acting out a faked illness. Students participating in the drill have been selected by the school and their parents have granted permission for them to play these roles. Only students who have parental permission will participate in the exercises.

Charlevoix Area Hospital conducts "disaster drills" annually. Every drill involves a different simulated "disaster", to test preparedness should a real disaster ever occur in the community.

Class of '38 to meet

The 1938 graduating class of the Charlevoix High School has initiated plans for a reunion during the summer of 1984.

The planning committee is seeking the whereabouts of several members of the class. Anyone knowing the addresses of the following are asked to call Mrs. Robert (Dorothea Taylor) Kelley at 547-9747 or write to her at 105 W. Upright, Charlevoix:

Melvin Arnold, Robert Dean, Eleanor Jacobson, Margaret Lamb, Alice McHugh an Mary Stover.

BRUCE L. HONEYSETTE

Funeral services for Bruce L. Honeysette, 20, who died Oct. 4 at Little Traverse Hospital following a long illness, were held Oct. 8 at the Stone Funeral Home in Petoskey. The Rev. Jimmie McWatters of the Church of the Everlasting God in East Jordan officiated. Interment was in Littlefield Township Cemetery at Alanson.

Born Nov. 17, 1962, at Petoskey, Mr. Honeysette attended school in Alanson and more recently in Charlevoix where the family lived. He had been employed in Florida and at Gateley's in Petoskey prior to his illness.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. James (Donna) Elzinga of Charlevoix; a sister, Mrs. Terry (Brenda) Skop of East Jordan; a brother, Bryan, at home; a half-brother, John Honeysette of Inkster; three step-sisters, Mrs. John (Charleen) Albro of East Jordan, Kathleen Washburn and Jacqueline Habel of Charlevoix and two step-brothers, Ronald Poirier and Donald Poirier of Houghton Lake.

The family suggests memorials to the charity of choice.

WILLIAM H. LaBRECQUE Jr.

Funeral services for William H. LaBrecque Jr., 36, of Central Lake, were held Tuesday, Oct. 4, at the Central Lake Chapel of Mortensen Funeral Home. Rev. Estel Clark officiated and burial was in Brookside Cemetery, Charlevoix.

Mr. LaBrecque died Oct. 1, 1983, in Banks Township of injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

He was born March 11, 1947, in Petoskey, the son of William and Edith (Graham) LaBrecque. He had resided in Central Lake the past four years, moving there from East Jordan. He was employed as a die setter for East Jordan Tool and Die.

On July 18, 1981, he married the former Mrs. Jean Bearden.

Survivors include his wife; three sons, Michael of East Jordan, William H. III of Boyne City and John of Central Lake; two daughters, Justin and Brandy of Boyne City; one grandchild; his mother, Edith LaBrecque of Charlevoix; three step-sons, Terry Gosborn, John Bearden and Troy Bearden, all of Central Lake; one brother, James LaBrecque of Mancelona; four sisters, Mrs. Donald (Lora) Wells of Charlevoix, Mrs. Walkter (Ronnie) Olson of East Jordan, Mrs. Charles (Nancy) Mathers of Charlevoix, Debbie Iverson of East Jordan, several nieces and nephews.

EDITORIAL

The memory will have to do

The C&O railroad swing bridge that spanned the upper Pine River channel until last week was like a typical, American blue collar worker. The only times it ever made the news was when it was born and when it died.

For the 70 or so years of its working life, it went about its routine with a quiet dependability. There was a time when the rail link it provided to the rest of the world meant a great deal to Charlevoix's economic well being. Even through the years of its gradual retirement, it added to the character of the town and was recognized by natives as one of the few remaining ties to the past in this ever-changing community.

As in the case of an elderly relative, however, there came a sad time to say good-bye and let the memories suffice. That time was clearly at hand by last week. Demolition was the right and proper alternative.

In no way, though, should the efforts by the Charlevoix Historical Society and other individuals to esplore other alternatives for the bridge be belittled. Without people in the community who care about retaining a sense of the past, even in cases such as this when preservation was not practical, this would be a shallow place indeed.

About this page

You will notice a few new features on this week's Opinion Page. Chuck Duerr, who created the popular "Amos" series for the Courier, has come up with a new concept entitled "Quote...Unquote". The idea is to take a current headline from the news and couple it with a poignant quotation. "Amos" fans need not despair, however; "Amos" will still be appearing on an occasional basis, too. We will also try to liven up the page with some cartoons, see left, and will be featuring more editorials on both local and more far-reaching issues. "Knight on the Town", "Clockwise" and your letters will continue as before.

Letters: 4-H thank-you

Dear Dave,

Charlevoix County 4-H Youth Programs would like to publicly thank the Courier, particularly Peg Ohle and Robin Randels, for the excellent coverage given to National 4-H Week, 1983. Your efforts and the fine support for the twenty-one county businesses which sponsored the National 4-H Week page in the October 5 Courier are a welcome boost to the Courier County 4-H program.

4-H people are hard-working and truly dedicated to the development and training of the next generation of responsible citizens. They all appreciate the recognition you have provided.

I would like to take this opportunity to also thank the other businesses, service clubs and private supporters throughout the county who assist us at other times during the year. Many of these are of long standing. 4-H could not succeed without ALL of them.

The efforts of the community in behalf of 4-H are continually rewarded by the maturing of young people who become useful and worthwhile members of that community in their turn.

Once again, thanks to the Courier and others who have helped to begin another good 4-H year.

Knight on the Town

World is safe again

by Dave Knight

Scene: The Situation Room at the White House. Gathered are Mssrs. Deaver, Baker and Meese, who, along with the President, have just been briefed on a sudden burst of Russian military agression at a strategically important part of the world. Worried looks shadow the faces of the three trusted advisers as they pore over maps and cablegrams. The President, however, has an almost gleefull look in his eye as he rubs his hands and keeps glancing toward a red toggle switch on a master console.

Baker: It does not look good, Mr. President. More surface-to-air missiles have been transported to the front and it looks like they're beefing up the armored support, too.

President: (Escitedly) Let's do it!

Meese: We are now in contact with NATO command. You must realize their nervousness about this sort of thing. I don't think a radical course of action would be in their best interests at this point, sir.

President: Bag 'em! I want to go with the Big Bang!

Deaver: We just heard from the Vatican Mr. President. The Pope urgently wishes to communicate with you to find out what is happening with the situation.

President: Tell him to watch Nightline. No, better yet, tell him to wait for Paul Harvey News. Are the planes in the air yet?

Baker: Congressional leaders are starting to arrive on Capitol Hill. Several are waiting to confer with you, sir. We have also contacted the members of the Cabinet and have them all enroute at this moment.

President: Let's not wait for them! Just because they're late doesn't mean we have to hold up the whole party! I want some BOOM-BOOM! Now!

Deaver: Sir, I really don't think you grasp the seriousness of such an action. You must realize, of course, that the Soviets' retaliatory strikes would be on the way before ours even reached their targets.

President: They won't know what hit them. C'mon. Am I the only one with any guts in here?

Meese: Nobody's doubting the resolve of the country, Mr. President. We just think we should esplore some alternative actions before jumping to the ultimate decision. It may be possible to initiate some talks to avoid a military eschange.

President: Talks? No way! Nuke! Nuke! Nuke!

Baker: (Aside to Meese) I think he needs a fix. Bad.

Meese: Where's the stuff?

Baker: I think a saw a white bag under his bed. I'll send a steward.

President: (Now jumping up and down in his seat, jabbing his fist in the air.) Nuke! Nuke! Nuke!

Deaver: (Maneuvering between the President and the red toggle switch) Please, sir. Just hold on a moment.

President: Nuke! Nuke! Nuke!

A white-jacketed steward rushes in with a white bag, grease stains indicating fresh contents. Baker grabs it and rushes to the President. He reaches in, pulls out a large, lumpy, chocolate chunk cookie, waves it under the President's nose. The President's eyes glaze over. His wild expression dissolves into a peaceful stare. As he munches the cookie contentedly, he slouches back into his high-backed, red velour chair.

President: Ummmm. Ummmm. Oh, yummmm.

Deaver: I think he's stable.

Meese: Good! That'll give us 45 minutes. Get Gromyko on the line.

President: Ummmm, they're tasty!

Meese: And espeditious!

RR nostalgia is running rampant

by Bob Clock

SOMETHING HAS to be done to halt the plague of "Railroad Nostalgia" that is sweeping the country.

Everyone, it seems, has warm and fuzzy memories about the bygone days when, if you wanted to go someplace in style and comfort, you went by rail. It was also quicker than fighting mud roads in a Model T.

Don't get me wrong. I'm as bad as the next guy when it comes to "Railroad Nostalgia." I have wonderful recollections of traveling by rail when I was a kid. "Snow Trains" from Detroit to Grayling in the dead of winter; "Tulip Trains" from Detroit to Holland in the spring; and "Resorter Specials" from Detroit to the Roscommon lake country in mid-summer.

Perhaps my most memoriable trips were aboard the Canadian National Railroad in all seasons to visit aunts and uncles on Ontario's Georgian Bay. I can still taste the raisin pie which was the stock-in-trade of every railroad depot lunch counter along the way.

BUT I AM REALIST enough to know that they heyday of the railroad is over for much of the nation, where super-highways, reliable automobiles, commodious trucks and jumbo jets have changed the way we move ourselves and our wares from place to place.

Of course, there are still populous areas of the United States where railroads are a viable means of transportation. But are many more sparsely populated areas where low volume can scarcely justify their continued existence. It is simply a matter of economics.

Rustics used to discuss the futility of kicking dead horses, and I'm afraid that is precisely what some well meaning railroad promoters are doing today. They are overlooking the fact that where railroads make sense, they are still in business. Where they don't, the tracks have been pulled up — unless that particular line is on a government-funded life-support system.

Furthermore, no one mentions the fact that railroads — at least the ones I remember — were terribly slow by today's standards. The old coal burners also were dirty and noisy. They are also were quite expensive if you consider the cost of a Pullman for overnight travel and meals in the dining car. It would probably cost you less today to fly.

ODDLY ENOUGH, "Railroad Nostalgia" appears to be more rampant today than it was in the days of Arab oil embargo. Last week, George McGovern of South Dakota, a Democratic candidate for president, said if elected he would rebuild the nation's railroad system in an effort to create jobs.

He didn't claim that railroads are needed. Nor did he say who would use them once they were rebuilt.

"If I were president and I looked out across this country and saw 12 to 13 million people doing nothing because they couldn't find jobs and I saw the railways falling apart, I would sit down with the railway industry, rail leaders and government experts to work out a plan to rebuild the railways across the country," McGovern said in a campaign speech at Marshalltown, Iowa.

"We could do it by the end of this century in such a way as to give the United States the best rail system in the world. We ought to do that with some of the money we're now wasting on unnecessary military spending," he added.

Poor George. He apparently hasn't changed a great deal since the last time he ran for president.

The next thing we know he'll want to take all of our buggy factories out of mothballs and revive the whipsocket industry.

Natural Resources (DNR), Medusa was shown to comply with air quality standards relating to stack emissions.

"The stack tests proved two things to us," said Neilson, "First, that the plant can indeed operate well without emitting excess dust from the stack and, second, that the dust we esperience may not be coming from the stack at all as we have been saying all along."

With the annual winter shutdown of the Medusa plant tentatively planned for late November, a 90-day monitoring period agreed upon by Medusa and Watch, Inc. this past August will soon be wrapped up. Data from high volume dust samplers around town, dust fall samplers, the episodal observations of a group of local residents, a meteorological station and plant operation logs will be analyzed to determine which, if any, activities at Medusa result in excess dust pollution.

With scientific analysis of the monitoring data to be done at the Illinois Institute of Technology, a full report is not expected before the end of the year, according to Neilson.

Neilson is skeptical about the results from some of the dust samplers because of seasonal wind shifts. During the summer months when the alleged dust problem has been the worst, said Neilson, prevailing winds from the west and south tend to blow the dust over inland residential areas. This time of year, however, a wind shift carries more of the dust out over Lake Michigan, he said.

However monitoring will proceed as planned despite the weather changes, said Neilson, and all dust samplers will continue to be operated as agreed upon by Medusa and Watch, Inc.

"The next critical period for our intents and purposes will be from when the plant starts up again in the spring of 1984 until about the first of June," said Neilson, "We will expect to see radical improvement by that time and will be forced to take stronger actions if the improvement is not there."

In a quarterly report issued at the end of September, Neilson noted that Watch, Inc. had attracted 402 members, paid a total of $16,406 in legal, consultant and other fees and had accumulated a "comfortable litigation fund" to hold in reserve should the group decide at some time to pursue legal action against Medusa.

Of the 402 members of Watch, Inc., though, only 17 are full-time residents. Neilson feels that the group should reflect the interests of year-round residents as well as summer residents and has actively sought to enlist more members from the year-round ranks.

enough to register less than 100,000

"We could self destruct," Welch said of his situation, referring to what could happen in case of mass breakdowns.

Welch, members of the Road Commission, and Road Commission employees appeared before the County Board not only to let them know about the problems of the Road Commission, but to ask for help.

He said that soon he would have to get some new equipment and needed the County's help in paying for it, adding at the same time that this would be the only County tax money the Road Commission has received in some time. It is a false impression of taxpayers that their local tax dollars support the Road Commission, he pointed out.

A winter of light snow, like last winter, is good for the roads. Right? Wrong.

When asked by some County Board members what happened to the funds that weren't used for snow removal last year, Welch replied that it was used for maintenance of roads that were damaged because of lack of snow. The damage was so great that at one time, 25 roads were closed, he said.

The Board of Commissioners took the plea of Welch and his associates under advisement.

charter. Hunt recommended to council that Deputy City Clerk Beatrice Parton assume the clerk's duties until a replacement is named.

In suggesting the transfer of all the city's financial functions to the office of City Treasurer James Brinker, Hunt said that such a shift would simplify and streamline city government, take better advantage of Brinker's financial skills and reduce job pressures on the office of the clerk that may have contributed to Mrs. Balch's illness.

He pointed out that, in addition to the normal clerk's responsibilities of overseeing elections, voter registration, council minutes and keeping of city documents, the clerk in recent years had also been saddled with many financial duties such as accounts receivable, purchasing, ambulance billing and cemetery bookkeeping.

"Neither the city charter nor state statute confers the financial functions which were under Deanne's control upon the city clerk," said Hunt, "In fact, these matters are normally under the direction of a city's chief financial officer, which in Charlevoix is the city treasurer."

Hunt also noted that the city could realize considerable savings by making the office of city clerk part-time. He recommended that the City Compensation Commission determine a new salary level (the current yearly salary for city clerk is $20,900) based on a new job description developed by council.

"In my opinion, and apparently in Deanne's as well, part of the problems which Deanne experienced were inherent in the definition of the job," said Hunt, "Now is a good time to straighten these problems out, before they plague the next city clerk."

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Wanek, II

Witthoeft-Wanek

Rebecca Elaine Witthoeft and Thomas J. Wanek II were wed in a double ring ceremony Aug. 6 at the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix. Rev. Phil Schairbaum officiated before 200 guests at an altar with an arrangement of eucalyptus, white miniature carnations and white sweetheart roses. Music was performed by Jeanie Lignell, organist, and John Lignell, soloist.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan J. Witthoeft of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Wanek of Midland are the parents of the couple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown fashioned with a high neckline, silk venice yoke of English net and short ruffled sleeves of wedgewood lace. Her attached cathedral train skirt was of ruffled tiers of wedgewood lace. A Juliet headpiece trimmed in lace and seed pearls held her fingertip veil of bridal illusion, edged with satin ribbon and lace, in place. She carried a bouquet of one cattleya orchid, white roses, baby's breath and ming fern.

Patti Smith of Charlevoix was maid of honor and bridesmaid was Sue Smith of Charlevoix. They wore powder blue dacron organza gowns with ruffled neckline and shirred tiered skirt. They carried bouquets of white roses, baby's breath and ming fern.

Larry Reising served as best man and groomsman was Scott Shephard of Charlevoix. Seating the guests were A.J., Marvin and Charles Witthoeft and Tim Wanek.

A buffet reception followed at the American Legion Hall in Charlevoix, given by the bride's parents, and hosted by Mr. and Mrs. J.O. Crawford of Charlevoix. The dinner was served by Gertrude Drake, Ella Ingalls, Fay Erdman and Annie Fiedler, all of Charlevoix. Music was by "Summer Recess". The wedding cakes were served by Judy Witthoeft, an aunt and Todd Witthoeft, a cousin, both of Normal, Ill. Sandy Wanek of Midland, sister of the groom, was in charge of the guest book. Serving punch were Joyce Schanz of Langdon, N.D., and Connie Borths of Charlevoix.

The couple are making their home in Chula Vista, California. The bride is a graduate of North Central Michigan College and the groom is a third class petty officer in the U.S. Navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark G. Johnson

Whitley-Johnson

Arrangements of white gladioli and burgundy mums and lighted canelabra graced the altar of the Community Church of God Saturday, Oct. 1, for the wedding of Connie Lynn Whitley of Charlevoix and Mark Graham Johnson of Ellsworth.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Stanley J. Whitley of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Graham Johnson of Ellsworth.

The Rev. Walter Hastings officiated at the double ring service in the presence of 200 guests. Mrs. James Jensen, at the organ, played a program of traditional music, the wedding march and recessional.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. For her wedding she chose a gown of white organza fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline, accented with pearls, lace bodice and swallow-tail peplum, layered bishop sleeves with the top layer slit edged with scalloped lace, semi-cathedral train and an upswept low insert on the skirt defined with lace galoons that extended to edge the train. Her bridal hat trimmed with Schiffli lace, seed pearls and silk flowers secured her veil of bridal illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses.

Barbara Masoryak was maid of honor and Sue Sheppard of Petoskey, Irene Hizelberger and Mary Johnson, sister of the bridegroom, both of Ellsworth, were bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of wine polyester knit styled with nylon d'estrit lace sweetheart neckline and yoke, stand-up collar, leg o'mutton sleeves with Schiffli lace trim, a mock surplice bodice and full skirt. They carried bouquets of burgundy long-stemmed roses.

Tina Greenman of East Jordan, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a floral print gown trimmed with burgundy ribbon and belt sash and carried a basket of burgundy rose buds.

Mark Hizelberger of Union Lake was best man and John Mann and Paul Hizelberger of Ellsworth and Jeff Wilhelm were groomsmen. Larry Whitley and Aaron Whitley, brothers of the bridegroom, seated the guests.

A dinner reception followed at the American Legion Post Home. Music for dancing was the bridegroom's uncle's Polish band from the Detroit area.

After a wedding trip to southern Michigan, the couple will be at home at Rural Route No. 1, Ellsworth.

The bridegroom is employed as a semi-truck driver at Howes & Howes of Ellsworth.

A rebearsal dinner at the Bavarian Inn, Atwood, was hosted by the bridegroom's parents Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry L. Potter

Lochner-Potter

Lisa Marie Lochner and Barry Lee Potter exchanged their wedding vows in a double ring service solemnized at St. Mary's Church recently.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Lochner and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Potter. Both families are from Charlevoix.

The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated at the service on September 24 in the presence of 150 guests. Mrs. Brendan LaBlance, at the organ, played a program of traditional music, the wedding march and recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a gown of French lace for her wedding. Fashioned of layered French lace, the gown featured a Queen Anne neckline accented with seed pearls and lace and a bouffant skirt with chapel length train. Her chapel length veil was trimmed with the same lace and she carried a bridal bouquet of lavender silk roses.

Laura Whitley, as her sister's matron of honor, wore a powder blue gown styled with a square neckline edged with lace and ruffles from the shoulder to the waist. She carried a matching bouquet of silk flowers.

Jamie Potter assisted his brother as best man. David Boss and Michael Schuster seated the quests.

A reception, hosted by the bride's parents, followed at the American Legion Post Home.

After a wedding trip to Canada, the couple will make their home in Charlevoix.

The bridegroom is employed as a welder at the International Disc Corp. in Ellsworth.

On Friday evening, Sept. 23, Mr. and Mrs. Potter, parents of the bridegroom, hosted a rehearsal dinner at their home.

Rayders 3rd in Martin Inv.

The Charlevois Rayders, defending champions in the second annual Claire Martin Invitational Cross Country meet held here Saturday, came in third behind the new titleholder, Sir James Dunn of Sault Ste. Marine, Ont., and Rogers City.

Sir James Dunn captured the title with 170 points followed by Rogers City with 178. Charlevoix had 190 points.

Traverse City came in next with 252; followed by Petoskey with 285; Gaylord, 302 and St. Mary's of the Canadian Soo.

Charlevoix's Bill Taylor won top honors among the runners, setting a record of 15:39 for the new 3.1 mile course.

Coach Pete Spieles said he was pleased with the meet which was run in temperatures of 40 degrees plus. The wind, at times, however, was gusting up to 25 miles an hour on the hills at the Belvedere Course where the meet was held. "We lacked the depth for a winning combination," Spieles said of the Rayder squad. He went on to explain that there were 10 runners to each team in Division I with the times of the top seven being counted. There are usually seven runners to a team with the best five times counting toward the overall score.

Kingsley with 42 points won the Division II trophy. Boyne City was second with 51; Suttons Bay with 64 was third followed by Mancelona with 68 and East Jordan with 143. Dan Ebright of Suttons Bay was the top overall runner in Division II with a time of 18:07.

Division III, the girls' division, was won by Traverse City with 28 points followed by Petoskey with 81; Mancelona, 113; Charlevoix, 118, Suttons Bay, 137; Rogers City, 148; Gaylord, 158. Mount St. Joseph of the Canadian Soo and Boyne City were also entered.

Anne VanDam of Petoskey had the best overall time in this meet, covering the distance in 20:11.

In the Division I race John Tunison finished sixth in 18:32; Lee Allard, 8th in 16:41; Tim Gibbons, 37th in 18:02; Dave Hendrickson, 38th, 18:08; Mike Dohm, 39th, 18:09; Rick Gallant, 45th in 18:21 and Leo Chase, 81st in 19:24.

In Division III, Michelle North finished in sixth place in 21:34; Molly Bolduc, 11th in 22:08; Leslie Miller, 26th in 23:30; Laura Finck, 35th in 24:37; Chaya Moore, 40th in 26:05. Mario Hough was unable to finish.

Trophies were awarded to the top finishers in each of the three division. Medals were awarded to the top 15 runners in each division.

Charlevoix will be at the Elk Rapids Invitational Thursday and at the Petoskey Invitational Saturday.

Runners top Gaylord, Rogers City

The Charlevoix Rayder Cross Country team came away from a triangular meet at Gaylord Tuesday with 25 points after winning over Rogers City who had 40 and Gaylord with 60.

The Rayders next outings will be at the Elk Rapids Invitational on Thursday and the Petoskey Invitational Saturday.

In winning the meet the Rayders' Bill Taylor also broke the course record at Gaylord set three weeks earlier by John Gobei of Petoskey. Taylor's record is 15:23. The old record was 15:52.

Rayder John Tunison finished in second place in 15:34 ahead of the Hurons' Mas Hogan whose time was 15:57. Lee Allard of Charlevoix come in fourth in 18:28 followed by Andrew Stonehouse of Gaylord in 16:44; Matt Landon, Charlevoix, 18:45; Mike Wood, Rogers City, 18:54; Brian Ferguson, Gaylord, 18:58; Jeff Kkmercr, Rogers City, 17:02; Jeff Kalembar, Rogers City, 17:17.

Charlevoix's Dave Hendrickson finished in 12th place in 17:27; Rick Gallant, 13th, in 17:39 and Mike Dohm, 17th in 17:50.

Coach Pete Spieles said of the meet: "Everyone ran a good race. We did what we set out to do; that is, move the fifth man up to a better time. Both Hendrickson and Gallant did a good job."

The girls team also returned with a win with a score of 23 over Gaylord's 32.

Molly Bolduc had the best overall time of 21:20. She was followed by Mario Hough in 21:25 and Michelle North in third in 21:34. Chaya Moore came in eighth in 25:35 and Ann Boulton in ninth in 25:47.

Rogers City won the JV meet with a score of 29. Charlevoix had 35 and Gaylord 63. The best time was posted by Mike Erfurdt of Rogers City, 17:31.

Charlevois's Jason Brindel finished in third in 18:01; Tim Gibbons, 4th in 18:06; Leo Chase, 8th in 18:13; Kevin McLenon, 10th in 18:41; Harold Herriman, 12th in 19:02; Ed Knight, 13th in 19:10; Jon Eakes, 18th in 19:38; Dan Staublin, 17th in 19:43; Dave Eakes, 19th in 20:09; Rusty Coolman, 22nd in 21:13; Jim Smith, 25th in 22:06 and Rich Thayer, 26th in 22:23.

Chiefs spoil clean slate

A Cheboygan defender puts a vicious hit on Charlevpoix ball carrier Thad Morgan.

Playoff hopes for the Charlevoix Red Rayder football squad were dealt a severe blow Friday night when the Cheboygan Chiefs held on for a rainy 14-6 home-turf victory over the Rayders.

Had Charlevoix been able to topple the Class A Chiefs, their chances for a playoff birth would have been excellent. As of the Michigan High School Athletic Association ratings last week, the Rayders were rated second in Class C playoff region No. 4 behind Tawas City.

Undefeated going into Friday night's game, Charlevoix now drops to 4-1 on the season which ties the team with Cheboygan in Michigan-Huron Shores standings. St. Ignace currently leads the pack with a 5-0 slate.

Friday night saw Charlevoix two biggest offensive guns, running back Pat Mitchell and quarterback Tim LaBlance, silenced in a strong defensive contest.

The Rayders were held to a meager 89 yards rushing and 70 yards passing compared to a total offensive output of 289 yards by the Chiefs. Mitchell, one of the conference's leading rushers, was corralled for only 20 yards in six carries while LaBlance went nine for 14 in passing and threw three interceptions.

Cheboygan fullback Stan Schramm stunned the Rayders early in the game when he broke a routine up-the-middle play for 95 yards and a touchdown. The extra point was missed, however, so the 6-0 lead stood for the rest of the first half.

It was midway in the third quarter when Charlevoix got onto the scoreboard with a seven-yard toss from LaBlance to his favorite endzone target, receiver Bill Tillen. The Rayders could not convert the extra point either leaving the two teams knotted at 6-6 going into the final quarter.

Cheboygan finally pulled out the winning TD after taking over on an interception at the Charlevois 35 and marching into the endzone a few plays later, Joe Kurtz doing the honors with a five-yard run. Dave Walkley ran for a two-point conversion and the Chief defense held the Rayders for the closing minutes to make the final score 14-6.

Charlevoix's leading ground gainer was Jim Martin who racked up 49 yards on three carries.

This week's homecoming game at Kipke Field (See page 1 for more on Homecoming) pits the Rayders against the Gaylord Blue Devils, 2-3 in conference play.

Girls lose pair to Gaylord and Cheboygan

Last week was a bad one for the Charlevoix girls basketball team as they dropped two games, the first to Gaylord by a score of 51-30 and the second to Cheboygan 39-30.

This week, the team will host Grayling on Tuesday and Rogers City Thursday and travel to St. Ignace Tuesday, Oct. 18.

In the meeting with Gaylord, the team was outscored 23-11 from the floor as the visitors led 10-8, 23-17 and 41-22 by quarters.

Charlevoix had eight of 20 from the line while Gaylord had five of 14. Dee Johnecheck had 14 points and Julie Hanson 12 for the visitors. Angie McClanaghan had seven for Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix JVs won 48-22.

In the game at Cheboygan, the game was tied 30-30 with two minutes to go before Charlevoix lost three players, two by injuries and a third via the foul route.

Charlevoix led 9-8 and 22-18 before trailing 28-27 at the three quarter mark. As the game went into the final period, Mary Lenhart was injured, Ann Wagner fouled out and Rhoda Buchanan suffered a head injury as time ran out.

Tracy Kester paced the scoring with 18 points. Buchanan had eight for Charlevoix.

Cheboygan also won the JV game 50-48.

Golfers reach 7-1 mark

The Charlevoix Rayder golfers have compiled a 7 win-one loss record after defeating Elk Rapids 179-209 at the Belvedere course Wednesday.

After participating in the eight-team Michigan-Huron Shores conference meet at Hidden Valley in Gaylord Monday, the team will travel to the regional meet at Crystal Mountain near Beulah Friday Coach Glen Taylor said.

Bill Joy with a score of 41 was medalist in the meet with Elk Rapids Wednesday. Dan Baldorff finished with a score of 45, Chris Gibbons, 46, and Denny Curtis, 47.

Mark Corneilssen had a 46, Dave Chile 50, Tom Hatch 54 and Jeff Ratliff 59 for the Elks.

The Charlevoix JV also won by a score of 190-231 with Scott Wise as medalist with a score of 56. Mike Chew had a 47, Pat Zundel 48 and Andy Stewart 49.

Robert Kitchen topped the visiting foursome with a 54. Paul Wanacott and Alan Lamphier had scores of 56 and Rich Oakes a 65 for Elk Rapids.

The match with Cheboygan on Monday was rained out. At this time there are no plans to play the game.

Middle School girls open with win

The Charlevols Middle School girls opened their 1983 basketball schedule Monday be defeating Petoskey teams on the home floor.

The eighth grade team, coached by Stan Martin, downed the Petoskey team 33-19 and the seventh grade team, coached by Barry Pierce, won over the visiting seventh graders 27-20.

The eighth graders got off to a 14-8 first period lead, stayed ahead 18-12 at halftime and jumped to a 28-14 advantage before winning by a score of 33-19. Allison Hall led the pack with 14 points. Missy VandenBrink had eight for Petoskey.

The seventh graders trailed Petoskey 9-6 before finding the range and going ahead 10-9 at the half as they blanked Petoskey in the second period. The team had a 20-14 lead going into the final period before chalking up a 27-20 win. Stacy Gebott dumped in 14 points for Charlevoix. Breckheisen had eight for Petoskey.

The teams were at home Monday against Cheboygan. On Wednesday they will travel to Central Lake and on the following Monday will host Harbor Springs.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

Literally Flying around the course was, naturally "Flying Machine" - first to finish, first on corrected time Division A and if we had an "Overall", first Overall. It was hardly worth bothering to go to all the trouble...22 minutes shopping for supplies; 18 minutes rigging and departing; 33 minutes practicing, tuning, trimming and sighting in the line; 20 minutes manuvering after the first gun. START, wam-bam, FINISH! 8 minutes sailing back to Irish; 13 minutes furling, stuffing, coiling and stowing; 21 minutes draining aluminum deep draw cylinders through the government decreed orfice to limit rate of consumption (and you thought the flip top was there for your convenience!); 4 minutes drive to the Club; 53 minutes 21.6 seconds waiting for protest results; 7 minutes waiting for results; 5 minutes crying. As our Detroit Correspondent would say, "Ah Well, Onward and Upward!"

So the Race for Final Standings gets down to the wire as it was...Division A: "Flying Machine" correcting out only seconds ahead of "Pygmalion". Then "Canusa", "Charlie Brown" and "Traveller".

Division B: "Tireless" rolling in nicely to a sound first over "Fosy Lady". Then "Spectre", "Blasen III" and "San Sue She".

Portsmouth: "Seascape", powering in ahead of "Cheemaun" on a course designed just for those yachts. It was then "Coolwhip", "Ti-Ge" and "Apothecary".

The wind at the time of our start strongly favored the bouy end of the line so, naturally, the whole fleet tried to slide over right at the pin. Someone in the crown played "kitty-bar-the-door" and one yacht had to do a little travelling to get back to the line. Poor "Indooroophilly" got nailed before the start and then tagged again during the race. And the wild bunch on the mean "Machine" haven't cooled down yet! Many thanks for small favors, too...sure am glad that most impressive thunderstorm held off 'til after the finish.

Don't forget...one week after this last race (which is tonight, if you're reading this Wednesday, October 12, and Happy Birthday, Suzy!) the big sail to Fe 2000 lbs. You fortunate enough to own vessels that have power are most welcome to compete, no sails required. Just depart the A Bouy at 8 p.m. sharp, unless there happens to be a starting line set. Be prepared to enjoy copious quantities of sustance and suds in the good company of Charlevoix's warmest group!

Still openings for volleyball, basketball teams

"There are openings in all independent volleyball and basketball leagues for any team that would like to join," Dwight Boss, recreation director, said following organizational meetings held recently in preparation for the seasons schedule to begin later this month.

At the meeting, it was voted to limit membership on all teams to residents of the Charlevoix School District.

Applications forms for all leagues may be obtained by calling Boss at 547-9098. The forms are to be returned to the Recreation Department office at the city hall.

Boss also said there would be only one men's basketball league this season. Basketball fees must be in by Oct. 28. The schedule will begin Oct. 31. Games will be played Monday and Wednesday nights.

The proposed Women's basketball league will have until Oct. 31 to get four teams together. Anyone interested in playing in this league is asked to call Boss so teams may be organized. This league, if organized, will play Thursday nights.

Deadline for fees in the volleyball leagues is Oct. 21. There are openings for teams in all three leagues. The women's league will play Monday and Wednesday; the men's league Tuesday and the mixed league Wednesday and Thursday.

Anyone with questions may contact Boss at his home.

Chargers pull upset in flag FB

The Chargers upset the Falcons by a score of 12-8 and Panthers defeated the Packers 22-8 in flag football action Wednesday night.

The Packers will take on the Falcons at 8 p.m. and the Panthers will meet the Chargers at 7:15 in action Wednesday.

In the upset game, the Falcons took an early 2-0 lead on a safety by Jason Corwin in the first period before Dan Drury scored by the Chargers on a six yard run. The Falcons got back in the game in the third period on a 10 yard run by Dave Miller but were unsuccessful in their attempt to protect their lead as Drury scored late in the game on a 12 yard run for the win.

In the second game, Marvin Witthoeft scored on runs of six, 34 and 16 yards in the first, second and fourth periods as the Panthers posted an easy victory. Shawn Putman scored a safety in the third inning and Scott DeYoung added two conversions.

The Packers scoring came in the second period on a pass from Mark LaBlance to Mike Pika and on a safety by Dave Towsley in the third period.

Chiefs top JV squad

The Charlevoix Rayder JV gridders were downed 33-18 by a strong Cheboygan outfit at Kipke Field Thursday night.

This week the team will travel to Gaylord for a game on Thursday.

Cheboygan jumped to an early lead after scoring on plays involving two 40 yard passes, another of 25 yards and a five yard run for a 27-0 lead at halftime after scoring three of the four conversions.

Charlevoix got on the board for the first time early in the second half with a five yard run by Matt Lignell with Jim Morgridge running the conversion.

Cheboygan scored once more on a five yard run to make the score 33-8 before the young Rayders scored their second TD on an 11 yard run by Lignell. Packy LaBlance scored the conversion on a run.

Coach Brian Certa said the team was hurt by Cheboygan's big plays, their long passes especially. The score, he added, was not indicative of the closeness of the entire game. The offense, he added, is starting to come around.

Freshmen lose to Petoskey 16-3

The Charlevoix Rayder freshmen football team dropped their game to Petoskey by a score of 16-3 at Kipke Field Wednesday.

The young Rayders will host the Gaylord Blue Devils Wednesday.

The highlight of the game for Charlevoix on Wednesday was a 25 yard field goal by Mike Thompson with 1:53 remaining in the game that prevented a shut out by the visiting eleven.

Gaylord got on the board on a 45 yard run in the third play from scrimmage and passed for the conversion to go ahead 8-0.

The Rayder defense then held them until the 7:13 mark of the final period when they scored from four yards out and ran the P.A.T.

NOTICE REGARDING TRAVERSE CITY PUBLIC MEETING

Pursuant to the Consent Judgment issued on August 8, 1983 by the Honorable Douglas W. Hillman in Rodney A. Bailey, et al, Plaintiffs, v. Rural Electrification Administration (REA), U.S. Department of Agriculture, et al, Defendants, United States District Court, W.D. Michigan, Southern Division, notice is hereby given of a public meeting conducted by the Rural Electrification Administration in conjunction with a pending loan application by Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative to finance its continuing ownership interest in the Enrico Fermi Unit #2 Power Plant presently under construction by Detroit Edison Company. Included in the pending loan application and incidental to proposed additional financing for the power plant is a request for loan funds to purchase part of a transmission line presently owned by Consumer's Power Company.

The purpose of the meeting is to take oral and/or written statements from the parties to this proceeding and the public concerning (1) the environmental impact of any past or pending or the next loan guarantee application and proposed approval; (2) any unavoidable adverse environmental effects of such action or proposed action; (3) alternatives to such action or proposed action; (4) short-term uses of man's environment versus maintenance and enhancement of long-term productivity with respect to such actions or proposed actions; (5) irreversible and irretrievable commitments of resources involved in such actions or proposed action; and (6) the now applicable REA guidelines with respect to the National Environmental Policy Act. (42 USC 4321 et seq.) in relation to the next or pending application for a further REA loan guarantee to the Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative, Inc.

PLACE OF MEETING: AUDITORIUM
TRAVERSE CITY SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL
1150 MILLIKEN DRIVE
TRAVERSE CITY, MI 49684
DATE OF MEETING: NOVEMBER 9, 1983
TIME OF MEETING: 7:00 PM (EST)
CHAIRPERSON: MERLE J. BEACHY

Any person desiring to submit a written statement for inclusion in the meeting record may do so at or prior to the meeting. Written statements may also be submitted to REA not later than December 9, 1983. Unless entered at the meeting, written statements should be mailed to Merle J. Beachy, Chief, Distribution & Transmission Engineering Branch, Northeast Area-Electric, Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Any written and oral statements introduced into the public record of the meeting which concern past actions of the REA, or past loan guarantees pertaining to the financing of participation by Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative (and its predecessors Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. and Wolverine Electric Cooperative, Inc.) in the Enrico Fermi Unit #2 Power Plant shall be accepted for information purposes only and shall not affect the validity of any such loans or related federal action.

Not later than December 9, 1983 written inquiries relevent to the purposes of the November 9, 1983 meeting may be submitted to REA for comment and response. Comments or responses by REA may be provided at the November 9, 1983 meeting or furnished in writing on or before February 8, 1984. Written questions by any person shall be relevant to the scope and purposes of said meeting.

NOTICE REGARDING TRAVERSE CITY PUBLIC MEETING

Pursuant to the Consent Judgment issued on August 8, 1983 by the Honorable Douglas W. Hillman in Rodney A. Bailey, et al, Plaintiffs, v. Rural Electrification Administration (REA), U.S. Department of Agriculture, et al, Defendents, United States District Court, W.D. Michigan, Southern Division, notice is hereby given of a public meeting conducted by the Rural Electrification Administration in conjunction with a pending loan application by Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative to finance its continuing ownership interest in the Enrico Fermi Unit #2 Power Plant presently under construction by Detroit Edison Company. Included in the pending loan application and incidental to proposed additional financing for the power plant is a request for loan funds to purchase part of a transmission line presently owned by Consumer's Power Company.

The purpose of the meeting is to take oral and/or written statements from the parties to this proceeding and the public concerning (1) the environmental impact of any past or pending or the next loan guarantee application and proposed approval; (2) any unavoidable adverse environmental effects of such action or proposed action; (3) alternatives to such action or proposed action; (4) short-term uses of man's environment versus maintenance and enhancement of long-term productivity with respect to such actions or proposed actions; (5) irreversible and irretrievable commitments of resources involved in such actions or proposed action; and (6) the now applicable REA guidelines with respect to the National Environmental Policy Act. (42 USC 4321 et seq.) in relation to the next or pending application for a further REA loan guarantee to the Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative, Inc.

PLACE OF MEETING: AUDITORIUM
TRAVERSE CITY
SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL
1150 MILLIKEN DRIVE
TRAVERSE CITY, MI 49684
DATE OF MEETING:
NOVEMBER 8, 1983
TIME OF MEETING:
7:00 PM (EST)
CHAIRPERSON:
MERLE J. BEACHY

Any person desiring to submit a written statement for inclusion in the meeting record may do so at or prior to the meeting. Written statements may also be submitted to REA not later than December 8, 1983. Unless entered at the meeting, written statements should be mailed to Merle J. Beachy, Chief, Distribution & Transmission Engineering Branch, Northeast Area-Electric, Rural Electrification Administration, Washington, D.C. 20250.

Any written and oral statements introduced into the public record of the meeting which concern past actions of the REA, or past loan guarantees pertaining to the financing of participation by Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative (and its predecessors Northern Michigan Electric Cooperative, Inc. and Wolverine Electric Cooperative, Inc.) in the Enrico Fermi Unit #2 Power Plant shall be accepted for information purposes only and shall not affect the validity of any such loans or related federal action.

Not later than December 8, 1983 written inquiries relevant to the purposes of the November 8, 1983 meeting may be submitted to REA for comment and response. Comments or responses by REA may be provided at the November 8, 1983 meeting or furnished in writing on or before February 8, 1984. Written questions by any person shall be relevant to the scope and purposes of said meeting.

Pat Taylor sees Special Ed. change

by ANNE KELLY

"When I started in Special Education," Pat Taylor recalls, "I remember telling parents that because their child had special needs, he could not attend the public school."

That was before 1973's Mandatory Special Education Act which stated that every child had the right to an education from birth ot age 26. At that time, Michigan was a leader in the kinds of Special Education it ofered its children. But the offerings were a far cry from the need. Today, the Special Education picture is looking more hopeful, according to Ms. Taylor. Institutions are closing their doors and society is opening up theirs in the acceptance of the mentally, physically and emotionally impaired child. It's the only way that the handicapped will ever feel at home in the world, Ms. Taylor believes. The handicapped have to be accepted and incorporated on a daily basis especially in education.

Pat Taylor is a Charlevoix resident who serves as Deputy Superintendent of the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District. She has a long list of credentials qualifying her for this position including: degrees in Speech Therapy and Special Education, experience as a Speech Therapist, teacher of the Educable Mentally Impaired and More Severely Mentally Impaired and Supervisor of Special Education, before assuming her current role.

"Until recently, general education kids had been sheltered from those with special needs, Ms. Taylor explained. "In the future, it will become the rule rather than the exception, that special education programs are facilitated right in the regular school buildings."

In Charlevoix County, all programs except one, that for the Severly Mentally Impaired which is housed at the Ironton facility, are located in the various school buildings. Today, the curriculum for kids with special needs has been developed and improved and the programs are continuing with increasing success.

Mainstreaming, the process of assuming the handicapped child into the school routine as much as possible, brings children with special needs into the classroom for as many hours of the day as their carefully structured programs allow.

The state mandates about Special Education are very strict for the protection of special students and their parents. Legal requirements regulate the size of classes, teacher certification and the specially-tailored curriculum each child receives. On a yearly basis, each child must be reviewed by means of an I.E.P.C., the Individual Education Planning Committee, which is made up of parents, the diagnostic staff of the I.S.D., and the Administration of the school.

Ms. Taylor's job is multi-faceted, but she is primarily a laison between the State Department and the local school districts. She finds the high-energy staff at the I.S.D. to be excellent and creative, and area superintendents and administrators to be concerned and open to the needs of special children. Her duties have expanded with the expansion of services. She finds that her duties are now branching out into the areas of general education, assisting schools, teachers and administrators on behalf of the special students. She monitors existant special education programs from referral, evaluates criteria determining referral, and makes sure that state mandated timelines are met.

Ms. Taylor is also in charge of hot lunch and transportation for Special Education children. Transportation is a major consideration in that currently 20 drivers, operating State vehicles (cars, vans and busses) for the I.S.D. transport 125 students to and from programs around the district. Because of the distances involved, some students spend as smuch as a total of 3 hours on the road with a driver. Ms. Taylor audits school bus routes as part of her duties.

Reminding parents of the special services available to them through the I.S.D., Ms. Taylor pointed out these 10 basic programs for the Charlevoix area residents:

1) In Charlevoix at Ironton: the Severely Mentally Impaired.

2) In Charlevoix at the Elementary school: HIP program (the Highly Individualized Program) for ages 6-10.

3) Learning Centers in the Charlevoix Schools.

4) Program for Infants and Pre-Schoolers: Pre-School team (speech therapy, occupational therapy, teacher consultant, social worker); a) 0-5 in-home program; b) pre-school screening for all three year olds.

5) Pre-school Developmental Needs Program at East Jordan, ages 3-5

6) Trainable Mentally Imparied: ages 6-12 at East Jordan Elementary, ages 12-17 at Boyne City Middle School, ages 17-26 at St. Francis School, Petoskey.

7) Program for the Hearing Impaired, Boyne City Elementary.

8) Learning Disability Programs: a) HIP Program ages 11-14, Boyne City Middle School; b) St. Francis, Petoskey 11-14; c) Charlevoix HIP, ages 6-10 (already mentioned in 2).

9) Severly Mentally Impaired Program: Pelston at the Elementary School.

Pat Taylor

10) Support Services: speech therapist, social worker, occupational therapist, physical therapist, psychologist and teacher consultant.

The goal of Special Education is to help students with special needs make the necessary adjustments to the world around them as they are getting the education which is their right as a person. At the same time, it serves to offer parents a support system.

Pat Taylor finds her job with Char-Em both challenging and fulfilling as she works together with the Superintendent, Jim Shepard, and the rest of the ISD staff to do a good job for the community.

Literary Council sets workshop

The Charlevoix Literacy Council will be sponsoring its first fall workshop for totor training this month. Advance registration is necessary and can be arranged by calling 547-2129.

Tutors are trained in the Laubach method of teaching adult non-readers to read. Trained tutors work on a one-to-one basis with students on a volunteer basis. The only cost to the student is the cost of the reading material.

In order to attend the Tutor Training Workshop, it is necessary to attend a pre-workshop which will be held on Wed. Oct. 27, from 7:30 to 8:30 in the evening.

A workshop will be held on Friday, Oct. 28 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 29, from 9:00 to 12 noon and 1:00 to 4 p.m. All sessions need to be attended in order to receive certification.

An alternative date for workshops may be chosen. Monday, Oct. 31 from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1:00 to 4 p.m.; and Tuesday, Nov. 1, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

A fee is charged to cover cost of materials and expenses incurred by the council.

All interested persons are welcome.

New at the Library

by MARYBETH WALLICK

The Charlevoix Public Library is starting a library of spoken word cassettes. They range from the rhythmic cadences of Rudyard Kipling to the quiet serenity of Robert Frost reading his own poetry.

For all of you thespian lovers we are including drama from the Bard of Avon, Shakespeare, to the torrid scenes of Tennessee Williams, to the comedy of Oscar Wilde.

We have garnered from such knights of the quill as Charles Dickens, Herman Melville, Alexander Dumas, Jack London, John Steinbeck and others.

The gifts of poetic versifiers are expressed by the contemporary humor of Judith Viorst and Ogden Nash's hyperdithyrambic meters, as read by himself, to the eloquence of expression displayed by Emily Dickinson and the English romantic poets.

We have also included far reaching fantasy classics, the predecessors of today's science fiction, of England's H.G. Wells and France's Jules Verne.

Not wanting to leave out the "happy wanderer" and the just plain curious we included foreign language tapes. Au revoir, auf wiedersehen, arrivederci and adios.

Please accept the obdurate bombast of this humble scribe with a good goal in mind. A case of the end justifying the means.

Methodist Women to host supper

The United Methodist Women will host a spaghetti supper at the dining room of the Charlevoix church Thursday, Oct. 13.

The supper will be served from 5 until 7 p.m. and will feature spaghetti, salad, rolls, dessert and beverage. Tickets will be $3.50 each or $12.00 for a family ticket.

The site of the supper, the United Methodist Church, is located at 105 State St.

St. Jude Bike-A-Thon is Saturday

Prizes are being lined up and volunteer chairmen named for the Wheels for Life Bike-A-Thon to be held Saturday, October 15 in Charlevoix. The Bike-A-Thon is to raise funds for the St. Jude Childrens Research Hospital in Memphis, Tennessee which conducts research on diseases affecting children.

General Chairman Dwight Boss, City of Charlevoix Recreation Director, said that top prizes for those Bike-A-Thon participants who generate the most pledges will include at least two new bicycles. Other prizes include St. Jude t-shirts and tote bags.

Sponsor-registration forms have been placed in Charlevoix schools, said Boss.

Boss also named other volunteer organizers for the event including Kay Campbell, chairman of rider recruitment, Jack Gabott, route and checkpoint chairman, Ken and Carolyn Olinger, chairmen for prizes and Dave Knight, publicity chairman.

"The money our riders earn will help continue St. Jude's life-saving study of childhood cancer that has become so important to children all over the world," said Boss.

Riders are to assemble at the Charlevoix Elementary School Saturday at 9:30 a.m. The Bike-A-Thon is scheduled to go on until noon.

Nutrition, economy are both possible

Is good nutrition expensive?

Ann McCarthy, Dietitian from Charlevois Area Hopsital, says "no. It is possible to serve your family a nutritious, well balanced diet, on a tight budget."

McCarthy will conduct a "how to" workshop on serving nutritious meals on a tight budget during the Community Health Day slated for Saturday, October 29, at the Petoskey High School.

The all day Health Day, entitled "To Your Health" will feature experts on all manner of health related subjects. Doctors, nurses, dietitians, counselors, and other health care experts speaking on a range of subjects including cancer, diet, exercise, first aid, sex, stress, even when to go to the doctor and health insurance. The goal is to provide people with current information on how to stay healthy. Speakers will hold sessions throughout the day at the Petoskey High School. Blood pressure, hearing and diabetes screenings will also be conducted throughout the day.

Ann McCarthy will focus on grocery shopping tips, the creative use of leftovers and new recipes, and low cost high value snacks for children, after a quick introduction to the basic food groups. She will also raise the question of "convenience foods - higher or lower costs and higher or lower value?"

McCarthy, a Registered Dietitian, will be speaking from 3:00 to 3:50 p.m. at the High School.

Brochures with a complete schedule of all presentations have been distributed throughout Emmet and Charlevoix Counties and area also available from the sponsors of the event: Charlevoix Area Hospital, Northern Michigan Hospitals, Burns Clinic, Petoskey Women's Resource Center, North Central Michigan College, MSU Cooperative Extension Service and District Health Department No. 3.

Registration forms are included in the brochures. Child care will be offered and Petoskey High School will offer a lunch. Registration is $2.00 by mail and $2.75 at the door. Further information may be obtained from any of the sponsoring agencies.

For Saints and Sinners

by Rev. Larry Grooters Community Reformed Church

People wonder why God seems distant and impersonal. Yet in John 15:15 Jesus makes clear that God is our friend. Why do our friends seem more real?

In human friendship there is what could be called a "law of association". It states in effect that the more time we associate with each other the more real or influential we are in each others lives.

If you have a neighbor you see every day, that friend will be real, will exert an influence in your life. If he moves away, you may remain friends, but his influence wanes.

Now, carry this one step farther. One author I read about states that he felt he knew the Apostle Paul better than any man in the world. How could this be? They were separated by 19 centuries. But - he explains, he had made Paul a part of his life on a daily basis for years. He read his letters over and over again. He read all he could find that had been written about Paul. He had thought, and read, and talked about Paul so much, he felt that he knew him better than any other man in the world. You don't have to see someone or be in the physical presence of someone, for that person to be read and influential in your life.

If you want to know George Washington better, you go to the library and get a book on George Washington and sit down and start reading.

If you want to spend some time with God in order to get to know him better, why not do the same thing. Why not get a book about him and sit down and read it?

You say the world and its affairs are so much more real to you than God is. Well, how much time do you spend in the newspaper and in front of the T.V. in comparison with time spent in prayer, or worship, or in the pages of His Book? The law of association works vertically as well as horizonally.

Why not decide right now to catch up on your part of the law of friendship. Friendship isn't a game of solitaire. It takes two to play, and its your move. God can become more real in your life. He's already proven His friendship toward you. It's your move!

Chorus to begin rehearsals

The Charlevoix Community Chorus has begun rehearsals for its annual Christmas presentation on Friday, Dec. 2 Ellen Addington, director of the choir, has announced.

This year the group will be performing a program of four short Bach Christmas cantatas with soloists and orchestra.

The music is delightful, dancing Bach and really fun to perform Miss Addington said, adding that the cantatas are not difficult to sing. The chorus invites any singers interested in joining the group to remember that every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. is the time and the place is the First Congregational Church at 101 State St. in Charlevoix. Further information may be obtained by calling Miss Addington at 536-7018.

The instrumental ensemble meets at the same place, the First Congregational Church, at 7:30 p.m. every Monday. Any string players interested in playing with the group is also asked to contact Miss Addington at the number above.

The Reclamation of Mt. McSauba

by Dave Knight

Who knows what the Mt. McSauba Recreation Area would have looked like in five or ten or twenty or forty years had it been left to the mercy of the four-wheelers and the four winds?

Chances are the natural forces of erosion, accelerated by the off-road vehicular damage, would have caused most or all of the sand of Mt. McSauba and adjoining dunes to blow inland, destroying the dunes and burying the wooded areas inland as they advanced.

The end result might well have been a barren, windswept tract of land of no good use to anybody.

Signs of such deterioration have been increasingly evident in recent years. While the shifting of the dunes is a natural occurence, the rapid rate of encroachment by the dunes on the Mt. McSauba forest has been noticeably un-natural.

Under normal conditions, the dunes can be expected to progress inland at a rate of two to three feet a year. Last winter alone, however, sand blowing through "blow holes" and across unvegetated areas caused some major dune areas to move inland unchecked, burying thirty and forty-foot trees so completly that, in some cases, only five or six feet of their crowns were left showing.

But now, thanks to a timely combination of intra-bureacratic coordination, the tireless efforts of several concerned people and a few coincidental good breaks, the healing appears to have begun.

While the good news is that the reclamation of Mt. McSauba is well underway, some equally good news is that the City of Charlevoix got the lion's share of the work done this summer at bargain basement cost.

First developed for skiers

A Coast Guardsman named Dave Hardy first saw the potential for the recreational use of Mt. McSauba in the early 1920s. An avid skier and ski jumper, he found the steep dunes perfect venues for downhill runs. In the years since, the City of Charlevoix has operated the 53.5-acre Mt. McSauba area, which features a three-quarter mile Lake Michigan shoreline, as a family ski hill in the winter and popular swimming beach in the summer. It also conducts a children's day camp there each summer.

The project just completed started out as primarily an erosion control measure but it eventually involved much more. The area now boasts a winding, two-mile network of groomed, wood chip covered trails for hiking and cross country skiing. The trails, together with the newly expanded and landscaped ski lodge, have spurred some long range plans to develop a nature study program for the facility to augment its recreational use.

Three years ago, the Charlevoix Recreation Commission drafted a "Receation Plan" which listed improvement recommendations for each of the city's recreational facilities. The list of needs for Mt. McSauba was longer than any other. It included erosion control on the ski slopes, tree plantings, vehicular control, cross-country ski trails, lodge expansion and some other fix-up items.

Says commission chairman John Hess, "Before we developed the plan, we were doing things on a piecemeal basis whenever the money or resources for a certain project became available."

But it was becoming evident to the commission and others in the community that Mt. McSauba needed something more than a piecemeal approach, particularly in the area of erosion control. That concern led to the filing for a Resource Conservation and Development Project grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service.

It was about that time that Terry DeBruyn succeeded Bill Grimm as SCS District Conservationist for Charlevoix and Emmet Counties and became involved in the project. Also becoming involved in securing the grant was the local Resource Conservation and Development (RC & D) Committee headed by chairman Harry Griffin.

Upside-down bureacracy helped

As federal grants go, this one received unusually speedy treatment and DeBruyn credits much of the expediency to the way the system is set up.

"You might say this bureacracy starts from the bottom up," said DeBruyn, "The local RC & D Committee works under the auspice of the Charlevoix Soil Conservation District and instead of the higher-ups telling the locals what is to be done, it works the other way around. The system is more responsive and efficient."

At any rate, it was February, 1983 when DeBruyn appeared before the Charlevoix City Council to announce that the $46,000 project was on schedule for the upcoming summer with the RC & D funds contributing $33,500 and the city the rest.

The next, and perhaps the biggest, lucky break for the project occurred in the spring when Governor James Blanchard announced the creation of the Michigan Youth Corps. Designed to put 25,000 17 to 21 year-olds to work, the $42.2 million program was timed perfectly for Charlevoix's purposes.

City Manager Robert Hunt and Mayor Kenneth Staley were in Lansing in a matter of days after the announcement of the program to apply. The application was successful and the city was authorized for a crew that ranged from 11 to 14 members throughout the summer. According to supervisors, the youth Corps workers saved the city some $14,000 in labor costs. The crew also made possible the expansion of the Mt. McSauba project to include the trail development and other phases not initially included in the RC & D schedule.

Said DeBruyn, "This just goes to show that when you're dealing with erosion control, you have an excellent opportunity to put the multi-use concept to good use."

Boss knows the area well

In another twist of good fortune for the overall project, Bo Boss was selected as the contracting officer.

Shifting sands buried, and eventually killed this pine tree on a Mt. McSauba dune.

There could hardly have been anyone more qualified. Having grown up on North Point in the shadow of Mt. McSauaba and having managed the ski hill for the past eight years, Boss knew exactly what had to be done and where.

"I've been running around these woods since I was a little kid," said Boss, "So I really jumped at the opportunity to help fix it up."

A Manthei turnapull hauls topsoil to the Mt. McSauba ski slopes.

When the time came to map the hiking and cross country trails, Boss knew right where they would go; they were the same trails he had explored many years hence.

A builder and contractor by trade, Boss was also just what the doctor ordered for the Youth Corps workers.

"I might have been kind of hard on them sometimes," he admits, "At the beginning of the summer we had a lot of dropouts. But these kids were in the program to learn how to work and I think by the end of the summer, we had a darn good work crew."

One measure of proof to that statement is that many of the Youth Corps workers involved in the Mt. McSauba project have since obtained jobs on their own.

Under the guidance of supervisors Joan Wagner and Rick Kane and working with five SCS employees, the Youth Corps crew accomplished some amazing tasks.

Since almost all of the trail network was unaccessible to any power equipment, trails were cleared with hand tools and woodchips hauled in by wheelbarrow. Three hundred yards of woodchips from the Mateiski lumber mill in Boyne Falls were used to cover the two miles of trails. Boss explains that that amount is enough to fill ten double-bottom semi-trucks.

Bo Boss

And they were all carted by wheelbarrow, up and down steep inclines, through sand and heavy brush.

One major factor contributing to the wind erosion of the dunes was the damage done to vegeatation on the dunes by off-road vehicles. While the numbers of four-wheelers has diminished in recent years - perhaps as a result of high gasoline prices - Boss remembers a time ten years ago when dune buggies and other four-wheel recreational vehicles ran rampant through the Mt. McSauba dunes.

"There was no way they could be kept out," he said. He also blames the uncontrolled mining of the sand dunes by local contractors about 20 years ago for much of the damage.

DeBruyn explains that vegetation is essential to the preservation of the sand dune type of environment.

"Dunes are extremely fragile systems," said DeBruyn, "Once they are denuded by four-wheel vehicles or other wise, there is nothing to keep the sand from blowing away."

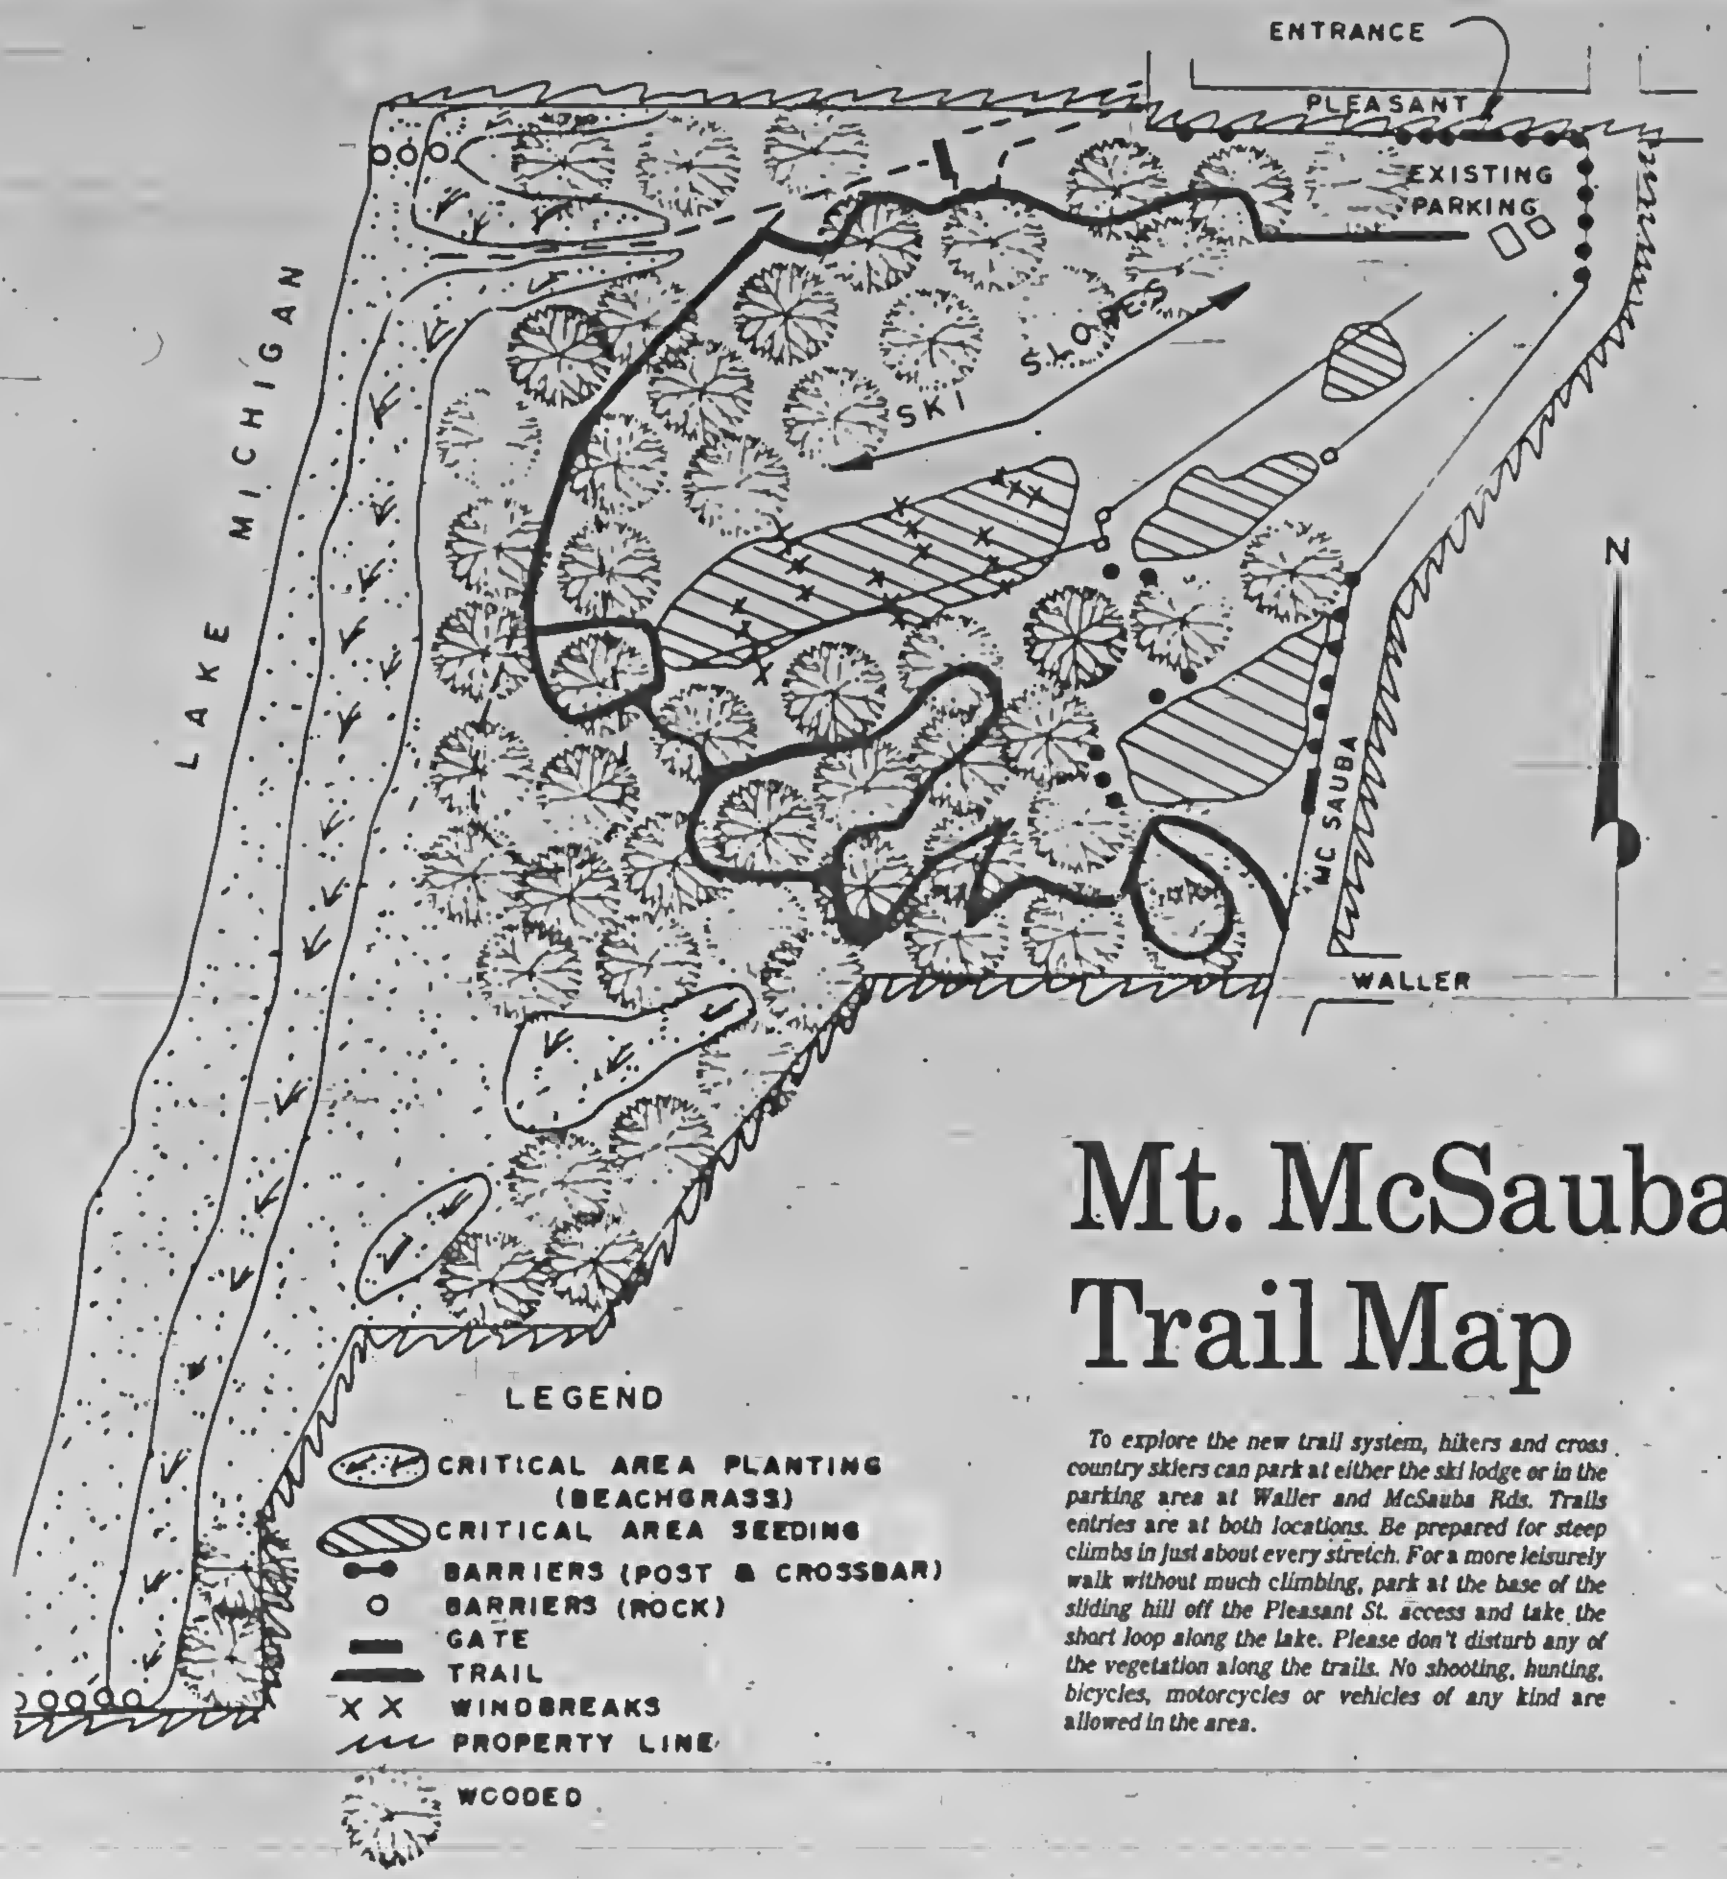
Michigan Youth Corps workers seed the western slope of the ski hill.

To retard such erosion, the McSauba work crew planted a total of 140,000 plugs of beach grass over 7½ acres of dunes. Each plug, consisting of two or three strands of the grass, had to be planted by hand after digging a ten-inch hole with a military trenching shovel. The planted areas were then fertilized, again by hand-pushed cyclone spreaders, using 3,500 pounds of 12-12-12 granular fertilizer.

"Now we can challenge you for the planting record," Boss told Keep Charlevoix Beautiful members when they toured the McSauba project, "You planted 40,000 petunias but we planted 140,000 beach grass plants!"

Woodchip-covered trails for hiking and cross-country skiing now wind throughout the Mt. McSauba area.

Mt. McSauba Trail Map



To explore the new trail system, hikers and cross country skiers can park at either the ski lodge or in the parking area at Waller and McSauba Rds. Trails entries are at both locations. Be prepared for steep climbs in just about every stretch. For a more leisurely walk without much climbing, park at the base of the sliding hill off the Pleasant St. access and take the short loop along the lake. Please don't disturb any of the vegetation along the trails. No shooting, hunting, bicycles, motorcycles or vehicles of any kind are allowed in the area.

Still another 40,000 plants, which are obtained from the Mason Lake Soil Conservation Service in Scottville, are to be planted next spring. When it matures, the hardy beach grass plant will spread its roots from eight to ten feet outward, thus doing a good job of holding the sand.

Boss points out that the beach grass is not expected to stabilize the dunes forever saying, "There is no way you can stop the dunes from changing. We just want to slow down the process."

To insure that the new beach grass plants get a fair chance to survive, another major phase of the reclamation project was to seal the area off to all vehicles. To that end, 204 eight-foot wooden vehicle barriers, held together by 1,000 lag bolts, were erected around the inland perimeters of the area with gates at former access roads. Boss was delighted to learn that a couple of Youth Corps workers had some carpentry experience so he put them to work on building the barriers with the SCS crew.

As an experiment, rows of three-foot boulders were placed along the north and south property boundaries extending from the dunes to the Lake Michigan shoreline. It is hoped the boulders will prevent entrance to the area by four-wheelers driving along the beach.

"We didn't think a chain link fence would look very good," said Boss of the decision to experiment with the boulders as vehicle barriers.

The stabilization of the ski slopes of Mt. McSauba posed the most difficult logistical problem of the summer. Before the western, or back, slope could be reseeded, 2,250 yards of black dirt had to be hauled up the steep incline and applied to the area.

"Almost every local contractor we talked to just laughed and said it couldn't be done..." said Boss, "...Except Manthei Development."

Manthei used bulldozers and a turnapull earth mover to transfer the mounds of topsoil up the front slope of McSuaba, over the crest and onto the back side. The local firm also saved the city some more money by swapping the gravel for the Pleasant St. access road and parking lot for the huge water tank near the ski lodge the city had been trying to sell.

Said Boss of the Manthei crews, "They were just great to work with."

Initial plans had been to hydroseed the ski hill area but that plan was dropped when it was determined that the exposed slopes were too vulnerable to high winds and that the hydroseeded areas might not take.

Again, it was the Youth Corps to the rescue. About ten acres were hand seeded, hand-rolled, fertilized with 1,700 pounds of fertilizer applied again with the cyclone spreaders and mulched with 500 bales of straw. The seeded area was then covered with a biodegradable netting material called Conwebb. Four miles of the 7½ foot-wide netting was laid and stapled into the ground with 10,000 steel stakes designed to rust away in a year's time.

Says City Recreation Director Dwight Boss, who has now seen the entire agenda of improvements listed in the 1980 recreation plan completed, "I can't believe the amount of work that was done over the summer. Everytime I look out there (at Mt. McSauba) I'm just amazed."

Bo Boss figures that, for its total outlay of about $10,000, the City of Charlevoix got about $50,000 worth of work done. Another source familiar with public works projects estimates that, had the project been taken on by a private contractor, it would have easily cost $125,000.

About 140,000 beach grass plants were planted with 40,000 more planned for next spring.

Turning to the matter of how best to use the new trail system, City Manager Hunt has proposed that the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization assume the task of organizing a nature study program adapted to the Mt. McSauba facilities.

While Hunt said that the city will still oversee physical development of the area, he added that City Hall would rather not get into the business of nature education and that KCB would be a more logical group to coordinate such a program.

KCB responded last week by forming a new committee that will explore ways to best utilize the trail system and expanded lodge for nature studies. Chairman of the committee is Mrs. Janis Glass. Other members include Jack Gebott, Gayle Sheldon, Pete Spieles, Annabell Webb and Bo Boss.

The committee is scheduled to meet with Hunt next month to begin discussions on its mission.

These boulders will hopefully discourage four-wheelers from damaging the Mt. McSauba beach.

Some "thank-yous" are in order

by BO BOSS

WE would like to thank the following individuals and organizations who made this project a complete success.

John Hess, former County Planner and currently chairman of the Charlevoix Recreation Commission, and James Brinker, former city manager and currently city treasurer. John and James, along with the Recreation Commission, wrote and filed the original grant applications. WE are very fortunate that John had the foresight to see that the conditions of the area were rapidly deteriorating and took it upon himself to see this project through to the end.

Terry DeBruyn, District Conservationist for the USDA Soil Conservation Service. Terry was responsible for laying out all of the ground work on the project. He worked countless hours to produce a plan of operations to best suit our needs. It was with his persistence that the project was able to begin one year sooner than originally planned.

James Haveman, RC & D Coordinator for the USDA Soil Conservation Service. Jim was the engineer of the entire project and was constantly available with his assistance. Realizing the uniqueness of the area, he worked into the project design special requests by the city such as the use of boulders as vehicle barriers and routed wooden signs.

Robert Hunt, city manager. Rob was in on almost every aspect of the project. He and Mayor Ken Staley went to Lansing and were able to obtain a grant for the cross country and hiking trails. He not only helped design the trails but made daily inspections to offer help or assistance.

City department heads really pulled together throughout the project. Leonard Dubey was always there to assist even though he was working a full schedule. Several times he personally made emergency repairs on broken equipment and offered the use of his crew and workshop. This assistance was done at great savings to the city. Norm Empey, the city's head mechanic, built and designed all of the hardware neccessary for the construction of the heavy wooden gates. Ed Whitley, utility superintendent, and his crew installed the new water main that supplies the newly expanded snow making system. They also buried cable to light the back slope for the first time.

Jim Martin donated his grass seeder to seed about ten acres. Dwight Boss, recreation director, was very resourceful with his assistance and guidance throughout the summer months. He assisted with the initial grant applications, refined the overall plan of operations and spent many hours with the SCS engineers doing anything it took to get the project off and rolling.

Manthei Development of Charlevoix. Not enough can be said about this corporation. We ran into many snags in this project. We knew we had a difficult situation to haul over 2,000 cubic yards of dirt up Mt. McSauba but with the assistance of Manthei's engineers, it came off without a hitch. We owe the success of the topsoil placement and seeding, which had to be done in one week's time, to Manthei.

Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc. made possible the transplanting of seven white spruce trees by the lodge.

Dr. Walter Hoffman and Clayton Scott donated the seven trees plus the new Charistmas tree in East Park.

Louis Orlowski designed all of the landscaping around the lodge free of charge.

I would also like to extend special thanks to the secretaries who helped with the project, Mary Horton and Ann Wagner, who had stacks of additional paperwork to complete along with their normal work load. Thanks also go to Kelly Looze of the SCS, Judy Przybylski and Amy Russell for their administrative help.

Last but not least are the Michigan Youth Corps workers who were assigned at some time to the project under the supervision of Rick Kane and Joan Wagner. They include, from Charlevoix, Kevin Morrison, Ken Harris, Jim Zeitler, Mark Belfy, Jack Russell, Jeff Burke and Liz Smith; from Boyne City, Roland Piper and Rob Richardson; from East Jordan, Jeff Leaman, Herschell Sutton, Kim Walker, Dean Richards, Dennis Richards, Dan Weisler, Marsh Gothro, Dava Walker, Daniel Possert, Bill Spence, Jim Morris and Harold Stevens; from Central Lake, Larry Kendall and Jeff Miller.

Council accepts clerk's resignation, agrees to study new job description

by DAVE KNIGHT

City Council followed the recommendations of City Manager Robert Hunt Monday night by transferring all financial functions from the office of City Clerk to the office of City Treasurer, seeking a legal opinion on how to revise the City Clerk's job description and requesting the Compensation Commission to develop a new salary scale for revised position.

The action came after council formally accepted the resignation of Deanne Balch as City Clerk which was submitted one week ago. Mrs. Balch, who has been on leave from the position for several months, cited personal health reasons for her resignation.

A resolution of appreciation for Mrs. Balch's four years of service as City Clerk drafted by Mayor Kenneth Staley was also unanimously approved by council.

Deputy City Clerk Beatrice Parton was named acting City Clerk on a unanimous council vote.

Well development was again the topic of a lengthy council discussion as council voted to stick with Luttrell Well Drilling, Inc. of Harbor Springs as the prime contractor in the city's well development program.

Luttrell was chosen for the contract two weeks ago on the basis of their promise to have drilling rigs in operation by this week. The firm has not yet started drilling, however, prompting City Manager Hunt and consulting engineer Richard Force to recommend awarding the bid to the next lowest bidder, Lane Northern.

'Still a candidate' says Balch

Deanne Balch, whose resignation as City Clerk was accepted by City Council Monday night, said Monday that she might still be interested in serving in a revised version of the position.

Mrs. Balch's name will appear on the November 8 general election ballot as the only candidate for City Clerk. Based on discussions held at a City Council work session October 10, it was reported in the Courier last week that she was not interested in serving if elected.

In a telephone interview from her home, however, Mrs. Balch said, "If I am up to it, I would consider serving. It will depend entirely upon the job description council comes up with and my health."

She said that much of the strain of the job, and associated health problems, were brought on by additions to her responsibilities with decrease of her staff.

"I am definitely still a candidate, though, and will wait to see what the job will entail before I decide whether to serve if elected," said Mrs. Balch.

Baker honored by Japan

by FRAN MARTIN

G. Robert Baker, who makes Charlevoix his part-time home, was honored recently in Japan for his contributions to the promotion of closer Japan-U.S. economic and cultural relations during the 12 years he spent in Japan as chairman of Dow Chemical Japan Ltd. and corporate representative director of Dow Chemical Co.

Baker, who will be retiring later this year after more than 36 years of service to Dow Chemical, returned with his wife to the couple's LaCroft condominium last week.

Prior to his departure for Charlevoix, the Japanese government conferred upon Baker the Second Class Order of the Sacred Treasure, the highest honor the government can accord a foreigner in Japan.

The presentation was made by Foreign Minister Sintaro Abe. In making the presentation, the Foreign Ministry said that Baker, as president of the American Chamber of Commerce in Japan in 1979 and as a governor of the organization for seven years, had introduced many innovative ideas for the betterment of Japan-U.S. economic relations and the promotion of mutual understanding.

In particular, it said, Baker took the initiative in compiling a white paper on U.S.-Japan trade and investments which was appraised as reflecting the views of American businesses in Japan.

Baker was also honored by Goro Kimura, president of Matsumoto Oil & Fat Pharmaceutical Co. of Osaka in the form of Kimura's financial contribution to finance one

School Board sets summer tax meeting

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its regular meeting Monday night, voted to hold a meting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Nov. 7, at which will be offered for adoption a resolution to impose a summer property tax levy of 50 percent of its annual school tax levy upon property located in the Charlevoix School District.

At the same meeting a bid was let for a storm drain installation at the Charlevoix Elementary School; approval was a debt given retirement payment; a request for an early graduation and; a budget amendment as was the request for permission for a trip to Mexico by the Spanish club.

Unanimous approval was given the decision to bring the resolution regarding the summer collection of 50 percent of the school tax to a vote by the board of edocation. A final resolution relating to the tax collection will be offered at the Nov. 7 meeting of the board. In the interim a notice of the meeting is to be published.

Robert Hunt

Hunt: Two years and still here

by DAVE KNIGHT

It is two years this month that Robert Hunt has been Charlevoix City Manager. That fact alone is noteworthy; it's just about the longest any city manager has held the position since it was created by a new charter in 1977.

Not that the past two years have been easy. Hunt submitted his resignation at one point in March, 1982 over a disagreement with City Council involving selection of a fire chief. He later rescinded it. Trouble brewed again this past summer when some council members raised concerns about Hunt's job performance at a curious council session held following adjournment of a regular meeting.

But Hunt is still city manager and he hopes the turbulent part of his tenure is behind him. In a recent interview, Hunt related his thoughts on Charlevoix, on the city manager's job and why he wants to keep it.

COURIER: What have you learned since becoming a city manager?

HUNT: I served as an assistant city manager before becoming a city manager. As an assistant I was often put in the role of the city manager but after two weeks as a city manager, I realized there were many differences in the two jobs.

As an assistant, you only have to anticipate the needs of one individual, your boss; but as a city manager, you have to anticipate the needs of all the people in the city. It is especially hard if you try to do everything yourself.

I have found that the effectiveness of a city manager is measured in how well he can get other people to carry things out; people like department heads and consultants. It is a learning process that is different in each community.

Every time a manager goes into a new community, it takes at least a couple of years before he can even start to be effective. The difficulty in cities where there is a high turnover of city managers is that the city never keeps managers long enough for them to become effective.

I know that I personally have an efficiency now that I didn't have my whole first year at the job.

COURIER: Charlevoix is not so unique in experiencing a high turnover of city managers. Steven Hoffner and Tim Clifton, former city managers in Petoskey and Boyne City, both recently moved on after relatively short tenures. What is there about the job that makes it so hard to keep filled around here?

HUNT: First, there is the obvious desire of the city manager to progress within the profession. You want to go to bigger, better cities as you move op the professional ladder. Small, dynamic towns such as in Northern Michigan need talented people as managers but they don't have the money to pay for experienced managers. That's why these towns attract young, well-educated, but inexperienced types.

Personally, I don't have the same priorities. I grew up in a small town and I want to keep living in a small town.

The other factor that causes a high turnover rate is burnout from stress. This is especially prevalent among young city managers. They are taught the professional standard of dealing with every problem by looking at all the facts and options and then choosing the best alternative. But there are so many problems, so many alternatives, if a city manager tries to analyze every single one of them, he'll burn out. So no one does that.

Part of coping with being a city manager is being able to prioritize your life. Some managers think that they are expected to be everything in the community; problem solver, good neighbor, church goer, good father and husband, involved in lots of civic projects. That is unrealistic to expect of anyone, especially within a three-year period. If a manager tries to do all that, his life soon becomes a rat race. That is a real danger.

To survive, you have to set limitations. I have. I've tried to eliminate evenings and weekend work as much as possible. I've trained people to handle problems when I am not available.

I feel I need time to feel good about living in Charlevoix.

COURIER: After everything you've gone through with the city council, are you surprised you're still city manager?

HUNT: When I had the first misunderstanding with the council, the advice I got from other city managers was to get out as fast as I could. That's the common wisdom within the profession; when you have problems, move on.

I think that's hogwash. Just because you have a communication problem, you should address it, not run away from it. If a manager's response to crisis is to get out, he'll never help the city solve the problem that led to crisis.

COURIER: So you plan on sticking around a while?

HUNT: Oh, I suppose it's possible

Arrangements were handled by the McWilliams Funeral Home in Rogers City.

New program to feature daily checks

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department in conjunction with the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging, will be sponsoring a program to check daily on elderly citizens or handicapped citizens of Charlevoix County who live alone and would like to have a courtesy call once each day to check on their safety.

Volunteers will be recruited to contact one to six citizens who request this service. Volunteers can make application by contacting Sheriff Lasater at the Sheriff's office.

The program is designed for elderly and handicapped citizens of Charlevoix County who live alone and feel that this daily phone contact would be in their best interest.

Several citizens in Charlevoix County over the last few years have been in a position of a health or medical emergency in their home and have been unable to seek help until a relative or neighbor checked on them. Hopefully this program will help eliminate this potential problem with our elderly and handicapped citizens living alone.

Citizens interested in being involved in this program may request this service by contacting Sheriff Lasater at the Sheriff's office: 547-4461.

LTC acquires more acreage

The Little Traverse Conservancy (LTC) has acquired 27 acres bordering the Pigeon River near Indian River, Chairman Thomas Pointner, a Charlevoix attorney, announced last week. The property is in Cheboygan County's Koehler Township and includes almost 2000 feet of frontage on the Pigeon River, which has been designated as "wild and scenic" by the State of Michigan.

The river frontage portion of the property varies from high bluffs to low conifer swampland. Most of the frontage is on the west side of the river, but a footbridge connects to a portion of the property on the east side of the stream. The backlands are a mixture of jack pine, blueberries, and hardwoods.

The Pigeon River property was donated to the Conservancy by Mrs. Harold Andreae of the Columbus Club (Burt Lake) and Columbus, Ohio. In announcing the gift, Chairman Pointner said, "I would like to thank Mrs. Andreae on behalf of the Board of Trustees and members of the Little Traverse Conservancy for this very significant land donation. This nature preserve will provide scenic and recreational opportunities for this generation and future generations and will also help to insure the ecological integrity of one of northern Michigan's most beautiful streams."

The property will be known as the Agnes S. Andreae Nature Preserve.

The Little Traverse Conservancy is an area land preservation organization that has acquired almost 800 acres of significant natural land and open space in Emmet, Charlevoix, and Cheboygan Counties. For more information about visiting LTC nature preserves contact the Conservancy office at 347-0991.

Sept. Transit figures told

by PEG OHLE

The gross cost was $5.59 a one-way trip. Riders paid an average fare of 63 cents a trip. The difference of $4.96 a ride ($28,441.56 for the month) will be made up from local, state, and federal tax money.

These are the figures revealed in the report of September operations of the Charlevoix County Transit system.

Last week, the Charlevoix County Commission on Aging, which oversees the System, approved the report and authorized payment of vouchers amounting to $32,090.43 to cover the costs of operating the System during September.

During its 23 days of operation, the Transit System provided 5,736 one-way rides: 1,966 to senior citizens, 1,872 to handicapped persons, and 1,898 to regular passengers. Fares collected during the month amounted to $3,617.75, or approximatedly 63 cents a ride. (Divide fares collected by number of riders). Operating the System cost $5.59 a ride. (Divide total cost of operation by number of riders). The difference between $5.59 and 63 cents is the amount of subsidy for each ride.

The vouchers that were approved included salaries and fringe benefits for the manager, superviser, drivers, secretary, and dispatch personnel, 13 persons in all, in the amount of $21,501.57. In addition, employees received $598.13 for travel expenses.

Such operating expenses as office supplies, utilities, phone, advertising, and rent amounted to $962.27.

The Transit System's eight buses traveled 20,837 miles during September, using 2,186 gallons of fuel, which (with oil) cost $5,159.49. Repairs and bus supplies cost $3,727.89.

Expenses of operating the Transit System vary considerably from month to month, depending on what salaries, fringe benefits, repairs, and fuel bills are turned in.

In August, expenses were reported at $9,477.35 because only one week's salaries and fringe benefits were included. That brought the cost of the 6,128 rides provided in August down to 95 cents each after fare contributions were deducted. The August salaries and fringe benefits not included in the August report were added to the September report, which accounts for the higher total operating costs in September.

In May, the expenses amounted to only $17,879.49, even though 1,000 more rides (6,734) were provided than in September; in June, the expenses amounted to $21,013.61 for 5,903 rides; and in July, expenses went down to $19,405 for 5,238 rides.

From May through September, the average cost per one-way ride was $3.36 and the average fare paid was 58 cents per ride, so the subsidy was $2.78 a ride, or $82,674.42 for the five-month period. As mentioned above, this subsidy is paid by local, state, and federal taxes.

Last month, the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners turned over to the Commission on Aging the job of implementing some 22 recommendations for improving the Transit System which were included in an ad hoc committee's report following that committee's study of the system.

At its October meeting, the Commission on Aging discussed and took action on five of the recommendations. Their final report is due in March.

The Commission on Aging last week also approved vouchers amounting to $21,150.07 for September operations of its own services.

Of this amount, $12,882.99 covered the costs of providing senior citizen meals in Charlevoix, East Jordan, and Boyne City. Those eating the meals contributed $1,969.16 toward their costs, making the net monthly cost of the meal program $10,913.83.

"Vegas Nites" this weekend

A two-night fund raiser for the Camp McSauba summer day camp is being planned for Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22, by the Father Pierre Charlevoix Council No. 7172 of the Knights of Columbus.

Entitled "Las Vegas Nites", the program will be held from 7 p.m. to 1 a.m. on Friday, October 21 and from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. Saturday, October 22 at the American Legion Hall at 106 East Garfield.

Featured will be several Las Vegas-type games for which betting chips will be available to participants. According to state law, the maximum winnings will be $500 per person.

A $2 donation, which does not include chips, will be taken at the door. All proceeds from the event will be donated to Camp McSauba which the City of Charlevoix operates at its Mt. McSauba Recreation Area.

According to organizer Jack Gebott, the funds raised will be held by the KCs in an escrow account until it is decided what capitol improvements are needed at the camp.

Some areas for potential funding, said Gebott, include the establishment of a nature study facility at the McSauba lodge, expansion of restroom facilities and construction of a small swimming pool.

Gebott issued an invitaiton to all area residents to attend Las Vegas Nites on October 21 and 22 saying that food and beverages will also be available. For more information on the event, those interested may call 547-5233 or 547-6319.

Bldg. permits peaked last month

The Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection issued more permits during September than during any previous month of the year.

The total of 61 permits exceeded the May figure of 60 and the June figure of 59.

Melrose Township and Boyne City residents received the great number of permits, seven in each area. They were followed by Hayes Township, six; Eveline Township, five; Bay Township, four; South Arm Township, four; Wilson Township, four; Charlevoix, four; East Jordan, four; Charlevoix Township, three; Marion Township, three; Peaine Township, three; Boyne Valley Township, two; Norwood Township, two; Chandler Township, one; Evangeline Township, one; and Hudson-Township, one.

Eleven of the permits issued were for new houses: three in Hayes Township; two each in Charlevoix Township, Eveline Township, and Boyne City; and one each in Bay Township and Peaine Township.

So far this year, the Department of Building Inspection has issued 373 permits for all types of construction, estimated to cost $5,911,760. Boyne City residents received 43 permits, Charlevoix residents received 39 permits, and Melrose Township residents received 33 permits, to lead the list.

Last year at this time, the Department had issued only 346 permits for construction estimated to cost $5,047,816.

Politics should play less a role in some appointments

Two major appointments that made the news last week point up diametric approaches to how specialized branches of government should be run. At the state fevel, Paul Kindinger was named director of the Agriculture Department by the Agriculture Commission and in Washington Judge William Clark was named Secretary of the Interior Department by President Ronald Reagan.

The cases are similar in that each represents the esecutive brsnch promoting a team player for an important position over other individuals with potentially more background and qualification for the position. They differ in that, on the state level, Governor James Blanchard did not get his man, former Sen. John Hertel, appointed while President Reagan's appointment of Clark appears headed for confirmation.

Filling appointive positions with political allies is neither new nor always bad. Such practice can promote expediency in government by avoiding partisan conflict in the development of major departmental policies. The weakness of the system, however, is that while politically appointed department heads may strengthen the esecutive brsncb's overall control, often it is at the espense of the department's mission.

The state Agriculture and federal Interior Departments both deal in compiex, technical areas involving the sciences, economics, socisl factors and many other specislized disciplines. Career people in these fields are valuable commodities. There is little incentive to work one's way up the professional ladder, however, when one's political affiliation is the ultimate yardstick for promotion.

This is precisely why autonomous citizen commissions were formed on the state level - to insulate specislized departments from political pressures. And while there may have been some political funny business involved in the state Ag Commission's rebuff of Gov. Blanchard, it is encouraging to see the commission stand up for what it feels is best for the department.

The Clark appointment, on the other hand, reflects an affront to the many, many more qualified individuals who were mentioned as able candidates for the Interior position following James Watt's resignation.

In such sensitive areas as agriculture and natural resources, cronyism, at any level of government, should have no pisce.

Poor column

To the Editor:

"Physician heal thyself". Editor edit thyself. I am referring to Mr. Knight's column of last week. Methinks, pride of authorship prevailed over editorial integrity. If the President is a nuclear-crazed cookie monster, the esteemed editor is a Pulitzer class journalist - albeit, with a sophomoric sense of bumor.

Our famous local cookies deserve a more elegant promotional ploy and our President deserves a modicum of respect. Your readership deserves higher professional standards.

Parents Night great

To the Editor:

The parents of the Charlevoix Rayder football team wish to thank the Cheerleaders for making Parent's Night a memorable occasion. Flowers were presented to the Mothers and special name tags were sported by the Fathers. After the game refreshments were served by the Cheerleaders and their Mothers. We all estend a very special thank-you to Marsha Trimper and her fine group of Cheerleaders.

A Mother and Father

Congressmen fail to impress

by PEG OHLE

After covering meetings of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners for almost ten years, we thought we knew what to expect when a body of politicians gsthers to conduct its business.

We have heard Commissioners take the floor to discuss a matter under considerstion, and, without skipping a beat, wander off into a discussion of an entirely different and irrelevant matter.

We have watched and and listened as the County Board took action on matters that some of them did not understand at all. (Facial espressions help in detecting this flaw).

We have observed many obvious acts of vote trading ("you vote for my resolution and I'll vote for yours").

We have been dismayed by espressions of jealousy and competition among commissioners representing different parts of the County – to say nothing of the feelings sometimes vented toward our neighboring counties.

Bnt, by golly, tbose commissioners regularly attend their scheduled semi-monthly meetings, sit in their chairs while the meetings are in session, make an effort to listen to what's going on, and to run the County to the best of their ability.

We found out that is not always the case with members of the Congress of the United States while recently attending sessions of both the House and Senate. In the House, only a small percentage of the members were present, and those who were spent mucb of their time running up and down the aisles and glad-handing colleagues, even while anotber colleague was at the microphone trying to muster votes for a pet bill. The Speaker of the House was absent, with his place that day being taken by an unfamiliar Congressman.

However, earlier in the day we had attended a meeting of a subcommittee of the Armed Services Committee, of which our local representative, Bob Davis, is a member. This smaller group carried on its meeting with decorum, even though it was discussing possible burial sites for radio-active materials.

Someone tried to esplain to this outlander that most of the business of Congress is done in committees so our elected officials don't have to pay much attention to what's going on in the House or Senate. That may be so, but one can't help but wonder bow the wheels of government turn at all.

Action in the Senate was much the same as in the House except that more members were present because a milk subsidy bill was being considered. The word was out that their votes, pro or con, were needed, and they straggled in to voice them.

But somehow it was disappointing for this reporter to see many of these well-known men of government act as if the meeting was really unimportant. They were there – Goldwater, Percy, Moynihan, Reigle, Hollings, Glenn – and many others, looking like statesmen. We hope they had done their work in committees earlier in the day.

We also hope our County Commissioners continue to sit in their seats, listen carefully, and speak wben they have something to say.

"They also serve wbo only serve the County". It is a trust and honor not to be taken lightly.

Knight on the Town

Making progress

by Dave Knight

I attended a meeting at the Medusa cement plant last week at which some preliminary results were discussed of the 90-day air quality monitoring program set up jointly by the Watch, Inc. citizens group and Medusa this past August.

On hand was Loren W. Crow, the consultant who has been retained to study the meteorological relationship to the presence of dust in the air around Charlevoix.

Portions of Crow's report were predictable. He documented with historical records, for instance, that dust levels are higher in the warm, dry summer months than in the winter months, that dust levels are lower during rainy periods than during dry ones and that the higher dust level readings at the high volume samplers around town occur when the wind blows from the southwest.

One surprising point made by Crow, however, was that cold air near the ground during calm summer nights makes the settling to the ground of dust in a plume from Medusa's stacks virtually impossible. Frequent contentions have been made in the past that the plant takes advantage of nightfall to emit high volumes of dust. Watch member Jerry Puhl noted to Crow that dust accumulation on cars and boats is often most evident first thing in the morning, thus indicating substantial falloot during the night.

Bot Crow said, "Only when vertical mixing is forced by warm surface temperatures during the warmer part of the day is material from an elevated plume mixed to the ground to be collected in a hi-vol sampler."

One explanation offered was that nightime condensation coagulating dust particles already on a surface makes them more visible.

Also present at the meeting was Ron Draftz from the Illinois Institute of Technology Research Institute (IITRI) which specializes in fine particle research. Draftz expisined how IITRI, using such sophisticated methods as X-ray diffraction and polarized light analysis, will be able to identify the components in dust samples taken in Charlevoix and hopefully trace their point of origin.

Draftz said, however, that to make his firm's research helpful to the cause, dust samples from a bona fide "episode" will have to be collected for analysis. An episode would be one of the times during which people in the community esperience an especially large amount of dustfall.

"Without the material from a real episode," said Draftz, "There's not much we can do to try and figure out what caused the episode."

Through Watch, several local residents are taking part in a monitoring program involving 18-inch square plastic sheets. The sheets are left outdoors, exposed to any settling dust, and then collected for analysis of any material that collects on them.

Because of some inherent inaccuracies in the hi-vol sampling program - such as unfavorable winds - the plastic sheets are espected to yield the most valuable data in the monitoring program.

The most impressive aspect of the meeting to me, however, was the attitude of cooperation shown by Medusa officials. When it was pointed out that the monitoring of dust this time of year, with the plant's kiln presently down and climactic conditions changing, may not be representative of problem periods, there was no hesitation to defer some of the 90-day test period until next June when there is more apt to be a problem to monitor.

This was not in the original plan which Medusa could have made an issue out of sticking to. But plant manager Jack Schmidt and Medusa official Elbert Kaiser both seemed eager to get to the root of the problem and quickly agreed to the re-scheduling of the monitoring period.

It is just this sort of cooperation between Medusa and the concerned citizens of Watch, Inc. that will bring about resolution of the dust problem that much faster.

Clockwise

Homecoming Rx

by Bob Clock

I WOULD LIKE to make a modest proposal concerning high school homecoming celebrstions:

Although it is dangerous to tamper with tradition, it is time for someone to speak out about the folly of building floats of papier mache and Kleenex in these northern climes, wbere, more often than not, the weather at bomecoming season is not agreeable to such fragile creations.

This year, for example, the weather was so wild, wet and windy that the floats were pretty shopworn by half-time — despite the long bours they took to construct.

Some years, of course, the weatherman cooperates beautifully. But let's face it, that doesn't happen very often.

I'd like to see the Student Council, the various class officers and the high school administrators put their heads together and come up with a new format for next year's homecoming.

Perhaps homecoming could start on Thursday night with a variety show in the high school gymnasium. Each of the four classes could be given 20 minutes to put on a fast-paced variety show, with songs, dances, cheers and original skits. The class with the best show would get the top prize.

At the end of the program, the homecoming queen and her court would be introduced — all in the snug comfort.

Weather permitting, the homecoming celebration could be followed by a gigantic bonfire in the parking lot — under auspices of the Charlevoix Volunteer Fire Department— followed by a snake-dance through town, under auspices of the Charlevoix Police Department.

The possibilities are endless and the format could change every year.

Sucb a celebration certainly would do more to tap the creative talents of our students than stapling wads of nose tissue to sheets of plywood in drafty barns and garages.

I don't pretend to know when or where the present homecoming started, with its gaudy flower-decorated floats, but I suspect much of the inspiration came from the Rose Bowl Parade every New Year's Day in California. However, Northern Michigan does not enjoy the same balmy weather as southern California — at least not in unpredictable October.

BARRY WOOD says we should be grateful last week's bountious precipitation came down as rain — not snow. He translates the relentless rain from Wednesday through Friday into about 25 inches of snow —25 inches of snow that we didn't have to shovel.

Of course, some snow *did*fall as big, spidery splotches on the windshield. But it melted as soon as it hit.

SPEAKING OF THE storm, I wish the city would undertake an immediate program to remove the dead wood from our superannuated shade trees on city property. Dead limbs pose a real threat to pedestrians and kids waiting for school buses.

The branches that fell during last week's big blow were mostly green and top-heavy with leaves. A lot of the dead stuff is still up there — just waiting to clunk some unsuspecting passerby on the head.

Fulbright grant to an American with the grant to be named the "Fulbright-G.R. Baker Matsumoto Oil & Fat Pharmaceutical Co. Grant".

While there are already several grants bearing the names of companies, this is the first time that a corporate donor has requested that a grant bear the name of an individual.

U.S. Ambassador to Japan Mike Mansfield wrote, "Mr. Kimura's gesture is truly a fitting tribute to the many contributions you have made, not only as a Fulbright Commission member, but also as an active leader in promoting Japanese-American relations during your many years here. It is also a reflection of the many close friendships you have developed during your years in Japan."

Those "many close friendships" it went on to esplain, resulted in a sizeable contribution to the fund raising campaign as a farewell gift to Baker from his many Japanese and American associates who attended his farewell party at the American Club in Tokyo.

Baker and his wife first went to Japan in 1971 and during the ensuing years be represented Dow Chemical Co. in a variety of senior positions. During his span of more than 35 years with Dow Chemical, he has held numerous positions in Dow's worldwide organization. Prior to 1971, he served in Dow's Latin American area for four years after filling numerous positions at the company's beadquartera in Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. Baker have owned a condominium at the LaCroft since its inception in the early 1970s and have spent time here since the completion of the LaCroft in 1974. An avid golfer, Baker is widely known in golfing circles of this area and is a member of the Bay View Country Club in Petoskey.

Volunteer fireman Jerry Pease mans the stretcher as a "victim" in the Elementary School recent disaster drill is brought into the Emergency Room of the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

K-5 students help stage "disaster"

Charlevoix Elementary School was the stage. The cast included nine 5th grade students, the school administration, several teachers, the Charlevois Area Hospital staff, and members of the Fire and Sheriff's Department.

The scenario - a simulated espiosion at the school, rescue and treatment of the children and teachers - was written by school and hospital personnel to test the readiness of both groups to handle any real incident at the school.

Students Ryan Smith, Christopher Burge, Jay Livingston, Janis Leadsbrand, Dan Terryberry, Lisa Dixon, Julie Bush and Sandy Fershee were the stars of this "Disaster Drill". Each was given a tag describing the injuries they were supposed to have incurred.

At 9:15 the Principal's office was notified that the drill was underway. As if it were real, the school called the Sheriff's office and Fire Department, simultaneously dispatching the school nurse to the scene. Within a few minutes the ambulance crews were on hand, checking each child's tag, determining which injuries demanded attention first and quickly transporting all the injured to the hospital.

Meanwhile, Charlevois Area Hospital, alerted to the problem, had called physicians, nurses and other appropriate personnel to gather in the Emergency Room.

As the ambulances arrived, with the children playing their parts of victims, a system of "triage" was used to determine which injuries required attention first and what sort of treatment would be used in each case. Physicians checked each actor-victim and explained procedures to follow. Laboratory technologists were called to the ER, Respiratory Therapy was called to administer an EKG to teacher Ron Cox who was acting the part of a victim with chest pains.

When each victim had been checked and treatment described, the actor-children were treated to milk and cookies in the cafeteria while medical personnel and ambulance crews evaluated their own performances.

Every year Charlevoix Area Hospital conducts different types of "Disaster Drills" to ensure that should the need ever arise the ambulance and hospital staff is well prepared.

Hospital to offer CPR instruction

Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation - the emergency life saving techniques involving mouth to mouth resuscitation and closed chest heart massage will be offered ot the public at Charlevoix Area Hospital Tuesday October 25 and Thursday October 27 from 6 to 10 p.m.

The two session course, will involve one day of introduction and time for practicing techniques on a CPR manniken "Resusci Annie". Thursday, more time will be alloted for practice, then participants desiring certification will be tested.

A special one day reeertification - session will be held Wednesday, October 26, from 6 to 10 p.m., for people who have had CPR instruction previously and wish to be recertified.

CPR can be a vital life saving technique in cases of drowning, heart attacks, electrical shock and other serious accidents. For people living near the water and in rural areas, knowledge of CPR is an invaluable technique to know.

There is a $5.00 fee for the two-day session, to cover espenses. A student manual published by the American Heart Association is available in advance at the hospital admitting office for $2.00. No fees are charged for recertification.

Charlevois Area Hospital is offering these CPR training and certification sessions through its Community Education Committee. All classes will be held in the lower level class rooms of the Lake Michigan wing.

First State Bank announces essay contest for seniors

First State Bank of Charlevois has announced a two-part scholarship fund competition that enables high school seniors throughout the nation to enter local and national essay contests with a single paper. It is part of a program sponsored by the Nation's independent banks to increase public awareness of locally-owned bank's contributions to the community.

First State Bank is a member of the Independent Bankers Association of America, an association of locally owned and operated banks that is conducing the Howard and Katherine Bell Scholarship Fund competition. The national contest will award a total of $5,000 in prized in a contest that is open to all high school seniors without regard for financial assistance needs.

First State Bank of Charlevoix is adding $225.00 in a local contest with local judging. The same entries submitted in the national competition will be judged in the local contest.

First State Bank of Charlevoix is working with Gayle Gennett, Student Counselor at Charlevoix High School to invite seniors at the high school to submit short essays. Information on the contest is available both at the bank and throogh Ms. Gennett, but entries are to be made through the higb school. Entries must be submitted to Ms. Gennett by December 16, 1983, to be eligible for the judging. Prizes will be made directly to winners in mid-March.

The scholarship fund program has been established to honor the career of Howard Bell, retired esecutive director of IBAA, and his wife, for 25 years of service to the national banking association. IBAA is the only professional organization operated exclusively for the country's community banks.

Middle School sets mini-sessions

The Charlevoix Middle School has issued an invitation to parents of students in the school to participate in mini-sessions Wednesday, Oct. 19.

Coffee will be served in the cafeteria beginning at 6:30 p.m. and the mini-sessions will begin at 6:50 p.m. Parents will attend mini-sessions of their students' classes to acquaint them with the subjects their students are taking and with their teachers David J. Smith, middle school principal said in issuing the invitation in behalf of himself ad the faculty.

"Your students spend the major part of their day at school. We would like you to see the school, acquaint you with their classes and give you an opportunity to meet their teachers," Mr. Smith said in announcing the mini-sessions.

The mini-session program will continue until 9:30 p.m.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

Sometimes it's tough to build up a high level of enthusiasm for writing an article about some races. This is a good example...

It started on the wrong foot a few minutes after I arrived home to pick up Charlevoix's Best Looking Foredeck "Ape". Stepping out in the balmy 60 degree plus, October day, I noted a distinct line running more or less east and west across Lake Michigan. Said line was moving rather rapidly north from the pier heads and, in about three minutes, turned the day into one of those Line 7 and ginger brandy nights. There was one tender moment when, as we grabbed our gear and started out, I said, "I thing we're nuts". For the first time in her life, she replied, "Dad, I think your're right."

After that it went downhill. From the collision at the starting line to the strange tactical 360 degree manuever on the second windward leg; from the sailing back to the starting line when we weren't the one being recalled to the second, almost collision at the first mark; from the windshield wiper-less glasses to the cigarettes that were very soggy imitations of a Turkish water pipe; it was all down hill.

One very pretty sight; while sailing back after the finish we had a beautiful view of the bunched up yachts of the "B" Division, showing up first as just a bunch of running lights and then quietly speeding by with spinnakers full and straining; quickly becoming just a group of white stern lights as they rushed on to the finish line.

That "B" Fleet had a real match race opportunity as "Blazen III" and "Foxy Lady" were exactly tied for top honors as the race started. "Foxy Lady" should prevail as the Champion of that group as she corrected second behind "Spectre", with "Tireless" following. "Blazen", helped by two penalties, ended up in the cheap seat, but should still pull down runner-up honors.

In the "A" Fleet, "Flying Machine" seems to have found her afterburners as she again screamed around the course for another first to finish, first on corrected time, etc., etc. With "Charlie Brown" in second and "Pygmalion" in third, we better wait for the formal results before reporting the final standings. We will stick our neck out far enough to predict that "Traveller" did enough fast travelling in the first four races to hold on to the top spot; and, further, that "Bandit" slowed down enough in the last two races to drop "out of the money". From here it looks like the thirty foot and over yachts will hold down at least the top four spots.

The Portsmouth Fleet was led by "Seascape", then "Te'Gi" and "Coolwhip". Sorry, but no predictions here as I don't have the fleet standings going into this one.

We'll pretty much wrap it up in the next two issues with Final Fall Series Results next week and then a Season Recap.

Don't forget the fronton Rumble Wednesday, October 19 (tonight?) and the big C.Y.C. Halloween Party, October 29. More on that next week.

Last, but certainly not least a big WELCOME and Best Wishes to the new Flag Officers of C.Y.C.: Cliff Biddick, Commodore; Jim Keller, Vice Commodore; Lynn Haveman, Secreatry and Janet Troppman, Treasurer.

We'll welcome the new Directors as soon as the Board sits down and fills the vacancy created by Jim's election to Vice Commodore.

Golf team 5th in conference meet

The Charlevoix Rayder golf team finished fifth in the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference tournament at Hidden Valley at Gaylord recently.

Charlevoix had a score of 373 for the 18 holes with Dennis Curtis medalist for the team with a score of 91. Bill Joy had 93; Dan Batdorff, 94 and Scott Keller, 95.

Petoskey won the tournament with a score of 311 followed by Cheboygan with 341; Gaylord, 349; Sault Ste. Marie, 352; Rogers City, 380; St. Ignace, 392 and Boyne City, 398.

Jeff Johnstone of Petoskey was medalist for the tournament with a score of 75.

Named to the all-conference team were Johnstone, Mason Bailey of Sault Ste. Marie; Steve Linck and Steve LeDuc of Prtoskey and Denis Mielke of Sault Ste. Marie.

Gaylord bedevils Homecoming

Charlevoix's 1983 Homecoming game Friday night was spared from the rain which hampered several of the festivities of the day but there was no such mercy shown by the Gaylord Blue Devils.

In the first time a Rayder varsity football squad has been shut out since Grayling administered a 13-0 drubbing on October 12, 1979, Gaylord spoiled the Rayder alums night with a 15-0 victory over Charlevoix.

QUEEN CARRIE RICHARDSON reigned over the Homecoming festivities Friday night after being crowned during halftime ceremonies by 1982 Queen Linda Joy. Other candidates included Pam Drury, Jacque Erber, Karen Spiegl and Lisa Mosher.

The Devils, with some help by a vicious wind, shut down the Rayder passing attack completely; Charlevoix quarterback Tim LaBlance couldn't manage to connect on a single pass in 11 attempts. The running phase of the Rayder offense failed to make up the difference. The Rayders recorded only four first downs in what was the team's final home appearance for the season.

Defensively, there was more for Rayder fans to cheer about. Kent Ketchman snagged an interception which the Rayders could not convert into points and Ron Stonebam recovered a Blue Devil fumbie, Leading in tackles was Dan Buday with 13; Shawn Hartnett had 10, Chris Havens, Pat Hamlin and Thad Morgan six each.

Shawn Hartnett brings down a Gaylord ball carrier.

After a scoreless first quarter, Gaylord went up 8-0 on a five-yard off tackle run by Ken Pawlanta and a two-point conversion on a run by Jeff Cowles. The go-ahead TD was set up by a poor Charlevoix punt that put the Blue Devils in excellent field position.

The score stood until about 5 minutes left in the game when Gaylord iced the victory on another five-yard touchdown run, this time by Cowles, and a Jim Warren extra point kick for the 15-0 final score.

Leading the Rayder rushing game was Pat Mitchell who carried the ball eight times for 57 yards. Morgan carried seven times for 41 yards. The Rayders' entire offensive output was 107 yards.

Charlevoix drops to 4-2 on the season now, though among Class C schools in the Michigan-Huron Shores conference, the Rayders remain unbeaten at 2-0. Gaylord upped its record to 3-3 with the win.

Next week the Rayders are at Onaway (1-5) for the first of three straight games on the road that will close out the 1983 season.

Runners top C-D division at Petoskey Inv.

The Charlevoix Rayders won the C-D division of the Petoskey Invitational Cross Country meet Saturday for the second straight year with a score of 40 points.

In winning the meet, the Rayders' Bill Taylor set a new course record of 15:09, breaking the record of 15:23 set by Smith of Cadillac in 1980.

Rogers City placed second with 65 points followed by Kingsley with 100; Benzie Central, 109; Boyne City, 115; Kalkaska and East Jordan, incomplete teams.

The Charlevoix JV team with 77 points placed third behind Benzie Central with 40 and Rogers City with 73. East Jordan, Boyne City, Kingsley and Kalkaska participated but did not have complete teams.

The Charlevoix girls ran but did not receive team standings.

John Tunison of the Rayder squad finished third behind Taylor with a time of 15:39; Lee Allard, 5th in 16:02; Matt Landon, 6th in 16:22; Rick Gallant, 15th in 17:20; Tim Gibbons, 17th in 17:25; Dave Hendrickson, 21st in 17:40 Leo Chase, 23rd in 17:47; Carl Dhasaleer, 33rd in 19:46.

Coach Pete Spieles said "This was probably our best overall race of the season. We had a good race from our top four. Gallant and Gibbons did a good job. Mike Dohm was exceptional and the other freshmen also did well. It was a good day for us."

The winning time in the JV division of the meet was 16:40.

Mike Dohm finished in third place in a time of 17:01. Jason Brindel finished in 16th place in 18:14; Harold Herriman, 18th in 18:32; Ed Knight, 19th in 18:50; Kevin McLenon, 21st in 18:50; Jon Eakes, 22nd in 19:03; Dave Eakes, 29th in 19:54. All are freshmen.

In the girls' division, Benzie Central finished in first place followed by Traverse City, Davison, Kalkaska, Charlevoix and Petoskey.

Michelle North finished in 20th position in 20:54; Molly Bolduc, 26th in 21:25; Mario Hough, 36th in 22:03; Leslie Miller, 39th in 22:16 and Chaya Moore, 61st in 24:40.

Charlevoix will travel to Gaylord for the Michigan-Huron Shores meet on Saturday.

JV's shut out, too

The Charlevoix Rayder JV football team's winning streak was stopped at one game as they lost to Gaylord 28-0 at Kipke Field Thursday night.

The visitors scored their touchdown on short runs of five yards and one yard in the first period; three yards in the second period and two yards in the final period to post 28 points after scoring two conversions on kicks and one on the ground.

Coach Brian Certa singled out Brian Wilmot and Scott Crandell for their performances on both offense and defense.

Charlevoix will host Onaway Wednesday.

Girls beat Hurons but lose one

The Charlevoix girls basketball team split last week, losing to Grayling 49-43 on Tuesday and winning over Rogers City 41-25 on Thursday.

Charlevoix will travel to St. Ignace Tuesday and, to Boyne City Thursday as they begin the second round of the schedule. Petoskey will be here Tuesday, Oct. 25.

In the Grayling game, the score was 45-43 with 1:08 on the clock before the visitors poured in the winning four points in the final minute.

The score was 10-10 at the quarter with Charlevoix trailing 20-19 at the half and 33-31 going into the final period.

Grayling hd 22 field goals and five of nine free throws while committing 19 personal fouls. Charlevoix had 17 from the floor and nine of 19 from the line while collecting 14 personal fouls.

Kris Laudenslager had 21 and Heidi Bendig 14 for the Grayling five.

Rhonda Buchanan had 13 for Charlevoix.

Coach Wagner said this was one of the team's better games.

The Charlevoix JVs won 38-18.

Charlevoix outscored Rogers City 17 to seven from the floor and had seven of 20 from the line to Rogers City's 11 of 22 for the 41-25 win.

The Charlevoix five led 12-1, 20-16 and 34-17 by quarters.

Ann Wagner had 15 points and Angie McClanaghan who played an excellent game, nine. Pattie Furtaw had 10 for the Hurons.

Golfers 3rd at Reg. Meet

The Charlevoix Rayder golf team, coached by Glen Taylor, came in third in the regional meet at Crystal Mountain Friday, one stroke behind Houghton Lake.

Charlevoix had a score of 376. Benzie Central won the meet with a score of 361. Houghton Lake came in second with a 275. The teams with the two top scores qualified for state competition.

In the Class C division Traverse City St. Francis had a score of 394; Kalkaska 428 and Elk Rapids 406.

Charlevlox players and their scores follow: Scott Keller shot a pair of 48's for the fourth best score in the meet; Dennis Curtis, 48-45 93; Bill Joy, 49-45 94; Dan Batdorff, 43-53 101; Chris Gibbons, 52-56 108.

The team placed third in the Conference meet behind Cheboygan and Petoskey.

Coach Taylor said the team shot well at the regional meet considering the weather. "It was raining when we started but let up at about the seventh hole. However, it was windy and cold throughout the meet. The boys, however, did well" he commented.

Only seniors on the team are Bill Joy, Dan Batdorff, Chris Gibbons and Dave Umlor.

Frosh shut out, too

The Charlevoix Rayder freshman football team took it on the chin by a score of 19-0 from the young Gaylord Blue Devlis at Kipke Field Wednesday night.

With 4:48 remaining in the second period, Gaylord went in from less than the one foot line to score; added another in the third period on a 45 yard run with 9:14 remaining on the clock and capped off the win with a one yard run that was set up by a 39 yard pass play at the 3:38 mark in the same period. Gaylord kicked the conversion to make the score 19-0.

Coach Dave Smith said Kent Seymour and Jim Cluk gave outstanding performances, expecially on defense.

The freshmen will close out their season this week when they host Cheboygan.

Panthers, Chargers are flag football winners

The Panthers defeated the Falcons 19-6 in the flag football league last week to take over first place in the standings with a 3-1 record while Chargers defeated the Packers 24-12.

Wednesday night games were rained out and will be played this Wednesday. The Packers and the Falcons will play at 6 p.m. and the Panthers and the Chargers at 7:15 p.m. Wednesday.

In their upset game, the Panthers went to the boards early on a short run by Scott DeYoung who went in from the one yard line. Owen Phillips acored the conversion for a 7-0 lead at halftime. DeYoung passed 24 yards to Shawn Putman in the third period and four yards to Phillips in the last period for the team's third TD before Dave Miller scored on a one-yard plunge by Dave Miller for the Falcons.

The Chargers ran up an 18-0 lead over the Packers before the latter scored two touchdowns in the third period to get back in the second game.

Dan Drury scored on a 25 yard run and passed to Roger Smith for 12 yards in the first period and then scored on a one yard run in the second period for an 18-0 advantage at halftime.

As the second half got underway, the Packers scored on a 20 yard pass from Mark LaBlance to Mike Picha and on a 30 yard run by Jeff Skeel to trim the Chargers' lead to six points. The Chargera, however, were not to be denied as Drury scored again, this time on a 30 yard punt return late in the third period. The last quarter was scoreless for both teams.

Middle School teams 3 for 4

The Charlevoix Middle School girls basbetball teams were on the court last week with the eighth grade team posting two wins and the seventh grade splitting in their games.

The eighth grade, coached by Stan Martin, defeated Cheboygan 21-15 and Central Lake 27-20 while the seventh grade, coached by Barry Pierce, lost to Cheboygan 18-12 and defeated Central Lake 45-30.

In the game with Cheboygan, the eighth graders jumped to an 11-5 halftime lead before downing the team by a six-point margin. Three Charlevoix players, Ellen Pearl, Jill Austin, and Allison Hall had six points each. Stacy LaVigne had five for Cheboygan.

On Thursday, Hall had 10 points and Lisa Smith nine as the eighth graders led Central Lake 10-6 at halftime before defeating the young Trojans 27-20 on their home floor. Jill Cary and Andrea Coaster bad nine points each for Central Lake.

At Cheboygan, the seventh graders trailed 13-5 before losing by a score of 18-12. Stacy Gebott bad seven points for the locals. Spray had the same number for Cheboygan.

In the game with Central Lake, the seventh graders took an early lead for a 27-20 advantage at balftime before coasting to a 45-30 victory.

Stacy Gebott lead the offense with 18 points. Cory Becker had 10 for Central Lake.

The teams will be at Petoskey Wednesday and will host Boyne City Monday.

Mesquite will host 'Ghost Ship'

The U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite will be converted into a "ghost ship" Monday as the crew of the cutter hosts its sixth annual Halloween party for the youngsters of the Charlevoix School District from 6 until 8 p.m. Oct. 31.

Lt. CDR. Robert E. Young has extended an invitation to all school children within the district to dress up and come to the municipal dock as guests of the crew of the ship.

There will be guided tours through the dungeons below deck and the mass of companion-ways to the game area where refreshments will be served.

"We hope you'll all join us," Lt. CDR. Young said in issuing the invitation to the youngsters.

Crew members disguised as pirates, ghosts and other ghoulish characters will greet the visitors.

Children will approach the ship from Bridge St. through the park north of the Burnsides building. Children are asked to dress in Halloween costumes but this is not necessary.

Members of Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild gathered Wednesday October 12, to honor members who had served the hospital as volunteers for many years. Seated (l to r) are Marge Dinwiddie, who was recognized for 20 years service; Myrt Christiansen, recognized for 5 years service; Edith Chamberlain, Charter Member of the Guild who has been a volunteer for 30 years; Hospital Administrator Richard Krueger; Myrtle Fulton, recognized for 5 years of volunteer work; Mary Bruce, who has been a volunteer for 15 years; Keith Morris, a 10 year volunteer, and Helen Juilleret, a 5 year volunteer. Each honored member of the Guild received a framed pen and ink drawing of the hospital with her name inscribed on the drawing. Other charter members of the Guild are Eleanor Freedman, Fran Milner, Eleanor Schultz and Fran Martin.

Social Services Dept. reports to board

by PEG OHLE

A lot of money goes in and out of the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services.

A financial statement detailing the Department's operations during the first nine months of the year was delivered to the County Board Last week by Richard Tillen, head of the Department.

The statement shows receipts during the period amounted to $1,433,322.96, and disbursements amounted to $1,302,266.25.

The greatest part of the receipts ($1,103,249.35) came from operations of Grandvue Medical Care Facility and Grandvue Residential unit. The next largest sum ($114,000) came from the County's appropriation, and the third largest sum ($84,017.25) came from state re-imbursements for such programs as general assistance, aid to dependent children, emergency needs, employment and training, and administrative.

As might be expected, the greatest part of Social Services' disbursements went to Grandvue, a total of $1,158,342.07. State programs also accounted for a large part of disbursements: general assistance, $17,030; aid to dependent children, $37,647.50; emergency needs, $15,856.42; employment and training, $12,571.36; and administrative, $16,824.51.

A separate financial statement covering revenues and expenses of Grandvue shows revenues of $1,103,349.14 and expenses of $1,153,515.95, for a deficiency of $50,166.81 for the nine-month period.

Patient services revenues accounted for $1,081,723.17 of total revenues. These funds came from private sources in the amount of $205,733.71; medicare, $11,568.40; medicaid or general assistance, $672,213.71; institutional code, $184,394.52, and a few miscellaneous sources.

The expenses of operating Grandvue Medical Care Facility totaled $991,357.86, with nursing services accounting for $465,143.60 of the amount. Other major expenses were dietary, $113,245.80; plant operation, $107,753.52; administration, $76,752.51; housekeeping, $64,723.49; and laundry, $33,617.48.

Expenses of operating the Residential Care unit totaled $162,158.09, but no breakdown was provided.

Hospice names Joy as staff physician

Charlevoix County Hospice, Inc. has announced the appointment of Dennis M. Joy, M.D., Charlevoix Area Hospital staff physician, as Hospice Medical Director.

As Charlevoix County Hospice Medical Director Dr. Joy will be a consultant to Hospice patients' personal physicians, serving, along with members of the medical advisory committee, as a backup to patients' personal physicians.

The Hospice Medical Director will oversee the admission evaluation of patients admitted to Charlevoix County's Hospice program and serve on the medical advisory committee.

Charlevoix County Hospice will be ready to serve the needs of the terminally ill and their families in the Charlevoix area in early November. This month, 15 men and women from throughout the county complete an intensive training session. These volunteers are the crux of the hospice movement, providing "good neighbor" type service to patients and families.

The Hospice volunteers, working with the professional volunteers from the medical community, enable terminally ill people to choose to die at home in the warmth and comfort of their own family.

The concept of Hospice involves a concern for both patients and families.

Charlevoix County Hospice Director, Kathleen Smith, explained that Dr. F. James Stewart of Charlevoix, recently pointed out to a hospice volunteer training session that pain control is fundamental to hospice and pain can be accentuated by problems at home.

Therefore, Mrs. Smith continued, the coordinated care and support for patient and family has a direct effect on a patient's comfort.

Dr. Joy, a Diplomate of the American Board of Family Physicians, is a Michigan State University graduate with a medical degree from the University of Michigan Medical School. He served his internship and residency at the University of Minnesota, moving to Charlevoix to join the Charlevoix Area Hospital staff in 1974.

Big Brother-Sister awards given

The annual awards for Big Brother and Big Sister of the Year for Charlevoix County were held at Boyne City Lanes in Boyne City Thursday evening.

Executive Director, Jim Marshall, made the awards to Marty Schumacher of East Jordan and Kathy Gilmore of Boyne City. Marshall cited the pair for their devotion to their Little Brothers and Sisters as well as praising all of the other Big Brothers and Sisters from throughout the county who attended the fete. Lyn Nachazel from East Jordan was given a special award for her help in coordinating the outings that are held periodically through the year. She has volunteered her efforts for the past 2 years to Big Brothers and Big Sisters and has chalked up hundreds of telephone call to the case load.

The Board of Directors of Big Brothers and Sisters for Charlevoix sponsored the annual event and President John Kurtz thanked all of the "Bigs" for their contribution of time and effort to the program.

Big Brothers and Sisters is looking for more volunteers expecially in the East Jordan-Boyne City area, Kurtz noted.

We always have a waiting list, Marshall said, of children from single parent homes wanting to be matched with a volunteer who will spend some time with them each week.

Award winners Marty Schumacher and Kathy Gilmore.

Festive Favorites Recipe Contest

$200 To Be Given Away!
In Prizes from Oleson's of Charlevoix, Edwards, Village Inn Pizza and Charlevoix Courier.

CONTEST RULES

1. Contestants are invited to enter as many categories as they wish but may submit only one recipe per category.
2. Recipes should be typed or printed on a sheet of paper with the category indicated.
3. To each recipe there should be a separate sheet of paper attached with the contestant's name, address and phone number. The contestant's name should not appear on the actual recipe. As each recipe is received, it will be assigned a number which will be logged with the contestant's name. The names will be removed from the recipes so the judges will not know whose recipes they are judging.
4. Ingredients should be listed in accurate, easily understood amounts and in the order that they are used.
5. Recipes do not have to be completely original. They may be old standards or new variations on familiar recipes. The more original the recipe is, however, the better its chance of winning.
6. If duplicate recipes are received, the one submitted first will be accepted. We will log date and time recipes are received.
7. All contestants must agree to permit their recipes to be published in a special cookbook section of the Charlevoix Courier.
8. Employees of the Charlevoix Courier and Petoskey News-Review and members of their families are not eligible to win the contest.
9. A panel of judges will evaluate the recipes submitted and name three finalists in each of the five categories. The 15 finalists will be notified and asked to prepare their recipes for a final judging session. Judges will then sample the entries, name a winner in each category and a grand prize winner of the five winners.

Drenth wins

N.D. meet

Central Michigan University's Jeff Drenth from Charlevoix won the 28th annual Notre Dame Invitational Friday, Oct. 7.

Drenth covered the five mile course in 24:03.

Central finished seventh out of 15 teams.

Lift-A- thon set for Sunday

Charlevoix High School students, faculty, and community members are conducting the fourth annual Lift-A-Thon on Sunday, October 23, 1983, from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. in the high school gym. Each weight lifter will be securing sponsors to pledge a certain amount of money per pound lifted.. Lifters will compete in three events: the bench press, the military press, and the dead lift. Last year fifteen participants hoisted a total of 9,605 pounds. This years goal is to go over the 10,000 pound mark.

All sponsors will receive a receipt for their donation, which is tax deductable. Funds raised by the Lift-A-Thon will be used to maintain the weight room at Charlevoix High School, a program that has been developed primarily through private donations and events such as the Lift-A-Thon. A portion of the money raised will also be used to help defray the cost of the high school athletic program.

The public is invited to the Lift-A-Thon. There is no admission charge.

To feature marching tunes

The Charlevoix High School Marching Band will present a concert of "Music from the Marching Season" at the high school gymnasium at 6 p.m. Monday, Oct. 24 Terry Isenbarger, band director, has announced.

The concert will feature music heard during the marching season Isenbarger said. Several routines by the Rayder Flag Corps will also be presented.

Among the musical selections to be played are "Coronado" by Bob Cotter; Johnny Mercer's "Blues in the Night"; "The Ewok Celebration" from the movie, "The Return of the Jedi" by Johnny Williams; "Yesterday" by Lennon and McCartney; "Eye of the Tiger" from "Rocky III" by Frankie Sullivan; and "Waiting for the Robert E. Lee" by Muir.

Admission to the concert is free.

The Band Boosters will meet before the concert at the high school cafeteria at 7 p.m. Monday.

Revise bus fares

In an effort to increase its farebox revenues, the Charlevoix County Transit System will change its fare schedule, effective November 1.

Trips up to six miles will cost 80 cents one way and $1.50 round trip; trips from six to nine miles will cost $1.00 and $2.00 round trip; trips from nine to 12 miles will cost $1.20 and $2.40 round trip; trips from 12 to 15 miles will cost $1.60 and $3.20 round trip; trips from 15 to 16 miles will cost $1.80 and $3.60 round trip; trips from 16 to 21 miles will cost $1.80 and $3.60 round trip.

Senior citizens, handicapped persons, and children will ride for one-half of the above fares.

These new fares replace the present ones of 60 cents up to three miles, $1.10 for longer in-county trips, and $1.85 for trips to Petoskey.

was awarded the bid for the storm drainage project at the elementary school to alleviate a serious drain problem following a rainstorm. The company's bid was in the amount of $3,250, the lowest of three received for the work. The Manthei Company bid was for $7,350 and Tri-City Asphalt was for $5,648 plus $950 if an additional leaching drain was necessary.

Approval for the payment of $14,602 to the First of America Bank in Detroit on bonds dated Aug. 1, 1979 (the addition of the high school).

A request for early graduation made by Mark E. Hodgson was approved if certain criteria set down by Vane H. Smith high school principal relating to grades, required credits, A.C.T. tests and acceptance by a college or university were met.

Permission was given the Spanish Club for a trip to Mexico March 24 through April 2, 1984. Ted Miller, Spanish teacher, advised that 22 students had signed up for the trip and three others may before the deadline..

A budget amendment also was approved.

Doris Pearl reportd that the roof on the library had been repaired and that a parking lot problem at the library was being studied; Elaine Martin reported that the Professional Study committee discussed tests for students in order that they meet graduation standards, merit pay for teachers, and material for school publications. Mrs. Pearl gave a brief report on the problems aired at a meeting at Petoskey recently at which legislators were seeking imput from area schools. She said an alternate method of financing schools other than by school taxes, the rising costs of transportation for school students and the re-traning of teachers were three shared by most districts.

John Pearl gave a final report on the rennovation program at the high school that has been underway for the past two yers. He said all the major goals had been reached and the work was nearing completion. Mr. Pearl, who has served as a consultant withoutpay on the projct, was presented with a certificate of appreciation for his work in behalf of the school.

According to the motion by Council member Clement Olach, if Luttrell does not have a drilling rig in operation by midnight, October 24, the contract will immediately be awarded to the next lowest bidder.

In related action, Mayor Staley broke a 3-3 tie by casting the deciding fourth vote to hire the Chicago law firm of Martin, Craig, Chester and Sonnenschein to represent the city in a state Department of Public Health compliance order. A hearing is set for November 17 on the order that charges Charlevoix with violating the state's Safe Drinking Water Act by not acting promptly enough on the TCE contamination problem.

Voting for hiring the firm were council members Wood, Block and Timms; Roloff, Porter and Olach were opposed.

In other action, council:

-Approved a $3,000 appropriation to the newly formed Charlevoix County Business and Industry Task Force, contingent upon the receipt by the Task Force of similar contributions from other cities in the county.

-Named Robert Lieberman and Samuel Supernaw to fill two vacancies on the Compensation Commission.

Hunt interview...

that if I got one heck of a great job opportunity I might leave. But frankly I can't envision anywhere else in Michigan I'd rather live.

COURIER: Do you have a master plan for your future?

HUNT: I want to work in a small resort community my whole life.

COURIER: But why as a city manager?

HUNT: I grew up in a rural community of farmers and blue collar workers where everyone knew everyone else. But when I went to the University of Michigan, I was exposed to many suburban-types who were totally wrapped up in their own worlds and who really weren't interested in relating to people different from themselves. Those types usually end up in careers in which they can surround themselves with other professional white collar people.

I like being a city manager because I deal with all kinds of people. Ordinary, everyday people as well as the high-powered types. Sometimes I get frustrated that I don't have more time just to work with the people.

Some of what I went through with council was because they wanted me to out on the street more, talking to people, being part of the community. But it takes time, sometimes years, to develop that type of rapport with people. It's not only their frustration, it's my frustration, too. I'd like to be just a regular guy, sit out at the Flight Deck and shoot the bull. But it's difficult to do that for someone in public life like a city manager who comes into the community without family ties. People always see you in your professional role.

COURIER: What has changed in your relationship with the city council since you almost parted company?

HUNT: We have both given each other more slack. It was necessary. Council gave me more discretion in personnel matters and I have worked harder to read between the lines of what council is saying.

Being a council member is not an easy job. They have to figure out what's best for the town and sometimes the best thing is saying as little as possible.

COURIER: Have you sensed a improving working knowledge of the 1977 city charter?

HUNT: If there is a better understanding of the charter by the time I leave, that will be better than leaving behind a water plant or anything else. The council-manager relationship relies on trust and it's easy to destroy that trust with one, simple mistake.

In my situation, I think that trust has steadily grown. I see the setback we had as a blip on a screen that is otherwise stable.

COURIER: What part do politics play in your job?

HUNT: There is a perception that city managers should be apolitical. To some extent, that's correct. But as soon as the manager stops recognizing the political process, he cannot function.

The difference between a city manager and an elected official is that the elected official must project his ego to get elected and carry out his job but if a city manager gets his ego involved in his job, he'll get torqued around in a hurry. As a manager you try to bring other peoples' thoughts together and keep your own thoughts to yourself.

COURIER: Assuming, then, that you are just a conduit for council's wishes, where are you channeling those wishes?

HUNT: A lot of the jobs that council had before the charter have been passed through me to department heads. The result is a new breed of department head as a manager. Previously the department heads had only to take orders from council. Now I am asking them to make their own decisions and be accountable for them. We are fortunate to have department heads that are very good in technical areas. What they are now learning are management skills as well.

COURIER: Does Charlevoix have more than its share of turmoil for a town its size?

HUNT: One thing unique about Charlevoix the Beautiful is its immensely strong sense of identity. In the entire state, I think only Holland and Frankenmuth have the same attitude. Such an attitude stems from intense pride but when people have such strong opinions about their home community, sometimes conflicts result. An example would be the struggles we have seen over condo development and growth.

The potential for Charlevoix is just incredible. This town can be anything it wants to be. What's frustrating, though, is when you see the great potential for things to happen but end up not happening because of fear; fear of growth, fear of no growth, fear of change. When you take a dog into the woods and it hears an unfamiliar noise, it immediately becomes rigid and silent. The same thing can happen to a community.

The way to get around it is to see to it that people have enough knowledge and information to make intelligent choices.

NRC Big Rock hearing reconvenes with several local officials set to testify

by TOM DAMMANN

City Manager Robert Hunt and Chief of Police Jack Mol have been subpoened to testify before The Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NCR) Atomic Safety and Licensing Board on emergency safety planning in the event of nuclear accident at the Big Rock Nuclear Power Plant.

Also subpoened is Lt. Col. Robert J. Rajewski, Commandant of the Air Force Tracking Station at Bayshore, who is expected to testify on aircraft flights over or near Big Rock.

The hearings concern whether or not the public's life and safety would be endangered if the Big Rock plant is permitted to expand its spent fuel storage capacity. The hearings were begun at Boyne Mt. in September a year ago, and were resumed at the Petoskey Holiday Inn this Tuesday, October 25.

The hearings were called by the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) last summer (1982) to hear testimony about contentions posed by the Concerned Citizens of Charlevoix Area and John O'Neill of Maple City. They were recessed last September.

Four years ago Consumers Power Co., owner of the Big Rock Plant requested NRC permission to increase the number of spent fuel assemblies it can store in the waste pool, from 193 to 441.

This would be accomplished by inserting storage racks in the pool with smaller distances between the spent fuel rod bundles or assemblies.

A spent fuel pool is a deep concrete box, containing water, in which nuclear waste including spent fuel bundles are stored. It must be kept at temperatures below 150 degrees at all times.

About one third of the fuel bundles in the reactor are replaced and stored in the spent fuel pool during refueling shut down each year.

Twenty year old Big Rock is Michigan's first nuclear power plant and the second oldest still producing in the nation. At this time there are only 41 vacant spaces left in the pool, according to plant spokesman, Robert Grupp. The reactor vessel uses 84 bundles of nuclear fuel rods, which means that if it became necessary to withdraw all of them at one time there would be no place to store 23 of them.

Shortly after the Jackson based utility filed its request for permission to more than double Big Rock's spent fuel pool it can presently store, the Concerned Citizens and O'Neill intervened, protesting that for many reasons, including Big Rock's age and perhaps antiquated design and construction, this would increase the radioactive dangers to life and health in the area.

Testimony on a number of their specific contentions was taken last summer.

Placed on the agenda for the hearings commencing Tuesday are: emergency planning questions concerning public safety; the adequacy of the water cooling line to keep the pool safely cool in view of the increased radioactivity in it resulting from more waste; the capability of the containment to prevent radiation from escaping into other parts of the plant and into the atmosphere in the event of a nuclear accident; the hazards of any aircraft crashing into the plant; the ability to function under any form of duress (earthquakes) of the crane used to move fuel assemblies to and from the reactor and pool; and the question of whether the south wall of the pool is strong enough to protect workers from radiation esposure.

The hearings are expected to last to November 5.

Last summer Judge Peter B. Bloch, Chairman of the panel, complimented the intervenors for bringing up important questions of safety which might otherwise have escaped the attention of the NRC staff.

According to members of the Concerned Citizens group these questions have already resulted in "improvements" at Big Rock.

"We hope the coming hearings will help make Big Rock even safer," said JoAnne Bier, a spokesperson for the group.

Applications for prosecutor being sifted by special committee

by PEG OHLE

Circuit Court Judge Martin B. Breighner has appointed three Charlevoix County officials to assist him in selecting a new County Prosecutor.

On Monday, County Commissioners I. Lee Moerland and Donald Smith and Sheriff George T. Lasater joined Judge Breighner in interviewing applicants.

According to Moerland, there are ten applicants for the position. One is a Charlevoix County attorney, two are Emmet County attorneys, two have families in Charlevoix County, and five are downstate attorneys.

The committee plans to interview all ten applicants annd come to a decision by the middle of November, Moerland said.

The position was left open by the recent resignation of Scott Beatty, who had held the post since 1978. He is now practicing law in Charlevoix.

Charlevoix attorney Edwin Gregory is now Acting County Prosecutor, having been appointed to the job at the time of Beatty's resignation. Gregory was appointed Assistant County Prosecutor by Beatty early in the summer. He is not one of the ten applicants for the Prosecutor's job, but hopes to retain the appointment of Assistant Prosecutor.

The Charlevoix County Prosecutor's salary was budgeted at approximately $38,000 for 1983.

Hemingway buffs pay a visit

By PEG OHLE

It looked as if there wasn't much going on in Charlevoix County this past weekend. Of course, there were the color tours, but the chilly, damp weather took most of the fun out of that adventure.

Then we learned that the Hemingway Society was coming to Horton Bay after a two day meeting in Traverse City. The trip to Horton Bay was part of a field trip that also included Walloon Lake and Petoskey. As most local people know, Horton Bay was the scene of many of Ernest Hemingway's early experiences and the setting for many of his early stories. Walloon Lake, the Hemingway family homesite, and, in later years, Petoskey, also were important in the novelist's life. This tour could be interesting to report.

The Hemingway Society boarded a Trailways bus to travel northward Horton Bay is a unique mini village. No one knows its boundaries and therefore its population. But, when the big blue and silver Trailways bus was backed down from the highway on the narrow road to Lake Charlevoix, it was as if the population of Horton Bay had doubled.

No such vehicle had ever before gone down that road, and it, along with the eight or nine private cars that followed it, created a parking problem on the spot usually used by three or four fishermen.

On one in the bus seemed to notice when they passed the spot in the road from which the famous spring flows into the ditch leading to the lake. It is the spring described in the first paragraph of Hemingway's "Summer People", his first Nick Adams tale:

"Halfway down the gravel road from Hortons Bay, this town, to the lake there was a spring. The water came up in a tile sunk beside the road, lipped over the cracked edge of the tile and flowing away through the close growing mint into the swamp. In the dark, Nick put his

Events planned for Halloween night

With Halloween coming op Monday, at least two events are planned for Charlevoix area youngsters that evening. From 5 to 6:30 p.m., the Parent Advisory Council of the Elementary School will hold a Halloween party at the school gym with costume judging. Dinner will be available for 75 cents each.

From 8 to 8 p.m., the U.S. Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite will host the sixth annual "Ghost Ship". Children and their parents from the Charlevoix school district are invited to tour the ship which will be appropriately decorated for the occasion. Games and treats will also be offered by the ship's crew.

Waun's Executstat finally finds its niche

by DAVE KNIGHT

One might call Charlevoix's Bob Waun the Rodney Dangerfield of the office supplies industry.

When he developed what he thought was a very practical office management device four years ago, he got no respect. And no sales.

But, like Dangerfield, Waun turned his rejection into opportunity and now has a potentially hot item on his hands.

The Executstat is an engraved desk nameplate, mounted on a hardwood base, that features two lights, a red one labeled "Do not disturb" and a yellow one labeled "Make it brief". A switch on the back of the base allows the user to light either the red or the yellow indicators.

The concept started out, in a somewhat more complex form, as a means for business executives to avoid unwanted interruptions.

But as a legitimate office device, the Executstat didn't make it. So on the advice of a marketing consultant, Waun decided to hawk his product as a novelty gift item instead. Since that change in tack, not only has the Executstat been featured in two of the country's most prestigious mail order catalogs, but a special version was even presented to the president of Finland during a state visit in Washington, D.C. last month.

"It's kind of discouraging when you develop a serious product and people don't take you seriously," said Waun, who operated his own electrical contracting firm in Charlevoix before devoting himself this past year to the Executstat. "It's like standing up to say something important and getting a pie in the face."

Reflecting on the success of his product's new image, however, Waun says, "I'll gladly take the pie!."

The original prototype of the Executstat (short for Executive Status Systems) involved an integrated network of little traffic light displays hooked into a master console. The idea was for each executive in a large office to have one of the displays mounted on his or her door with the master console at the receptionist's desk. When an executive lit the red "Do not disturb" light or the yellow "Make it brief" light on his door, the corresponding light would be lit on the receptionist's desk to indicate when the executive was available for visitors.

"Many companies have a daily quiet hour when nobody bothers anybody else," said Waun, "But in some companies, that just doesn't work. This allows a person to have a quiet time whenever they wish."

Waun was not the only one to believe in the practical usefulness of Executstat. Dr. Merrill E. Douglass, chairman of the board of the Time Management Center of Grandville, Michigan and St. Louis, Missouri, was very impressed.

"This idea is ingenious!" wrote Dr. Merrill to Waun, "The product is beautiful. It's the type of product that you wonder why someone didn't think of it earlier...I think every executive in the country should have one of your name plates with indicator lights. It seems to me that this would be an excellent way of gently reminding people when you need to have a quiet time to concentrate..."

But even Dr. Marrill's enthusiastic endorsement failed to win acceptance for the Executstat in the office supplies establishment.

Last year, Waun arranged to have Bob Agne, a marketing consultant and faculty member at Wayne State University, conduct a marketing study for Executstat. Actually it was Agne's WSU marketing class that did the study as a project for credit.

The survey resulted in the Charlevoix Abstract plans open house for Emmons

Art's Special Day honoring Arthur Emmons in recognition of his 37 years of dedicated service will be hosted by the Charlevoix Abstract & Engineering Co. on Monday, Oct. 31.

"Though Art will continue with the company, we are taking this opportunity say 'Thank You' to Art for his years with us. In his own quiet, unassuming way he has helped in countless ways to build this company to what it is today," Mary Feindt, president of the company said of the open house to be held at the offices at 213 Bridge St. from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday, Oct. 31.

"He has given unstintingly of his time and talents, especially in the field of research which is his forte', from the day he came to work for us in 1964," Mrs. Feindt said, adding that "this is why we are publicly expressing our appreciation to Art and inviting all the friends he has made through is work in our office to join us at this time."

A native of Pellston where he was salutatorian of his 1936 graduating class, Art was employed, following graduation, by the Kroger Co., a job that first brought him to Charlevoix prior to World War II. After serving three full years in the U.S. Army in North Africa, Italy, France and Germany, he returned to his employment with the Kroger Co. This was in 1946 when Mrs. Feindt, seeking an employee, remembered Art and his business-like manner, and employed him to work in the field with her. (Mrs. Feindt is one of the very few Registered Women Land Surveyors in the U.S.)

Recognizing his diversified talents, she soon advanced him to the drafting department and later, into the abstracting phase of the business and, more recently, title insurance. He is now manager of the abstract department.

"Thorough, patient, meticulous are words that could be used to describe Art and his work. In this business, these are probably the most important requisites. Art has them and many others. It has been our good fortune to have him on our staff these 37 years. In appreciation of what he has done for the company and for me and my family personally we would like you to join us in saying 'well done' to Art on Oct. 31," Mrs. Feindt said.

Mr. Emmons is married to the former Helen Light. They have two children, Mark, an Ensign in the U.S. Navy aboard the supply ship USS Detroit, and a daughter, Debbie, an assistant apartment manager at a complex in Houston, Tex.

Drain Commissioner files report

The Charlevoix County Drain Commissioner presides over a small, all-be-it important, department of County government.

Clayton Healey's annual report to the County Board last week showed total income of $80 (for two subdivision plats) and expenditures of $753.84. The latter covered $206.63 for telephone, $3.15 for postage, $25 for professional organization dues, and $519.06 for travel.

Healey keeps office hours in the County Building Annex on Tuesdays and does his field work on other days when required. His salary is $3,836 a year.

Five-week St. Francis film series to focus on family topics

"Creating Family", a new five part film presentation featuring Clayton Barbeau, author, lecturer and family therapist, will be shown at The St. Francis Parish Hall, State Street, Petoskey on five Wednesday evenings beginning October 26 at 7:30 p.m.

The series, which is sponsored by the Diocese of Gaylord and the St. Francis Family Life and Christian Formation Commission, includes the following titles: Husband-Wife Relationships; Creating Family; The Male-Female Crisis; Teens and Singles - Love vs. Sex; and Parents as Role Models.

Clayton Barbeau is the father of eight children, four of whom he reared as a single parent, following the death of his wife. From San Francisco, he is an author and family therapist. The five-part film series features Barbeau as he lectures before a live audience. Toward the end of each segment of approximately fifty minutes each, he responds to questions submitted by a volunteer panel and others from the audience.

The first film, to be shown on Wednesday October 26, "The Husband-Wife Relationship", examines the husband-wife relationship, taking a look at the intimacies and intricacies of realtionship between spouses, with emphasis on sexuality and sexual relating.

The November 2 film, "Creating Family", deals with the personal responsibility each person has for his or her continuing "creation" - becoming the type of person who relates well with other people.

On Wednesday, November 9, "The Male-Female Crisis", will treat the effect of culture in keeping the American man from experiencing emotional freedom. Barbeau discusses some of the problems this causes and some solutions for both men and women facing such a crisis.

"Teens and Singles - Love vs. Sex", the fourth film which will be shown on Wednesday November 16, emphasizes the importance for teenagers and young adults of learning about love at home. Barbeau talks to teens and parents about love and "love education".

The final segment, to be shown the Wednesday after Thanksgiving, November 30, is titled "Parents as Role Models". It offers encouragement to parents to serve as good examples of openess and willingness to communicate. Methods or "tools" for achieving this good example status are suggested.

Perhaps the most crucial emphasis of the series is that persons are decision makers, with a variety of options in terms of how the time available is used. Barbeau says several times throughout the series that "where you place your time, you place your life; where you place your life, you place your love." To create family that is open and responsive to the work in which it exists takes time. Often too little time is given to this most crucial experience.

All interested persons are cordially invited to attend these programs.

Medusa reclamation honored

The Medusa Cement Company of Charlevoix was the recipient on October 14 of a Certificate of Merit from the Michigan chapter of the Soil Conservation Society of America for its "long range master plan development, reclamation of lands and land use for future generations."

The focal point of the award is the ongoing land reclamation project at the Medusa plant in which mined areas are being revegetated and landscaped for future recreational and resort use.

On hand for the award presentation at the Kettunen Center were John Dixon representing Medusa and landscape architect John Campbell, president of Site Planning Development, Inc., contractors for the reclamation project.

John H. Kennaugh, president of the SCSA Michigan chapter, presented the plaque and congratulated Medusa for "outstanding service in advancing the science and art of good land use."

The Medusa reclamation project is unique in that it was initiated in 1972 in the early stages of the company's quarry mining operation rather than after abandonment of the quarry. State law requires reclamation of mined areas but not until the areas are abandoned.

Another innovative aspect of the project is Site Planning's use of sewage sludge from the City of Charlevoix's waste water treatment plant to improve the poor soil condtions for hydroseeding. The arrangement has not only provided a convenient source of fertilizer for the reclamation project but saves the city thousands of dollars each year by disposing of the sludge.

Obituaries

ALBERT V. EDWARDS

Funeral services for Albert V. Edwards, 86, who died Oct. 20 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Wednesday. The Rev. David W. Yingling of the United Methodist Church will officiate. Interment will be in the Brookside Cemetery.

Born in Charlevoix June 22, 1897, Mr. Edwards was married in 1922 to Charlotte Edwards at Boyne City. They always made their home here. He was associated with the Edwards truck farm and Edwards Florist until his retirement. Mrs. Edwards preceded him in death April 19, 1961. In September, 1961, he was married to Mrs. Ida Wickersham who died May 20, 1981. He had served briefly in the U.S. Navy. He was a former member of the Knights of Pythias.

Surviving are two daughers, Mrs. Howard (Ruth) North of Ionia and Mrs. Ray (Elaine) Shearer of Phoenix, Ariz.; five grandchildren; three great-grandchildren and a brother Arthur S. of Charlevoix.

Friend may call at the funeral home Tuesday and meet the family from 2 until 4 and 7 until 9 p.m. Tuesday.

MAE TOMAN

Funeral services for Mrs. Mae Toman, 81, who died Oct. 23 at her Six Mile Lake home in Echo Township, Antrim County, were held Tuesday afternoon at the Hastings Funeral Home. The Rev. Dale Kessler of the Ellsworth Wesleyan Church officiated. Interment was in the Ellsworth Cemetery.

Born Oct. 11, 1902, in Cornwall County, England, the former Mae Carne came to the U.S. in 1907 with her parents who settled at Ishpeming. She was married Dec. 16, 1919, to Harry Toman at Ishpeming where they lived until 1922 when they moved to Lansing. They lived there until his retirement and at that time moved to their present home in Echo Township.

Surviving are her husband; a daugher, Mrs. Grady (Echo) Atkins of East Jordan; a son, Richard of Marquette; three grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; two great-great-grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Bernard (Elsie) Nelson of Ishpeming.

The family suggests memorials to the American Cancer Society.

Castle Farms faces ten LCC charges

Castle Farms Music Theatre on Ferry Road has been charged with ten violations of State Liquor Control Commission laws.

Charlevoix County Sheriff George T. Lasater filed the complaints as the result of investigations conducted by members of his Department.

The violations include three counts of hindering or obstructing a law enforcement office in making an inspection or investigation of the licensed premises, three counts of selling intoxicants to minors, two counts of violations allowing consumption of alcoholic liquor outside defined areas of Castle Farms as approved by the Liquor Control Commission, and two counts of permitting alcoholic liquors that were sold for consumption on the licensed premises, to be removed from the premises.

Although Castle Farms Music Theatre has been in trouble with the Liquor Control Commission before, this is the first time charges have been brought against it following investigations by the Sheriff's Department.

According to Sherriff Lasater, all ten violations were connected with music theatre productions heard at Castle Farms this season.

The charges will be heard by the State Liquor Control Commission on Thursday, October 27, at 10 a.m. in the Government Office Building in Traverse City. If found guilty, Castle Farms could be fined and-or have its liquor license revoked.

Committee reports on sanitary code

The ad hoc committee appointed to study and revise the Charlevoix County Sanitary Code presented an interim report to the County Board last week.

The committee reported it had worked on the first three-quarters of the Code with the thought in mind of keeping all that is good about it and making it more readable and understandable. A more complete report will be given to the County Board on November 23.

Members of the ad hoc committee are Irvin Sturm, chairman; Scott Beatty; Dorothy Custer; Larry Levengood; Ralph Harmon; and Oral Sutliff.

Sturm is an engineer, Beatty is a lawyer, Mrs. Custer is a member of the County Planning Commission, Levengood is a Health Department sanitarian, and Harmon and Sutliff are members of the County Board.

Festive Favorites Recipe Contest
To Be Given Away!
In Prizes from Oleson's of Charlevoix, Edwards, Village Inn Pizza, Gourmet Port 'O Call and Charlevoix Courier.

CONTEST RULES

1. Contestants are invited to enter as many categories as they wish but may submit only one recipe per category.
2. Recipes should be typed or printed on a sheet of paper with the category indicated.
3. To each recipe there should be a separate sheet of paper attached with the contestant's name, address and phone number. The contestant's name should not appear on the actual recipe. As each recipe is received, it will be assigned a number which will be logged with the contestant's name. The names will be removed from the recipes so the judges will not know whose recipes they are judging.
4. Ingredients should be listed in accurate, easily understood amounts and in the order that they are used.
5. Recipes do not have to be completely original. They may be old standards or new variations on familiar recipes. The more original the recipe is, however, the better its chance of winning.
6. If duplicate recipes are received, the one submitted first will be accepted. We will log date and time recipes are received.
7. All contestants must agree to permit their recipes to be published in a special cookbook section of the Charlevoix Courier.
8. Employees of the Charlevoix Courier and Petoskey News-Review and members of their families are not eligible to win the contest.
9. A panel of judges will evaluate the recipes submitted and name three finalists in each of the five categories. The 15 finalists will be notified and asked to prepare their recipes for a final judging session. Judges will then sample the entries, name a winner in each category and a grand prize winner of the five winners.

Make it safe and fun

Halloween may trace its origins to quasi-religious superstitions and murky eras of black magic but in modern times, it is observed for only one reason: fun. Fun in the form of trick-or-treating, dressing up in costumes, and enjoying autumn's last fling before the snow starts flying.

We hope the Halloween spirit of fun in Charlevoix is not spoiled by the carelessness of a driver during trick-or-treating hours or the maliciousness of vandals who tend to sometimes use the opportunity for their own mindless purposes.

In some places, Halloween is a thing of the past. The fun in those places has long since been lost in the wake of ugly, islolated incidents that has made the event more a liability than a festivity.

Here's hoping that such an attitude never makes its way to Charlevoix and that Halloween here remains a safe, enjoyable experience for everyone.

Be careful Monday night...and have fun!

Knight on the Town

Apple notes

by Dave Knight

After spending the better part of last week relieving our apple orchard of its crop, I made the following observations about apple picking that may or may not have something to do with life in general.

1. No matter how high one goes up on the ladder, there is always a better apple just out of reach.

It is big, red and tauntingly close to one's fingertips. The temptation is great to stretch a little farther, climb out on a branch, make a jump for it. But there are consequences...like a broken neck. One must weigh the price of the unreachable apple against the price of repairing a broken neck.

The wise one usually ends up shaking the tree.

2. One rotten apple does not spoil the whole bushel; but it does make it somewhat less marketable.

It is easy to throw all the apples - good ones and bad ones - into the same basket. The job of picking gets done a lot faster. The result, however, is a bunch of baskets that gets put out for sale a lot earlier but which is still sitting for sale a lot later.

The typical apple buyer is very particular. And why not?

3. You cannot judge an apple by its skin.

An apple's character is a combination of many factors. A deep red color can be deceiving just as much as a greenish tint. One must consider texture, taste, firmness, aroma, tartness, sweetness among other things. Sometimes an apple that looks like a loser can turn out to be a pleasant surprise. Likewise, the greatest looking apples can sometimes disappoint.

Never make snap decisions about an apple until you have given it a fair test.

4. Every apple tree in the orchard has a distinct personality.

It can vary from season to season. A tree can have a good season one year and wish it never got out of dormancy the next. Climate and care may have some bearing, but one gets the feeling that a tree has to want to produce in order to do so and that all the fertilizer, pruning and nice weather won't make any difference if a tree is in a nonproductive mood. Trees are loners, too. They do not appear to pay much attention to what any other trees are doing. Even in a season when an entire row is happily producing, it is not uncommon for one tree in the row to buck the trend and take a year off.

Trees aren't people; but that doesn't mean they can't act like them.

5. An apple a day may keep the doctor away but the health benefits do not necessarily increase proportionately with the number of apples eaten daily.

During the harvest, I suppose an apple picker could live on the fruits of his labor alone...but it would be a pitiful existence if you ask me. Most doctors will probably agree that a high intake of apples, which are more acidic than most fruits, is not especially good for the system. But human nature has its own way of preventing apple overdose among pickers. Generally, apples taste pretty good during the first weeks of the harvest in early October. Around mid-month, however, the appetite for apples starts to fade.. By Halloween, it becomes difficult to ge down even the minimum daily requirement of one.

Come November, most apple pickers will eagerly trade you a bushel or two for a Hostess Twinkie.

Clockwise

Remember past lessons

by Bob Glock

HOW EASY IT IS — from the vantage point of 8,000 miles — for Americans to decry the deployment of U.S. Marines in beleagured Lebanon.

"If they hadn't been there, they wouldn't have been killed." You hear it on every street corner in the wake of the mass slaughter Sunday morning at the U.S. Marine barracks at Beirut International Airport and at the French compound nearby.

Of course, the critics of deployment are correct. If the United States and France had not sent troops to Lebanon to oversee the peace between Lebanon and Israel, none of them would have died in the two devastating explosions touched off by kamikaze truck drivers.

At last count, about 200 bodies have been pulled from the rubble, including 183 U.S. Marines.

Unfortunately, proponents of deployment also have a point. Because of its oil resources, the factionalism that splits the Middle East threatens the peace of the entire world. By sending in so-called peacekeepers, the United States, England, France and Italy had hoped to contain the violence until a modicum of stability returns to the Shores of Tripoli.

BUT IT HASN'T worked. The Israeli army has moved safely to the south, but the Druze, the Shiites and other scattered tribes have continued their assaults on the Lebanese government — as well as the peacekeepers who are attempting to restore law and order.

During and after Vietnam, many of us have maintained that it is futile for any nation to become involved in civil wars of other nations, since they are largely unwinnable. It is doubly futile to choose up sides in a peasant revolt, because common sense and the great weight of public opinion is usually with the peasants — while the U.S. has a proclivity for joining the wrong side.

But in Lebanon it appeared for a while that we might have a chance, despite the religious differences separating the ruling party from its antagonists. President Reagan thought that a military presence might buy enough time to cool tempers and restore peace and tranquility.

It was a gamble, and as of Monday, he has lost. Lost horribly. No war in our 207-year history has been so costly in terms of men committed and lives lost. Of the 1,600 Marines assigned to Lebanon last fall, 290 have been killed — a mortality rate of 11.8 percent.

By comparison, the U.S. death rate in Vietnam was 1.4 percent and in Korea 1.7 percent.

HOWEVER, THE president insists that U.S. Marines will stay in Lebanon. I am certain he feels the prestige of the United States is on the line and he is probably right.

If we erred, it was in sending Marines to Lebanon in the first place. The blame for that error probably lies somewhere in the bowels of the State Department where someone should have foreseen such problems arising in a nation beset by strident religious and political factionalism.

The best we can hope for now is that Washington will remember the lessons of Vietnam — and Lebanon — when it comes to possible military action in Central America.

Hemingway tour...

arm down into the spring but could not hold it there because of the cold."

The Hemingway tourists got out of the bus and automobiles at the end of the road and stood in small groups looking out over Horton Bay, "the point", and the mouth of Horton Creek. They took pictures of the lake, the beach, themselves, and other photographers, including those from a Traverse City television station. Perhaps they were seeing what Hemingway had seen and written about in "The End of Something."

"...There was nothing left of the (saw) mill except the broken white limestone of its foundations showing through the swampy second growth as Nick and Marjorie rowed along the shore. They were trolling along the edge of the channel bank where the bottom dropped off suddenly from sandy shallows to 12 feet of dark water. They were trolling on their way to the point to set night lines for rainbow trout.

" 'There it is,' he said.

" 'Can you remember when it was a mill?'

" 'I can just remember,' Nick said.

" 'It seems more like a castle,' Marjorie said."

Or, those who could do so, May have closed their eyes and remembered Hemingway's description of Horton Bay in "Up in Michigan":

"It was beautiful in the spring and summer, the bay blue and bright and usually whitecaps on the lake out beyond the point from the breeze blowing from Charlevoix and Lake Michigan."

But the dreams about what it was like 65 or 70 years ago ended with the notice that it was time to move one. The bus and following automobiles moved slowly up the hill until they were in front of the large frame house known as "Shangri-la". It was in this house (now completely remodeled) that Ernest Hemingway and his first wife, the former Hadley Richardson, had their wedding breakfast following their wedding at the old Horton Bay Methodist Church on September 3, 1921.

"Shangri-la" is now for sale, and the enterprising real estate sales agents arranged an open house to coincide with the Hemingway bus tour. Teased inside by the sales agents, Hemingway's fans saw an expensively furnished modern home that bears no resemblance to the spartan four room farmhouse that housed the Hemingway wedding party and guests in 1921.

recommendation that Execustat be simplified, personalized and offered to the executive gift market rather than the office supply market.

Waun followed through. Just weeks ago, the Spiegl Christmas catalog appeared in millions of mailboxes across the country and, featured on page 199 next to a locomotive that lights cigarettes and a solid brass dumbell paper weight, is the Execustat.

Waun still winces as he reads Speigl's description of Execustat which starts out: "Humorous custom engraved nameplate..."

In another promiatng development, Waun has received confirmation that American Express will be carrying the Execustat in it's exclusive Business to Business catalog which is soon to be published.

But the most exciting boost for Execustat occurred at a September garden party held on the lawn of the Finnish Club in Washington, D.C. for the visiting president of Finland, Mauno Koivisto.

Charles Terrell of Charlevoix is on the staff of Sen. Pete Wilson of California and a member of the Finnish Club. Terrell had been given an Execustat by Waun and though it would be a unique gift for President Koivisto. He had Waun engrave the entire piece in Finnish and presented it to Koivisto at the garden party to the delight of the Finnish press covering the affair.

While the publicity over the presentation may never make it out of the Finnish newspapers and thus not affect U.S. catalog sales all that much, for Waun it was nice just to get a little respect for a change.

Weddings

Michael-Hillis

—Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Hillis

Lisa Marie Michael and Ronald J. Hillis were married on Saturday afternoon, October 1, in Christ Episcopal Church in Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Michael of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom, who is stationed aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Mesquite in Charlevoix, is the son of John Hillis, Sr. and Mrs. Vicki Hillis, both of Madison, Wisconsin.

Approximately 125 guests witnessed the double-ring rites conducted by the Reverend Roger Ames before an altar graced with white chrysanthemums, eucolyptus, and tree ferns.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, wore a gown of champagne chiffon fashioned with a stand-up neckline of Venise lace with point d'esprit lace ruffle forming a deep V in front and back. A cummerbund drawn at the waist topped a full skirt. A halo of preserved baby's breath held the finger tip veil, and her bouquet was a loose cascade of lavender and white roses, gardenias, ivy, and deeper lavender silk flowers.

Mrs. Terry Taylor of Groton, Connecticut served her sister as matron of honor, and Tia Hillis of Madison, sister of the bridegroom, served as bridesmaid. They wore gowns of lavender lustrous polyester with lace inserts in the bodice and sleeves, and flared, full-length skirts. Their colonial bouquets were composed of white mini carnations, lavender roses, deeper lavender silk flowers, and ivy.

John Hillis, Sr., father of the bridegroom, served as best man, and John Hillis, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, served as groomsman. Mike Hillis, another brother of the bridegroom, and Chris Michael, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Music for the ceremony was furnished by Mrs. John Lignell, organist, and Mrs. John Pidek, who sang "The Wedding Song", "God, Man, and Wife", and "The Lord's Prayer".

Following the wedding ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception at the Grey Gables Inn, where flowers in colors of lavender and ivory decorated the tables. Tracine Curtis was in charge of the guest book, and Vicki Falting assisted with the cake.

After a wedding trip to Wisconsin, the newlyweds are at home in Charlevoix. The bridegroom is scheduled to be transferred to Wildwood, New Jersey in the near future.

Dziedzic-Taylor

Mr. and Mrs. David Taylor

Laura Dziedzic became the bride of David Taylor on Saturday afternoon, October 8, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Charlevoix.

Parents of the newlyweds are Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dziedzic of Holland and Mr. and Mrs. Duane Taylor of Charlevoix. Mr. and Mrs. Dziedzic formerly lived in Charlevoix.

Father R. Dale Magoon officiated at the double-ring ceremony before 150 guests. For the occasion, the church altar was decorated with flowers from Mrs. Rowe's Garden.

The bride's parents gave her in marriage and her sister, Susan Wilcox, served as matron of honor. Another sister, Mrs. Daniel Overhiser, and Jane Schmidt and Margaret Liddane, served as bridesmaids.

The bride's gown was of chiffonette sheer fashioned with a Victorian neckline and with fitted sleeves puffed at the upper arm. The natural waist topped a full skirt with attached chapel-length train. The bodice and sleeves were of silk Schiffli embroidery, and the hemline was edged with matching lace. The finger-tip veil of bridal illusion was also edged with silk Schiffli lace and attached to a tiara headpiece overlaid with matching lace and seed pearls.

The attendants' gowns were of Alice blue voile, fashioned with high necklines, long sleeves, and gathered waists, with tucks on the sleeves and skirts.

Tracy Olmstead served as best man, and Steven Hufford, Jerome Keie, and Jeffrey Wellman served as groomsmen. Philip Hoffman and Matthew Stangis were ushers.

The bride's parents hosted a reception at the American Legion Hall following the wedding ceremony. They were assisted by Tracie and Jill Taylor, sisters of the bridegroom, who were in charge of the cake and the guest book. The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner on Friday evening at Village Inn Pizza.

The newlyweds have delayed a wedding trip until spring. They are at home in Charlevoix, where the bride is a special education teacher for the Char-Em Intermediate School District and the bridegroom is an advisor for the Youth Employment Training Program.

Plan trick-or-treat for UNICEF

The children from the Charlevoix United Methodist Church are going to go Trick-or-Treating for UNICEF on Sunday October 30 beginning at 2:00 p.m. from the Church. The proceeds from the event will help UNICEF continue its assistance programs in 113 countries and provide vital emergency aid to areas when disaster strikes.

Following the event the children will be returning at the Church for donuts and hot chocolate.

Other children from the community are invited to participate and help UNICEF Day be a success. Adults will be driving the children to the different neighborhoods and returning them to the church.

Yachting Notes

A. Nony Mouse

Ironton - was blessed with three visitors last week. The self unloaders "Irwin Cullen" and "Consumers Power" on Tuesday and the Charlevoix Yacht Club on Wednesday. All three were fully loaded.

The Landings - had the only overworked crew of the evening, but they were truly delightful hosts. Warm Thanks.

The Commodore - the Past Commodore, and lots of half past Commodores were involved in deep, intellectual discussions on a suitable name for what was formerly the "Queens Cup". From the merely ribald to the just plain rank, the various suggestions sure sounded better there than they do this bright Thursday morning.

The Mesquite - was the largest yacht represented, with Officers Bob Young and Gary Green both in attendance. A hearty, "Welcome".

The Flying Machine - was the first yacht in, "Traveller" and "Pygmalion" followed in a dead heat with the latter virtually sliding down the gravel pile on the west shore. "Charlie Brown", "San Sue She", "Apothecary", "Tireless", "Phoenica" and "Obsession" followed although "Kagan", with her iron spinnaker full and drawing, did squeeze in there somewhere.

The Pearson Renegade "Wam Bam"- participated in her first major racing event and was a pretty sight even if a trifle late. 6:00 p.m. start, John.

The Begrows - celebrated their anniversary and Jack's rendition of that old favorite about babies crying, was truly inspiring. I think its's called, "Bawls, Bawls, Bawls".

The Bunger - didn't drink beer while standing on his head, didn't even drink beer, didn't even show. A bitter disappointment to the teeming hordes that waited with baited breath.

The Last "Race" of the Season - was delightful.

Back to business.

A toast to the new Board of the Yacht Club: Richard Hodgson, Karl Jurries, Pat Carland, Ken Heininger, Bob Schofield, Bill Price, and Past Commodore, Mike Carland.

This new Board hopefull will, in the future, be remembered as the Board that found the Club its perfect location, where it may grow and prosper for the next century or two. With the Depot sold (?), the rent increased (!), old scrooge at the door, and no new home in sight; we are respectfully requesting the donation of a modest facility, with appropriate dockage and waterfront, only a small pool, etc., etc. We'll trade a fully paid membership good for five lifetimes, a couple useless kids, three cats and a ride on each first-to-finish yacht next year. We'll even guarantee they'll be first (at least on corrected time)

To the kind hearted soul - we do appreciate the donation of the water tower, and yes the view is beautiful, we do understand how we can fill the lower 10 feet and have a neat indoor pool, but ... 720 steps! That wasn't what we had in mind when we said "Onward and Upward".

The final standings for the wet Fall Series...

Number one and the Championship for Class "A" goes to the big green machine, "Traveller" ... and Dave (et.al.) we sure enjoyed racing against the pride of Harbor Springs. "Charlie Brown" trailed by just under 3 points and bested third place "Pygmalion" by only a fractionally larger margin. With a hot last few races "Flying Machine" moved up to forth spot ahead of "Bandit", the first of the "under 30" (feet, not age, stupid!) fleet.

As predicted, "Foxy Lady" captured the top honors in Division "B"; but, contrary to our prediction, it was "Spectre" as runner-up with "Blazen III" dropping back to III'rd as a result of those expensive penalities last week. "Clockwork" ticked in 2 points ahead of "Tireless" wrapping up the top five in this division.

A couple real low point scores in Portsmouth with "Te-Gi" at 5.00 and "Seascape" at 6.25 in first and second, respectively. "Cheemaun" fell way back on points in dropping the final race but hung onto third place over "Cool Whip", forth and "Apothecarty", fifth. Welcome to the top five, Mr. Pharmacist!

A fine fall series, a bit moist at time but, after all, the ginger brandy people need customers too.

A final word to the wise...when night sailing out the channel with chute flying, one should beg, borrow or Steele a horn BEFORE reaching the bridge. Sure was pretty though...

Varsity, JV and Girls' CC teams a win M-MSC titles at Gaylord me

The Charlevoix Rayder Cross Country teams captured all three titles at Michigan Huron Shores Conference meet at Gaylord Saturday, winning the Varsity title with 39 points and Bill Taylor setting a new course record; the girls their meet with 39 points and the JV team with 22 points.

The Varsity boys and girls team will now go to Shepherd for the Regional Class C meet Saturday.

Coach Pete Spieles said of the forthcoming meet: "It speaks for itself. It will be a mini-state meet with five of the top rated teams in the state: Charlevoix, St. Louis, Clare, Shepherd and Midland Bullock Creed entered".

In the conference meet, Bill Taylor broke his earlier record of 15:23, trimming the time to 14:56. John Tunison finished fifth in a time of 15:45; Lee Allard sixth in 16:02; Matt Landon, ninth in 16:17 and Mike Dohm, 14th in 17:08.

Rick Gallant came in in 17:20 and Tim Gibbons in 17:34.

The top ten finishers became the All-Conference Team. Others on the team are John Goble of Petoskey who finished second. Max Hogan, Rogers City, third; Mike Hullet, Boyne City, fourth; Andrew Stonehouse, Gaylord, seventh; Chris Woodcock, Petoskey, eighth and Mike Wood, Rogers City, tenth.

In the girls meet Charlevoix finished first with 39 points followed by Petoskey and Rogers City.

Anne VanDam of Petoskey set the pace with a time of 19:14.

Charlevoix's Michelle North was third in 20:28; Marlo Hough, fourth in 21:04; Molly Bolduc, fifth in 21:05; Leslie Miller, tenth in 22:00. Others were Ann Boulton who finished 15th in 23:04; Lauri Finck, 20th in 23:44 and Chaya Moore, 21st in 24:05.

Dave Hendrickson came in first in the JV division in 17:30 as his team won the meet with 22 points.

Leo Chase came in second in 17:42; Carl Dhaseleer, fourth in 17:50; Jason Brindel, sixth in 18:00; Kevin McLenon, ninth in 18:12; Ed Knight, 10th in 18:13; Harold Heriman, 13th in 18:27; Jon Eakes, 18th in 18:44; David Eakes, 20th in 19:28; Dan Staublin, 22nd in 19:51; Rusty Coolman, 24th in 20:24 and Jim Smith, 29th in 22:03.

"There's no question but what Charlevoix had a great day Saturday. The Varsity was great. No ona th course reco broken and just that; the escellent ra brought h medals. T Varsity divi dog-fight be are aome g in this co can't say en Rogera City. be at our b them", Co said of the m teams.

Onaway stuns reeling Rayders

It seems amazing that it was only three weeks ago that Charlevoix was undefeated, ranked among the top ten Class C football teams in the state and entertaining serious playoff hopes.

Then came the Cheboygan Chiefs...and the Gaylord Blue Devils...and, last Friday night, the Onaway Cardinals.

All of a sudden, instead of fighting for a playoff berth, the Rayders find themselves struggling for a .500 season with at least one tough team - St. Ignace - standing in their way.

Charlevoix fell to a 4-3 season record, 3-3 in conference play, as Onaway pinned a third straight defeat on the Rayders. Friday night 24-20 at Onaway. The Red Rayders held a 20-16 lead until the closing minutes of the game but saw the victory snatched away by a 25-yard Onaway TD pass play with 2:15 left in the game.

End Bill Tillen gets hit high and low after a pass reception.

Performing well in the defeat were running back Pat Mitchell, who led the ground attack with 101 yards in 24 carries and a touchdown, receiver Neild LaCroix who caught four passes for 55 yards, one of which set up a Charlevoix touchdown, and quarterback Tim LaBiance who completed 10 out of 21 passes for 111 yards.

Defensively, Thad Morgan recorded eight tackles to lead that category with Dan Buday and Bill Tillen logging six apiece. Buday and Jeff Lemerand each had an interception as well.

Onaway, who went into the game with a lowly 1-5 slate, showed that they meant business right away with a first quarter touchdown following a fumbled punt return by the Rayders. Greg Robbins caught a 19 yard TD pass from J.W. Price who also ran for a two point conversion to give the Cardinals an 8-0 advantage at the 8:51 mark of the first quarter.

The Rayders came back in the second quarter with two scores. With about four minutes gone in the quarter, LaCroix took a LaBlance pass 30 yards to set up a two-yard touchdown run by LaBlance shortly thereafter. The extra point try was unsuccessful.

Lemerand's interception and 40-yard runback late in the half then set up another scoring opportunity on which LaBlance capitilized with a five yard TD pass to Tillen. LaCroix took another pass from LaBlance for a 14-8 lead going into the lockeroom.

The third quarter saw the lead change hands twice. Robbins brought the home crowd to its feet with an 85-yard punt return good for six points. Steve Brockway made it 16-14 with a two-point run for the conversion. Charlevoix answered with a long drive, however, capped by a one-yard plunge by Mitchell for a 20-16 lead. The extra point try was no good.

Girls pull even with two wins

The Charlevoix girls basketball team tallied victories over St. Ignace and Boyne City by scores of 48-25 and 41-34, respectively, during the pst week to give them a 4-4 record in league play through Thursday. The team's overall record is 7-4.

As the second round of play gets underway, Charlevoix will host Petoskey Tuesday, play at Gaylord Thursday and entertain Cheboygan Tuesday.

In the game with St. Ignace, Charlevoix took an 8-6 quarter lead, increased it to 18-13 at the half and 32-19 going into the final period. Ann Wagner set the pace with 20 points. Mary Paquin had eight for the Saints.

The Charlevoix JVa posted a 30-12 win.

In the game with Boyne City that atarted the second round of league play, Charlevoix went to the free throw line to defeat their opponent. Boyne City outscored Charlevoix 15-12 from the floor but the Charlevoix five compensated for the deficit by connecting on 17 of 37 free throw attempts. Boyne had four of 10 charity shots. Charlevoix collected 12 personal fouls and Boyne City 24.

Ann Wagner scored 19 points and Rhonda Buchanan 11. Liz Sturm had 10 for Boys

Michelle Ga 13 points p Charlevoix JV a 60-21 win Boyne JVa.

Onaway beats Junior Varsity squad in high scoring affair

The Charlevoix JV football team lost to the Onaway squad by a score of 38-22 at Kipke Field Wednesday night.

The Rayder squad will host Grayling here Thursday.

In Wednesday's game, Charlevoix scored early in the game on a four-yard run by Jody Putman with Matt Lignell running the ball in for the conversion.

The visitors, however, came back with three quick scores on short runs and a 30 yard pass play to take a 22-8 halftime lead.

Onaway scored twice in the third period on long pass plays of 30 and 40 yards before the young Rayders scored on a 65 yard kick-off return early in the last period. Onaw one more tally on a 45 yard p The visitors sc convarsions on

Varsity, JV and Girls' CC teams all win M-MSC titles at Gaylord meet

The Charlevoix Rayder Cross Country teams captured all three titles at Michigan Huron Shores Conference meet at Gaylord Saturday, winning the Varsity title with 39 points and Bill Taylor setting a new course record; the girls their meet with 39 points and the JV team with 22 points.

The Varsity boys and girls team will now go to Shepherd for the Regional Class C meet Saturday.

Coach Pete Spieles said of the forthcoming meet: "It speaks for itself. It will be a mini-state meet with five of the top rated teams in the state: Charlevoix, St. Louis, Clare, Shepherd and Midland Bullock Creed entered".

In the conference meet, Bill Taylor broke his earlier record of 15:23, trimming the time to 14:56. John Tunison finished fifth in a time of 15:45; Lee Allard sixth in 16:02; Matt Landon, ninth in 16:17 and Mike Dohm, 14th in 17:08.

Dave Hendrickson came in first in the JV division in 17:30 as his team won the meet with 22 points.

Leo Chase came in second in 17:42; Carl Dhaseleer, fourth in 17:50; Jason Brindel, sixth in 18:00; Kevin McLenon, ninth in 18:12; Ed Knight, 10th in 18:13; Harold Heriman, 13th in 18:27; Jon Eakes, 18th in 18:44; David Eakes, 20th in 19:28; Dan Staublin, 22nd in 19:51; Rusty Coolman, 24th in 20:24 and Jim Smith, 29th in 22:03.

"There's no question but what Charlevoix had a great day Saturday. The Varsity was great. No one thought the course record could be broken and Taylor did just that; the JV ran an excellent race; the girls brought home five medals. The boys Varsity division was a dog-fight because there are some great runners in this conference. I can't say enough about Rogers City. We have to be at our best to beat them", Coach Spieles said of the meet and his teams.

Lemerand's interception and 40-yard runback late in the half then set up another scoring opportunity on which LaBlance capitilized with a five yard TD pass to Tillen. LaCroix took another pass from LaBlance for a 14-8 lead going into the lockeroom.

The third quarter saw the lead change hands twice. Robbins brought the home crowd to its feet with an 85-yard punt return good for six points. Steve Brockway made it 16-14 with a two-point run for the conversion. Charlevoix answered with a long drive, however, capped by a one-yard plunge by Mitchell for a 20-16 lead. The extra point try was no good.

The 20-16 score stood until the 2:15 mark of the fourth quarter when Price hit Brockway for 25 yards and a touchdown. Two more points were added by Price who ran for the conversion. The Rayders failed to come back in the waning seconds of the game sealing the 24-20 Onaway victory.

Onaway now stands at 2-5 overall. Charlevoix, 4-3, will visit Grayling, 5-2, next week.

Girls pull even with two wins

The Charlevoix girls basketball team tallied victories over St. Ignace and Boyne City by scores of 48-25 and 41-34, respectively, during the pst week to give them a 4-4 record in league play through Thursday. The team's overall record is 7-4.

As the second round of play gets underway, Charlevoix will host Petoskey Tuesday, play at Gaylord Thursday and entertain Cheboygan Tuesday.

In the game with St. Ignace, Charlevoix took an 8-6 quarter lead, increased it to 18-13 at the half and 32-19 going into the final period. Ann Wagner set the pace with 20 points. Mary Paquin had eight for the Saints.

The Charlevoix JVs posted a 30-12 win.

In the game with Boyne City that started the second round of league play, Charlevoix went to the free throw line to defeat their opponent. Boyne City outscored Charlevoix 15-12 from the floor but the Charlevoix five compensated for the deficit by connecting on 17 of 37 free throw attempts. Boyne had four of 10 charity shots. Charlevoix collected 12 personal fouls and Boyne City 24.

Ann Wagner scored 19 points and Rhonda Buchanan 11. Liz Sturm had 10 for Boyne City.

Michelle Gagnon with 13 points paced the Charlevoix JV squad to a 60-21 win over the Boyne JVs.

Onaway beats Junior Varsity squad in high scoring affair

The Charlevoix JV football team lost to the Onaway squad by a score of 38-22 at Kipke Field Wednesday night.

The Rayders squad will host Grayling here Thursday.

In Wednesday's game, Charlevoix scored early in the game on a four-yard run by Jody Putman with Matt Lignell running the ball in for the conversion.

The visitors, however, came back with three quick scores on short runs and a 30 yard pass play to take a 22-8 halftime lead.

Onaway scored twice in the third period on long pass plays of 30 and 40 yards before the young Rayders scored on a 65 yard kick-off return early in the last period. Onaway added one more tally, this one on a 45 yard pass play. The visitors scored four conversions on runs.

Middle School girls split

The Charlevoix Middle School girls eighth grade basketball team split while the seventh grade team posted wins over Harbor Springs and Petoskey last week.

The eighth grade lost to Harbor Spirngs by a score of 17-13 and won over Petoskey 27-11.

The seventh graders downed Harbor 25-13 and Petoskey 28-17.

In the meeting with Harbor Springs the eighth grade contingent led 7-4 at the half but were outscored 13-6 in the second half to lose to Harbor. Becky Smith with six points was top scorer for Charlevoix. Leah Heiderstadt and Lisa Furman had four points each for Harbor Springs.

In their meeting with Petoskey Charlevoix held a 13-4 halftime lead before taking the game 27-11. Smith again led the scoring, this time with eight points. Allison Hromiec had seven for Petoskey.

The seventh grade led Harbor Springs 12-11 before increasing their advantage to 25-13 at the final gun. Stacy Gebott had 11 points for the winners. Hadly Dickinson had five for Harbor Springs.

In the Petoskey game, Charlevoix took a 16-9 halftime lead and increased it to 28-17 at the gun. Gebott had 12 points. Jill Brecheisen, Pam Bufe and Rachel Breicheisen scored four points each for Petoskey.

Char;evoix will host East Jordan on Wednesday and Central Lake on Monday, Oct. 31.

The Charlevoix Middle School Seventh Grade Girls Basketball team is well into its 1983 season.

Panthers, Falcons log flag FB wins

The Charlevoix flag football program sponsored by the Recreation Department was scheduled to end Monday night, weather permitting, with the Packers meeting the Falcons and the Panthers and the Chargers clashing in the final games of the season.

In last week's action, the league-leading Panthers (4-1) defeated the Packers 23-7 and the Falcons won over the Chargers 19-6.

The Panthers jumped to a 9-0 first period lead with a safety and a Scott DeYoung to Owen Phillips touchdown pass good for 20 yards and a conversion by Marvin Witthoeft before Mark LaBlance scored on a 15 yard run for the Packers only score. Greg Sheppard added the conversion.

The Panthers went on to score on a 10 yard run by Witthoeft; a six yard pass from DeYoung to Witthoeft and another safety for the winning margin.

Chad Thorp scored on runs of 20 and 10 yards and Heath Moore on an 11 yard pass from Dave Miller to give the Falcons a three touchdown advantage over the Chargers. Miller scored the only conversion.

Dan Drury passed six yards to Roger Smith for the Chargers' only score.

Frosh shut out in season finale

The Charlevoix Rayder freshman football team closed out its 1983 season Thursday with a 36-0 loss to the Cheboygan freshmen.

The team's record for the season was 0-5.

Coach Dave Smith said that, despite the loss, the team played a good game. "They are just now beginning to shape up as a team. They are freshmen and this is their first experience in a contact sport. They learned well and should do well another year."

The young Chiefs scored in the first period on runs of 84 and 40 yards; in the second on a 12 yard pass play; an 11 yard run in the third period and on runs of 66 and one yard in the final period.

Charlevoix intercepted two Cheboygan passes and had seven of their picked off.

Jim Gibbs, at quarterback, played well. Jim Ciuk took five of Gibbs' passes and Ty Wagner, Quinton Walker and Kevin Shepard had one each. Mike Thompson and Steve Burrows played well on defense Coach Smith said.

NOTICE

Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative, Inc. (Wolverine), of Boyne City, Michigan, has prepared Borrower's Environmental Reports (BER)'s in connection with proposed financing assistance through the Rural Electrification Administration (REA), to maintain interests in the Enrico Fermi Nuclear Generating Station Unit #2 (Fermi) in Monroe County, Michigan and interests in Consumers Power Company's (CP), existing 345 KV Tittabawassee to Kenowa/Thetford transmission line. Wolverine has a 20 percent interest in the Fermi plant and additional funding is required at this time due to identified increases in project costs, additional safety requirements, design changes and project modifications. In lieu of transmission wheeling charges a portion (about 1.41 percent) of the transmission system owned by CP would be assigned to Wolverine in the form of 64 percent interest in the existing Tittabawassee to Kenowa/Thetford transmission line. The BER's have been prepared as support for the additional requested financing assistance.

Fermi Unit #2 is being constructed on a 1120 acre site in Frenchtown Township by the Detroit Edison Company (DE) and according to DE is 98 percent complete. It consists of a nuclear powered generating unit rated at 1100 MW output. Planned commercial operation is estimated by DE to be December, 1984. There have been no changes of environmental significance in the Fermi plant since the last REA approval for financing assistance in August, 1982, and the subject transmission line is completed.

The BER's discuss the need, alternatives, and previous and present environmental impacts. A copy of BER's can be reviewed at Wolverine's headquarters at the address given below or at the Rural Electrification Administration, South Agriculture Building, 14th & Independence Ave., S.W., Washington, D.C. 20250, in the offices of Mr. Merle J. Beechy, Chief, Distribution and Transmission Engineering Branch, Room 0241, (202) 382-1432.

Comments on the BER's should be submitted to the attention of Mr. Richard Love, at Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative, Inc., 1050 East Division Street, Boyne City, Michigan 49712, (616) 582-6672.

Comments should be submitted within 30 days of publication of this notice. A copy of all comments received will be forwarded to REA for its evaluation. REA will make its own environmental assessment prior to making a decision on financing assistance.

LEGAL NOTICES 207

NOTICE

Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative, Inc. (Wolverine), of Boyne City, Michigan, has prepared Borrower's Environmental Reports (BER's) in connection with proposed financing assistance through the Rural Electrification Administration (REA), to maintain interests in the Enrico Fermi Nuclear Generating Station Unit No. 3 (Fermi) in Monroe County, Michigan and interests in Consumers Power Company's (CP), existing 345 KV Tittabawassee to Kenowa-Thetford transmission line. Wolverine has a 20 percent interest in the Fermi plant and additional funding is required at this time due to identified increases in project costs, additional safety requirements, design changes and project modifications. In lieu of transmission wheeling charges a portion (about 1.41 percent) of the transmission system owned by CP would be assigned to Wolverine in the form of 64 percent interest in the existing Tittabawassee to Kenowa-Thetford transmission line. The BER's have been prepared as support for the additional requested financing assistance.

Fermi Unit No. 3 is being constructed on a 1120 acre site in Frenchtown Township by the Detroit Edison Company (DE) and according to DE is 98 percent complete. It consists of a nuclear powered generating unit rated at 1100 MW output. Planned commercial operation is estimated by DE to be December 1984. There have been no changes of environmental significance in the Fermi plant since the last REA approval for financing assistance in August, 1982, and the subject transmission line is completed.

The BER's discuss the need, alternatives, and previous and present environmental impacts. A copy of BER's can be reviewed at Wolverine's headquarters at the address given below or at the Rural Electrification Administration, South Agriculture Building, 14th and Independence Ave., S.W., Washington, D.C. 20250, in the offices of Mr. Merle J. Beachy, Chief, Distribution and Transmission Engineering Branch, Room 0241, (202) 382-1432.

Comments on the BER's should be submitted to the attention of Mr. Richard Love, at Wolverine Power Supply Cooperative, Inc., 1050 East Division Street, Boyne City, Michigan 49712, (616) 582-6572.

Comments should be submitted within 30 days of publication of this notice. A copy of all comments received will be forwarded to REA for its evaluation. REA will make its own environmental assessment prior to making a decision on financing assistance.

Valerie Russell and Dawn Peterson, both of Charlevoix, work on their food badges at the Girl Scout Worlds Fair.

Attend G.S. World's Fair

Several Charlevoix girls recently participated in the Girl Scout Worlds Fair held in Traverse City.

They were among 280 girls from 34 communities throughout 11 counties in northwestern Michigan attending the one-day event.

Each girl had an opportunity to work on badge activities of her interest. Special consultants volunteered to share their skills in such areas as child care, pets, exploring foods, first aid, art, theater, dance, folk arts, music, horseback riding, aerospace, computer fun, energy saving, my community, outdoor fun, and boating.

The Worlds Fair was sponsored by the Crooked Tree Girl Scout Council. It was six months in the planning under the direction of Ruth Wilber, chairman, and a committee of 16 volunteers from throughout the Council. Over 80 adults helped on the day of the event.

Goddeyne sets hours

Northern Michigan Congressman Bob Davis' District representative, Charles P. Goddeyne will be in Antrim and Charlevoix Counties on Monday and Tuesday, October 31 and November 1.

On Monday Goddeyne will be conducting office hours at the East Jordan City Hall from 9:30 until 11 a.m. and have lunch with the Ellsworth Senior Citizens in the Community Building from noon until 1 p.m. He will close out the day holding office hours at the Elk Rapids Village Hall from 2:30 until 4 p.m.

On Tuesday, he will hold office hours in Charlevoix at the County Courthouse from 9:45 until 10:45 a.m. and have lunch with the Senior Citizens at the Charlevoix High School Cafeteria from 1 until 2:15 p.m.

CITY OF CHARLEVOIX
COUNCIL MINUTES SYNOPSIS
October 17, 1983
8:00 P.M.

Meeting called to order by Mayor Kenneth Staley at 8:00 P.M. in the City Council Chambers. Present: Councilmembers Olach, Porter, Timms, Roloff, Wood, and Block. Absent: None.

The Minutes of the October 3, 1983 regular meeting were approved.

Council generally agreed to consider compensation for Beatrice Parton, Deputy City Clerk, at the next regular meeting on November 7, 1983, and to direct the City Attorney to submit his opinion by that time, regarding whether the Council has the authority to determine the compensation for an Acting Clerk.

Council unanimously accepted the City Clerk's resignation and passed a resolution of appreciation honoring Deanne Balch.

Council unanimously accepted the City Manager's recommendations to immediately transfer all financial functions of the Clerk's Dept. to the Treasurer's Dept., adopted a revised job description, and requested that the Compensation Commission convene as soon as practical to consider a revised salary for the position.

Council approved Mayor Staley's proposed appointments of Robert Lieberman and Sam Supernaw to the Compensation Commission with unanimous approval.

Council unanimously approved the rejection of all bids submitted for rehabilitation of the existing aerial boom truck, and awarded a bid to Aerial Digger of Farmington for a new aerial boom truck in the amount of $49,530.

Council unanimously agreed to contribute $3,000 to the Charlevoix County Business and Industry Task Force, Inc. contingent upon contributions from other participants in the project.

Council unanimously approved the extension of the starting deadline for Luttrell Well Drilling to midnight, October 24, 1983. If Luttrell is not on site and in operation by that time, the award will automatically go to Layne Northern, next lowest bidder for the test well development project.

Council agreed to retain the firm of Martin, Craig, Chester, and Sonnenschein of Chicago for the water quality project compliance order. Yeas: Timms, Wood, and Block. Nays: Olach, Porter, and Roloff. Mayor Staley, casting a tie-breaker, voted yes.

Upon opinion from Bond Counsel, Council unanimously passed a resolution amending a resolution that was adopted on October 3, 1983, to change the nature of the loan, from the Electric Fund to the well project, from that of a "note" to that of a "Memorandum of Understanding."

Council approved payment of bills totaling $222,917.17.

Council unanimously appointed Beatrice Parton Acting City Clerk until a City Clerk is appointed or elected to office.

Council unanimously agreed to adjourn to an Executive Session to discuss the City's legal position with respect to the Channel Bank Protection Project.

Council adjourned.

Beatrice Parton — Kenneth A. Staley
Acting City Clerk — Mayor

Copies of the entire City Council Minutes are available at City Hall.

Workshops, screening tests highlight Community Health Day this Saturday

Several important health screening tests will be conducted during the day long Community Health Day, "To Your Health", Saturday October 29, at Petoskey High.

Everyone is encouraged to set Saturday aside to attend the all day series of talks and workshops on health related issues.

Diabetes tests will be administered by Charlevoix Area Hospital, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Blood Pressure Screening will be conducted by Burns Clinic and the nursing students from NCMC, from 12 noon to 4 p.m., and the Burns Clinic Department of Audiology will run hearing screenings, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The day of preventive medical advice, featuring health care professionals from physicians to physical therapists, nurses to psychologists, is designed to help people be better informed on how to maintain good health.

Topics on which the experts will be speaking include Good Nutrition on a Tight Budget, Stress and Relaxation Therapy, Single Parenting from both a Male and Female point of View, Cancer Screening for both Men and Women, Hearing Aids, When to Take Your Child to the Doctor, Preventive Dentistry, How to Avoid Back Pains, Substance Abuse Education, Sex Education, and many more issues of general interest.

The Diabetes, Blood Pressure and Hearing Screenings are offered because each test can detect serious conditions, which can be controlled.

Diabetes is frequently undiagnosed until it reaches a serious stage. Diagnosed early, diabetes can be controlled, by medication or diet, and its dangerous side effects minimized. Charlevoix Area Hospital Chief Laboratory Technologist Ralph Corwin points out that the screening tests are for undiagnosed diabetics only.

People planning to take the diabetes screening test should eat a substantial meal, high in carbohydrates, two hours before the test, and avoid snacks between. Anyone whose test indicates potential diabetes will be notified, as will a doctor they designate.

This fourth annual Community Health Day, called "To Your Health", is sponsored by Petoskey Women's Resource Center, Charlevoix Area Hospital, Northern Michigan Hospital, Burns Clinic, North Central Michigan College, MSU Cooperative Extension Service, and Michigan District Health Department No. 3.

A complete list of all activities has been published in a brochure which has been distributed to area pharmacies and other agencies. The brochure with early registration forms also is available from any of the sponsors. Day care for children will be available at the high school. A nutritious lunch will be offered through the cafeteria.

United Methodist bazaar, luncheon

The United Methodist Women will sponsor their annual fall salad-casserole luncheon, bake sale and Christmas bazaar at the church at 104 State St. on Friday, Oct. 28.

The luncheon which will include a selection of hot casseroles and salads, dessert and choice of beverage will be served from 11 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

The bazaar and bake sale will open at 11 a.m. and continue through the afternoon. "The Christmas bazaar will be much more interesting than in past years with a host of exciting Christmas decorations" a spokesperson for the group said.

Mrs. Dorothy Groves will be in charge of the dining-room and Mrs. Helen Moerland the kitchen. Jill Washburn will be in charge of the bazaar and bake sale.

Garden Club hears local expert on history of quilting

Ann Cook Thurston of Boyne City, owner of a quilting shop, presented the history of quilting and offered advice relating to the hobby and where to see exhibits at the meeting of the Charlevoix Area Garden Club held recently at the home of Mrs. P.D. Campbell.

Quilting, she said, was one of the few means of art expression of early pioneers. It was an art form that proved to be both useful and artistic, she added.

She named Greenfield Village, Longwood Gardens and Woodlawn Plantation as places one might visit for displays and the history of quilting.

Mrs. Thurston, prior to coming to northern Michigan, had experience with fabric manufacturers and with the designing and packaging of quilt materials and patterns for magazines and various companies which she shared with the club members.

The members interested in quilts has come from the two quilts they made as club projects.

At the business meeting that followed the program, Arla Staublin reported on the work done at the Michigan Avenue garden, Marion Beatty on the US 31 South highway sign and flowers and Marge Dinwiddie on the memorial gardens at Dixon Ave. and Mercer Blvd.

Esther Bleha reported on the recent District V meeting held at Schuss Mountain.

The possibility of another flower show was discussed. A vote is presently being taken among the membership regarding the possibility.

The next meet is scheduled for Nov. 8 at the home of Lucy Witthoeft. Rod Cortright of the Cooperative Extension Service, will present a program on "Soil Conservation."

Eastern Star to hold public installation of officers

The Charlevoix Chapter No. 72, Order of the Eastern Star, will host a public installation of officers at the Masonic Temple at 8 p.m. Friday.

At that time, Ann Hufford will be installed as worthy matron to succeed Geneva Smith.

Other officers, elected at the annual election Oct. 19, will be installed. They are Walter Hufford, worthy patron; Diane Rosendahl, associate matron; Otto Yemmans, worth patron; Janada Rehkoph, secretary; Carla Spencer, treasurer; Beverly Plum, conductress; Rexine Dutcher, associate conductress.

Appointive officers who will be installed at the same time are Mildren Hiller, chaplain; James Hiller, marshall; Alice Bellinger, organist; Myrna Curtis, Adah; Madelyn Heise, Ruth; Nancy Geer, Esther; Geneva Smith, Martha; Joane Grubagh, Electa; Ray Wood, warder; Nancy Wood, sentinel; Edith Chamberlain, candlebearer; Beverly Plum, instructress.

The staff of installing officers will be headed by Mrs. Hiller assisted by Mrs. Grubaugh as marshall; Natalie Yaich of Walloon Lake as chaplain; Marjorie Coleman as organist and Virginia Woods as guest soloist.

New service offers to resolve disputes

The Northern Michigan Christian Conciliation Service is inviting the public to its second monthly meeting, to be held Saturday, October 28, at 10 a.m. in the Country Star Restaurant in Boyne City.

The Conciliation Service is a newly-formed organization whose program is designed to resolve disputes on a Biblical basis without the parties going to court. Through mediation and arbitration, it provides a means of resolving disputes by a panel that is usually made up of an attorney, a pastor, and a lay person. The decision is legally binding and in most cases will have the same force and effect as a decision rendered by the court.

The Northern Michigan Christian Conciliation Service Board is made up of seven area ministers, including Walt Hastings of the Charlevoix Church of God. Other board members are an attorney, two lay persons, and a Christian counselor and author.

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC MEETING TO INSTITUTE A SUMMER PROPERTY TAX LEVY FOR CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOL DISTRICT

Administrative Offices: 208 Clinton Street
Telephone No.: 547-3200

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on November 7, 1983, at 7:30 o'clock at Charlevoix High School the Board of Education will hold a meeting at which will be offered for adoption a resolution to impose a summer property tax levy of 50% of its annual school tax levy upon property located within the Charlevoix School District.

Passage of the proposed resolution would result in the annual levy of school property taxes on July 1 against property located within the Charlevoix School District. The Board of Education, under Act 333, Public Acts of Michigan 1982, may impose a summer property tax levy of either one-half (½) or the total of annual school property taxes. If a summer property tax levy is imposed, the Charlevoix School District may enter into agreements with each city or township in which it lies, or a county treasurer, for collection of the summer property taxes, or may collect such taxes itself pursuant to said Act 333.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Hospice volunteers complete training

Fourteen residents of Charlevoix County recently completed a 20-hour training course for volunteers in Hospice service.

They will be the core of the newly-formed Charlevoix County Hospice group which will begin serving the needs of the terminally ill and their families within the County in early November.

According to Hospice director Kathleen Smith of Boyne City, these graduates will be carefully screened so they may be placed in a position in the program where they can best serve. They may work directly or indirectly with patients and their families, they may take over duties in the Hospice office, or they may do any of many "outside" jobs required in the program.

The recent graduates are Flossie Brimley, Boyne Falls; Leita Brooks, Boyne City; Virginia Burns, Boyne City; Bea Cherne, Boyne City; Lianne Christensen, Charlevoix; Don Gillespie, Charlevoix; Jim Ehrcke, Charlevoix; Barbara Polinski, Boyne City; Edith Todter, Boyne City; Kathy Zoel, Charlevoix; Theresa Richards, East Jordan; Phyllis Malpass, East Jordan; Sharon White, Boyne City; and Debbi Lewis, Boyne City.

Hospice volunteers will work with other service people such as medical personnel, social workers, clergymen, dieticians, and lawyers in providing each Hospice patient with the care he or she needs during the waning months of life.

Referrals of patients are usually made to Hospice by doctors, hospitals, the Health Department, or families, according to Mrs. Smith. The patient must have a life expectancy of six months or less.

Dr. Dennis M. Joy of Charlevoix is Medical Director of the Charlevoix County Hospice group.

Further information about Hospice may be obtained by calling 536-2842.

Conferences set at H.S.

Parent-Teacher Conferences will be held for the high school on Wednesday, November 9th, from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. Any parent desiring to schedule a conference with their child's teachers should phone the high school office at 547-3222 during the week of October 31st through November 4th and arrange a conference appointment. Each conference is 20 minutes in length. The high school office is open Monday through Friday 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Information sheets concerning the conferences will be sent home with all high school students on Friday, October 28th.

VA questionaire to be sent

All recipients of V.A. pension benefits of any description under any law will be receiving income questionaire cards on or about Nov. 1 Ronald G. Geer, Charlevoix County Veterans Counselor, has announced.

He emphasized that the so-called I.Q. cards do not apply to those persons receiving compensation.

Until now persons 72 years of age and older and children receiving pension benefits under section 306 were not required to file income questionaire cards Geer explained.

The Charlevoix County Veterans Counselor's office in the County Building at Charlevoix is open to assist veterans and their dependents with their problems. On Nov. 18, the regional counselor headquartered in Cadillac, William Ewald, will be at the Charlevoix office to assist anyone with a problem. Mr. Ewald succeeds Eugene Dahlgard, former service officer who has retired.

Large building in residential neighborhood. The building is in excellent condition. Plenty of parking area, gas hot water heat, fully finished basement. Lots of potential — zoned R-2. A terrific bargain for the right party. Bill McKay, SKI & SHORE CHARLEVOIX, Inc. — 616/547-9905.

Summer tax issue to be decided Monday

by FRAN MARTIN

A resolution to impose a summer property tax levy consisting of 50 percent of its annual school tax will be presented for adoption at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, November 7.

Passage of the proposed resolution would result in the annual levy of school property taxes on July 1 against property located in the Charlevoix School District. This includes the City of Charlevoix, Hayes, Charlevoix, Norwood, Marion and a section of Eveline Township in Charlevoix County and a small section of Banks Township in Antrim County.

Under Act 333, Public Acts of 1982, the Board of Education may impose a summer property tax of either one half or the entire total of the annual school property taxes. If a summer property tax is imposed, the Charlevoix School District may enter into agreements with each city or township in which it lies, or a county treasurer for collection of the taxes or may opt to collect such taxes itself.

These decisions will also be made at Monday's meeting.

The need to borrow money through tax anticipation notes until such time as tax funds are available, making it necessary to spend large amounts on interest has brought about the possibility of collecting a portion of the school tax in the summer.

In recent years the Charlevoix School District has found it necessary to borrow $890,000 in 1979 at a cost of $37,909 in interest; $1,383,000 in 1980 at a cost of $62,727; $1,450,000 in 1981 at $104,613 in interest; $1,555,000 in 1982 at a cost of $50,027 and this year $950,000 at a cost of $33,645 in interest.

If the resolution is adopted, a minimum amount may have to be borrowed the first year it was explained. After the first year, however, the cash flow should level off, thus doing away with the need to borrow.

Tuesday's General Election is relatively quiet in county

Charlevoix County Clerk Jane Brannon, who is in charge of setting up election facilities throughout the County, is looking forward to a quiet election day on November 8.

The only scheduled elections are those being held in the three cities of the County – Charlevoix, East Jordan, and Boyne City.

In Charlekvoix, City Clerk Deanne Balch is running unopposed for re-election. In the first ward, City Council candidate Michael Greeley is running unopposed, as is incumbent Council member Robert Timms in the second ward. However, there is competition in the third ward between Paul Burlew and Earl Muma. They are vying for the seat vacated by Clement Olach.

Also on the ballot in Charlevoix is an amendment to the city charter which would permit elected officials to hold other offices in the city.

In East Jordan, Linda Barnes and William Merwin are running for mayor. Mark Daneff and Clifford Gibbs are running for first ward councilman, Albert Joseph is running unopposed for second ward councilman, and Ellen Cihak and Calvin Gotts are running for third ward councilman.

The only contest in Boyne City is for two city councilmen, who are elected on a city-wide basis. There are seven candidates for the two posts: incumbent Thelma Behling, Elmer Crain, Robert Dunnette, Ruth J. Wulff, Rudy Florenski, Marvin Loding, and incumbent Martin Paul.

Charter amendment would allow elected officials to have multiple roles

Voters in the City of Charlevoix will face one ballot question regarding a city charter amendment in Tuesday's general election.

The amendment, if approved, will allow elected officials in the city to hold other offices. Presently the city charter prohibits elected officials from holding any other office.

The amendment is a result of a court case lost by the city last winter involving a setback variance requested by Attorney Donald Berlage for a carport addition to his Michigan Ave. home.

Berlage won the case by citing the charter's prohibition of elected officials acting in dual roles and pointing out that the City Council had illegally acted as the Board of Appeals in ruling against his variance request.

Subsequently, the council named a separate Board of Appeals, a body which has acted on all zoning variance requests since. There has been some interest on council, however, on returning Board of Appeals duties to the council as well as allowing council members to serve on other official bodies, thus the placement of the charter amendment on Tuesday's ballot.

Burlew faces Muma in city's only disputed council race

Paul O. Burlew, 109 E. Lincoln, is making his second run for a Third Ward city council seat in two years having run the last time in the 1982 general election. Burlew moved from California to Charlevoix 2½ years ago with his wife of 39 years, the former Katherine Griffin whose family is from Charlevoix. The Burlews operate the Accents Unlimited gift shop on Mason St.

Burlew is a graduate of Glendale (Cal.) College and the U.C.L.A. Extension. He also accumulated 76 units while attending four Southern California junior colleges. His business experience includes 35 years in various management positions for such companies as North American Aviation, Rockwell-Autonetics, Aeronutronic-Philco-Ford and Technicolor, Inc. His specific experience has been in the areas of manufacturing, engineering, inventory control and long range planning.

Having attended city council meetings frequently since moving to Charlevoix, Burlew said he decided to run for the council "because I don't seem to have much impact from the audience and I would like to contribute more to city government based on my business and management experience."

Sidewalk improvement is high on Burlew's priority list. Many sidewalks in the city, especially those used heavily by the elderly and the young, are in need of repair he said.

"I would also like to effect a better balance between groups with special interests, such as Watch (Water and Air Team Charlevoix) and the city council which is responsible for the general interests of the city," said Burlew.

Burlew went on to say that, if elected, he would push for the council to put more effort into actively supporting projects they favor and "be more responsive to the will of the people."

Other specific areas he would like to see action taken on is the city's tree trimming program, the improvement of industrial areas, particularly in the Third Ward, the ongoing problem of chemical contmination of the city water supply, the erosion repair of the Pine River Channel embankment and the future of the old water tower.

Burlew's campaign has been conducted primarily during a door-to-door canvas of the Third Ward, he said.

F. Earl Muma, 516 Meadowlane, seeks to return to the City Council in next Tuesday's election after an abscence of two years.

Muma served two terms as a Third Ward representative from 1978 to 1981. He vacated his seat to run for mayor in the 1981 general election but was unsuccessful in that attempt.

Muma is the Director of Emergency Services for Charlevoix County and is a aircraft maintenance superintendent for the National Guard's 305th Air Rescue and Recovery Squadron based at Selfridge Air Force Base downstate.

Paul O. Burlew

F. Earl Muma

Rising taxes played a major role in prompting Muma to run for council again.

"I keep seeing my tax bill go up," he said, "My monthly payments have gone up over 100 percent in the past few years, just from tax and utility increases."

Muma suggests that part of the reason living in the City of Charlevoix has become so expensive is the council's reluctance to extend municipal services - such as sewer lines - beyond its boundaries.

Having seen all atempts fail at merging Charlevoix Township with the city, Muma says that the city should proceed from that point and extend sewer lines to township customers.

"There are a lot of people in the township who would like access to the new sewage treatment plant and I am afraid that the federal government, who helped pay for it, is going to eventually tell the city in court they have to provide it," said Muma, "By extending the lines without going to court, the city can set its own rate and finally get the treatment plant operating at its capacity."

If elected, Muma says he would try to work more cooperatively with Charlevoix Township.

"We (the city) shouldn't be holding a club over the township," said Muma, "All of us who live in both the city and township are proud to be from Charlevoix."

Muma also puts a high priority in getting people back to work in Charlevoix where the unemployment rate in recent years has hovered around the 20 percent mark. He is in favor of making whatever improvements are necessary to the city's industrial park and offering generous incentives to new businesses considering a Charlevoix location for expansion or a new plant.

"I think we should do everything we can - even build a building for them if we have to," said Muma.

One observation made by Muma during his most recent years on the council, and one that concerns him greatly, is the lack of participation by the general public in local governmental affairs.

"This country is all turned around right now," he said, "People don't call you any more about their concerns. When I was on the council, nobody wanted to get involved. I think it's high time that the people take a more active role. If I am elected, my phone will be available 24 hours a day."

Muma and his wife Alice have two sons, one in the U.S. Army and one living in Charlevoix, and one daughter at home.

Task force seeks funds

by PEG OHLE

A group of Charlevoix County businessmen and Chamber of Commerce directors have been incorporated into the Charlevoix County Business and Industry Task Force with the purpose of setting up an Office of Charlevoix County Business Coordinator.

This Coordinator would act as an ombudsman for new businesses seeking to locate in the County.

Charlevoix industrialist Josh Barnes appeared before the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners last week to ask for its help in the project.

According to Barnes, the Coordinator's office would be a one-stop center for everything a new business would need to locate in the County, from permits to financing. This could include a master construction permit for the County with set fees and coordination of inspections and requests for information.

Barnes said the idea grew out of his experiences as a member of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce's New Business Committee.

"We had a chance to get three businesses here and lost all three," Barnes told the County Board members.

He said the reasons given by these three companies for not coming to the area were some he expected – state small business tax, worker's compensation, Michigan Employment Security costs, state regulations, and state inspections. What he had not expected to hear, he said, were complaints about local regulations, local permits, and local confusion over codes and ordinances.

The Task Force is seeking $66,000 to set up the Office of County Business Coordinator. It is applying for a $38,500 grant from the state and asking for $10,000 from area businesses, $10,000 from the County, $3,000 each from the City of Charlevoix and Boyne City, and $1,500 from East Jordan.

Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce Director Jacquie Merta and East Jordan Chamber Director Judy Shea also attended the Commissioner's meeting and answereed several questions. Mrs. Shea told them that if the Task Force does not receive the $38,500 grant from the state, the project will not materialize and the rest of the funds will not be sought.

Dennis Jason of East Jordan, a member of the Task Force who is also a member of the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation (EDC), told the County Board that the EDC approves the concept of a County Business Coordinator and is looking into avenues of cooperation. The subject is on the agenda of tonight's (Wednesday's) EDC meeting.

The County Board also informally endorsed the idea of a County Business Coordinator and turned the matter over to the County Planning Commission for further study.

Those serving on the Task Force besides Barnes, Mrs. Merta, Mrs. Shea, and Jason are Charles Sherk of East Jordan, a small business man who is acting as chairman; Larry Trumble of Boyne City, a small business man; Tim Moody, director of the Boyne City Chamber of Commerce; and Robert Hunt, Charlevoix City manager.

Obituaries

THOMAS F. BARNES

Funeral services for Thomas F. Barnes, 79, father of Josh Barnes, were held Oct. 27 at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Philip G. Schairbaum of the First Congregational Church officiated. Graveside services at Brookside Cemetery were under the auspices of Charlevois Lodge No. 282, F. & A.M.

Mr. Barnes, who had resided in Charlevoix since earlier in 1983, died Oct. 24 at the Petoskey Nursing Center.

Born in Silver City, Idaho, Oct. 31, 1903, Mr. Barnes spend his early days at Silver City and Nampa, Idaho, coming to Trenton, Michigan, at the age of 19 years. While in England for educational electrical studies he met and subsequently married the former Elizabeth M. Bennetts in Cornwall, England, in 1927. They celebrated their fifty-sixth wedding anniversary earlier this year.

Mr. Barnes, who was employed by the Detroit Edison Company for more than 40 years, joined the company during the construction of the Trenton Channel Power Plant. However, he spent most of his years with the company in the electrical systems department where he headed the inspections division.

He was a member and former trustee of the Greenfield Congregational Church in Dearborn where the couple lived for 40 years; a life member of Trenton Lodge No. 8, F. &.A.M.; member of the Edison Boat Club, Power Club and other employee organizations.

He is survived by his wife; one son, Josh of Charlevoix; five grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Irene Searle of Camborne, Cornwall, England.

The family suggests memorials to the Greenfield Congregational Church in Dearborn or the Charlevois Area Hospital.

SVERRE R. SWENSEN

Funeral services for Sverre R. (Larry) Swensen, 90, who died Oct. 25 at the Petoskey Nursing Center, were held Friday at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery. The Rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home Thursday evening.

Born in Mandal, Norway, July 24, 1893, Mr. Swensen came to the United States as a young man and settled in Boston, Mass. During World I he served in the U.S. Army and later became a U.S. Citizen. He sailed on ocean-going vessels before coming to Charlevoix about 1930 as skipper of the schooner, Malibar X, and later the yawl, Comet, owned by the late John P. Wilson. He retired in 1966. He maried the former Mrs. Margaret Brock in Detroit May 2, 1942. They always made their home in Charlevoix. He was a member of St. Mary's Church and the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion.

He is survived by his wife; two step daughters, Mrs. Jack (Elizabeth) Harris of Owosso and Mrs. Winston (Gertruce) Scheidt of Clearwater, Fla; eight step-grandchildren and 13 step-great-grandchildren.

The terms of all appointees begin January 1, 1984.

Food program to go on

Low income families in Charlevoix County will continue to receive surplus food products for at least another year, according to Bill Knapp of Northwest Michigan Human Services Agency.

The food will be distributed in Charlevoix on the last Wednesday of each month from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., or until gone, at the Veterans of Foreign Wars building on Petoskey Avenue.

The October distribution, on the 26th, will consist only of cheese, but it is expected that milk and butter, as well as cheese, will be available at most of the distributions.

Persons must have incomes within certain federal guidelines to be eligible for surplus food.

For a household of one, the annual income must not exceed $6,075. For each additional household member, additional income of $2,100 is permitted. The income for a household of two members, therefore, could be as much as $8,175; for three members $10, 275; for four members, $12,375, etc.

More information about the surplus food program may be obtained by calling Human Services at 347-9080.

County Board hears Half Way Home report

by PEG OHLE

Twenty-three Charlevoix County men were admitted to Half Way Home in Petoskey for treatment of alcoholism during the past year.

In a report to the Charlevoix County Bord of Commissioners last week, Half Way Home director John D. Vick told of the work the treatment center has done for these men as well as men from 24 other counties.

Working on the theory that alcoholism is a disease, Half Way Home approaches the problem in a multi-disciplinary manner, toward a goal of total abstinence and a continuing long-range recovery program.

Alcoholism is viewed as physical, social, and psycho-theological, the Half Way Home report explains. Since one aspect of the disease cannot be treated to the exclusion of the others, and the alcoholic cannot be treated without treating those persons who share his life, Half Way Home works toward comprehensive treatment of both the alcoholic and non-alcoholic members of his family. The cornerstone of the program and the force providing impetus is Alcoholics Anonymous.

"Recovery through dignity" is sought through individual counseling, group awareness therapy, group teaching therapy, family therapy, writing a "personal inventory", attending Alcoholics Anonymous meetings, "quiet hours" for meditation, spiritual counseling, and after-care counseling.

The average person who enters Half Way Home for treatment is a single white male between 18 and 20 years of age. He comes from other treatment programs, by court referral, by self referral, or by referral by human services agencies such as Mental Health and Social Services. He stays at Half Way Home an average of 80.24 days.

The cost of staying at Half Way Home is paid for by Substance Abuse Service funds, federal monies, local monies, fees and collections, and contributions. Charlevoix County paid out $9,676 as its share of supporting the 23 County residents treated in the last fiscal period.

More Half Way Home residents came from Charlevois County than from any of the other counties served by Half Way Home. Alpena County supplied 16; Emmet County, 15; Antrim County, 13; Cheboygan County, 11; Otsego County, 11; and Grand Traverse County, nine, with fewer coming from the other 18 counties.

Half Way Home operated on a budget of slightly over $200,000 last year. It has a staff of eight, including a treatment director, a vocational rehabilitation counselor, a substance abuse counselor, an outpatient counselor, and a dietician.

There is also an executive director, an administrative assistant, and a secretary.

Half Way Home is asking Charlevois County to contribute $10,450 toward the upkeep of County residents who are treated there in the coming year. This is based on an actual usage charge of $8.50 a day per resident. Half Way Home is also asking for the privilege of approaching the County Board again next fall if it appears that the $10,450 is not enough to cover the expenses incurred.

Coordinator a good idea

Why another committee? Why another bureacrat?

These are the predictable responses by many to the formation of a Business and Industry Task-Force in Charlevoix County (See page 1) and the proposal by that group to establish the position of business coordinator in the county. To the skeptic, the whole project may well appear as a ghost of the FAA Flight Station campaign which some viewed at best as an exercise in futility and, at worst, a waste of time and money.

But there are several good reasons for these most recent efforts to put Charlevoix County back on its feet economically.

There are those who maintain that the various development organizations in the county, including the county Economic Development Corporation (EDC) and development groups in each of the three cities, provide sufficient means to accomodate new business and industry. But the hard facts are that even with these bodies in place, Charlevoix County in recent years has not experienced a net gain of a single job. The county is still losing more jobs than it is gaining. That alone tells us we're not doing something quite right.

While the State of Michigan under Governor James Blanchard may be on the right track with many of its recently announced programs to lure industry (back) to Michigan, there is no reason why Charlevoix County cannot take its own initiative to demonstrate to the rest of the state how practices and policiea adopted succesfully in other states can work here, too.

The concept of a business coordinator is not an original one. After his Hayes Township plant burned two years ago, LexaLite's Josh Barnes discovered that several states, such as South Dakota and New Hampshire, not only make relocation in those states easy but seek it agressively by promoting an attitude of helpfulness, not adversity, toward the businessman.

Such has not been the case in Michigan where the enterpreneur must deal with a formidable maze of regulation on every governmental level to start or expand a business.

The bottom line is jobs. The Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce New Business Committee, headed by Barnes, found out why we cannot attract them. The new Business and Industry Task Force now proposes to address those specific obstacles with a plan of action which will coordinate, not supplant, the efforts of the EDC and other groups in the county with like purposes.

It is the most logical response to a serious problem.

Clockwise

Wacky weather

by Bob Clock

TEMPERATURE differences within the city of Charlevoix these fall mornings are surprising.

Twice in the past week I have turned on the windshield wipers to whisk away a heavy dew before leaving Dixon Avenue.

However, when I reached Pine River Place to pick up Fran Martin's newscopy, I have been surprised to see all of the cars in the parking lot coated with frost.

Making the difference all the more surprising is the fact that Dixon is on the north side of Charlevoix and Pine River Place is less than a mile away on the south side, which you would expect to be our local Eden.

All things being equal, the north side should freeze first.

But all thinga aren't equal, thanks to Lake Michigan which serves to moderate temperatures winter and summer, resulting in substantial temperature differences within a relatively small area, depending on how close you are to the lake. Temperatures near shore tend to be higher in winter and lower in summer than elsewhere in town.

AS USUAL FOR this time of year, Charlevoixans are wondering what kind of winter lies ahead.

Pessimists, of course, think we're in for a block-buster, thanks to the mild winter of 1982-83. For some reason they believe Nature has a built-in sense of balance and will counter a dry summer with a wet fall, or a mild winter with a real barn-burner the following year.

Furthermore, the pessimists point to the unusally early freezo in the Arctic Ocean northwest of Alaska that stranded some 30 Soviet ships in heavy ice in late August. They claim that since most of our weather originates in the northwest, Michigan doesn't stand a chance of having another mild winter.

I'm not exactly optimistic, but I can't see any more cause for alarm than other years, despite dire predictions by folks who observe the shenanigans of woolie-worms, the thickness of squirrels' coats, bumper acorn crops and other harbingers of foul weather.

The wisest course, I suppose, is to expect the worst, — and then be pleasantly surprised when it doesn't happen.

LAST WEEK'S COLUMN ended with a dire warning to the Reagan Administration to remember the lessons of Vietnam and Beirut when it came to contemplating military intervention in Central America. Before the Courier hit the streets, American forces were in action on the postage stamp-sized island of Grenada in the Caribbean.

Friends and foes alike have condemned the invasion, with the exception hundreds of American medical students under virtual bouse arrest on the island and members of the native Grenadian population who were cowering under a "shoot on sight" curfew imposed by the new Marxist government.

I certainly don't subscribe to gunboat diplomacy as a matter of public policy, but at long last we seem to be speaking a language both Russians and Cubans understand very well.

A day at the hearings

by Dave Knight

Hearings on the subject of whether the Big Rock Point nuclear plant shall be allowed to expand its spent fuel pool - and continue to operate - are now in their second week at the Petoskey Holiday Inn. I attended the proceedings one afternoon last week.

The Petoskey Room of the Holiday Inn is an unlikely setting for a judicial hearing. The low ceiling, folding divider wall, colorful carpet and wood paneling are the stuff for sales meetings and wedding receptions. One would not expect such sober matters to be deliberated here.

In front of the room is a long table for the three jodges. Judge Peter Bloch sits in the middle with his back to a panoramic view across Little Traverse Bay. Bloch is a tall man with a business Afro. He pays close attention to and participates actively in the proceedings, hunkering down to his microphone often to interject clarifications, rule on objectiona and generally keep things going.

Assembled facing the judges are three more tables. On the left is the Consumers Power Company legal team. In the middle is the Nuclear Regulatory Commission staff. On the right are the intervenors.

The audience, which numbers about 70 this day, fills the chairs behind the three tables of participants. Audience members with vested interests tend to sit together behind the table reflecting their interests sort of like bleacher sections at a basketball game. Behind the Consumers table is a mixture of business-suited corporate types and flannel shirted plant workers. Behind the NRC staff is a sea of gray pinstripe. The intervenors' side is distinguished by hiking boots and work shirts.

Along the wall are the intervenors' files. Reams of reports and studies are stuffed into about half a dozen cardboard boxes from the grocery store. They need a handtruck to cart them in and out between proceedings but appear to be able to find things when they need them.

At the far left is a small table used as a witness stand. As each witness takes the stand, he is questioned by first the Consumers people then the intervenors. This day, the subject is emergency planning and progress is slow. It is almost the end of the second day of hearings and there are at least five more issues to address of the aix brought by the intervenors.

The Consumers attorneys are exasperated as the intervenors pursue a line of questioning on how advarse conditions, such as weather, affect emergency planning. There are frequent objections.

Judge Bloch occasionally shows signs of impatience, too, when he must reword an intervenor's question or ask what the question has to do with the subject of apent fuel expansion. But just as often, he or one of his eolleagues is intrigued by the cross examination and joins in the questioning of the witness.

One senses that these players have come to know each other quite well over the two years since the hearings first began. For instance, Judge Bloch senses a hesitation on the part of intervenor John O'Neil at one point during the questioning and says, "Are you looking for an excuse to take a break, John?" O'Neil nods. "Well that's excuse enough for me. Let's break."

During the break O'Neil passes out copies of the menu of the restaurant at which he works to all the head tables.

"Aha, this was a commercial break, I see," laughs an NRC staff member.

Five minutes later, after cigarettes and soft drinks are disposed of in the hallway where attorneys, intervenors, expert witnesses and audience members mingled freely, everyone takes their place again and Judge Bloch hovers back over his microphone to call the session to order.

Letters to the Editor

Hunt should be involved in hearings

To the Editor,

Today (October 25) my husband and a friend went to City Hall to deliver a subpoena to Charlevoix City Manager, Robert Hunt, requesting him to appear at the N.R.C. Big Rock hearings being conducted in Petoskey.

Mr. Hunt refused to accept the subpoena stating that he had checked with his city attorney and was told he did not have to accept it. Mr. Hunt said he did not want to get involved with this.

I am appalled!! He does not want to get involved?! Does the position of City Manager give him immunity from the due process of the law?

Questions and issues are being discussed at this hearing which affect every person in Charlevoix. What is Mr. Hunt doing in the position of City Manager if he does not want to get involved?

Whether Mr. Hunt does or doesn't agree with what the Concerned Citizens groop is trying to accomplish, it would certainly seem like he ought to have facts and knowledge pertinent to the hearings.

Just what does Mr. Hunt want to get involved with, if not something concerning the city he is supposed be managing? Not wanting to get involved seems like a pretty poor attitude to me.

My husband and I are not members of Concerned Citizens of Charlevoix. And up to now had not been active with them. I think it is past time when all citizens should get involved with the community in which they live.

The people who help formulate and make the decisions in our communities are going to affect the quality and future of our homes, our families and our lives.

If our own City Manager does not want to get involved, where does that leave us?

A newly very concerned citizen,
Mrs. Liane Christensen

Military events pose new questions

by Congressman Bob Davis

MARINES IN LEBANON

Within a period of just a few days, two major international incidents directly involving the United States occured and still are causing reverberations around the world.

The terrorist bombing of U.S. Marine quarters in Beruit, Lebanon, which killed more than 220 Marines assigned to the multi-national peace-keeping force, was a tremendous shock and tragedy to us all. In the wake of the attack, many questions are being raised about U.S. Mideast policy, especially the continued presence of American troops in the region.

There are several different points which must be looked at individually. The first is the future security of American personnel still present in Beruit. The attack was carried out in kamikaze fashion by fanatics willing to die themselves to accomplish their mission - unfortunately, there is no known absolute safeguard against such an attack. There are ways of increasing aecurity for our personnel which must be pursued, but we realize that in a war zone, we cannot ever guarantee the total protection of our soldiers.

This brings up the second point of whether we should keep oor personnel in Lebanon. I supported allowing the President to keep American forces in Lebanon for an additional 18 months. In light of this tragedy, we must all re-think our positions and determine what course of action will be in our long-term best interests. My initial feeling is that if we simply leave we will be sending a message to terrorists that their ways are effective. This is not simply a matter of face-saving; it is a matter of saving future lives. We cannot let our policies be dictated by our fear of terrorism without in turn paralyzing ourselves.

There are some immediate actions which must be taken, however. In addition to increasing security for our personnel, we must exert maximum pressure on the government of Lebanon to negotiate an agreement with the different factions. We have been far too patient to date in not setting deadlines for the attainment of a settlement. We also should demand that other nations involve themselves in sharing the burden of peace-keeping in the Middle East. The effect of an all-out war would have disastrous economic consequences not only on the U.S. but on many of our allies who presently are not providing assistance.

U.S. ACTS IN GRENADA

Information on the decision by the U.S. to join in the invasion of Grenada still is being pieced together. It is not easy for most of us to accept the idea of our country being a part of an "invading force" and I believe many Americans are awaiting the full explanation of events leading up to the decision. At this point, it is apparenta that concern over the safety of the 1,100 Americans on the island was one of the primary reasons for the U.S. action. A bloody coup the week before had left a small group of left-wing military leaders in control. It was obvlously a dangerous, unpredictable situation in which we had visions of another Iranian hostage crisis, if not worse. There were risks in whatever decision was made. We must also remember that we had been asked for our help in this situation by six neighboring Caribbean nations.

Weddings

Loveland-Meggison

Katherine Ann Loveland and Thomas George Meggison were united in marriage on Saturday afternoon, October 22, at the United Methodist Church of Charlevoix.

Parents of the newlyweds are Harry Michael of Big Rapids and the late Carmen Michael and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Meggison of Charlevoix.

The Reverend David Yingling officiated at the double-ring ceremony in which the bride and bridegroom were given in marriage by their respective parents. For the occasion, the church altar was decorated with a unity candle and a floral arrangement of silk roses made by the bride.

The bride wore a gown of antique dotted swiss fashioned with satin streamers at the ellbows and a seven-tiered full length train, topped by a picture hat with a bouffant net bow and matching streamers. The bride also made the bouquet of red and white silk roses, baby's breath, and ivy which she carried.

Kristi Weiss of Grand Rapids served the bride as matron of honor. Kathy Haggard of Charlevoix; Sally McKellar of Big Rapids, a stepsister; and Gail Michael of Big Rapids, another stepsister, were bridesmaids. They wore Victorian gowns made with ivory lace bodices complete with long sleeves with flounced cuffs and slightly raised waistlines. Their skirts were of wine taffeta.

Each attendant carried six long-stemmed red sweetheart roses and baby's breath.

Brooke Block, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Block of Charlevoix, served as flower girl. She wore a gown of the same pattern and colors as the older attendsant. Grant Meggison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Meggision of Charlevoix, was ring bearer.

Bruce Meggison served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were David Swanson, Charles Center, and Robert Holtzman, all of Charlevoix. Ushers were Jerry Meggison, another brother, Jack Sutherland, and David Michael, stepbrother of the bride.

Organist Glena Willis provided traditional wedding music for the ceremony.

The bride and bridegroom hosted a reception at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall, with James and Faye Alger acting as host and hostess. Kelli Cross and Leslie Alger helped cut the wedding cake, Kathy Meggison and Krista Meggison assisted with the guest book, and Barbara Swanson and Jodi Block were in charge of the gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Meggison

The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Meggison.

The newlyweds have postponed a wedding trip until next spring. They are at home in Charlevoix, where the bridegroom is employed by Swanson's K&D Contracting Service and the bride is manager of the Fireball Arcade.

Diabetes testing to be offered Nov. 9

Free Diabetes testing, for persons not already diagnosed as diabetic, will be held at Charlevoix Area Hospital, Wednesday November 9, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Charlevoix Area Hospital is joining some 180 other Michigan hospitals and health centers offering this free testing during Diabetes Detection Week, November 6-12.

It is estimated that 240,000 persons in Michigan have diabetes and don't know it. Persons most likely to develop diabetes are over 40, overweight, and have a family history of diabetes. Anyone who fits this category should be checked once a year for diabetes.

Diabetes is a serious disease. It is the major cause of heart attack, kidney failure, blindness and death. People can have undetected diabetes without any symptoms. The symptoms, when present, may include frequent urination, abnormal thirst, unusual hunger, rapid weight loss, itching, fatigue, blurred vision, and slow healing of cuts and scratches.

The free testing, at Charlevoix Area Hospital, Wednesday, Nov. 9 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. is open to everyone in the community.

Two hours before the test, one should eat a meal high in carbohydrates. The meal should be eaten quickly, within 15 minutes. People taking the test should not snack between the meal and test. A good breakfast would be fruit or juice, cereal with milk and sugar, two slices of buttered toast with jam, and coffee or tea. A good lunch would be soup, sandwich, cake or pie and a glass of milk.

Charlevoix Area Hospital encourages everone to take advantage of this simple but important testing.

The Bergmann Center sponsored a Halloween dance on October 25 from 7 to 9 p.m. with live music by the Drifters from Boyne Falls accompanied by Dale Martin from Charlevoix.

The Center was decorated in Halloween decor. Approximately 75 people attended from Cheboygan, Pellston, Levering, Harbor Springs, Petoskey, Boyne City, East Jordan, Mancelona and Charlevoix and enjoyed the dance. Cider and donuts were served.

Chaperones were Ron and Sally Gates and John and Anne Psluecke.

CC team overwhelms all opposition at Regional meet

The Charlevoix Rayder Cross Country team topped a field of 20 entries to win the Class C Regional meet at Shepherd Saturday. The Rayders had 39 points and, in winning, placed four members of the team on the All-Regional team.

Bill Taylor placed first in the meet in a time of 15:38. Coach Pete Spieles said he would likely have shattered the record had he not missed a gate at the end of the first mile and had to re-trace his steps by 50 yards thus losing precious time. At the end of the second mile he had regained the lead and came in to win despite the time loss. Two runners from Shepherd alerted him to the fact that he had missed a gate and made it possible for him to correct his error Coach Spieles said. John Tunison, who had moved into the lead when Taylor had to re-run the 50 yards, finished second overall in a time of 15:50 with Matt Landon coming in fifth in 16:13 and Lee Allard sixth in 16:19. Mike Dohm, the fifth man, finished 23rd in a time of 17:02. Rick Gallant finished in 33rd place in 17:15 and Dave Hendrickson in 48th in 17:37.

One member of the girls' team, Marlo Hough, who finished 22nd in a time of 21:16 qualified for state competition and will participate in the individual division at Big Rapids Saturday.

Molly Bolduc finished in 29th place in 21:35; Michelle North, 30th in 21:35; Lauri Finck, 51st in 22:51; Leslie Miller, 58th in 23:42 and Chaya Moore, 67th in 25:09.

"This was definitely their best race of the year" Coach Spieles said of the team's performance on Saturday. "There's no question about it. It was their best performance. They did what they were capable of doing. Taylor, when he missed the gate and had to run an extra 100 yards to correct the error, ran an incredible mile to regain the lead. When Taylor had to go back, Tunison moved into the lead; Landon and Allard ran excellent races; Mike Dohm, only a freshman, did his best; Gallant had his best race; the others ran good races. The girls did well. Bolduc and North were running with injuries. Hough came through to qualify. As I said, they did what they were capable of doing."

The team will be defending its title when it travels to Big Rapids Saturday to participate in the Class C State meet. "I think we're ready. I think we can do it" Coach Spieles said of the state meet. The Rayders are scheduled to run at 12:30 p.m.

Midland Bullet Creek with 106 points finished in second place behind Charlevoix followed by Benzie Central with 109 and Rogers City in fourth place with 115. Shepherd, the host team, was in fifth place with 151 points, Boyne City finished in ninth place with 224 points.

An upset by the Panthers by the Chargers in the finals threw the Panthers and the Falcons into a tie for the title in the flag football league sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department.

The team finished the season with a four-win-two loss record. The Chargers came through with a 3-3 record and the Packers with a 1-5 record.

Upset leaves Panthers, Falcons tied

The Falcons and the Panthers tied for the title in the flag football league last week after the Panthers were upset by the Chargers in the final game of the season.

In the title games, the Chargers dumped the Panthers 23-19 and the Falcons defeated the Packers 45-13.

In the Charger-Panther game, the Chargers took a 7-0 first period lead on a 24 yard run by Jim Tilton and a conversion pass from Tilton to Dan Drury. Another 24 yard Tilton to Drury pass plus a conversion and a safety gave the challengers a 16-0 halftime advantage.

Scott DeYoung put the Panthers on the board for the first time early in the second half on a 25 yard pass to Shawn Putman and a conversion by DeYoung. However, following the scoring play, Drury took the kickoff and romped 30 yards to score with Tilton adding the conversion.

The Panthers came back strong in the final period to score on a 15 yard pass from Marvin Witthoeft to Owen Phillips and a three yard run by DeYoung but fell short of their goal at the final gun.

The Falcons rumped to a 20-7 halftime lead over the Packers before scoring another 25 points for the lopsided win.

Dave Miller accounted for the team's first three scoring plays on a two yard run, a 34 yard pass interception and a three yard run. He also scored one of the team's two conversions. Scott Dixon scored the second one. Jeff Skeel gave the Packers their only score on a two yard run and a conversion.

Chad Thorp took over in the last half, scoring on a three yard pass from Miller and on runs of 10 and one yard. Keith Moore scored the team's seventh TD. Miller added the conversion.

The Packers added six points on a 15 yard pass from Tony Warchol to Skeel as time ran out.

Girls at 4-6 in M-HSC play

The Charlevoix girls basketball team dropped games to the league-leader, Gaylord, by a 57-40 score and to Petoskey 43-30 last week to give the team a four win-six loss record in league play. The team has a 7-6 overall record.

The Petoskey-Charlevoix game was a battle all the way with the score tied 9-9 at the quarter; Charlevoix ahead 20-18 at the half and Petoskey in the lead 30-28 going into the final period when Charlevoix was up five points midway in the period only to lose the lead at the final gun.

Charlevoix had 16 field goals, eight of 16 from the line and 13 personal fouls to 17 from the floor, nine of 13 chairty shots and 15 fouls for Petoskey.

Sue Damschroeder had 15 points for the victors. Ann Wagner had 13 for Charlevoix.

The Charlevoix JVs won 52-21.

In the game at Gaylord, Charlevoix jumped to a 16-9 first period lead and was up by eight points midway in the second period when Ann Wagner went to the bench with an ankle sprain.

After a 26-26 tie at halftime, Charlevoix trailed 46-30 going into the final period.

Gaylord outscored Charlevoix 25 to 18 from the floor and had seven of 15 free throws and 10 personal fouls. Charlevoix was successful on four of seven from the line and had 16 personal fouls.

Charlevoix again won the JV game 53-21.

Charlevoix will host Cheboygan Tuesday and travel to Grayling Thursday and Rogers City Tuesday, Nov. 9.

Alec Sheets breaks up a pass for the Rayders.

Gridders drop fourth straight to Grayling

In the complex tier system within the Michigan-Huron Shores conference, the Charlevoix Red Rayders still have a chance to tie for first place among Class C schools in the conference.

That's the good news.

The bad news is that the Rayders suffered their second shutout in three games Friday night, falling to the Grayling Vikings by a score of 12-0.

Charlevoix had not been shut out in a single game for almost four years before this season - Grayling was the team that blanked them in 1979. The Rayders have now lost four in a row after winning their first four games and, at 4-4, are right in the middle of the M-HSC pack on overall record standings.

Among Class C schools, however, Charlevoix stands at 2-2. Should they beat St. Ignace (3-1) in their final contest of the year Friday and should Onaway (1-3) upset Grayling (3-1), Tier II will find four schools, Charlevoix, St. Ignace, Grayling and Rogers City (3-2), knotted for a first place tie with 3-2 records. Rogers City plays a non-conference game this week.

Friday night's game at Grayling saw very little go well for the Rayders. Both teams played to a scoreless first half but Jon Nicholas popped loose on a 55-yard scamper in the third period to give Grayling a 6-0 lead after the extra point try failed. An interception in the fourth quarter set up the Vikings' second TD, a ten-yard run by Barsie Cross. Again the extra point was unsuccessful and Grayling held on to record the 12-0 shutout.

No offensive statistics were available for Charlevoix. Running back Pat Mitchell reportedly left the game in the third quarter with a strained neck. Defensively, both Alec Sheets and Jeff Lemerand posted interceptions for the Rayders.

Drenth stars for CMV

Central Michigan University senior Jeff Drenth of Charlevoix ran the fastest five-mile cross country time ever in 23:32, good for fifth-place overall.

Central placed eighth in the 26-team Central Collegiate Conference meet in Normal, Ill.

The Chippewas next meet is the MAC championships in Muncie, Ind. Oct. 29.

City volleyball leagues ready to begin play this week

The volleyball season, sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department, will open at the Charlevoix Elementary School Tuesday with three leagues participating Dwight Boss, city recreation director, has announced.

The 11-team women's league will play on Monday and Wednesday; the seven-team men's league, the largest since the program was initiated, will play on Tuesday and Co-ed league with eight teams will play Wednesday and Thursday.

The men's league will open Tuesday with Spike and the Gang meeting Air Force at 7 p.m.; Stroud's Strong Arms meeting Wilmot Electric at 8 p.m. and Swanson K&D taking on Charlevoix Players at 9 p.m.

On November 6 the schedule for this league will be as follows: 7:00 p.m. Boss Builders vs Wilmot Electric; 8:00 p.m. Spike and Gang vs Charlevoix Players; 9:00 p.m. Stroud's Strong Arms vs Swanson K&D.

On Wednesday, November 2, Radio Shack will meet Village Inn Pizza at 7 p.m. Charlevoix Builders will play Bosom Buddies at 6 p.m. in the women's league.

The schedule for Nov. 9 follows: 7:00 p.m. Bosom Buddies vs Duffy's, the defending champions; 6:00 p.m. Bartlett's Rug Rats vs Hoskins.

The Co-ed League will play one game on Wednesday, Nov. 2, Wayler's Sailors vs Paul Bunyan Lanes. On Thursday, Nov. 3 the schedule will be: 7:00 p.m. Townhouse vs Sears; 8:00 p.m. Off the Wall vs Air Force and 9:00 p.m. Charlevoix Electric Service vs Night Shift.

JV squad makes good showing against Grayling

The Charlevoix Rayder Junior Varsity posted a 18-14 win over Grayling at Kipke Field Thursday.

The young Vikings opened their scoring attack with a 97 yard punt return early in the game but missed the conversion point.

The Rayders came back with a long drive late in the period with Matt Lignell going in from the four yard line to knot the score 6-6. Lignell then re-traced his steps to give Charlevoix an 8-6 lead.

Grayling countered as the second half got underway with a scoring play on a four-yard run and then added the conversion on a run to take a 14-8 lead.

Scott Crandell, on a 10 yard run late in the last period, tied the score 14-14. Lignell bucked the line for the conversion and the win.

Coach Brian Certa said the game was an exciting one with outstanding performances by both the offense and the defense. Lignell, Jody Putman, Matt Hull, Crandell and Packy LaBlance, offensive blocker, had good performances Certa said. Doing a good job on defense were Brian Wilmot, Tim Salmonson, Dean Ferson, both defensive ends, Kevin Shepard, Marc Himebauch and Ken Carson he added. Lignell had 135 yards rushing and two halfback pitch passes.

Charlevoix will host St. Ignace Thursday to conclude the season.

Middle School girls teams both win

The Charlevoix Middle School seventh and eighth grade girls basketball teams posted victories of 18-12 and 30-6, respectively, over Boyne City teams Monday night. On Wednesday, the eighth graders won over a visiting East Jordan team 32-6.

The teams will close out their season at Cheboygan Wednesday before entering the annual Cheboyban tournament scheduled to open Nov. 7.

In the game with Boyne City, the eighth graders led 18-3 at the half before taking the game by a 30-6 margin. Jill Austin had eight points and Lisa Smith and Allison Hall six each. Lori Knight and Karen Milks had two each for Boyne City.

The seventh graders had an 18-12 victory after leading 10-4 at halftime. Stacy Gebott had eight points for Charlevoix. Shelly Ferguson and Peggy Johnecheck had six each for Boyne City.

In the game with East Jordan Wednesday, the eighth graders were in control all the way, winning by a score of 32-6 after taking a 22-2 halftime advantage.

Allison Hall had 10 points for the victors. D. Drenth and J. Peters had two points each for the visitors.

East Jordan did not field a seventh grade team.

File No. 83-0477-CH

ORDER TO APPEAR

At a session of said Court, held at the County Building in the City of Charlevoix, on the 13th day of October, 1983.

Present: HONORABLE HARVEY C. VARNUM, District Court Judge

On the 22nd day of September, 1983, an action was filed by GERALD R. GALANTOWICZ and DINEEN M. GALANTOWICZ, Plaintiffs against, MICHAEL JOHN ZAVICAR and KAREN LEE GREATHOUSE, Defendants, in this Court to recover possession after forfeiture of the Land Contract dated January 27, 1979, between Gerald R. Galantowicz and Dineen M. Galantowicz, as sellers, and John A. Zavicar Jr. and Mary A. Zavicar, husband and wife, as purchasers, which land contract was assigned to defendants herein, for the premises described as:

Township of Wilson, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan: Beginning at a concrete monument on the Northeast corner of Lot 13 of Riverside Subdivision, as recorded in Liber 2 of Plats, Pages 147 and 148 of Charlevoix County Records as point of beginning for this description; thence Southerly along the West line of Pearsall Road, a County Road, 557 feet; thence West 424 feet, more or less, to the Easterly line of Lot 11; thence North along said lot line to a stake on the Northwest corner of Lot 12; thence South 58 degrees 04' East 172.70 feet; thence South 85 degrees 13' East 340 feet, more or less, to the point of beginning. The description being the North parts of Lots 13 and 13, Riverside Subdivision, Town 33 North, Range 6 West, Section 30.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Defendants, MICHAEL JOHN ZAVICAR and KAREN LEE GREATHOUSE, shall answer or take such other action as may be permitted by law on or before the 15th day of December, 1983. Failure to comply with this Order will result in a judgement by default against such defendants for the relief demanded in the complaint filed in this Court.

Official Notice

CUSTOMERS OF THE CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC WATER SYSTEM
NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATIVE HEARING ON AN ORDER TO CORRECT DEFICIENCIES WITH THE WATER SYSTEM

Notice is hereby given that an administrative hearing, pursuant to the provisions of the Administrative Procedures Act, 1969 PA 306, as amended, and the Safe Drinking Water Act, 1976 PA 399, as amended, Section 15, will be held on Thursday, November 17, 1983, at 10:00 a.m., at the Michigan Department of Public Health, Baker-Olin West Building, Conference Room 314, 3500 North Logan Street, Lansing, Michigan 48909.

The purpose of the hearing is to determine whether the Department Order of August 19, 1983, shall become final and binding. The Order specifies that the City shall evaluate all information, data, and reports from the hydrogeological investigation that is being undertaken, and shall decide by January 1, 1984 whether there is sufficient ground water available to proceed with development of wells to replace the existing source facility; and, if so, provide firm well capacity to meet maximum day water demands by January 1, 1987. If sufficient ground water is not available, the City shall choose by January 1, 1984 an alternate method and schedule to resolve the water system violations which is acceptable to the Michigan Department of Public Health.

This notice is being provided pursuant to administrative rules R325.10206. Interested persons are welcome to attend.

Charlevoix On Film

A trip to the farm

Bill Price and Charlevoix Farms played host to the Charlevoix Cooperative Nursery School recently and gave the youngsters a fascinating lesson on how to make apple cider. As can be seen, Price had a rapt audience, right, which found time for other attractions on the farm such as the friendly horse, below left. Tasting the finished product, however, was the hit of the day as can be seen below. (Photos by Anne Kelly.)

Annual audit prepared by Baird, Cotter and Bishop, Certified Public Accountants, is available for inspection in the office of the Superintendent of Schools

STATE OF THE SCHOOLS

In the past our enrollment projections have been very accurate. However, this year for various reasons, we were off by about 40 students. Even though this represents less than 3% of our student population, it did come as a surprise. A decrease of about 30 students was projected and, actually, we had an increase in enrollment of 8 students. It will be interesting to see if this is a trend or simply a unique situation for a one year period.

In telephone surveys and in a straw vote conducted last June, the voters overwhelmingly indicated that they would prefer to pay 50% of their school tax in the summer and 50% in the winter. Some of the reasons given for this preference were, the high cost of utility bills during the winter, income taxes to be paid at that time, and Christmas gifts to be purchased. Also mentioned was the fact that for some people, funds are more readily available in the summer. Some problems remain to be resolved in the mechanics of collecting the taxes in the summer. However, it appears these problems can be taken care of and that a 50% summer tax collection will be a fact in 1984.

National education reports seem to be appearing weekly. With the cooperative effort of parents, teachers, school board members, administrators and others, we have already started work on some of the recommendations mentioned in the reports. Some of the emphasis we have placed on the curriculum in the past few years has been computers, math, science and foreign language. Foreign language is a good example. On the national level about 18% of the high school population is enrolled in a foreign language class. On the state level, the figure is about 11%. In our high school, over 50% of the students are enrolled in a foreign language class.

We will continue working on the total curriculum and if you as a taxpayer or a parent would like to express your views, please feel free to contact the office of the superintendent of schools. Board of education members, administrators and teachers invite your suggestions toward improving our school system.

We appreciate the support shown by parents and taxpayers.

Hospital Guild annual Christmas Bazaar this weekend in hospital lobby

Christmas shop early, this Friday and Saturday. The bargains will be amazing. Your purchases will help others.

Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild's annual pre-Christmas showing will be held Friday Nov. 4, from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Fine nuts in attractive decanters, jewelery, stuffed animals, Christmas ornaments, baby gifts, clever small games, stocking stuffers of all types will be displayed in the Charlevoix Area Hospital lobby.

Priced generally under $10, the Guild's pre-Christmas Sale is an opportunity to shop early, discover ideal gifts for friends and family, and know the profits will be put to good use.

The pre-Christmas Sale is an extension of the Guild's year round gift shop, The Showcase, located in the hospital lobby. All profits from The Showcase are turned over to the Charlevoix Area Hospital to help with vital hospital equipment purchases, special hospital projects, and scholarships for young people entering the medical field.

Pistachios, cashews and other fine nuts are a new addition to the Guilds line of gifts. According to Showcase Coordinator Marge Dinwiddie, nuts and salt water taffy have been introduced in responce to popular request.

Shoppers at the Guild's sale Friday and Saturday are sure to find the right gifts, even for the most hard to please.

Preparing items for the pre-Christmas sale at Charlevoix Area Hospital, Friday November 4 and Saturday November 5, at the hospital are Guild buyers (l to r) Lorraine Eldredge, Mary Bataran and Jennie Meyers.

CPR teaches "what to do if..."

"Check the victim, is he conscious?" "Is the airway open?" "Is there a pulse?"

"No?"

"What do you do next?"

Those questions could confront anyone today. A heart ettack could fell someone in the merket. A near drowning at the beach would make those questions vivid.

They were asked of some 45 people last week during CPR classes at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Charlevoix Area Hospital's nursing staff spent three evenings, teaching and recertifying citizens in the techniques of CPR end how to cope with a choking victim.

Over 30 people from Charlevoix, Emmet and Antrim Counties attended the two evening, 8 hour sessions last week, to receive certification in Basic Life Support from the American Heart Association, thenks to the Charlevoix Area Hospital nursing staff.

Some like Arla Staublin of Charlevoix, attended beceuse they have e family and live near the water. "Everyone should know CPR,"' Mrs. Staublin commented.

Others came because like Glenda and Jeff Wilhelm who manage the Pine River Place in Charlevoix, they felt it is important to their work. Similarly John and Debbie Miller of Central Lake own two fitness centers, one in Central Lake, the other soon to open in Petoskey.

"We have meny different people, of all ages, working out. CPR is important for us," the Millers explained.

Others, including Edna Gallagher of Charlevoix, "have always wanted to know CPR."

Among the 15 attending the one-evening recertification course was the staff of Dr. Dennis Joy and James Stewert's offices, and Dentist Dr. David Strawbridge's office.

Terri D'Angelo commented, "I think it's really important for everyone to know CPR, not just for their jobs. Most of us had been trained, but needed to updete. It's reelly important - you just never know when you'll need it.

"The biggest frustration would be to not be able to help somebody, and worse to have known it and have forgotten how," Mrs. D'Angelo observed.

Scott Parker demonstrates the technique saving a victim of choking for Charlevoix Area Hospital RN Luann Griffin during the CPR classes the hospital offered ot the public fast week.

John Miller (left) works with Debbie Miller and Edna Gallagher on the CPR practice manniken "Resusci Annie" during the CPR classes at Charlevoix Area Hospital last week. Over 30 people from Charlevoix, Antrim and Emmet counties attended the two evening 8 hour session for Basic Life Support Certification conducted by Charlevoix Area Hospital nurses for the American Heart Association. Over 15 people, including staffs of several doctors offices attended a one-day recertification class on Wednesday.

Irwin details hospital proposal

At the North Central District Hospital council meeting in Shanty Creek at which Charlevoix Area Hospital was represented, State Senator Mitch Irwin last week unveiled a proposal designed to modernize public-funded hospitals to reduce the cost of health care. Irwin said he planned to introduce the legislation in Lansing this week.

"Many public-funded hospitals in Michigan, which operate in cooperation with local County Boards of Commissioners, come under the authority of Public Act 350 of 1913. This act is rather outdated and needs revision," Irwin explained.

Irwin spoke to northern Michigan hospitals on State Legislative issues at the Fall Trustee Forum on "Policy Issues for Hospital Decision-Makers" held in Bellaire.

"I have spoken with hospital administrators and they egree the present act is obsolete," said Irwin. "In fact," he added, "a survey of the hospitals that operate under P.A. 350 indicated that virtually all of them support the passage of legislation to modernize the act."

According to Irwin, the bill will allow diversification in the corporate structure of public-funded hospitals to provide an expansion of service areas as well as more efficient operation. "In essence," he said, "passage of this proposed legislation would put public hospitals on a par with private hospitals to ultimately reduce the cost of health care in Michigan."

The Irwin bill includes the following changes in the act governing public-funded hospitals:

States that hospital funds shall not be used for "non-hospital" purposes;

Requires that an annual report be submitted to the County Board of Commissioners no later than 120 days following the end of the hospital's fiscal year;

Provides authority for the hospital board to borrow money.

Rev. Mettler to speak Sunday

Rev. Alan Mettler, former pastor, will speak in e series of speciel meetings at the Charlevoix Church of the Nazarene beginning Sunday, November 6. The times of the services are 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. The special meetings will be held each evening through Wednesday, November 9, end will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. Mettler currently pastors the Church of the Nazarene in St. Joseph, Michigan. He is also well known as a singer. He was pastor of the Cherlevoix Church of the Nazarene from 1972-75.

For further information or transportation needs, call Rev. James Raum at 547-5711.

Two new bills introduced

Two bills which would amend the Open Meetings Act have been introduced in the Michigan House by Representative Bill Bullard.

The first, House Bill 4849, would allow closed sessions for public bodies meeting with their attorneys to plan strategies for threatened litigation, when an open meeting would hurt the public body's chance of winning. Presently, this provision applies only to already-pending litigation.

The second, House Bill 4850, amends the Open Meetings Act to require at least two days' notice in a generally-circulated newspaper, of a meeting of a township board of other public body to be held in a residence. The notice would have to contain the date, time, and place of the meeting and the following statement: "This meeting is open to all members of the public under Michigan's Open Meetings Act."

NOTICE OF A PUBLIC MEETING TO INSTITUTE A SUMMER PROPERTY TAX LEVY FOR CHARLEVOIX PUBLIC SCHOOL DISTRICT

Administrative Offices: 208 Clinton Street
Telephone No.: 547-3200

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on November 7, 1983, at 7:30 o'clock p.m. at Charlevoix High School the Board of Education will hold a meeting at which will be offered for adoption a resolution to impose a summer property tax levy of 50% of its annual school tax levy upon property located within the Charlevoix School District.

Passage of the proposed resolution would result in the annual levy of school property taxes on July 1 against property located within the Charlevoix School District. The Board of Education, under Act 333, Public Acts of Michigan 1982, may impose a summer property tax levy of either one-half (½) or the total of annual school property taxes. If a summer property tax levy is imposed, the Charlevoix School District may enter into agreements with each city or township in which it lies, or a county treasurer, for collection of the summer property taxes, or may collect such taxes itself pursuant to said Act 333.

This notice is given by order of the Board of Education.

Banquet is scene of 4-H annual awards

About 150 people were on band Monday, October 24 for the annual Charlevoix County 4-H Awards Banquet held at Whiting Park.

The potluck dinner is held each year to honor 4-H members for their achievements over the year, and to recognize the contributions of leaders and other supporters of 4-H in the county. The Charlevoix County 4-H annual meeting and election of council members is also held during the banquet.

Following an invocation by Juli Stolt of the Little Sew 'n Sews Club and a welcome from County Extension Director Rod Cortright, Charles Myers, chairman of the county 4-H Council gave a report on the council's activities.

Member reports followed in which selected members reported on various local and state 4-H functions attended during the past year. Charlevoix area members who delivered reports included Holly Reyes who reported on Achievement Day, Eric Green who reported on Peer Plus Workshop and Mike Finley who reported on Exploration Days.

Friends of 4-H certificates were then awarded by Claudia Grnlach to 37 individuals, groups and businesses in the county whose help ranged from teaching classes to offering scholarships to 4-H functions to helping interview members and evaluate projects on Achievement Day.

Mary Murray presented Leader Certificates, awarded by the Michigan State 4-H Youth Programs, to five county 4-H leaders. Receiving certificates for five years of service were Barb Finley and Marsha Beishlag. Ten year certificates went to Judy Clock, Harold Leech and Sheri Huffman. A poster by Penny Lewis was also displayed which depicted all the county leaders' names and years of service on leaves of a big maple tree.

In the council elections conducted by Cortright and CES secretary Kathy Sulak, Charlie Myers and Larry Boyer were elected to fill two-year adult terms and Heath Green and Mary Murray were elected to fill one-year teen terms.

Of the 49 project pins awarded by Dawn Reyes were the following to Charlevoix area members: Beth Jones and Cheryl Boyer for Agriculture, Eric Green for Citizenship, Kim Hand, Lisa and Paul Harvey for Clothing, Heath Green for Leadership and Public Speaking, Mike Horton, Lisa Hooker and Holly Reyes for Style Show and Cheryl Boyer for Achievement.

Other pins were awarded in the areas of Entymology, Foods, Horticulture, Veterinary Science, Horse, Home Environment and Leisure-Recreation.

Council members Heath Green and Larry Boyer awarded 4-H jackets as Special Member Awards to seven members including, from the Charlevoix area, Dan Kitely, Cheryl Boyer, Barb Stowe and Lisa Harvey. Lois Lamp and Dawn Reyes presented 4-H jackets as Special Leader Awards to nine county leaders including, from the Charlevoix area, Larry Boyer, Chuck Kitely and Leah Green of the 4-H staff.

Member Ricky Brooks drew the winners of the Leaders Door Prize, a dinner for two at the Depot Restaurant. The prize was won by Bob end Kathy Schmoldt of the North Bay Livestock Leaders.

Names In The News

Charlevoix native MONA GOSHEN is the most recent addition to the sales team at Charlevoix Properties - Real Estate Place. The former Mona Davenport was born and raised in Charlevoix and, after spending many years living in San Francisco, moved back to this area about six years ago.

While in San Francisco, Mona was involved in the entertainment and advertising businesses. She was a member of the Metropolitans womens barbershop quartet which won the International Queens of Harmony championship in 1970. The quartet toured internationally, including a trip to the Far East and Viet Nam during the war years there.

Mona has attended Central Michigan University and San Jose State University as well as North Central Michigan College where she received her training in real estate. Her first practical experience in the field was gained as an associate with Century 21 Real Estate in Charlevoix.

She lives in Charlevoix with her mother, Mrs. Marge Davenport and her son, Todd Warren who recently returned from a stint in the U.S. Marines. As a sales associate with Charlevoix Properties - Real Estate Place, Mona is available to handle all types of real estate transactions with special interest in helping families with their housing needs.

PENNY KANE, senior at Central Michigan University, was among a group of students from the university who departed last weekend from Toronto enroute to England to do their practice teaching.

Miss Kane, who will graduate in December with a major in Elementary Education, did part of her practice teaching in the Traverse City area before going to England where she will complete her training in the community of Winchester on the southern coast of the country.

A graduate of Charlevoix High School, she is the daughter of Mrs. Jack VanLoo and the late William Kane.

GLENN A. PEEBLES, son of John R. and Anita M. Peebles of Charlevoix, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of master sergeant.

Peebles is an airborne communications systems operator at Hickam Air Force Base, Hawaii, with the 6594th Test Group.

His wife, Diana, is the daughter of Forrest E. and Lulu Schlappi of Harbor Springs.

The sergeant is a 1965 graduate of Ellsworth Public High School.

Ronald J. Hillis, SS3, has been named Sailor of the Quarter aboard the U.S.C.G. Cutter Mesquite stationed here.

Shipmates aboard the cutter voted Hillis Sailor of the Quarter for the last quarter of the current year. Military bearing and etiquette, personal appearance, work habits, professionalism and leadership are the criteria for the recognition.

SS3 Hillis will be granted various privileges for the next quarter in recognition of his outstanding performance.

A native of Madison, Wis., and the son of John L. Hillis and Vicki A. Hillis, both of Madison, Hillis enlisted in the U.S. Coast Guard Oct. 22, 1979, and reported aboard the U.S.C.G.C. Mesquite April 16, 1980. He was recently married to the former Jean Michael daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Michael of Charlevoix.

Bicyclists earn $860 for St. Judes

About $860 was raised for the St. Jude Childrens Hospital by local youngsters who participated in the Wheels For Life Bike-A-Thon October 15 in Charlevoix, according to event chairman Dwight Boss.

Boss expressed gratitude to the area businesses who donated to the project including Central Drug, Charlevoix Federal Credit Union, First State Bank, Glens Market, Kit Carson Lumber, McClelland Home Furnishings, The Clothing Company and Village Inn Pizza who all made cash donations; McDonalds of Charlevoix donated refreshments; Barb's Hallmark donated posters and decals; Ben Franklin donated a pocket radio; Literary News Center donated a $5 gift certificate; Knights of Columbus donated a girls ten speed bike; Holiday Gas Station donated bike set-up and preparation and Bridge St. ACE Hardware donated a price discount, set-up and preparation of a ten speed bike.

Those who assisted on the day of the ride included Kay Campbell, Larry Campbell, Deputy Mike Wheat, Carolyn Olinger, Ken Olinger, Sherri Withers, Eugene Beer, Virginia Beer, Dennis Priess, Bo Boss, Debbie Boss, Jim Boss, Linda Boocher and Dave Knight.

Proceeds from the Bike-A-Thon go toward the St. Judes' research on childhood diseases.

...If you're a member of the First State Bank Christmas Club

Dick Edwards has been saving regularly all year and now is ready to share the joy of Christmas. Dick says, "It's a nice place to have a Christmas Club. You have the money you need for Christmas and you don't know you're saving."

Not everyone uses their Christmas Club money for Christmas presents. Some members simply use it as a regular savings program for taxes, end of the year expenses, or as a savings bonus. First State Bank invites you to join the 1984 Christmas Club beginning Nov. 4 or anytime thereafter. You can join from one dollar to 20 dollars a week and First State Bank will pay 5¼ % interest on completed clubs.

NRC hearings close; decision in March

by TOM DAMMANN

A Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) decision on whether or not more waste fuel than presently permitted can be stored in the spent fuel pool at the Big Rock Point Nuclear Power Plant should be announced next March.

A reporter was told this, Friday, by Judge Peter B. Block, Chairman of the NRC Atomic Safety and Licensing Board, which had been conducting hearings on the matter at the Holiday Inn in Petoskey since Oct. 25.

"We now have a good record on which to base our decision on the safety of Big Rock's spent fuel pool," he said. He added that he thinks the decision will be ready in March, "providing we don't get messed up in another case."

If the decision comes down in March, it will be almost five years since Big Rock's owner, Consumers Power Co., applied to the NRC for permission to increase the number of spent fuel rod assemblies it is allowed to store in the pool, from the present 193 to 441.

(The pool is an open deep concrete box, filled with water which must be kept below 150 degrees at all times.)

Many nuclear power plants around the nation have made similar requests because the commercial reprocessing of spent nuclear fuel was halted during the Carter administration and there are no other provisions for storage elsewhere.

Shortly after Consumers filed its application, a group calling themselves Concerned Citizens of Charlevoix Area and John O'Neill of Maple City, intervened on grounds that the increased release of radioactivity from the expanded fuel pool would increase the dangers of life and health of area residents.

After several years of litigation over what specific danger points are at issue, the Atomic Safety and Licensing Board began its public hearings at Boyne Mt., in the summer of 1982. They were recessed that September and resumed in Petoskey last month.

The hearings have been formally concluded. Now all that remains is for the utility, the NRC staff and the intevenors to file their briefs adhering to a time table agreed upon at the hearings' end.

Although last year they had legal representation, the intevenors, Christa Maria, Joann Bier and Jim Mills, all of Charlevoix, acted as their own attorneys throughout. O'Neill has always been his own attorney.

Judge Bloch complimented the intervenors to the reporter for the hours of laborious research they had devoted to mastering the engineering and legal languages required to understand the operations at Big Rock and to present their concerns about them at the court like hearings.

Concluding the proceedings Friday, Judge Bloch said, "As a result of the hearings last year the staff has shown more concern for the analysis of the concrete in the spent fuel pool," which the intervenors had argued might not be able to withstand the overheating from radioactivity which could result from crowding more spent fuel into it.

He said the same concern was applied to adequacy of the so called "make-up water line" to add sufficient cool water to keep the pool water from boiling over, a situation which could lead to a melt down.

Another issue of major concern on which expert testimony was given last week is the ability of the overhead crane, which lifts spent fuel from the reactor, to withstand earthquakes.

Judge Bloch said that credit must also be given to the intervenors for prodding the utility and local government into preparing emergency planning in the event of a nuclear accident, "particularly for invalids and people without cars."

Attorneys for the utility and the NRC agreed with Judge Bloch's categorization of the most important issues argued at the hearings.

Also argued were the hazards to the plant of a direct aircraft crash on it.

In her closing statement, Christa Maria said, "It has not been our intention to close down Big Rock."

City balks on new wells

by DAVE KNIGHT

City council retreated a step from its previous decision to proceed with immediate development of a new well system for the city, opting Monday night to go as far as the test well stage and wait to see what financial aid can be obtained from the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Superfund program to complete the project.

Council members Clement Olach, James Block, Ray wood and Robert Timms all agreed that the city should finish the test well drilling now underway but not commit itself to constructing production wells until the EPA's financial involvement becomes more clear. The EPA has stated that it plans to spend at least $450,000 and up to $900,000 to clean up the trichloroethylene contamination of city water detected over two years ago.

Council members Jeffrey Porter and Shirley Roloff dissented, saying that the city should stick with its committment to have a new, clean water supply on line within the coming year.

City Manager Robert Hunt told the council that "there's no schedule where the EPA could have a production well on line in 1984." He added that, should the city continue with the production wells, the cost to the city will be about $300,000.

"What you are trading off is reducing the level of TCE for reducing the cost of city government," said Hunt.

Council Member Roloff said, "We are paying for it (production well development) either way. We've been dragging our feet too long already."

Council Member Olach expressed doubt that the concern over the suspected health threat posed by TCE was dominant among city water users. By paying city funds to complete a new well immediately, said Olsch, "you're bowing to the vocal minority."

The City of Charlevoix has been summoned to a November 17 hearing by the Michigan Department of Public Health to explain progress toward development of a new water system, as mandated by the department.

Summer tax passes

By FRAN MARTIN

There will be a summer collection of school taxes in the Charlevoix School District beginning in 1984 following action taken at the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education Monday night.

In making the decision, board members took into consideration the straw vote taken during the school election last June in which voters approved the idea by a vote of three to one.

In polling board members for comments prior to the vote following the reading of the resolution, board members said they had received few negative comments about the proposal and that the majority of their calls had been in favor of the summer tax collection.

In voicing his comments, Steven Smith said "I think people realize that we are doing this to save money. It's their tax dollars that we'll be saving rather than paying it out in interest."

The board had opted to ask for a summer tax collection in order to do away with borrowing large sums until tax monies began coming in mid-December.

The resolution as adopted by a six aye vote with one member absent will permit collection of 50 percent of the school taxes including debt service in July in those units that lie within the Charlevoix School District. The other 50 percent will be levied in December and payable until mid-February.

The school district will now negotiate with the city and townships regarding the cost of collecting the taxes.

The units involved at the city of Charlevoix, Hayes, Charlevoix, Norwood and Marion townships in their entirety and a section of Eveline township and a small segment that lies in Banks township of Antrim county.

Sewer rates are going up

by DAVE KNIGHT

Though city council agreed to postpone it for six months, a sewer rate increase was approved at the council's Monday night meeting.

As of May 1, 1984, sewer bills will be increased by 17.6 percent. The combined sewer and water bills will see an increase of 11.7 percent. For the average user of 7,500 gallons of water a month, the projected increase on the monthly bill will be $3.08.

Sewer rates are calculated according to water usage. The present rate is 2.21 times the water consumption charge; under the rate increase approved by council Monday night, the multiplier will be increased to 2.67.

Council members were presented with three options by City Treasurer James Brinker who reported that, upon review of the Sewage Disposal System Fund, he found that "the current sewer rates do not generate sufficient revenues to cover operation and maintenance expenses and depreciation expense."

Brinker also pointed in a memo to the council that while the depreciation expense is not a cash outlay, the state requires it to be funded through the rate system.

Also required by the city charter is a cash reserve fund of at least $75,000 which, Brinker said, "must be addressed."

Of the three plans developed by Brinker, one, a 9.2 percent increase, would have generated the $26,742 in revenue needed to just meet expenses; the second, a 17.6 percent increase (which the council chose) will generate $51,742 in increased revenue which would eliminate the fund's deficit in three years and the third, a 21.9 percent increase, would have generated $64,242 annually to eliminate the deficit in two years.

A motion by First Ward Council Member Jeffrey Porter to enact the increase January 1, 1984 was defeated 4-2 with only Porter and Timms in favor. Some council members, including James Block and Shirley Roloff, felt that an immediate increase might be a hardship to many people on fixed incomes, especially during the upcoming winter months.

Roloff moved to put the increase into effect on May 1 instead and that motion passed 4-2, with Roloff and Clement Olach voting against.

In other action, the council:

-Approved by consensus a salary level set by the City Compensation Commission of $6,000 per year for the newly revised, part-time City Clerk position. The commission added a $9 per hour compensation for duties involving elections, voter registration, candidacy petitions, special assessments, referendums and service as clerk for the Board of Review.

The City Clerk's position was changed from a full to part time job following the council's recent decision to shift almost all financial duties to the office of City Treasurer.

-Approved a new contract for City Manager Robert Hunt featuring a salary increase from $28,000 a year to $30,000 and the addition of dental insurance to the benefit package.

-Heard a proposal by Michael McDonald of Harbor Springs, representing CAM, Inc., to install carved wood tee marker signs at the municipal golf course at no cost to the city. The signs would be mounted and maintained by the firm and would also carry advertising. Council tabled the proposal.

-Passed a resolution allowing Police Chief Jack Moi to enforce bans on hunting and vehicular traffic within the city-owned Mt. McSauba Recreational Area.

Lieberman named new county prosecutor

Kraag C. Lieberman

Kraag C. Lieberman, 31, who has been associated with the prosecutor's office in St. Joseph county since 1979, has been appointed prosecutor of Charlevoix county. The appointment becomes effective December 1.

As prosecutor, he succeeds Scott T. Beatty who resigned in September to enter a private practice after five years in the office. Since Beatty's resignation, Edwin G. Gregory, assistant prosecutor, is serving as acting prosecutor.

The appointment has been announced by Circuit Judge Martin B. Breighner who, with a committee of three from Charlevoix county, interviewed ten applicants for the post. Serving on the committee were Larry D. Matthew and Donald Smith of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners and Sheriff George T. Lasater.

Lieberman joined the prosecutor's office in St. Joseph County in June, 1979 after 18 months with the legal aid office in Battle Creek. He served as an assistant in the St. Joseph County office and, for the past three years, as chief assistant. The office has a staff of four assistants including a chief assistant.

In his present position, Lieberman said he has had a lot of trial experience, just about every type of case you can imagine".

Of his appointment as prosecutor of Charlevoix county he said, "It is a great opportunity for me and I am looking forward to it. It offers me a chance to stay with prosecution which I prefer and an opportunity to 'move back home' ".

"Back home" for Lieberman is Charlevoix where he was reared. Born in Saginaw in 1952, he came to Charlevox with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lieberman in 1954. He was graduated in 1970 from the Charlevoix High School where he had won recognition as a football player. He went on to Alma College where he played football and graduated with a baccalaureate degree in 1974. He received his Juris Doctorate degree from the University of Detroit College of Law in 1977 and was admitted to Michigan Bar the same year.

He is a member of the St. Joseph County Bar Association and the Michigan Bar Association.

He is presently seeking a house to rent in the Charlevoix area with his wife, Barbara and 14 month old son, Tyler.

Statistics on poverty released

Of the 34,507 people over 60 years of age who live in the ten-county area of northwest Michigan, almost 15 percent (5,093) live below the poverty level.

This information is included in a recent publication of the Area Agency on Aging, which further lists the percentage of population over 60 and number of men and women in each county who are living in poverty:

Kalkaska County, 339 poor, 19.9 percent; Emmet County, 635 poor, 17.82 percent; Missaukee County, 569 poor, 17.11 percent; Charlevoix County, 528 poor, 16.48 percent; Antrim County, 486 poor, 15.1 percent; Manistee County, 674 poor, 14.69 percent; Leelanau County, 342 poor, 13.51 percent; Benzie County, 290 poor, 13.3 percent; Wexford County, 569 poor, 13.06 percent; and Grand Traverse County, 910 poor, 12.6 percent.

The Area Agency on Aging also notes that, nationwide, 3.8 million elderly Americans are living on incomes below the poverty level, and the very old who are living alone have disproportionately high levels of poverty.

High inflation rates, slow growth in the economy, spiraling unemplyment, and failure of states to keep up welfare benefits to meet high costs of living were blamed for the high poverty levels.

Plan luncheon, Christmas bazaar, bake sale

The Women of the Church of God will hosts their popular autumn casserole and salad luncheon, Christmas bazaar and bake sale at Friendship Hall located at 202 W. Hurlbut Ave., Thursday, Nov. 10.

The luncheon which will feature a wide variety of hot casseroles and salads will also include rolls, a dessert and a choice of beverage. Tickets will be $2.50 with senior citizens attending for $2.00. The luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

The bazaar will offer a collection of useful as well as gift type items including mittens for all members of the family and items that could be used as gifts for the home. The bake sale will include home-baked cookies, cakes, candies and pies.

Margaret Juilleret is the general chairperson. She has named Luci Hastings as hostess; Jane Sarasin to head the dining room committe; Roberta Whitley and Shirley Lusk to handle the bazaar and bake sale; Elsie Joyce, the kitchen committee; Doris Derance to handle ticket sales and Bonnie Voorheis and Reth Ann Campbell to take care of publicity.

Board hears Chip Center annual report

by PEG OHLE

Chip Counseling Center provided services to 175 men, women, and children in Charlevoix County during the past fiscal year.

Representatives from the Center also made 175 differant appearances and-or presentations to community groups on the subject of preventing alcohol and drug abuse.

In all, the Center had 7,067 contacts with clients and the general public to discuss and treat a variety of problems.

Elaine Plackner, business administrator for Chip Counseling Center, recently presented these figures, and others, to the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

The Center's contacts with county government agencies include persons sentenced to enroll in its Alcohol Highway Safety program and referrals by Juvenile Court, the Department of Social Services, and others, among the 21 separate referral sources in all.

Men outnumbered women by almost three to one – 126 to 49 – among the clients served by Chip. Of these, 166 were white, five were native American, three black, and one Hispanic. Three of the clients were under 13 years of age, six were 14 to 17, 19 were 18 to 20, 34 were 21 to 25, 25 were 26 to 29, 40 were 30 to 35, 26 were 36 to 44, 19 were 45 to 55, one was 56 to 65, and two were over 60 years of age.

Sixty-five of the clients were married-cohabiting, three were widowed, 29 were divorced, 15 were separated, and 63 were single.

Eight-two of them had full-time employment, 23 worked part time, 36 were unemployed but considered part of a work force, and 34 were unemployed and not in a work force. Seventy-four percent of the clients had annual incomes under $10,000.

Of the 175 persons treated in Charlevoix County by Chip Counseling Center, 135 had alcohol problems, six had marijuana problems, one was a user of amphetamines, one was a user of heroin, and two used other opiates. Only three had no drug problems at all, while 22 had "significant other problems."

Chip Counseling Center has offices in Antrim and Emmet Counties as well as in Charlevoix and also serves clients from those other offices. The client figures noted above are for the Charlevoix offices only.

The center has 11 full time and part time employees, including a business administrator (80 percent of regular work time); an intake worker (20 percent of time); a clinical administrator (30 percent of time); a counselor in Charlevoix (70 percent of time); a clinical administrator ((30 percent of time).

Also, a counselor in Charlevoix (70 percent of time); a prevention coordinator, full time; a counselor in Emmet County, full time; a counselor to work in both Emmet County and Charlevoix, full time; a counselor in Antrim County and secretaries in Charlevoix, Bellaire, and Petoskey, all full time.

Chip Counseling Center has prepared a budget for 1994 amounting to slightly over $200,000. It is funded mostly by the Office of Substance Abuse Services, as well as by local public monies, the United Way, private donations, and fees and collections.

Chip Counseling Center is asking Charlevoix County to contribute $6,000 toward its work next year and is asking for the same contributions from Antrim and Emmet Counties. Last Year, Charlevoix County budgeted $5,000 for the Center.

The $6,000 request is being considered by the County's Ways and Means Committee which is now preparing its 1984 budget.

New EDC booklet aimed at new industry

Following many months of preparation, the Charlevoix County Economic Development Corporation brochure for prospective new county businesses was distributed to a few local officials last week.

Titled "Charlevoix County Corporate Planner", the brochure, printed in black and white and color, is an indexed 8-½" by 11" booklet which answers just about all the questions an industrialist or business man might have about the business "climate" of Charlevoix County.

There are nine maps, seven pages of color pictures showing various points of interest and activities around the county, and a written text describing the county's labor force, the industries now located here, available utilities, available human services, and significant features of the county's three incorporated cities.

The first chapter of the brochure, titled "Overview", sets the tone for the rest of the publication with the line, "Charlevoix County can provide the best of both; the enjoyment of living a gracious life amidst naturally beautiful surroundings and the opportunity of making a successful living here."

The brochure will be made available to people seeking information about moving their businesses to Charlevoix County or starting new businesses here.

EDITORIAL

Hats off!

In a sense, cross country is one of the "lonely" sports. The runners do not have bleachers full of cheering fans to help motivate them during a meet and even when spectators do show up in any large numbers, they can only express their encouragement at certain points of the race, usually the start or finish.

For almost the entire race, the runner hears only the sound of the wind and the rhythm of his or her stride. Any desire to win must come entirely from within.

Cross country is like westling or gymnastics in that the team's success is dependant on individual performances. In sports such as football or baseball, participants depend to a large extent upon their teammates to help them attain a successful result. But in cross country, the participant often finds himself competing against only the clock and his own physical limitations.

For these reasons, the accomplishments of the Charlevoix cross country team in recent years - including two consecutive state Class C championships as of this past weekend - are worthy of special note.

The qualities shown by the Charlevoix cross country team the past couple years - such as willingness to sacrifice time and effort for little more than the satisfaction of self-improvement and the desire to devote themselves to an activity they will be able to enjoy for the rest of their lives - say a lot about the value of scholastic sports.

We congratulate Coach Pete Spieles and his team for their notable successes and thank them for furthering the spirit of excellence for which the Charlevoix athletic programs have long been known.

Letters to the Editor

Hunt responds

To the Editor:

I am writing in response to the letter from Mrs. Liane Christensen that appeared in the November 2 edition of the Charlevoix Courier. The letter scolded me for a failure to participate directly in the Big Rock spent fuel pool expansion hearings conducted in Petoskey over the past two weeks.

Mrs. Christensen suggests that I was claiming "immunity from the due process of the law" by my failure to respond to a "subpoena". In fact, the Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department has refused to serve the "subpoenas" on either Police Chief Jack Mol or myself, as they lacked any foundation in law. The Administrative Law Judge Peter Bloch specifically instructed the intervenors to inform both Jack and I that the documents being served were a "request" to appear, and lacked the legal basis to compel attendance.

In fact, if a real subpoena had been issued, in all probability it would have been delivered in time for me to rearrange my schedule. As it was, the first service occurred at 3:15 p.m. Monday, October 24th, asking me to appear in court Tuesday morning (and most of the remainder of the week). A second document appeared the following day, asking me for a similar commitment. No one could assure me with any certainty which day I would testify, let alone the time of day.

Nonetheless, I did feel it was important to have a city representative available for certain portions of the hearing. Since Jack Mol was directly involved in the development of the city's portion of the evacuation plan, I asked that he represent me at the hearing. On Tuesday morning, October 25, Jack delivered my written apology to Judge Bloch, which explained my difficulties in attending the hearing with such short notice. As I understand it, Judge Bloch accepted that explanation the same morning, and read it into the record.

Although Jack Mol was "subpoenaed" and responded by sitting through two complete days of testimony, he was never once called to the witness stand. How many city employees do we need twiddling their thumbs through endless hours of testimony to convince Mrs. Christensen that the city cares about what happens at Big Rock?

To my knowledge, the city support of the Big Rock plant in general and emergency preparedness in particular, have been unwaivering. When other entities were raising questions about the costs of emergency training, we committed city employees to the project. The city Fire Department's direct commitment to emergencies at the plant precedes the current emergency plan itself.

Mrs. Christensen should understand that the city's role in an emergency at Big Rock is a secondary and a supportive one, not a primary one. Under the law, the county's Emergency Services Office, and not the city, is primarily responsible for emergency preparedness. Because of Charlevoix's close proximity to the plant, the city nonetheless plays a very major role in support of this county effort.

The city has committed its Street Department crews to work under the direction of County Engineer Fred Welch in an emergency. As I mentioned earlier the city Police Chief is now preparing an evacuation plan for city residents and visitors, which his department would be expected to administer in cooperation with the Charlevoix County Sheriff's office. Though they rarely receive that the limelight that the Petoskey hearings have enjoyed, these activities should have a far greater effect on the safety of the citizens of Charlevoix than any courtroom drama.

Knight on the Town

The approaching hunt

by Dave Knight

One hardly needs a calendar to know when deer season approaches around here.

There are a few more beards showing up around town in preparation for deer camp, a few more vehicles on the back roads looking for sign. Soon we'll be hearing the echos of reports as hunters start sighting in their weapons and blaze orange caps and jackets will be gradually making their way out of storage.

As is the case every season, trophy expectations will peak on opening day, next week Tuesday, and diminish each day thereafter for the duration of the two-week gun season. Most of the good hunters take their buck in the first hours of the season - and luck is often not a factor. Success comes from knowing the territory, knowing the animal's ways and knowing the capabilities of the weapon.

Oh, maybe there's a little luck involved sometimes.

Expect to see many button bucks and yearling deer taken this season. The mild winter of '82-'83 yielded a healthy fawn crop and was good to the one or two preceding generations as well.

According to Bob Strong, wildlife biologist for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources out of Gaylord, there are many indications that the deer herd in Charlevoix County has picked up in recent years. Such indications include the reports by some area farmers of crop damage from deer.

The DNR's confidence in the strength of the population is reflected in its decision to open the northern half of the county to an antlerless hunt. The regions of the county south of Lake Charlevoix and the South Arm, however, will be bucks only this season.

Many area hunters have criticized the taking by permit of does and fawns saying that, first, the area herd is not large enough to withstand an anterless hunt as the DNR says, and, second, most of the hunters choice permits go to downstate hunters anyway, leaving the locals out in the cold.

This, said Strong, is not the case in Charlevoix County.

Eight hundred permits were allotted this season for local landowners in the management zone including Charlevoix County while only 140 were made available to the general public. Strong said that the landowner permit concept is especially favorable for this region because it allows the landowners - farmers and others - more control over who hunts their property.

For the 800 permits available to local landowners, only 264 applied which means that just about anyone locally who qualified got a permit. For the 140 permits available to the general public, however, there were over 3,000 applications made; chances of success were less than one in 20.

The total number of hunters' choice permits allotted this season, then, numbers 404 for the managment area including Charlevoix County. That, said Strong, is really a very conservative figure which should not have much of a decimating effect on the local deer herd.

Clockwise

O'Neill for president

by Bob Clock

ALTHOUGH I AM not a card-carrying member of either major political party, having resigned from the GOP after Richard Nixon was elected to a second term, I like to consider myself a disinterested observer of the American political scene.

However it pains me to see the Democrats trotting out a stable of candidates none of whom stands the remotest chance of unseating President Ronald Reagan next November.

What makes the situation even more painful is that party regulars are totally overlooking a perfectly qualified candidate, a man overflowing with the same kind of personal charisma that catapulted Ronald Reagan to the top.

Furthermore, he is probably more knowledgeable about the country's foreign and domestic policies than any Democrat alive.

I AM SPEAKING, of course, of Massachusetts' Thomas P. (Tip) O'Neill Jr., speaker of the House of Representatives and probably the most respected and beloved Democrat in the country.

Why has the party ignored him? And why has he ignored the party?

I really don't know, but if anyone can unite the divergent elements of the Democratic party it is Tip O'Neill.

And don't tell me he is too old. At 71, he is a mere kid compared to Ronald Reagan who will be 73 next February.

Frankly, I do not believe any of the Democratic campaign — including front-runner Fritz Mondale — stand much of a chance against Reagan, who scored a magnificent political victory with the invasion of Grenada. Whether or not you agree with what Reagan did, you'll have to admit that the American people have been smarting for years over the take-over of the U.S. Embassy in Tehran under the administration of Mondale's former political mentor, Jimmy Carter. The invasion, for all its bloodshed and anguish, was a tonic to Americans yearning for some kind of bold action to redeem their self-esteem.

ALTHOUGH GRENADA could scarcely be considered a formidable enemy, Reagan is being hailed for doing something to protect American lives on the little island in the wake of the Marxist coup. A bi-partisan delegation of congressmen who visited the island over the weekend agree that the president probably did the right thing under the circumstances.

Unlike most of the Democratic candidates, O'Neill has held his tongue during the Grenada invasion and the massacre of American Marines in Lebanon two days earlier. Many are interpreting his silence to tacit approval of Reagan's policies — which, at this point, would stand him in good stead should he choose to run.

Tip O'Neill for President? Why not? He alone stands a chance, since Teddy Kennedy has declared his non-candidacy.

A race between Reagan and O'Neill could be the most exciting political contest of the century. Even the Irish might stop fighting to watch.

Jobs are bottom line of new bill

by State Representative Ralph Ostling

Because new jobs for Michigan's unemployed can be created if further revisions are made in the state's unemployment compensation system, a six-point plan that is designed to put Michigan on a competitive basis with other states and put more people back to work was introduced in the House last week.

Last year we faced a crisis...the number of jobless men and women reached an all time high and the trust fund established to pay their unemployment benefits for all practical purposes went bankrupt. The situation forced the state to borrow $1 billion from the federal government, impose severe taxes on employers and exact painful concessions from workers.

But the road to solvency remains long and difficult. The bills we passed then...which I supported...are only a starting point, not the end product. This new bill picks up where we left off last year and recommends additional refinements that will mean more jobs for Michigan.

We can't talk about economic growth and ignore the problems in our unemployment system.

The key provision in the bill is a proposal to eliminate the automatic unemployment benefits scheduled to begin in 1987. While I have no quarrel with benefit increases, I do think they should be reviewed and enacted by the Legislature. Automatic increases don't take economic conditions into account. The so-called automatic escalator that went into effect in 1981 didn't work because it increased costs at a time of historically high unemployment when we could afford it least.

Between now and 1987 there will be no automatic escalator, and I think it should continue that way.

Other components of the omnibus bill include the establishment of a waiting week before benefits are paid; requiring striking employees to work at least six weeks for a new employer to qualify for benefits; and requiring the MESC to compute after-tax income for weekly benefit rates only once a year.

The policies outlined in this bill have long range consequences that are important to the future job prospects of people in Michigan.

The bill can promote jobs because it reduces the costs of employment and eliminates costly and unnecessary regulations on job providers. If we can't do that, we can't be successful in our efforts to spur jobs and economic growth.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald E. Bryan, Jr.

Bartlett - Bryan

Dawn Marie Bartlett and Gerald Edson Bryan, Jr. were united in marriage on Saturday evening, October 15, at the Community Church of God in Charlevoix.

Parents of the bride and bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Bruce K. Bartlett of Charlevoix and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Bushnell of Asheville, North Carolina.

The Reverend Richard Struthers of Battle Creek, uncle of the bride, performed the double-ring rites. Approximately 250 guests from the states of Connecticut, Florida, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, North Carolina and South Carolina, as well as Michigan, witnessed the ceremony from pews decorated with candles and ivory satin bows. For the occasion, the altar was transformed into a lighted arbor decorated with wine and mauve colored flowers, birch trees, and arrangements of spider chrysanthemums.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, wore a gown of English netting and Schiffli embroidered lace over a taffeta lining. It was fashioned with a high neckline and standup collar topped with a pleated ruffle. The yoke was of sheer English netting lightly embroidered in a floral pattern, and the bodice, also of English netting, was more densely embroidered.

The leg-o-mutton sleeves were also embroidered and featured pleated ruffles at the elbows and wrists. The skirt was trimmed with Schiffli embroidered lace, and a scalloped row of lace edged the entire hemline and chapel-length train. The veil of bridal illusion was attached to a modified Juliet cap of Schiffli lace and seed pearls. The bride carried an arm bouquet of Forever Yours roses.

Debra Ann Bartlett attended her sister as maid of honor, and Diana Lynn Bartlett, another sister, Lauri Feis, Gail Hansen, Carol Streeter and Tammy Duree were bridesmaids. Marcie Beaudoin was junior bridesmaid. The maid of honor and junior bridesmaid wore gowns of wine, and the bridesmaids wore gowns of mauve. They were fashioned in an Edwardian style of polyester knit with nylon point d'esprit lace, illusion net sweetheart necklines, and Schiffli embroidered trim on the yokes and sleeves. Their bouquets were similar to that of the bride.

Kelli Burnett, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl wearing a miniature bride's costume. She carried a basket of rose petals.

Sam Bushnell attended the bridegroom as best man, and Dennis McSweeney, Donald Berg, Brian Burnett, Vincent Chew, and Bruce Bartlett, Jr. were groomsmen. Bruce Bartlett, Jr. and Dennis McSweeney also served as ushers.

Music for the ceremony was provided by organist Jean Jensen and vocalist Vincent Chew, who sang "Sunrise, Sunset" from "Fiddler on the Roof" and the Lord's Prayer.

The bride's parents hosted a reception at the American Legion Hall following the wedding ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Struthers, uncle and aunt of the bride, acted as host and hostess, and Marie Blissett, Ruth Berg, and Bea Richardson assisted with details. The bridegroom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner on Friday evening at the Grey Gables Inn.

Following a wedding trip to North Carolina, the newlyweds are at home in Sarasota, Florida, where the bridegroom is self-employed as a paint and wallpaper contractor and the bride is a model for local merchants.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Baker

Zundel - Baker

Michele Lynne Zundel and Robert Warren Baker, Jr. exchanged marriage vows on Friday evening, October 14, at St. Francis Xavier Church in Petoskey.

Father Medard Buvula officiated at the double-ring rites before approximately 150 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Zundel of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Robert W. Baker of Petoskey and Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, and Susan J. Baker of Ft. Lauderdale.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a chiffon gown with embroidered jacket and matching hat. She carried a bouquet of white and peach silk roses which she created.

Kelly Zundel served her sister as maid of honor. Julie Jabara, Ellen Tasloff, Sara Sheltraw, Brett Baker, and Sharon Zundel were bridesmaids. They wore blue crepe de chine dresses with matching shoes and carried bouquets of blue, beige, and peach silk flowers. The bride also made their bouquets.

Patrick McGinn of Petoskey served as best man. James Colonel of Ft. Lauderdale, Harry Devlin of Ft. Lauderdale, John Ottimer of Petoskey, and Halbert Evans of Charlevoix were groomsmen. Robert Golden of Ft. Lauderdale and Patrick Zundel of Charlevoix served as ushers.

Following the wedding ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception at Duffys of Charlevoix. The Epsilon Jazz Quartet furnished entertainment. The rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the bridegroom's father on Thursday evening.

The newlyweds will return to Naples, Florida for the winter months after a Carribean cruise. The bridegroom is affiliated with Bob Baker Shoes of Petoskey, Ft. Lauderdale, and Naples.

Engagements

Patrick - Hoxie

Vicky R. Patrick

The engagement has been announced of Vicky R. Patrick and Ronald L. Hoxie, both of Charlevoix. She is the daughter of Mary L. Kuh and Victor R. Patrick of Charlevoix and he is the son of Allen and Helen Hoxie of West Branch.

The bride-to-be is a 1981 graduate of Charlevoix High School. She attended North Central Michigan College in Petoskey and is employed by APS postal service. The groom is a 1978 graduate of Ogemaw Heights High School in West Branch and is presently employed by D.C.L., Inc. in Charlevoix. He is also a member of the Michigan Army National Guard stationed in Grayling.

An August 25, 1984 wedding is planned.

New pastor to be installed at 1st Cong. Sunday

Pastor Philip Schairbaum

The Reverend Phillip G. Schairbaum, who assumed the pastorate of the First Congregational Church of Charlevoix early in August, will be formally installed next Sunday.

Ceremonies will begin at 4 p.m. with an informal program of slides, songs, and speeches. The formal installation will take place at 5 p.m. Special guests will include the Reverend Dr. Richard L. Stanger, Jr., minister of Plymouth Congregational Church of Fort Wayne, Indiana, and the Reverend John Wightman of the Church's United Northern Association.

A sit-down ham dinner with "all the trimmings" will be served at 6 p.m. to cap the festivities.

It's two in a row for CC team!

by FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Rayder Cross Country team captured the State Class C title for the second straight year at Big Rapids Saturday, topping a field of 20 teams with a total of 78 points.

The Rayders' Bill Taylor finished first in the meet in a time of 15:46.0 well ahead of Greg Bliss of Cass City who beat him out of first place last year. Bliss finished fifth in Saturday's meet.

Charlevoix's John Tunison finished in third place in a time of 16:15.9; Lee Allard in tenth place in 16:41.9; Matt Landon in 14th place in 16:50 and team's fifth runner, Rick Gallant in 48th place in 17:35.1.

Mike Dohm, a freshman, finished in 81st place in 17:46.7 and Dave Hendrickson in 85th place in 18:07.5.

Rogers City, also of the Michigan-Huron Shores Conference, finished in second place with 181 points. The Huron's Max Hogan finished second behind Taylor in a time of 16:09.2.

Two of Charlevoix's runners, Taylor and Tunison, were named to the All-State team. Only nine runners received All-State recognition. Lee Allard missed by .3 of a second Coach Spieles said.

"We had a good race from everyone" Coach Spieles said of his team. "Taylor ran an outstanding race, a heady race against Bliss of Cass City who was the top runner in the state in Class C last year. I was disappointed for Allard and Landon who finished tenth and fourteenth. I think they deserve all-state mention. Rick Gallant ran an excellent race as our fifth man. Mike Dohm, who was running in his first state meet, got off dead last but ran well to come in where he did. Everyone had to do well. They had lots of good competition."

In answer to the question: How does it feel to be the coach of an All-State team? Coach Spieles answered "I feel very good about it" and went on to say what a great bunch of kids he has. "They're outstanding; they're a classy bunch of kids; they're humble about their accomplishments; they do everything I ask them to do."

"He went on to say that two sets of parents told him Saturday night what being on the cross country team had done for their sons. "I think I was as happy about that as I was of winning the title a second time. That's what it's all about."

He concluded by saying "it's been a good year. Now it's back to the drawing board to plan for another year. I'm losing seven seniors. But there are 21 boys and girls who'll be returning and I'm looking forward to next year. I want to acknowledge all the help we've had from Walt Drenth."

At this point he thanked everyone for their support of the team all season. He mentioned the Board of Education "for giving us the opportunity to win a state title, the faculty, the student body, the band and the cheerleaders for the great send-off they gave us, the community for the wonderful support, the Sports Boosters for the welcome given the team and the impromptu party at the school Saturday night."

On their return Saturday night, the team was met at the city limits by the Charlevoix Police and the Fire Department and escorted through the community before going to the school where the Sports Boosters had arranged the welcome home party.

"It was a wonderful climax to a beautiful day. I hope everyone knows how much we all appreciate it" Coach Spieles said in conclusion.

The seniors on the team are Taylor, Tunison, Allard, Landon, Gallant, Hendrickson and Leo Chase.

Middle School girls split

The Charlevoix Middle School girls basketball teams split last week as they closed out their regular schedule, defeating Central Lake early in the week and losing to Cheboygan in the final games of the schedule.

The seventh grade defeated Central Lake 32-13 and lost to Cheboygan 16-9.

The eighth graders posted a 22-20 win over Central Lake and lost to Cheboygan 29-10.

The teams drew first round byes in the tournament at Cheboygan and will make their initial appearances against the winners of the Soo-Cheboygan games at 3:45 and 5 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9. The winners of those games will play at 8 and 7:30 p.m. Nov. 18 while the losers will play at 3:30 and 5 p.m. Nov. 18. Other teams in the tournament are Newberry, Cheboygan and Petoskey.

In the seventh graders game with Central Lake, Charlevoix took a 16-6 lead before winning by a 32-13 margin with Stacy Gebott scoring 12 and Tina Waun adding eight. Wendy Lundy had 11 for Central Lake.

In the Cheboygan game, the team held a slim 7-6 halftime lead before falling behind 16-9 at the final buzzer. Becky Anderson and Jill Trombly had six points each for the winners. Stacy Gebott had six for Charlevoix. The team finished the season with a six win-two loss record.

The eighth graders posted a seven win-two loss record for the season after dropping their final game.

In the meeting with Central Lake Charlevoix set the pace with an 11-4 halftime lead before winning by a score of 22-20 in a closely contested meeting. Allison Hall acounted for 120 points. J. Cary had 12 for Central Lake.

In the game with Cheboygan, Charlevoix trailed 9-4 before losing 29-10. Ellen Pearl had six for Charlevoix. Jody Bandan and Tanya Weiss had six each for Cheboygan.

The Junion High tournament at Cheboygan will close out the season for the two teams.

Yachting Notes

by A. Nony Mouse

Another season winds down with the few escapes out on the boat becoming more and more precious. Why is it that the lake and the sky are so blue on these short, sunny, late fall days?

Sorry about missing last week's column; but since the consensus is that we shouldn't be publishing all the various results until after the Awards Night, there wasn't much to say.

So we'll wrap it up with the shortest Yachting Notes of the year and be back with you one more time after the big awards have been presented and the tears have settled into the dust. We will also then bring you up to date on the status of the clubhouse, the final standings and hopefully present all you non-member readers with an invitation to an open house (if we have a house!).

See you at the Awards Night, C.Y.C., November 12, at 8 p.m.

Grid season closes on dismal note as Saints block Rayders 19-0

For the Charlevoix Red Rayder varsity football squad, the 1983 campaign might best be remembered as two seperate seasons labeled B.C. and A.C.

B.C. - Before Cheboygan - saw the Rayders go undefeated in four games stopping Class B Petoskey, a strong Rogers City team in multiple overtimes, and intra-county rivals East Jordan and Boyne City.

A.C. - After Cheboygan - however, was a different story. Following a close loss to the always powerful Chiefs on October 7, the Charlevoix offense took a vacation and never came back. The result has been five straight losses including three games in which the Rayders couldn't put a point on the board.

The Rayders saw their last chance to salvage a winning season fall Friday night as the playoff-bound St. Ignace Saints blanked Charlevoix 19-0 on the Saints' home turf.

The game left Charlevoix with a 4-5 overall record, 3-5 in Michigan-Huron Shores conference play, which ties the Rayders with Boyne City for sixth place in the overall final standings.

St. Ignace finished its season with an 8-1 record, good for first place honors in the overall M-HSC standings and in the Tier II Class C standings in which the Saints share the top spot with Grayling with both teams 4-1 against other Class C opponents.

Cheboygan, at 8-1 in overall M-HSC play, was right behind the Saints but took undisputed first place among the Tier I Class B schools with a 3-0 slate.

Friday night's game at St. Ignace saw both teams fight to a scoreless tie in the first period. The second quarter spelled trouble for Charlevoix in more ways than one, however. First, Steve Becker ran back a punt return 73 yards for six points - the extra point attempt was no good. Second, Charlevoix starting quarterback Tim LaBlance was hurt and did not see action the rest of the night. He was replaced by junior Brent Cole.

In the third quarter, Brian Cahill put another six on the scoreboard for St. Ignace when he broke away on a 52-yard scamper on a third down and short yardage situation to give the Saints a 12-0 advantage.

Brian Theut iced the cake in the final period with a 30 yard touchdown run following an interception. A Kyle McPhee conversion made the final score 19-0.

On paper, the Rayders actually look better than the score indicates. They racked up 263 yards on offense, 225 of which was on the ground. Junior Doug Sloan led all runners with 99 yards in 16 carries; Pat Mitchell had 75 yards in 15 carries and Thad Morgan 35 yards in 9 carries.

The Rayder passing game accounted for three completions out of 11 tries for 38 yards and two interceptions.

For St. Ignace, quarterback Rich Frazier went four for 12 for 57 yards and the 264 yards rushing gave the team 321 yards in total offense.

In the category of first downs, it was St. Ignace 13 and Charlevoix 10.

Defensively, Shawn Hartnett had a great night for the Rayders with 14 tackles. Dan Buday, Morgan, Pat Hamlin and Jeff Lemerand each had ten apiece. Alec Sheets came up with a fumble recovery as well.

Junior varsity loses heartbreaker to end season

The Charlevoix Rayder Junior Varsity closed out its season Thursday with an 18-16 loss to St. Ignace in a close game played at Kipke Field.

The team had a two win-seven loss record for the season.

The young Rayders scored first in the game when Tim Salmonson blocked a punt and scored on the play to put the team ahead 6-0. Matt Lignell made the score 8-0 when he ran the conversion.

The visitors, however, came back strong, scoring on a 35 yard pass play and again on a two yard run to take a 12-8 halftime lead.

Jody Putman, on a seven yard run, and Matt Lignell with a conversion scored on a run put the Rayders back in the game in the third period.

With 90 seconds left on the clock St. Ignace scored from the two yard line for the 18-16 victory.

In speaking of the game, Coach Brian Certa said of the team "They gave this one away". He did add however, that despite the team's record, he and Coach Barry Anderson have enjoyed working with team members as a team.

Charlevoix Area Hospital to hold meetings for diabetics and families

Diabetics, members of their families and friends are invited to attend a series of classes next week at Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Beginning Monday, November 14 at 7:00 p.m. and continuing Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings, at the same time, physicians, nurses and dietitians will present important information on diabetes, its treatment and the how to's of living with diabetes.

Diabetes is a disease which can be managed through medications, diet and exercise. Uncontrolled diabetes can have devastating side effects.

The Health Education Committee at Charlevoix Area Hospital has put together this four evening series to help people understand diabetes and learn techniques for living a full life with the disese. The series is free and open to the public.

Monday evening Thomas McKeon, M.D., Doctor of internal Medicine on the hospital and East Jordan Family Health Center staffs, will present an update on diabetes, outlining its history, causes, and testing procedures.

Living with diabetes, its emotional and psychological aspects, coping with complications, emergency management and the hope for the future, will be the topics covered by R.N. Michele Bonneville, Director of Inservice Training, Tuesday night beginning at 7:00.

Managing a diabetic diet, with specifics of meal preparation, the effects of alcobol, coping with holidays, family gatherings and parties, will be among the issues Dietitian Anne McCarthy will cover Wednesday and Thursday nights. The Charlevoix Area Hospital Dietitian will provide specific menu planning and shopping tips for diabetics and their families, as well as information on diabetic cookbooks and other references.

The four evening series for diabetics and people concerned about diabetes is a free service of Charlevoix Area Hopsital, as part of its program to encourage preventive medicine and a healthy community.

For further information and reservations call Charlevoix Area Hospital, 547-4024.

File No. 83-0477-CH

ORDER TO APPEAR

At a session of said Court, held at the County Building in the City of Charlevoix, on the 13th day of October, 1983.

Present: HONORABLE HARVEY C. VARNUM, District Court Judge

On the 22nd day of September, 1983, an action was filed by GERALD R. GALANTOWICZ and DINEEN M. GALANTOWICZ, Plaintiffs against, MICHAEL JOHN ZAVICAR and KAREN LEE GREATHOUSE, Defendants, in this Court to recover possession after forfeiture of the Land Contract dated January 27, 1979, between Gerald R. Galantowicz and Dineen M. Galantowicz, as sellers, and John A. Zavicar Jr. and Mary A. Zavicar, husband and wife, as purchasers, which land contract was assigned to defendants herein, for the premises described as:

Township of Wilson, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan: Beginning at a concrete monument on the Northeast corner of Lot 13 of Riverside Subdivision, as recorded in Liber 2 of Plats, Pages 147 and 148 of Charlevoix County Records as point of beginning for this description; thence Southerly along the West line of Pearsall Road, a County Road, 557 feet; thence West 424 feet, more or less, to the Easterly line of Lot 11; thence North along said lot line to a stake on the Northwest corner of Lot 13; thence South 58 degrees 04' East 172.70 feet; thence South 85 degrees 13' East 340 feet, more or less, to the point of beginning. The description being the North parts of Lots 13 and 13, Riverside Subdivision, Town 32 North, Range 6 West, Section 30.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Defendants, MICHAEL JOHN ZAVICAR and KAREN LEE GREATHOUSE, shall answer or take such other action as may be permitted by law on or before the 15th day of December, 1983. Failure to comply with this Order will result in a judgement by default against such defendants for the relief demanded in the complaint filed in this Court.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR Gaylord District Office

Foliage is presently 100 percent down and grouse hunting is the best it has been all season except that the woods are rather noisy because of dry leaves. Grouse population is not good but some fair success is reported from scattered locations. The grouse season will close November 14 and reopen on December 1 and remain open for the rest of the month.

Archery deer hunting success has been rather slow the past week as most hunters report deer are not moving. A change in the weather will perhaps change deer movement.

Pressure and success on rabbit, squirrel and waterfowl generally light over the District. Some northern flight ducks such as: canvas backs, redheads, ringneck ducks and scaup are still in the area.

Fishing pressure generally light on the inland lakes for pike, walleye and panfish and near normal on trout streams open for the extended fall season.

V.F.W. Auxiliary to welcome District President at November 17 meeting

Mrs. Janis Lantzer of Kalkaska, 13th District President of the V.F.W. Auxiliary, will attend the Nov. 17 meeting of the Charlevoix V.F.W. Auxiliary to be held at the post home at 8 p.m. members were advised at a recent meeting. Mrs. Lantzer will attend as a guest and will inspect the meeting. A good attendance is encouraged by the president, Mrs. Larry Finck. Mrs. Clarence Goldstick will be in charge of refreshments.

At the recent meeting, the group voted to contribute $200 toward the cost of the Viet Nam Memorial to be constructed in Petoskey to honor area View Nam casualties. The contribution was given in memory of two Charlevoix youths, Larry Elsinga and Richard Plumm.

Forty-six persons attended the recently monthly potluck supper for V.F.W. and Auxiliary members and prospective members. The suppers will be suspended until after the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays. However, the annual Christmas party will be held in December at a date to be determined. Mrs. Thomas Hodgkinson was hostess at the recent dinner.

Members were reminded that the time to send Christmas gifts to the Traverse City Veterans Hospital Facility is nearing. They were asked to bring gifts to the Nov. 17 meeting or to leave them at Staley's store. Gifts should not be wrapped though Christmas wrappings may be donated. Small personal items such as toiletries, snacks, small clothing items, etc., would be acceptable. The gifts will be mailed to Traverse City by the local auxiliary.

All but 10 members of the local Auxiliary have paid their 1984 dues it was reported at the meeting. All members are urged to pay their dues as soon as possible. They may be mailed to Mrs. Melvin Plum.

Christmas seals have been mailed from the National V.F.W. Children's Home. Dorothy Gilding, National Home chairman, urged that contributions be mailed as soon as possible because the home depends on these contributions for part of its support.

A total of 681 post and auxiliary members attended the annual fall Pow-wow held at Boyne Mountain recently. The gift items the local auxiliary sent for sale at the Cancer booth were acknowledged. Members were reminded that the local auxiliary is collecting green cash register tapes redeemed to support cancer research. They may be brought to meetings or given to Mrs. Kenneth Staley.

A letter was read from the past national president, Florence Taylor, acknowledging the local auxiliary's support of the Special Olympics. It asked the continued support for the 1984 Special Olympics.

Citations awarded to various committees for their work in behalf of various projects were distributed at the recent meeting. They included commendations to Mrs. Clarence Goldstick for publicity; Mrs. Kenneth Staley, Cancer; Mrs. Joseph Seidel, past president and Mrs. Goldstick, historian for participation in the All-State Presidents' Program; the Auxiliary for participation in the Special Olympics.

As part of its community service program, post and auxiliary members have assisted as volunteers each month in the food distribution for low-income bracket families conducted by the Charlevoix County Department of Social Services.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Angela Borths.

For Saints and Sinners

by Rev. Walter G. Hastings Community Church of God

I enjoy the inspiring story of the Chinese farmer who had one son and one horse. One day the horse ran off to the hills. Everybody came and said, "Oh, you lost your horse; what bad luck!" The old Chinese farmer replied, "How do you know it is bad luck?" And sure enough, that night the one horse came back and led twelve wild stallions with him. The one son closed the gate and the farmer had thirteen horses.

The nieghbors came again and exclaimed, "Oh, what good luck!" The old farmer answered, "How do you know it is good luck?" And sure enough, as the one son was trying to break one of the wild stallions, he was thrown off and broke his leg. The neighbors lamented, "Oh, what bad luck." Again, the Chinese farmer questioned, "How do you know it is bad luck?"

A short time later a Chinese warlord came through the town and drafted all the able-bodied young men and took them off to war with him. Those young men never returned. The old farmer's one son lived a long, full life.

Regardless of the circumstances, trust God. Your dream is His dream and His purpose is to turn you and me into servants, who are good stewards of His rich resources.

Official Notice

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PROPOSED ABANDONMENT OF A PORTION OF COUNTY HIGHWAY IN MARION TOWNSHIP

Take notice, that a petition has been filed with the Board of County Road Commissioners of Charlevoix County, Michigan, asking for the absolute abandonment and discontinuance of the following portion of the Charlevoix County Highway in Marion Township, Charlevoix County, described as follows, to wit;

The library: A valuable public resource

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix Public Library.

Around the year 1910, Pittsburg steel magnate Andrew Carnegie was giving away some of his huge fortune to towns and schools which wanted a library more than almost anything else.

The Charlevoix School District wanted a library and asked the Carnegie Foundation for money to build one. The money was received and a handsome library building was erected at the corner of State and Clinton Streets, on the site of the present First State Bank of Charlevoix building.

The cornerstone of that first library building remains today at the bank corner. It bears the simple legend, "CARNEGIE".

The Carnegie library was replaced in 1967 by the modern building on Clinton Street. The new library cost $167,000, financed two-thirds by government funds and one-third by local money, including donations. The land for the library was given by Dr. G. B. Saltonstati.

Today, the Charlevoix Public Library, still under the jurisdiction of the Charlevoix School District, is a busy community facility. During the past year, it operated on a budget of $94,654, most of which ($75,00) came from School District taxes. County penal fines supplied another $10,500, and the rest of the operating monies came from miscellaneous sources, including $500 for maintaining files of Nuclear Regulatory Commission publications.

This year, the library will spend about $19,000 for new books and $2,000 for periodicals. It has an inventory of about 18,000 books, broken down into five categories: adult non-fiction, 7,900; adult fiction, 4,450; junior fiction, 1,450,; junior non-fiction, 2,475; and junior easy (picture books), 1,550. Librarian Marybeth Wallick "cleaned house" of old and uncalled-for books, removed about 1,000 of them from the shelves, and sent them to the Lighthouse educational facility on Beaver Island.

The library bought 1,221 books last year, about the average purchased each year. Miss Wallick says she buys them on the basis of requests and appearances on best seller lists. However, the latter method can sometimes be dangerous, according to Miss Wallick, because the subject matter of best sellers often does not appeal to Charlevoix readers.

"Sometimes they want their name removed from the book card," she says with a smile.

Among the books recently purchased are several on computers and computer work, written for both children and adults.

Besides books, the library's reading material consists of seven newspapers, both daily and weekly, and 75 different magazines.

In the days of Andrew Carnegie, a library was a reading place and a place to get books to read at home or school. Today, that is quite different, witness the many other services provided by the Charlevoi Public Library:

Thirty-nine tape cassettes containing

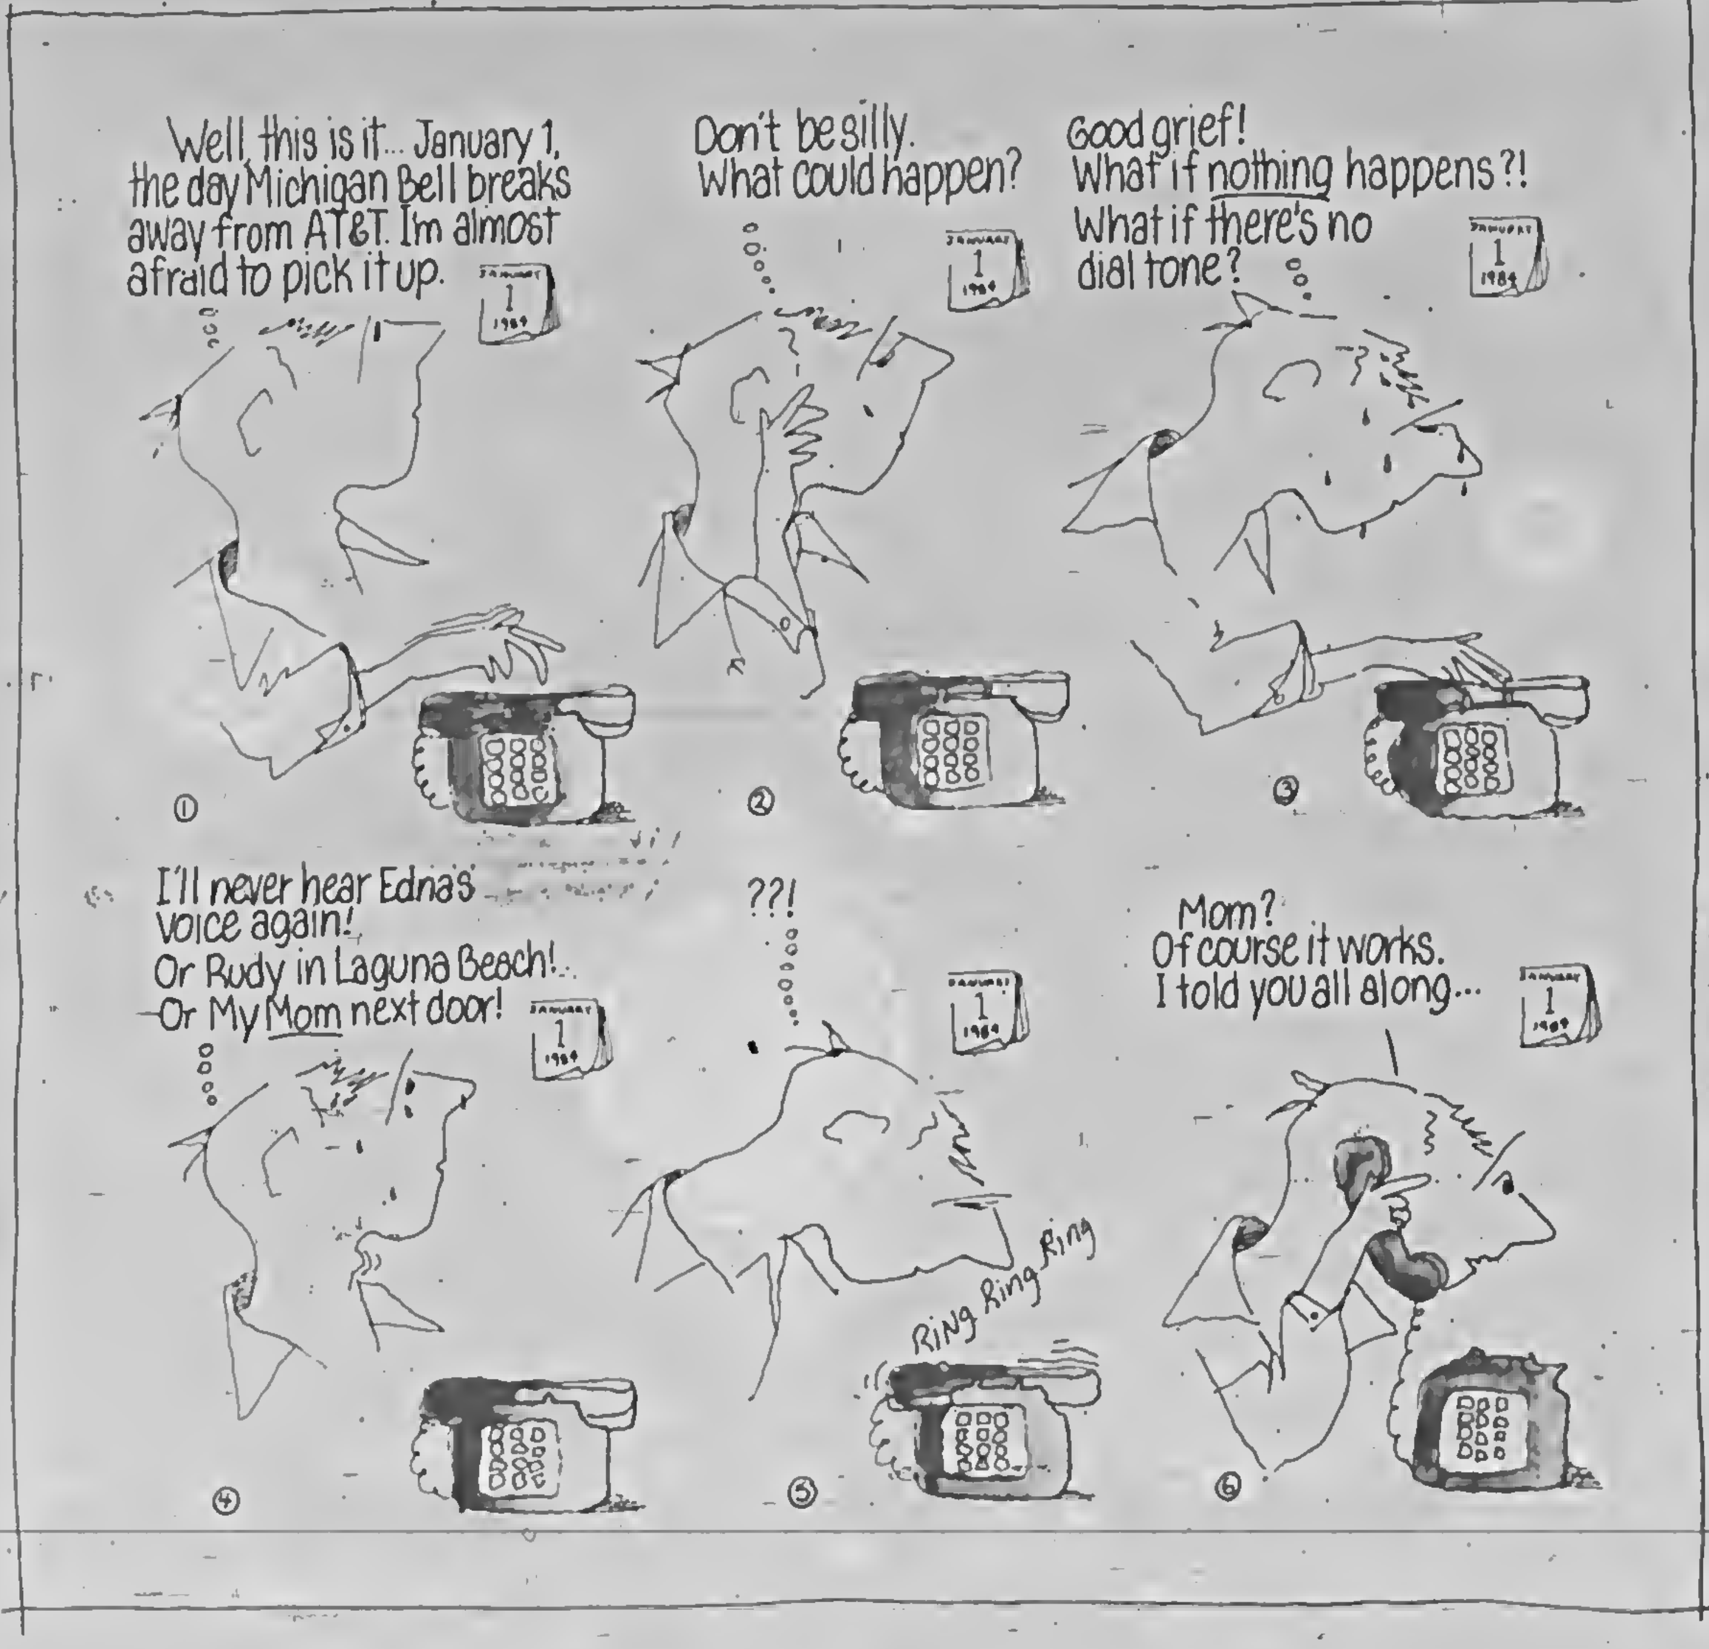
COUPON MUST BE PRESENTED WITH ORDER
GOOD FOR NOVEMBER, 1983



Well, this is it... January 1, the day Michigan Bell breaks away from AT&T. I'm almost afraid to pick it up.
①
Don't be silly. What could happen?
②
Good grief! What if nothing happens?! What if there's no dial tone?
③
I'll never hear Edna's voice again! Or Rudy in Laguna Beach! Or My Mom next door!
④
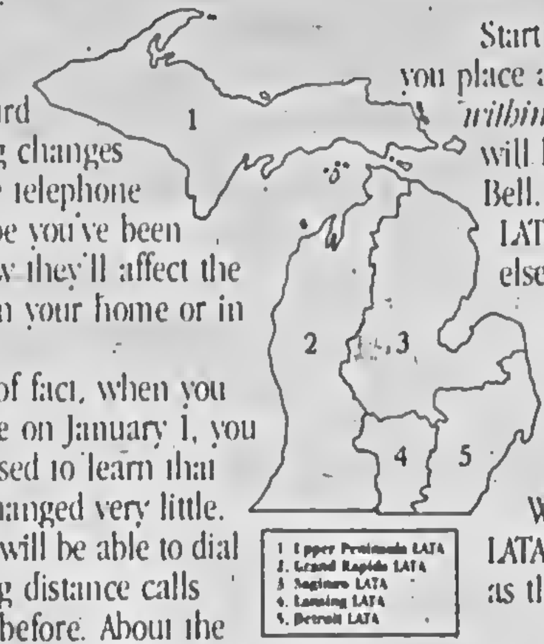
Ring Ring Ring
⑤
Mom? Of course it works. I told you all along...
⑥



Come January 1, you'll still get through to Edna in Engadine or your mom next door... as quickly and efficiently as ever.

You've probably heard about the sweeping changes taking place in the telephone industry, and maybe you've been wondering just how they'll affect the telephone service in your home or in your business.

As a matter of fact, when you pick up your phone on January 1, you may be very surprised to learn that your service has changed very little. For one thing, you will be able to dial your local and long distance calls exactly as you did before. About the only immediate change will be how your calls are billed. That's where LATAs come in.

LATA is a new word to all of us. It stands for "Local Access Transport Area." In Michigan there will be five LATAs (which happen to closely approximate our Area Codes—see map). For now, the important thing about LATAs is this:

Starting January 1, 1984, whenever you place a local or long distance call within the LATA in which you live, you will be billed for that call by Michigan Bell. When you place a call from your LATA to another LATA in Michigan or elsewhere, you will be billed by another long distance carrier. Some carriers may elect to have Michigan Bell include their charges in the bill Michigan Bell sends you. Others may not, and will bill you directly. We'll be telling you more about LATAs and other calling information as the details unfold.

So, as the expression goes—"not to worry." You'll still have your phone service—as good as ever—because we're working to make the changes in your phone company better changes for you. After all...

IT'S AT&T WE'RE SEPARATING FROM... NOT YOU.

Facts down the line...
Because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal, day-to-day telephone service matters, we are providing this toll-free number as a source for answers to the questions you may have about your changing telephone company. We also suggest that you watch for our informational messages in your newspapers and in your monthly telephone bills. 1 800 555-5000

Pine River Place hosts an old time Halloween party with fun for old and young

C.H. "Mac" MacFarland emcees the Pine River Place Halloween Party.

The small fry went "trickin' and treatin'" but the residents of Pine River stayed home and enjoyed an evening of entertainment in a real Halloween setting.

Krista Knight's young violin students, an ensemble of eight, presented a program of violin music followed by piano selections presented by Bill Horton who included a number of old favorites.

Marge Warner as Minnie Pearl's cousin Olga, from Sweden, brought down the house.

C.H. "Mac" McFarland and his uke with some old standards and a comedy routine that had the guests in stitches added to the humor. Mac was joined by Ron Putman for a number of duets.

"It was a great way to speend Halloween" was the comment heard most often as those present and their guests enjoyed refreshments of donuts donated by Oleson's Food, Glen's of Charlevoix and Edward's IGA and cider donated by Friskie's Orchards and Mr. McFarland.

The community room at Pine River Place was decorated in a Halloween motif by the Kappa Sigma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority. The Fourth Grade students at St. Mary's School provided the cutout wall decorations.

Obituaries

EDITH CURTIS

Mrs. Lloyd (Edith) Curtis, 78, a native of Charlevoix, died Nov. 1 in Ingham County as the result of an automobile accident. Memorial services were held Friday, Nov. 4, at the First Congregational Church of Owosso.

The former Edith Struthers was born in Charlevoix June 8, 1905, the daughter of Andrew and Ursula (Kopf) Struthers, and married Lloyd Curtis in East Jordan on June 12, 1929. He preceded her in death.

Mrs. Curtis was living in Haslett at the time of her death, having moved there from Sun City, Arizona in August.

Survivors include one son, Frederick, of Owosso, nine grandchildren, three great grandchildren, one brother, Homer Struthers, of Red Bluff, California, and one sister, Dorothy G'Schwend, of Los Angeles.

CLAIR L. BROWN

Funeral services for Clair L. Brown, 58, of Ellsworth, were held Nov. 3 at the Hastings Funeral Home in Ellsworth. The Rev. Robert Hebron of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of East Jordan officiated. Interment was in the Southern Cemetery at Central Lake.

Mr. Brown died Nov. 1 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital shortly after being admitted via ambulance.

Born at Central Lake Oct. 29, 1925, Mr. Brown moved to the Westland area in 1932. He was a Navy veteran, having served in the Pacific area during World War II. He was a carpenter by trade in Westland where he was a member of a Carpenters Union and a life member of AmVets Post No. 171 of Wayne. On Jan. 8, 1980, he was married to the former Mrs. Rosemary Murray at Las Vegas, Nev. They made their home in Westland until moving to their present home in Banks Township in 1982.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. June Grudenich of Bellevue; three sons, Jack L. of Romulus, Joseph I. and James C. of Bellevue; a step-son, Joseph Bongiovanni of St. Clair Shores; five step-daughters, Mrs. David (Pamela) Selfridge of Houston, Tex., Mrs. David (Carol) McLean of Saginaw, Mrs. Christopher (Jane) Ciesielski of Westland, Candace Olson and Erin Murray of Ellsworth; nine grandchildren and four sisters, Mrs. Clyde (Marie) Weller of Rosamond, Calif., Mrs. Elaine Pruewitt and Mrs. Darlene Holloway, both of Fields, Ore., and Mrs. William (Ellose) Bickley of Fowlerville.

LEWIS ESSENBURG

Funeral services for Lewis Essenburg, 73, of Atwood, who died Nov. 1 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held Nov. 5 at the Atwood Christian Reformed Church. The Rev. Audred Spriensma officiated. Interment was in the Atwood Cemetery.

The Hastings Funeral Home of Ellsworth was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Essenburg was born in Banks Township, Antrim County, April 7, 1910. He was married March 8, 1930, to the former Della Shooks at Ellsworth. They always resided on a farm in the Atwood area except during the years between 1964 and 1971 when they lived in Grand Rapids. He was a member of the Atwood Christian Reformed Church and the Ellsworth Senior Citizens.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Douglas (Lorraine) Way of Charlevoix; three sons, Theodore, of Cutlerville, James of Jenison, and William of Viroqua, Wis.; 13 grandchildren; one great-grand-daughter; three brothers, Henry of Florida, Jake and Julius of Grand Rapids and two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Wynsma of Ellsworth and Mrs. Grace Bieberle of Grand Rapids.

The family suggests memorials to the Ebenezer Christian School in Ellsworth or the Atwood Christian Reformed Church.

ROBERT A. CAMPBELL

Funeral services for Robert A. Campbell, 83, father of Mrs. Edward McNamara, were held Monday at the Vanderwall Funeral home in East Jordan. The Rev. Dr. Donald Ferguson of the First Presbyterian Church officiated. Burial was in Sunset Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Campbell died Nov. 4 at Little Traverse Hospital.

Mr. Campbell was former president and chairman of the board of the Northwestern State Bank of East Jordan. He was associated with the bank in various capacities from 1926 until 1964. He was also the founder of the R.A. Campbell Insurance Agnecy in East Jordan and, at the time of his death, was a partner in the business. He was a member of the First Presbyterian Church and a Charter member of Rotary Internal of East Jordan.

Born in Ellsworth Nov. 15, 1899, he moved to Mancelona with his parents as an infant. He was graduated from the Mancelona High School in 1917 and attended the University of Michigan. On Aug. 29, 1920, he was married to the former Mildred L. Schlienz at Mancelona. They had lived in East Jordan since the 1920's. Mrs. Campbell preceded him in death, Feb. 23, 1982.

He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Sally McNamara of Charlevoix and Mrs. Joseph (Jean) McNamara of Ludington; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

The family suggests memorials to the East Jordan Ambulance Fund.

GIZELA A. OLSZEWSKI

Funeral services for Mrs. Gizela A. Olszewski, 86, of Charlevoix who died Nov. 3 at Meadowbrook Medical Care Facility, were held Monday at St. Mary's Church in Charlevoix. The Rev. R. Dale Magoon officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery. The Rosary was recited Sunday evening at the Winchester Funeral Home.

Born in Pest, Hungary, April 26, 1893, the former Gizela Prekale came to the United States with her parents at the age of 14 years. They lived in Buffalo, N.Y., and later in Chicago where she was married to Anton C. Olszewski in 1917. They came to Charlevoix to make their home in the early 1930s. Mr. Olszewski preceded her in death in March 1982. She was a member of St. Mary's Church.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Patrick J. (Eleanor) Moran of Charlevoix, Mrs. Dorothy Luhrs of Rapid City, Mrs. Edmund (Beth) Wasel of Traverse City, Mrs. Lionel (Margaret) Mayville of Bay City, Tex., and Mrs. Jack (Adeline) Reese of Essexville; 10 grandchildren; 15 great-grandchildren; two great-great-granchildren and one sister, Mrs. Edward (Marie) Diach of Charlevoix.

CECIL J. ADDINGTON

Funeral services for Cecil J. Addington, 91, of Ellsworth who died Nov. 5 at Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held at the First Congregational Church in Charlevoix, Tuesday. The Rev. Philip Schairbaum officiated. Interment was in the Ellsworth Cemetery.

Born Nov. 28, 1891, in Scott County, Va., Mr. Addington was married June 14, 1920 at Vicknel, Ind., to the former Thelma Frink. They made their home at Rapid City where he was serving as the superintendent of schools. In 1922 they moved to Kalamazoo where he entered what is now Western Michigan University to earn a degree. He graduated in 1923 and during the ensuing years did graduate work at Wayne State University. He taught science for 40 years at schools in Midland, Capac and Davison and for 25 of the 40 years at Northwestern High School and at Chadsy High School in the Detroit School System. He returned in 1961.

In his younger days he won fame as a long distance runner and while a student at Puget Sound, Wash., set a North American record for 5¼ miles that has never been broken. He is a member of the Track Hall of Fame at Albion College and Western Michigan University.

He was an avid horticulturist and was widely known for his work with dahlias. He was a member and past officer of the Dahlia Society of Michigan and a judge at the Dahlia Trail Grounds at Michigan State University.

He was a veteran of World War I having served with the U.S. Army in France. He was a member of the Redford American Legion Post and the Detroit Schoolmen's Club.

In 1977 they moved to Ellsworth to make their home. He and Mrs. Addington were associate members of the First Congregational Church in Charlevoix.

Surviving are his wife; four daughters, Ellen Addington of Ellsworth, Mrs. Donald (Jeanne) Goodrich of Detroit, Mrs. Karnik (Marilyn) Mossolan of Northville, and Mrs. David (Virginia) Pickens of Redford; two sons, Jack of Howell and Robert of Ortonville; 21 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren.

The Hastings Funeral Home of Ellsworth was in charge of arrangements.

To hold Book Fair

The Charlevoix Elementary School Annual Book Fair will be held Wednesday through Friday, November 9, 10 and 11 sponsored by the school's Parent Advisory Council.

Over 175 titles, for pre-school ages through teenagers, will be on sale at the fair which is to be held in the Elementary School library.

Hours on Wednesday and Thursday will be from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. and on Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Proceeds from the book sale will be used to purchase books and equipment for the Elementary School.

FROM YOUR GREATER MICHIGAN FORD DEALER WORLD'S BEST SELLING CAR
NOW...GETS EVEN BETTER!
INTRODUCING
1984 FORD ESCORT DIESEL
WORLD LEADER AT AGE 3

Just three years ago we introduced Ford Escort as the car engineered to take on the world. And has it ever! Our little engineering marvel far outsold every import carline in America its first year . . . And now Ford Escort is the world's best selling car. Making it a world leader at the very tender age of three.

And now the world's best selling car gets even better.

The new Escort Diesel actually rates 4 miles per gallon higher than a Honda 750 motorcycle . . . And because this diesel is an Escort, there's more to talk about than great economy.

Like the fact that it has more passenger room than a Honda Accord. More standard features than a Toyota Tercel. There's even a fully independent suspension system for a smoother ride than a Nissan Sentra. All of which means Ford Escort not only gives you a big advantage over the Honda 750 motorcycle, it also beats more than its share of cars. The best-built American cars.

When we say "Quality is Job One," we are talking about more than a commitment. We are talking about results. An independent survey proves Ford makes the best-built American cars. The survey measured owner-reported problems during the first three months of ownership of 1983 cars designed and built in the U.S.

EST. MPG. CITY
68
EST. MPG. HWY.

*For comparison. Honda 750 mileage is obtained from EPA emissions testing and is not an official rating. Your mileage may vary depending on speed, trip length, weather. Actual hwy mileage lower. Escort Diesel mileage applicable to sedans with FS engine and without power steering and A/C.
 Based on EPA Interior Volume Index.

wide-spread subject matter from Shakespeare to Oscar Wilde; 456 records for both adults and children; a library for the blind, including records, tape cassettes, large print books, and the Reader's Digest in large print (donated each year by a friend of the library); three 16 mm. movie projectors, two 35 mm. movie projectors (one film strip and one slide), two eight mm. projectors (one sound and one silent), one overhead projector, and one screen; a coin-operated copier; a microfilm viewer; Bob Miles' seven-volume collection of pictures of old Charlevoix for students of local history; membership in the Northland Library Cooperative, enabling the library to search for and copy information requested by library patrons; and a table of "free, you take them" magazines (brought in by library patrons).

To make the library a pleasant place to read and study, there are several works of art. There are 120 dolls showing fashions from Adam to 1940, donated by Rosa Nettleton; several pieces of sculpture donated by Nathan Cummings; an Earl Young painting; two tapestries by Willie Joseph; a new oil painting featuring northern Michigan lighthouses; a model ship made by prisoners at Alcatraz; and many other items. The Albert Pattison sculpture in front of the library was also a gift of Nathan Cummings.

Children are an important part of library activities. Right now, a Thanksgiving coloring contest is in progress and there is a story hour one morning a week for very young children, conducted by Anne Pfluecke. On Saturdays during January and February, there is an elementary school children's program featuring various projects in art and handicraft.

The lower level of the Charlevoix Public Library is a place of many uses. It is used by Chip Counseling Center, Girl Scouts, the Garden Club, the Women's Club (for its annual book sale), the Sports Boosters Club, the Welcome Wagon, and a new organization, "Parents Who Care", among others.

The library is open six days a week, although the hours differ by the day. They are: Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays from 1 p.m. to 8 p.m.; Tuesdays from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.; Fridays from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m., and Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Miss Wallick has been head librarian for ten years. She is assisted by Louise Everts, full time librarian; Cathy Liotta, part time librarian; and Lois Williams, custodian.

There is a five-person advisory committee which works as sort of liaison between library personnel and the Charlevoix School Board. The committee consists of John Hess, Connie Raymer, Flo Wojan, Jean Heininger, and Pat Sell. Doris Pearl is the member of the school board directly responsible for library matters at this time.

Looking toward the future, Miss Wallick is enthusiastic about the Northland Library Cooperative's computer project for library loans. All reading materials of the 17 Cooperative members will be computerized so they can easily be located to fill requests. Eventually this computer system will be tied in with the state library system.

In a tough year, an advertising cutback is the easy way out.

(out of business that is).

Urge precaution for diseases

District Heath Department Number Three is warning parents of the continuing danger of childhood diseases and urging them to make sure that all of their children are fully immunized.

The diseases against which immunisations are needed, the District Health Department reports, are polio, measles, mumps, rubella, diphtheria, pertussis and tetanus.

"Many people believe that these diseases no longer exist or that immunizations are no longer important," said Carol Paston, R.N.; M.S.N. Director of Personal Health Services for the District Health Department. "The truth is that all of those diseases still strike unprotected children, and some of them remain fairly common."

The District Health Department recommends a series of immunisations that should be started at 2 months of age for most children. The series should be completed prior to the childs entry into kindergarten.

A tetanus and diphtheria booster should be given to adults and children every 10 years. This booster is often neglected by parents, and by students at at about the ninth grade level.

Immunisations are offered by District Health Department Number 3 at Charlevoix County Building Annex on the second Monday of every month from 1:00 - 3:00 p.m.

'Tis the season to be jolly ...
...If you're a member of the First State Bank Christmas Club

Mary Livingston got her start the hard way. "Three years ago I had been planning for Christmas. A week before Christmas my car broke down and depleted my money saved for Christmas. The following year I opened a Christmas Club and now I don't have to worry about where the money will come from."

Not everyone uses their Christmas Club money for Christmas presents. Some members simply use it as a regular savings program for taxes, end of the year expenses, or as a savings bonus. First State Bank invites you to join the 1984 Christmas Club beginning Nov. 4 or anytime thereafter. You can join from one dollar to 20 dollars a week and First State Bank will pay 5¼ % interest on completed clubs.

Muma wins by three; amendment fails

Last week's general election in Charlevoix saw voters of the Third Ward elect F. Earl Muma to City Council by a slim, three-vote margin.

Muma topped his opponent, Paul Burlew, 92 to 89 in the only contested council race. Muma, director of Emergency Services for Charlevoix County, returns to the council after a two-year abscence following an unsuccessful run for mayor in 1981. Burlew was making his second try for a council seat.

Incumbent Third Ward council representative Clement Olach did not run for re-election.

In the city's other two wards, Michael Greeley was unopposed in the First Ward and received 97 votes to fill the seat to be vacated by Dr. Jeffrey Porter and incumbent Robert Timms received 69 votes in his uncontested race for re-election.

Deanne Balch, who recently resigned her position as City Clerk prompting council to revise it as a part-time job, was unopposed on the ballot and received 296 votes for re-election.

A proposed amendment to the city charter that would have allowed elected city officials to serve in more than one office was overwhelming rejected by a 267-112 margin.

The amendment would have permitted council members to return to their dual role as the Board of Appeals.

The off-year election attracted a very light voter turnout in the city with only 397, or 16 percent, of Charlevois's 2,417 registered voters casting ballots.

Parental group to combat substance abuse among youth

by DAVE KNIGHT

"A group of parents from the Charlevoix area have been meeting for the past few months. We are concerned about the use and abuse of alcohol and other drugs by school age children. We feel this is a growing problem in our community and want to do something about it."

So begins a letter sent recently to various law enforcement personnel, school administrators, teachers, counselors and other officials announcing the formation of a new group named Parents Who Care (PWC).

Instrumental in organizing the group is Dr. John Hall of Charlevois who sees an urgent need for parental involvement in efforts to deal with alcohol and drug abuse among local young people.

"Within our group are both the parents who have esperienced a problem with their children and those who have not experienced the problem but who are scared to death of the prospect," said Hall.

The initial meeting of the PWC has been scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday, November 21 at the Charlevoix Public Library. Substance abuse counselor Robert Sell of the Chip Counseling Center will be the featured speaker at the meeting with a public forum to follow his presentation.

According to Hall, the PWC plans a four-part emphasis.

The first phase will be education.

"We want to let people know what is going on without scaring them," said Hall.

Secondly, the PWC hopes to offer support to concerned parents.

"We hope to begin an eschange among parents who think they might have a problem, who want to talk about it and find out more about it," said Hall. "Many parents find themselves feeling inadequate in dealing with their children's problems and while we do not pretend to have all the answers, we at least all have something in common, something we can share."

By organizing, he added, local parents can be more effective in dealing with the situation.

Thirdly, PWC will make an effort to identify the problems of alcohol and drug abuse among local school age children and direct those with a problem to the appropriate agency for help.

"The facilities are out there and they are doing a reasonably good job when they get the opportunity," said Hall. "But in the past it has been too much a matter of luck and chance when a child finds help early enough."

A fourth and key role for PWC, according to Hall, will be to try to get youth to "accept the responsibilities for their actions and hopefully say 'no' sometimes."

"Children today are having to make decisions about using alcohol and drugs not only daily but in some cases hourly," said Hall. "Obviously the parent cannot be present for all these decisions but what we can do is offer help and support for the child so that he or she can more capably deal with the decision when it occurs."

Hall admits that the tendency of teenagers to resist authority and interference in their lives does not make things easy.

"If there is one word to describe a 13-year old today it is omnipotent," said Hall. "Kids today are convinced that they can handle anything, any problem."

Hall also wants to avoid assigning blame for the problem of substance abuse among youth.

"We want to be totally non-judgmental. By pointing fingers, we just break down into arguments and nothing is solved."

Chx. Township prevails in dispute over access road to beach off Michigan Ave.

by PEG OHLE

A legal document executed 85 years ago was upheld in court last week, permitting Charlevoix Township to retain ownership of a 66-foot strip of Lake Michigan beach and access to it.

The property in question is reached by a footpath from Michigan Avenue just south of McSauba Road. On August 12, 1898, one Bessie W. Pattengill executed a quit claim deed to Charlevoix Township for this property for "highway purposes". Although Charlevoix Township did not improve the property for vehicular traffic, the strip of land has been used through the years for access to the lake by residents of both Charlevoix Township and the City of Charlevoix.

In June of last year, Virginia Y. Abbott and Elizabeth Hodgson, whose families own properties adjacent to the disputed parcel, filed suit in Charlevoix Circuit Court contending they owned the land because it had never been formally accepted by the Township Board and had never been used for "highway purposes".

Visiting Circuit Court Judge Nicholas Lambros, who rendered the decision in favor of Charlevoix Township, rules that there was sufficient evidence to prove that Ms. Pattengill did indeed intend to deed the property to the Township and the Township accepted it. He also pointed out that the Township's ownership of the property had not been contested for 85 years and the Township had maintained it for that length of time.

As for the noise and litter supposedly created by people using the beach, Judge Lambros suggested that the Abbotts and Hodgsons work with the Township toward solving the problems.

Attorney Dick Zerafa of Elk Rapids represented the plaintiffs in the suit and Charlevoix attorney Roy Hayes represented the Township. Sherman Chamberlain, Jr. of Charlevoix Abstract Engineering Co. prepared the surveying maps which were used in the defense.

Ghost Ship!

Halloween project has become an annual tradition

by GREG CORNING

On a chill, silver-moon, dark night there was acted out the tale of a spectre ship so haunted as to lessen by comparison all sea-stories ever told of horrible wrecks, ghostly sailors and endless voyages. Or so it must have seemed to hundreds of young, delightedly frightened visitors to the U.S. "Ghost Guard" Cutter Mesquite on Halloween night.

In what has become, after six years, almost a community institution, the crew of the Mesquite, a 180-foot buoy tender homeported in Charlevoix, did its best to be scarily memorable for the more than 750 children and adult guests who walked through the succession of grisly or comic-horror scenes presented aboard. The frequency of frightened yelps from guests indicated that the "Ghosties" succeeded in this, their sixth annual such "mission".

Succeed they should have, for the hours of work and the amount of community support that went into the project.

"I was amazed at the extent of preparation and the scale of it," said LCDR Robert Young, Commanding Officer of the Mesquite.

Planning for the event began at a morale committee meeting a month beforehand. At about that time, members of the crew started soliciting support from the community. Such support was ample, including gifts of cash and treats, and the donating of time to help make up the crew into their respective characters.

"It wouldn't happen without them," said LCDR Young. "We need them (the community) to successfully have a haunted ship."

Work on transforming the appearance of the ship itself began in earnest at about noon on October 31, the day of

Coast Guard, KCB give local home a new life

The scraping of old paint and the applying of a bright new coat of fresh paint to the house at 406 Mason St. was done by 22 members of the crew of the U.S.C.G.C. Mesquite as a community service project. Pictured on the ladders are (r to l) Bill Giles, Mike Elder and Gary Greene. The project was a community beautification effort spearheaded by Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc.

Through the cooperation of Keep Charlevoix Beautiful, Inc., the crew of the U.S. Coast Guard Cotter Mesquite and others, the western-most section of Mason Street has been made more beautiful with the painting of the house at 406 Mason St., owned by Marva Poole of Charlevoix and Fort Pierce, Fla.

Working toward its goal of keeping Charlevoix beautiful, the KCB organization selected a number of local homes whose repainting would upgrade their neighborhood. The Poole home was finally selected.

With the assistance of Lt. Cdr. Robert Young, 22 members of the crew of the Mesquite volunteered their time and efforts, Carson Lumber Co. supplied the paint, Keep Charlevoix Beautiful the brushes and James Block the ladders, the work was accomplished recently and the house at 406 Mason St. has a bright new look.

"The idea of beautifying the city through a house painting project was suggested at one of our 'think' sessions. We enlisted several people to aid in the effort, and when a house was finally selected, we enlisted the assistance of the Mesquite crew, men who have shown that they are public spirited, to carry out the mission. The men from the ship gave up time on weekends to accomplish the task" Bruce MacArthur who heads KCB, said, adding that "great things can be accomplished through cooperation such as this."

The house at 406 Mason St. owned by Marva Poole has taken on a bright new look through the efforts of the U.S. Coast Guard Mesquite crew, Keep Charlevoix Beatuiful, Inc., Carson Lumber Co. and others who contributed time and effort to the beautification project.

City taxes still at county's low end

by PEG OHLE

When property owners in the City of Charlevoix and surrounding townships receive their tax bills next month, they should feel lucky, painful as that may seem.

They will find that their taxes have increased an aversge of 4.11 percent, but those taxes are still some of the lowest in Charlevoix County.

The very lowest taxes in the County are those levied in Peaine Township on Beaver Island, where the taxes on a parcel of property with a State Equalized Valuation of $80,000 would be $1,087.28. Taxes on property in St. James Township on Beaver Island would be only slightly higher – $1,181.63 on an $80,000 parcel.

On the mainland, taxes in the Charlevoix School District portion of Marion Township would be $1,383.52, and in the Charlevoix School District portions of Eveline and Hayes Townships and all of Norwood Township, taxes on an $80,000 parcel would be $1,383.73.

Taxes in Charlevoix Township, on a similar parcel, would be $1,423.71, and in the City of Charlevoix, they would be $1,883.73.

The only township taxing units in the County with a lower tax rate than those in the Charlevoix area are the Vanderbilt School District portion of Chandler Township, where the taxes would be $1,364.53; the Ironton School District portion of Eveline Township, where the taxes would be $1,361.73; and in the Vanderbilt School District portion of Hudson Township, where they would be $1,403.40.

The City of Charlevoix has the lowest tax rate of any of the three cities in the County. The taxes on an $80,000 parcel in Boyne City would be $2,296.93, and in East Jordan they would be $2,246.45.

Taxes on an $80,000 parcel of land in other taxing units would be:

Bay Township, $1,697.32; Boyne City School District portion of Boyne Valley Township, $1,659.73; Boyne Falls School District portion of Boyne Valley Township, $1,582.53; Petoskey School District portion of Chandler Township, $1,481.73; Evangeline Township, $1,831.30; Boyne City School District portion of Eveline Township, $1,697.32; East Jordan School District portion of Eveline Township, $1,646.45; Boyne City School District portion of Hayes Township, $1,697.32; Petoskey School District portion of Hayes Township, $1,481.73.

Boyne Falls School District portion of Hudson Township, $1,561.40; Ellsworth School District portion of Marion Township, $1,704.72; Boyne City School District portion of Melrose Township, $1,696.40; Petoskey School District portion of Melrose Township, $1,576.40.

Boyne Falls School District portion of Melrose Township, $1,599.20; East Jordan School District portion of South Arm Township, $1,648.45; Ellsworth School District portion of South Arm Township, $1,704.93; Boyne City School District portion of Wilson Township, $1,818.55; and East Jordan School District portion of Wilson Township, $1,645.27.

The average County-wide tax (including both townships and cities) on an $80,000 parcel of property would be $1,662.64.

The County is levying 4.70 mills this year plus .1533 voted mills for the transit system, and the Char-Em Intermediate School District is levying 1.74 mills.

The several townships are levying millage at varying rates, from .9947 in Marion and Wilson Townships to 9.2540 in St. James Township. City millage rates are 47.0933 in Charlevoix, 56.1317 in East Jordan, and 57.4233 in Boyne City.

The largest tax factor that accounts for differences in tax rates from one taxing unit to another in the County is the millage levied by the local school systems. They are:

Beaver Island, 13.6934 mills; Ironton, 26.60 mills; Charlevoix, 27 mills; Vanderbilt, 27 mills; Petoskey, 29.45 mills; Boyne Falls, 30.47 mills, Boyne City, 32.90 mills; East Jordan, 33.5680 mills; and Ellsworth, 35.03 mills.

Altogether, taxes levied on Charlevoix County property for 1983 should bring in $15,845,421.54, to be divided as follows:

County government, $1,791,880.23; township and city governments, $2,171,730; local school systems, $11,163,073.78; intermediate school district, $660,291.13; and transit sytatem, $58,445.80.

The above information was taken from the "Charlevoix County 1983 Township and City Clerks Report and Apportionment Report", prepared by the County Equalization Department.

Results from Assessment Tests termed "very good"

The results of the annual Michigan Assessment Tests given in September of each year have been returned to the Charlevoix Public Schools. They reveal that Charlevoix students in the fourth, seventh and tenth grades continue to score good grades. How they stack up against other students in the state, however, will not be known until later in the school year when these results are released according to Condit Drury, Middle School Counselor.

The assessment tests are given each year to measure the mastery of minimal objectives in the areas of math and reading Drury explained.

At the fourth grade level, 81.5 percent of the 92 students taking the test mastered the objectives in both math and reading.

In the seventh grade, 77.2 percent of the 123 students mastered the objectives in math and 86.2 percent mastered the reading objectives.

In the tenth grade, 78.2 percent of the class of 101 students mastered the math and 85.1 percent the reading objectives.

Drury classified the results of the tests on all levels as "very good". The reading results are slightly higher than math on this year's results. Efforts will be made during the year to raise those levels to reflect somewhere near 79 or 80 percent, Drury said.

A comparison of local and state results will be made available when state results are received, probably early in January.

The results of the tests will be sent to parents beginning this week. If they have any questions regarding the results, parents are asked to contact Mr. Drury at 547-3214.

Plans made for Community Thanksgiving Service

The traditional Community Thanksgiving Service sponsored by the Charlevoix Ministerial Association will be held at the First Congregational Church at 7:30 p.m. Thanksgiving Eve, Wednesday, Nov. 23.

Participating in the service will be the host church, United Methodist Chruch, Church of the Nazarene, Community Church of God, First Baptist Church and Christ Episcopal Church. Other churches will be conducting their own Thanksgiving Services, the Rev. Phillip Schairbaum, pastor of the host church, said.

The Rev. David W. Yingling will deliver the Thanksgiving message.

All churches will be represented in the service and in the choir which will sing traditional hymns and the special hymn anthem "Now Thank We Call Our God". In addition to the organ, there will be a trumpet and tympany accompaniment. There will also be traditional Thanksgiving hymns sung in the native American language by Jay Oliver.

The offering at the service will be used by the Ministerial Association to help clothe and feed the needy, aid interants and support other works of the organizatio.

Worshippers of all denominations are invited to join in the community Thanksgiving service.

Christian Science service set

An hour-long Thanksgiving Day service will be held at the Christian Science Society, Clinton Street, Charlevoix at 11 a.m. The community is invited to attend.

Selections will be read from the Bible with correlative selections from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy. These will be followed by a period for those attending to express their thankfulness.

The service also includes The Lord's Prayer, three hymns, and the reading of the President's Thanksgiving Proclamation.

One shot at an insulator can drop a city in its tracks.
I know, because I'm a Consumers Power lineman, and it's my job to search for the cause of a power failure.
People who shoot out insulators forget that a single shot can bring down a house, a factory, a hospital or even an entire city.
That's why Consumers Power offers substantial rewards for information resulting in either the arrest and arraignment of persons responsible for damage to our property.

Knight on the Town

Let's get chopping

by Dave Knight

Let the record show that Charlevoix logged its first measurable snowfall of the season last Friday, an event that sent scads of those locals who heat with wood scurrying toward the forest to complete the final phases of that annual rite known as Getting The Wood In.

Just as some of the lower animals need certain visual stimuli to trigger neccessary biological functions, the human who heats with wood usually needs the impact of seeing snow on the ground to disengage himself from indoor pursuits and get serious about tending to his wood pile.

Initial phases of Getting The Wood In start months earlier, of course. Few of them involve any actual physical activity.

It is April when the wood heater first hears that tiny voice from within:

You really ought to start Getting The Wood In right now

But the weather at this point is warming. There are gardens to plant, screens to put up...plenty of other chores more important than Getting The Wood In. The tiny voice is more or less ignored and can be silenced without much effort.

The next internal message comes about June:

Start on the wood pile now and it will be nice and seasoned come December.

Cut wood in June? With fish to catch, sailboats to sail, beaches to patrol, baseball to watch? Come, now. There's a whole summer ahead to cut wood.

Trouble is, there is also a whole summer ahead to go fishing, sailing, etc. Getting The Wood In once more gets bumped down on the priority list.

Before one realizes it, Labor Day is at hand. That perfectly named holiday triggers the little voice again which pleads with increasing urgency:

Better get going on that wood.

With summer's distractions eliminated, one might think September would see a flurry of Getting The Wood In. This is not the case, however.

Blame the inactivity that sets in at this point on an eight-letter word! Football. Saturdays and Sundays are the days one should be spending Getting The Wood In but they are game days. And one cannot hear the play-by-play over the racket of a chain saw.

It is not until the end of October that the novelty of football begins to wane. Temperatures gradually decrease and the voice is back, getting louder:

The wood, the wood.

Almost everything is ready now. The wood heater realizes that his time is at hand. The oil furnace kicks on at night and as it chugs away, he sees in his mind a meter running like at a gas pump. He recalls the last fuel bill and resolves to head for the woods "next weekend". It is time for Getting The Wood In.

But is it? One weekend it rains. On another there is a wedding to attend. Hunting season opens. October is gone. The wood heater, poised for action and fully cognizant of his responsibilities, wanders aimlessly around the house to find any little odd job. He still needs that one additional nudge, that certain stimulus.

On an early November morning it happens. He awakes, looks out the window, sees white and is jolted by the internal voice, now booming:

GET THAT DAMN WOOD IN!

Now we see action. The chips begin to fly and the wood pile comes to life again. Shoulders ache. Backs throb. Getting The Wood In is underway with a vengance.

Neither the cold bite of winter nor the dark of night stops him. He spends every spare moment either gathering timber from the woods or out back with the splitting wedge.

Eventually the job is completed. The wood heater leans back on his maul and surveys his wood pile, stacked neatly. He is ready for winter. Let the drifts cover the roads, let the Arabs embargo their oil. Not to worry. The wood is in.

As the aroma of woodsmoke curls around the house, the wood heater settles back into his easy chair. But for an instant he hears again the little voice:

Next year, start in April.

Soo review

by Bob Clock

The Clocks paid their yearly visit to The Soo over the weekend — an area still struggling to overcome the lingering effects of the Recession. The shipping season, of course, in in the home stretch and there weren't many ships negotiating the Soo Locks when we arrived Friday night. Tonnage apparently won't set any records this year.

However, the relic-festooned Antlers Restaurant on the American side is still booming — literally. The horns and bells behind the bar started sounding as soon as we entered the side door — and they didn't stop until we were safely seated and the kids were thoroughly embarrassed.

But the food was so superb they want to go back.

We all got a kick out of the pages-long menu with its sage observations about life and times in North America's second oldest permanently settled community.

AFTER DINNER, we crossed to the Canadian side, and I kicked myself for never before making the trip after dark. From the crest of the International Bridge, the lights of the Canadian Soo were breathtaking, stretching as far as the eye could see along the St. Marys River and up the foothills of the Algoma Range. It reminded me of the aerial view of Honolulu in the December issue of National Geographic.

When we walked up to the main desk at the Water Tower Inn, the clerk pulled out our teletyped reservation form from her folder before we had a chance to identify ourselves.

"How did you know?" I asked.

"You look like a Bob," she explained. Only she spoke broad Canadian and pronounced it "Baub."

WE SPENT MOST of the weekend in the pool, whirlpool, sauna, exercise room and game room — a nice-warm, wet way to start a long, cold winter.

The Canadian Soo, of course, is a steel town — something like Pittsburgh — and is suffering like all steel towns from a dearth of business. The unemployment rate is running about 20 percent and there apparently is not much relief in sight.

However, the Soo is the playground, financial hub and shopping center for a broad swatch of Northern Ontario, so the retail and entertainment industries are managing to keep afloat. We ran into folks from Sudbudy, Smooth Rock and Toronto.

Saturday morning we visited the Station Mall downtown and most of the shops had their fair share of shoppers and browsers — with Christmas still five weeks away.

A "Second City" road show appeared at the Water Tower both nights we were there. Tickets sold for $9.50 for the early shows and $11.50 for the late shows. The second show on Saturday night was sold out well in advance — a good sign that the economy isn't quite as bad as the jobless rate would indicate.

EN ROUTE NORTH Friday night we were surprised at how few automobiles were heading our way, considering the opening of deer hunting season was just around the corner. By Sunday afternoon, traffic had picked up a little but not much.

Barring a massive migration Monday, the Upper Peninsula probably will have a fairly light deer kill this fall — despite reports that the herd is ample, thanks to mild temperatures and scanty snowfall last winter.

Don't miss 'The Day After'

Dear Mr. Knight:

On Sunday, November 20, at 8:00 p.m. tens of millions of people will be gathered in front of television sets to watch the ABC special "The Day After". This has been called the most controversial television movie ever made. The film shows what would happen to Kansas City (or any other city) in the event of a nuclear war, as seen through the eyes of a physician (played by Jason Robards). The filmmakers claim that it advocates no political philosophy but it will be viewed by many as a powerful statement in support of the anti-nuclear movement. People within the anti-nuclear movement however, have criticized the film for leaving the viewer with a feeling of hopelessness and despair, claiming that it does not indicate that there are any alternatives to the arms race and eventual holocaust. Brandon Stoddard, President of ABC Motion Pictures, Inc. says, "It is our hope that 'The Day After' will inspire the nations of the earth, their people and their leaders, to find the means to avert the fateful day."

Criticized by both the nuclear optimists and the nuclear doomsayers, the film's strongest message is, in the worlds of Edward Zuckerman, "Nuclear war need not be the end of the world to be the worst thing in the world."

Several organizations have been concerned about the effect on viewers of having the horror of nuclear war brought into their living-rooms. Ground Zero, a non-advocacy nuclear war education organization has produced a "viewing guide". Copies of this single-page guide are available free at the public library. Chief among its recommendations are that children under 12 not be allowed to see "The Day After" and that it be viewed in groups, with opportunity to talk about one's feelings and reactions. For many, who have not been involved in the pros and cons of the nuclear arms race, this film may be the first time they come face to face with the realities of the entire nuclear weapons issue.

On Monday, Nov. 21, The Peace Education Network of Northern Michigan and the Little Traverse League for Peace and Freedom will sponsor a "Day After the Day After" discussion at the Petoskey Presbyterian Church at 7:30. The public is invited to come and listen to or contribute to the discussion and to view two other short films, one that will reinforce the message of "The Day After" and one that will help people deal with their feelings of despair and hopelessness. It is hoped that the discussion will point the way to alternative action.

One person who previewed "The Day After" commented, "I kept wondering 'How can anyone be expected to watch this?' and at the same time knowing that this is one movie that everyone must see." Don't miss it.

Open House

To the Editor:

The Charlevoix County Humane Society would like to invite one-and-all to our Christmas Open House on December 4th from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. There will be refreshments for all and a tree for the animals. We are located at 1004 Grant Street, behind the Sheriff's Dept.

We welcome new membership and encourage those considering a more active involvement with humane issues, to please stop down at the Shelter.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your continued support through this year. Your cash donations and Glen's slips, which comprised approximately 50 percent of our income last year, have been, and continue to be, vitally important to the continuing operation of the Shelter. Special thanks to all who volunteered some of their time.

Since Christmas is the time for wishes and dreams, here are ours: stainless steel water buckets, exercise pen, typewriter, adding machine, 2 nice chairs, copy machine.

Most importantly, an appeal to all pet owners. Please spay or newter your pets. Help put a stop to the endless stream of unwanted animals dropped off at the Shelter. Though we try to find homes, there simply aren't nearly enough. Help put a stop to this senseless desctruction of life.

New group

Dear Editor:

The Emmet-Charlevoix Chapter of the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children is being formed, officially. The officers have been elected: Marge Bley, President; Audrey Collins, Vice-President; Barb Pratt, Secretary; Christa Maria, Treasurer; Many Ann Tuschak-Bondy and Steve Spencer, co-professional advisors. We have applied for official status with the State MAEDC and are waiting for that sanction.

The local chapter will meet once a month on the fourth Thursday of the month at 7:00 p.m. We will meet alternately at the Northern Mental Health Center on 603 E. Lake in Petoskey and at the Char-Em Intermediate School District Offices on Mercer Blvd. in Charlevoix.

This month we will be meeting at Char-Em. This month only we will meet on the third Thursday (Nov. 17) because of Thanksgiving. Our speaker for this month will be Tom Caldwell from the Char-Em Intermediate School District.

Although our chapter name indicates a specific local area, anyone concerned with an emotionally impaired child is welcome to join us and or attend our meetings.

MAEDC is committed to the support and expansion of services for children with emotional and learning problems. The specific chapter goals adopted by the Emmet-Charlevoix Chapter underline this committment.

It may also be of interest to your readers to know that Micigan is the only State in the United States with a formalized organization on a State wide level for such support.

Terrorist action creates atmosphere of tension in Washington

By CONGRESSMAN BOB DAVIS

The last few weeks have been very tense ones for legislators in Washington. The terrorist bombings of military enclosures in Beirut followed by a near hostage situation involving American students in Grenada have brought renewed consciousness concerning the safety of Americans abroad.

This week was marked by terrorist activities at the Capitol. On Monday night, a bomb was detonated outside of the Republican Cloakroom near the Senate Chambers causing extensive damage. The Senate, which had been scheduled to be in session late that night, had finished their business earlier than expected. If they still had been in session, some Senators could have been seriously injured and lives could have been lost.

The next day approximately a dozen separate bomb threats were received at the Capitol and in other governmental office buildings.

These threats, combined with an incident several weeks ago in which a young man attempted to detonate a homemade bomb that was strapped to his body while sitting in the House gallery, have brought increased attention to security in the Capitol.

While it is virtually impossible to guarantee the absolute safety of our elected officials, it is obvious that security for legislators must be re-examined and strengthened. Our federal government was originally designed to represent the people and to be open to the people that it represents. Incidents such as these terrorist activities of the last few weeks threaten Americans' ability to continue to have free access to government officials.

Security measures have been tightened throughout the Capitol and further security precautions are being considered.

I am sorry to see more restrictions placed on people's free access to their government and public buildings, however, for our government to run smoothly, there must be certain security precautions to insure the safety of public officials. We cannot let the actions of terrorists disrupt the activities of our government.

It is typical of the terrorists' mentality that they choose life-threatening and destructive actions to bring attention to their protests. The group claiming responsibility for the bombings in Washington this week also has been responsible for numerous other bombings at federal buildings in Washington and New York over the last year to protest U.S. military actions.

It is sad that the actions of a few terrorists may eventually limit the access that the American people have to their elected officials.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Duane L. Tripp

Hartnett-Tripp

Yellow chrysanthemums and candles graced the altar of the Bay Shore Presbyterian Church for the evening wedding on October 29 of Colleen Marie Hartnett and Duane Lester Tripp.

The bride is the daughter of the late Daniel P. Hartnett and Mr. and Mrs. Fritz (Sandra) Allard of Charlevoix. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tripp, also of Charlevoix.

The Reverend Milton Walls performed the double-ring ceremony before approximately 300 guests.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, John R. Hartnett, and family, wore her mother's floor-length wedding gown with chapel train. The top and cap sleeves were fashioned of Chantilly lace, and the princess style waist was of organdy over taffeta. The skirt featured Chantilly lace and organdy over taffeta. The bride wore a tiara of pearls and rhinestones which held an illusion veil trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of long-stemmed yellow roses, white carnations, baby's breath, air ferns, and yellow lace ribbons.

Cheryl Ann Hartnett assisted her sister as maid of honor, while Charlene Tripp, the bridegroom's sister, Connie McFalls, Debbie Cruickshank, and Sandy Van Stedum served as bridesmaids. Another sister of the bride, Kerry Hartnett, was flower girl. They all wore gowns of blue chiffon over a cell satiny material and trimmed in blue lace. The gowns, made by Betsy Reynolds, were fashioned with long sheer sleeves and fitted bodices tied at the waists with long sashes. The maid of honor's gown also featured ruffles on the bodice and lower skirt. The attendants carried bouquets of yellow roses, baby's breath, air ferns, and ribbons.

David McFalls served as best man, and Shawn Hartnett, a brother of the bride, Larry Kitsma, David Cole, and William Johnson were groomsmen. Dean Hartnett, another brother of the bride, and Paul Casciani, cousin of the bridegroom, helped to seat the guests.

Steven Stargardt provided organ music for the ceremony.

The bride's parents hosted the wedding reception at the Hayes Township Hall. They were assisted by Clara Walker, Betty Jo and Jim Downer, Ron and Ceil Topolewski, Bob and Florence Nowicki, Doug Reynolds, and Nancy Walker. The bride's stepfather, Fritz Allard, made the four-tiered wedding cake.

The rehearsal dinner was also held in the Hayes Township Hall, on October 28, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, and prepared and served by Phil and Winnie Rehkopf.

Following a wedding trip to North Carolina and Memphis, the newlyweds are at home in the Charlevoix area. The bridegroom is self-employed as an upholsterer and the bride is employed by the Dockside Pharmacy in Charlevoix.

Cortright is Garden Club speaker

Rod Cortright of the Co-operative Extension Service for Charlevoix County, spoke on the subject of "Soil Conservation" at the recent meeting of the Charlevoix Garden Club held at the home of Lucy Witthoeft. He answered may questions regarding soil including the method of taking a core sample and where to send it for analysis.

He said the moderating effect of Lake Michigan doubles the growing season from approximately 140 days in the Charlevoix area to half that number in the eastern section of the county.

Marge Dinwiddie advised that the Memorial Garden Committee is to meet with Travor Wood of Site Planning and Development to discuss moving some of the trees in the garden located at Mercer Blvd. and East Dixon Ave. Some changes in garden plantings are also anticipated, she said.

Barbara MacArthur suggested that members explore the recently created hiking and cross country ski trails at Mt. McSauba.

The decision regarding a flower show in 1984 was postponed until the December 13 meeting. At that time, the club members will make Christmas favors for trays at the Charlevoix Area Hospital. This is the only workshop planned at this time.

The 1983-84 budget was presented and approved.

The December 13 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Julia Leedy at 1:30 p.m. Aggie Santek and Nancy Wood will be co-hostesses. Roll call will be "My favorite Christmas green".

This year's was the second straight KMB award won by Operation Petunia which qualified Keep Charlevoix Beautiful for the KMB Hall of Fame. Each year, Keep Michigan Beautiful, Inc. honors those whose work in their communities has helped either with the overall beautification of the area, beautification of one particular area or those whose efforts have been directed toward anti-litter or clean-up programs.

Rainbow Shoppe is "meeting its goal"

by FRAN MARTIN

"When the Rainbow Shoppe opened at 115 Antrim Street last June its purpose was to provide clothing, household items, books, toys, craft items and even household furnishings at a nominal cost to persons in need of these items. I think that after only 20 weeks of operation, the shoppe has met this goal and more" was how Joseph Spurgeon, who manages the thrift shop, assessed the operation.

In making his assessment, he was quick to add that it has taken the cooperation of the entire community to bring it to its present success. "The generosity of the many people who have contributed salesble items to the shop is actually the key to its success" Spurgeon continued. "When summer ended, we were down to a couple of boxes of clothing suitable for spring and summer wear. Since then, people have contributed enough that we have a good supply with which to start the season. This is the way it's been since we opened. It has definitely been a community effort that has made the shoppe a success".

The shoppe is the cooperative effort of 10 local churches whose membership saw a need and did something about it. Organized by volunteers from the participating churches, the groundwork for the shoppe was laid. Making available to families in need a source of good clothing at a nominal cost seemed a good way to help and the shoppe came into being. The response to the need for material to sell has been unbelievable. Now that people know about us, we receive all kinds of support" he continued.

"If Social Services, for instance, sends us someone who can't afford even our low prices, we take care of them. Helping people is what we're here for" Spurgeon added.

Assisting with the operation of the shoppe which is open daily from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. except Sunday and Monday is a corps of more than 60 volunteers from the 10 churches.

"We are open to most anything people can use. Right now we'd like to have a supply of good toys, games, books and other items suitable for Christmas giving. If you have anyting we can use, give us a call and we'll pick it up. Just call us at 547-2815" Spurgeon said.

Spurgeon explained that the shoppe has been a financial success also. Seed money loaned by each of the 10 churches to get the shoppe going has been repaid and the rent is paid up to date. "We want to be self-supporting and, so far, we've managed to be solvent" he explained.

Volunteers continue to join the working staff. Recently a volunteer training session was held. Bob Sell of Chip Counseling Center spoke on active listening; Shirley Lusk on the business aspect of the shoppe; Spurgeon on its operation and the Rev. Robert Smith on the shoppe's ministry to the community and in the lives of those involved. Clara Loomer was the moderator.

A Volunteer Recognition Night that included a potluck supper was held at the First Congregational Church recently. It paid tribute to the service, dedication and commitment of the volunteers who number more than 60.

Presently serving on the Board of Directors of the Rainbow Shoppe are: the Rev. David W. Yingling of the United Methodist Church, president; Lillian Left, St. Mary's Church, vice president; Clare Loomer, Bethany Lutheran Church, secretary; Cathryn Liotta, First Baptist Church, treasurer; Sims Baker, United Methodist Church; Yvonne Engter, Assembly of God Church; Lucy Martin, First Congregational Church; Rev. Larry Grooters, Community Reformed Church; Jackie Klooster, Community Church of God; Rita Orlowski, St. Mary's Church; Mary Helen Riggle, First Congregational Church; Barbara Rogers, Christ Episcopal Church; Patricia Smalley, Church of the Nazarene and Mary Towsley, Bethany Lutheran Church.

The public is invited to visit the Rainbow Shoppe, the thrift store that has more. Contributions to the shoppe are accepted during the hours it is open. Tax receipts are given upon request. Please call 547-2815 for pick-ups.

Girls enter Districts on winning note

Photos by Peter Plagge

Angie McClanaghan races downcourt on a fast break.

The Charlevoix girls basketball team completed their regular schedule on a victorious note, winning over Rogers City 50-43 and over St. Ignace 47-16.

The Charlevoix Varsity squad will now go on to the district tournament at Boyne City taking on the winner of the Boyne City-Elk Rapids game at 7:30 p.m. Saturday Nov. 19.

In the meeting at Rogers City, Charlevoix headed the Hurons 13-9, 23-21 and 33-25 by quarters before posting the 50-43 win.

Charlevoix had 18 field goals, four of 14 from the line and 19 personal fouls. Rogers City had 14 from the floor, five of 22 from the line and 24 personal fouls.

Michelle Gagnon had 16 and Ann Wagner 14 for the victors. Colleen Rohrer had 12 for Rogers City.

In the home game celebrating Parents Night, the Charlevoix five romped to a 47-16 win over the Saints.

Charlevoix outscored the visitors 21 to six from the floor had five of 10 from the line and 12 personal fouls. The Saints connected on four of 11 from the line and collect a dozen from the line. The locals led the visitors 9-2, 16-6 and 31-8 by quarters.

Mary Lenhart had 13 points, Ann Wagner 12 and Rhonda Buchanan 10. Sue Sharp had seven for St. Ignace.

The Charlevoix JVs lost to Rogers City 36-55 and won over the Saints 41-18.

Charlevoix has a 6-9 record in Michigan-Huron Shores Conference play and a 9-8 record for the season.

Seniors on the team who played their final home game were Lenhart, Buchanan and Amy Sell.

Ann Wagner looks for an open shot while Mary Lenhart awaits the rebound.

Rhonda Buchanan goes up for a jump shot.

Townhouse, Carson, First State and Judy's are BB winners

The eight-team independent basketball league sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department launched its 1983-84 season last week with Townhouse downing Erber McKeown Ford 78-53 and Kit Carson defeating County State Bank 71-42 on the first night of play.

On Wednesday First State Bank defeated Air Force 54-34 and Judy's Restaurant won by forfeit over Wojan Aluminum.

The teams will play every Monday and Wednesday throughout the season which will end in late March.

Four players, paced by Steve Dunkelberg with 30 points, led Townhouse to 20-13, 42-31 and 60-37 quarter advantages before winning 78-53 over Erber McKeown.

Chris Putman had 23, Clint Berlage 12, and Dan McKenzie 10 points for the victors. Jim Parrish had 20 points, Mike Schmidt 13 and Dennis Dominic 10 for Erber-McKeown.

The Charlevoix County State Bank held a slim 13-12 first period lead but soon lost it as Kit Carson went ahead 27-20 and 46-34 at the quarters before romping to a 29 point win.

Vince Left scored 20 points, Dave Storm 18 and Butch Klooster 12 and Dale Boss 11 for Carson. Tom Leonard had 15 for the losers.

After trailing the Air Force 11-9 at the quarter, First State Bank jumped to 20-17 and 38-24 third period leads before coasting to the win.

Brian Farrell had 21 points, Ike Boss 12 and Dale Sommerville 11 for the Bankers. David Arnold had 14 for the Air Force.

Judy's Restaurant won by forfeit when Wojan Aluminum failed to come up with five players.

Games scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 16 are Charlevoix County State Bank vs Wojan Aluminum at 6:30 p.m. and First State Bank vs Judy's Restaurant at 7:45 p.m.

Games scheduled for Monday, Nov. 21 are Townhouse vs Air force at 6:30 and Kit Carson vs Wojan Aluminum at 7:45.

Games scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 23 are Erber McKeown Ford vs Judy's Restaurant at 6:30 and County State Bank vs First State Bank at 7:45.

MS teams lose at Cheboygan

The Charlevoix Middle School seventh and eighth grade girls basketball teams lost to teams from Cheboygan Catholic in their initial appearance in the Cheboygan Invitational Junior High tournament and were scheduled to return to meet teams from Petoskey in the consolation brackets Monday night.

The seventh grade team lost by a score of 20-16 and the eighth grade by a 33-24 margin.

The seventh graders held a 4-2 first quarter lead and were ahead 6-4 at halftime before being outscored as the game went into the second half. They trailed 12-10 going into the final period and were never able to come back as time ran out.

Stacy Gebott paced the scoring for Charlevoix with eight points. Stacey Barber had 10 for Catholic Central.

The eighth graders who had trailed Cheboygan Catholic 7-2 at the quarter and 15-13 at halftime came back to tie the score 21-all as the game went into the final period. However, in the final period they were outscored 12-3 for the loss.

Doberowski was top scorer for the game with 17 points. Allison Hall had 11 for Charlevoix.

Rayders land two on MVP team

The Charlevoix Rayder football team which ended the season with a 3-6 record in Michigan-Huron Shores Conference play this season had two players named as the team's Most Vaulable Players and three others who received honorable mention.

Receiving MVP honors were Mike Pischner and Shawn Harnett.

Dan Buday, Alec Sheets and Pat Mitchell received honorable mention.

Ghost Ship

the "voyage". Loads of soil, leaves and branches were brought aboard and artfully strewn about to transform the buoy deck into a creepy graveyard with strange inhabitants and a lynching scene. One crew member went over the side to change the wording on the vessel's hull to read "Ghost Guard" in authentic-looking letters.

Members of the crew worked together preparing the various main-deck spaces they had chosen in which to enact their skits. In the sickbay the corpsman set up his traditional "mad doctor" scene; the chief petty officer berthing became an execution chamber with a sparking, sizzling electric chair; and the executive officer made the wardroom habitable for his Dracula and accompanying Frankenstein monster. With dark curtains, the ship's main-deck generator space was made into a pitch-dark tomb from which a skeleton emerged, and a strobe light and dry ice transformed the office into a laboratory with its own scary character.

While the electricians replaced fluorescent light tubes with ultraviolet ones to heighten the spookiness of the passageways, wives of crewmembers prepared the messdeck as a "recovery room" where candy, cookies, and cider was passed out.

As the hour of six o'clock approached, all the characters were made up and all the spooks were in place, the line began to form at the ship's gangway. And when the shrieks, creaks, and groans were heard over the public address system, all the crew knew it was time, once again, for the ghostly ship to get underway.

To dedicate Sleepy Hollow Trail

The Little Traverse Conservancy will dedicate its new nature trail at the Sleepy Hollow Nature Preserve on Saturday, November 19 at 10 a.m. The trail was constructed in September with the assistance of a crew from the Michigan Youth Corps Program.

The Sleepy Hollow Preserve is a 55-acre tract of hardwoods, meadows, and a spring-fed stream on M-66 south of Ironton. Access to the preserve is on Sleepy Hollow Lane, a private road which intersects M-66 at Phelps Rd. two miles south of Ironton.

The trail will be dedicated with a short ceremony followed by a walk on the trail.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR Gaylord District Office

Weather conditions the past week remained generally mild with temperatures ranging from 19-60 degrees and the only precipitation was a light mist and a few snow flakes on November 2 and 3. One year ago on Saturday, November 5, two and one half inches of snowfall was recorded.

Fishing pressure and success generally light, but normal for this time of year, as most attention is focused on the deer season. Fishing pressure will remain light until after the deer season is over and the inland lakes become covered with ice.

Archery deer hunters had almost ideal hunting conditions and success was fair to good. The regular archery season is over and will reopen for the month of December

Hunters are reminded that you may not hunt with a firearm during daylight hours from Sept. to March 31 on lands open to the public, unless you wear either a vest, jacket or cap of a highly visible hunter fluorescent blaze or flame orange color.

Grouse hunting is legal now but will reopen for the month of December.

All anterless deer permits were received by the applicants on Nov. 3 and 4.

This Department welcomes the 1983 deer hunters and request you have respect for private lands. Also, if you have a question about the north country stop at a D.N.R. office. Be a sportsman and enjoy your trip.

Building permits start to wane

The number of permits issued in October by the Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection dropped to 46 from the year's high of 61 in September.

The permits included nine for new houses, 15 for additions to and remodling of houses, six for residential garages, two for decks and porches, five for residential outbuildings, two for additions to and remodelling of commercial buildings, and one for a demolition.

Two of the new houses will be built in Charlevoix Township, one in Eveline Township, one in Hayes Township, one in Marion Township, one in South Arm Township, two in Bay Township, and one in Evangeline Township.

One of the new commercial buildings will be built in Charlevoix Township, one in Boyne City, and one in East Jordan.

Construction costs (excluding electrical, plumbing and heating) of the nine houses are estimated at $386,396, or an average of $42,933 a house.

Construction costs (same exclusions) of the three commercial buildings are estimated at $540,572, or an average of $189,190 a building.

MICHAEL JOHN ZAVICAR and KAREN LEE GREATHOUSE, Defendants.
File No. 83-0477-CH

ORDER TO APPEAR

At a session of said Court, held at the County Building in the City of Charlevoix, on the 13th day of October, 1983.

Present: HONORABLE HARVEY C. VARNUM, District Court Judge

On the 22nd day of September, 1983, an action was filed by GERALD R. GALANTOWICZ and DINEEN M. GALANTOWICZ, Plaintiffs against, MICHAEL JOHN ZAVICAR and KAREN LEE GREATHOUSE, Defendants, in this Court to recover possession after forfeiture of the Land Contract dated January 27, 1979, between Gerald R. Galantowicz and Dineen M. Galantowicz, as sellers, and John A. Zavicar Jr. and Mary A. Zavicar, husband and wife, as purchasers, which land contract was assigned to defendants herein, for the premises described as:

Township of Wilson, County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan: Beginning at a concrete monument on the Northeast corner of Lot 13 of Riverside Subdivision, as recorded in Liber 2 of Plats, Pages 147 and 148 of Charlevoix County Records as point of beginning for this description; thence Southerly along the West line of Pearsall Road, a County Road, 557 feet; thence West 424 feet, more or less, to the Easterly line of Lot 11; thence North along said lot line to a stake on the Northwest corner of Lot 12; thence South 58 degrees 04' East 172.70 feet; thence South 85 degrees 13' East 340 feet, more or less, to the point of beginning. The description being the North parts of Lots 12 and 13, Riverside Subdivision, Town 32 North, Range 6 West, Section 30.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Defendants, MICHAEL JOHN ZAVICAR and KAREN LEE GREATHOUSE, shall answer or take such other action as may be permitted by law on or before the 15th day of December, 1983. Failure to comply with this Order will result in a judgement by default against such defendants for the relief demanded in the complaint filed in this Court.

For Saints and Sinners

by Pastor David Yingling

"The Soil of our Faith Journey"

We have heard that from dust we came and to dust we return. Earth is our planet. Soil is for roots, and dirt is our dismay. We praise soil when it is fertile and grows beautiful crops, yet we curse the dust that blows in our eyes and settles in our homes. Soil is rich and black in Central Illinois and rocky and shallow in the hills of Tennessee. Cultivated, it can be good for everything. Or, left dormant, it can be good for little or nothing. Some soil produces a hundredfold while some won't grow a weed. Some soil is situated so high it cannot bear much "fruit", while some is so low it will not produce. Some soil fools us. The desert sand look unproductive, yet, in some seasons, produce a rainbow of colors and smell.

What is the soil of our lives?

Where have we been planted?

Who has cared and cultivated our plat of ground?

Here are some text to ponder: Ezekiel 17:1-10 "the image of God"; Matthew 13:4-23 "openess", "signs of love", "blocks to growth", "faith", "Koinonia"; Psalm 1:1-6 "helping people see Christ".

Prayer: May God be praised in what we do and say and are. May we remember that we (His creation) are "Blessed, to be a blessing." May we work together to bring peace in His work. In Christ, Amen.

Obituaries

MARJORIE J. KIMBALL

Private funeral services for Mrs. Marjorie J. Kimball, 55, who died November 13 at Little Traverse Hospital, were held Tuesday at the Winchester Funeral Home. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery at Dowagiac.

Born in Winnette, Montana on April 1, 1928, the former Marjorie J. Enos came to Dowagiac as a girl and moved to Kalamazoo in 1950. She was office manager at All-Tronics in Kalamazoo for 13 years. In 1978 she came to Charlevoix and the following year with partner Don Behrens, purchased The Landing in Ironton.

She hosted many functions in the Charlevoix area and introduced Mexican and Chinese foods to the Charlevoix area. In 1956 she was queen of the Houghton Lake Tip-Up Town Festival.

She is survived by a son, Al Kimball III of Kalamazoo; a daughter, Mrs. Robert (Debi) Linden of Broomfield, Colo.; and a brother, George Enos of Edwardsburg.

The family suggests memorials to the American Cancer Society.

JAMES S. LANDIS

Funeral services for James S. Landis, 69, who died Nov. 13 at Martin Memorial Hospital in Stuart, Florida, will be held at the Winchester Funeral Home at 2 p.m. Wednesday. Rev. Walter Hastings will officiate. Interment will be in Brookside Cemetery. A full obituary will follow.

LILA V. WEST

Mrs. Lila V. West, 80, a former Charlevoix resident, died November 8 at Phoenix, Arizona where she had lived in recent years. The body will be returned to Charlevoix for funeral services and burial which will be announced later.

JOHN J. STANEK

John J. Stanek, 87, of Traverse City, father of Mrs. Wayne (Virginia) Woods of Charlevoix, died November 8 in Traverse City.

Besides Mrs. Woods, he is survived by his wife, Gertrude; a son, Gerald, of Traverse City; five grand children, 10 great grand children; five sisters; and several nieces and nephews.

Interment was November 10 in Oakwood Cemetery in Traverse City. Memorials may be sent to North Western Michigan Horticultural Research Association, 6686 Center Highway, Traverse City.

ALLAN K. WEBSTER

Funeral services for a former Charlevoix resident, Allan K. Webster, 60 of Royal Oak, were held Thursday, Nov. 10, at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Michael Mitchell of the Assembly of God Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mr. Webster died Nov. 6 at Illini Hospital at Silvis, Ill., after suffering an apparent heart attack while traveling in the area.

Born in Charlevoix April 20, 1923, Mr Webster served in the U.S. Navy from 1942-45 during World War II. After returning to Charlevoix, he operated a trucking company until joining the LaSalle Construction Co. of Wyandotte which had a contract in this area in 1948. In 1950 he joined the Denton Construction Co. headquartered in Warren and moved to VanDyke. In 1953 he moved to Royal Oak. In 1955 he organized the Webster Trucking Co. and did long-distance hauling. He was on the road for the company when he was stricken while traveling in Illinois. On April 21, 1950, he was married to the former Dolores T. Grzenkowica at Toledo.

He is survived by his wife, Dolores T. of Charlevoix; Three sons, Allan H. of Royal Oak, Timothy R. of Charlevoix and Terry L. of Taylor; a daughter, Mrs. Kenneth (Lorrie) DeLong of Royal Oak; six grandchildren; two step-grandchildren; two brothers, Albert F. and Richard J. of Charlevoix and a sister, Mrs. Thomas W. (Janet) Louselle of Charlevoix.

Diabetic Support Group to organize this month in East Jordan

The East Jordan Family Health Center is sponsoring a new "Diabetic Support Group" beginning this month. This innovative patient education program is designed to provide an open, informal meeting between diabetic patients and health care professionals. The group will meet bi-monthly at the clinic to address the medical, social, psychological and nutritional aspects of this complea disease.

Once diagnosed, the diabetic patient faces the responsibility of a lifetime of dietary management and self care, which may include self administration of medications. Often, an even more devastating area needing support and guidance is on the emotional level - being able to accept, understand and adjust to life as a diabetic. The support group will give patients an opportunity to address all of these issues and concerns with other patients who have experienced and understand their feelings.

The first meeting of the Diabetic Support Group is scheduled for Tuesday, November 15, from 3:00 to 4:30 at the East Jordan Family Health Center in the community education room of the lower level. This session will be led by Diane Moore, Registered Dietician. The main topic of discussion will be dietary management through the upcoming holidays. Patients who attend are encouraged to bring recipes, and helpful hints to share.

The Diabetic Support Group is part of the Diabetic Patient Education Program at the East Jordan clinic which is made possible through a grant from the Michigan Department of Public Health. This program is offerred free of charge as a community service to all diabetics, their families, friends and other interested persons. If you have any questions about this program, please call Debra Rozek, the program coordinator, at 536-2249.

Screening set for kindergartners of 1985

There will be a Developmental Screening Clinic for all children who will be entering kindergarten in the fall of 1985. The clinics are sponsored by the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District. The purpose of this clinic is to provide parents information regarding normal child development, an opportunity to interact with parents of other three year old children, and to have your child informally screened in order to identify and potential learning difficulties which may arise during the school years. This is a free service with appointments made on a first come, first served basis.

The clinic for Charlevoix is scheduled for December 14th at the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate Service Center.

If you are interested in attending the above clinic, or reside in a district other than Charlevoix, please contact Pat Gauthier, 547-9947, at the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District for an appointment or for further information.

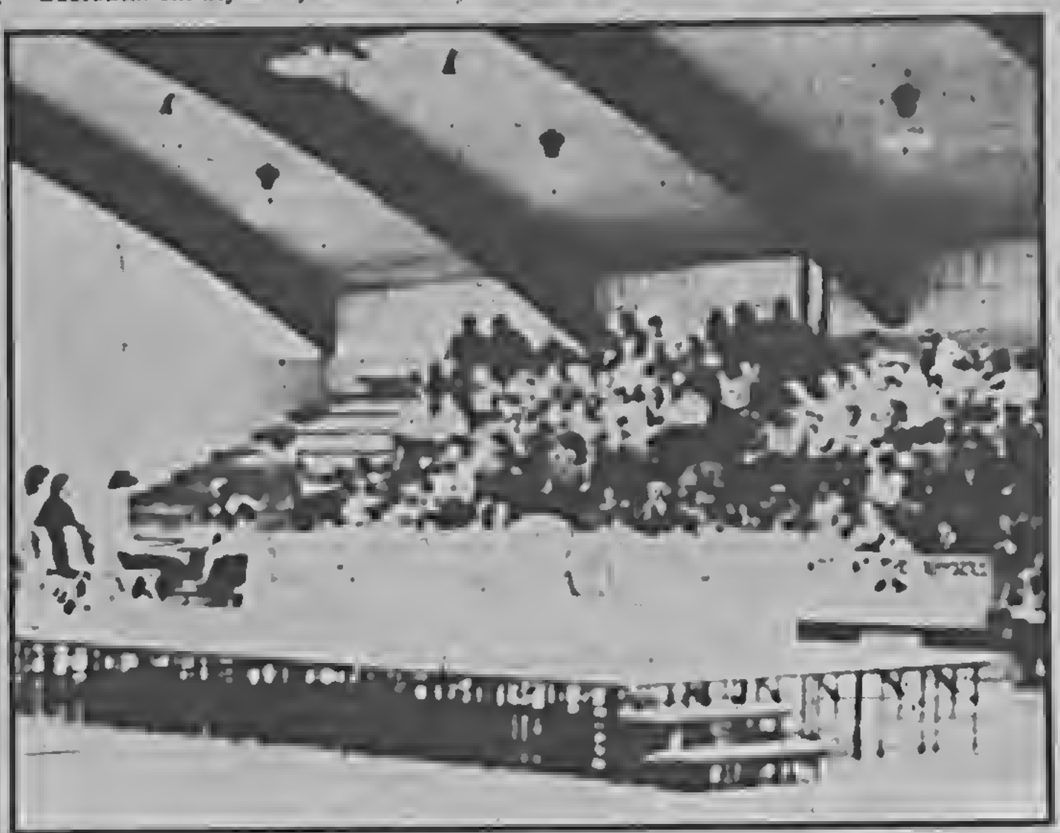
Over 300 teens attend Youth Forum here

About 300 students representing high schools throughout the Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District gathered at Charlevoix High School Monday for a Student Leadership Forum sponsored by the Char-Em ISD and the Michigan Department of Education. The keynote speaker for Monday morning's session was author and columnist Judy Zerafa, left. Shown behind her on the dais are Charlevoix student Shawn McLelland, Gary Cass of the Department of Education and Susan Van Wieren of the Char-Em district. The leadership forum was one of 100 to be held statewide.



Nine CHS students named to Honors Band

Nine Charlevoix High School Band students were among the 100 students from 25 area schools who were selected by audition to play in the 15th annual Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association District II Honors Band the weekend of Dec. 10 and 11 at Interlochen their director, Terry Isenbarger, has announced.

They are Andre Fiedler and Peter Piagge, trombones; Mary Camilleri, flute; Tom Graf, cornet; Kim Brosofske and Kathi Dohm, clarinets; Dan Staublin, percussion; Stephanie Balch, alto saxophone and Wendy Voisin, oboe. Fiedler, Camilleri, Balch and Staublin received the additional honor of having the highest audition scores on their instruments. These four students have been given first chair positions in their respective sections, pending final chair positions during honors band rehearsals.

The Honors Band concert will be presented at Corson Auditorium at 4 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 11.

The students selected for the Honors Band will gather at the Interlochen Center for the Arts Dec. 10 for two days of rehearsal prior to the concert on Sunday.

This year's guest conductor is Professor Larry Rachleff, Associate Director of Bands at the University of Michigan. A percussionist, Mr. Rachleff was Professor of Percussion at University of Texas at Arlington before being Director of Bands at the University of Connecticut. He joined the faculty at the University of Michigan this fall. Mr. Rachleff has conducted Honors Bands in New England and San Francisco. He brings to District II Honors Band Weekend unusual energy and experience.

...If you're a member of the First State Bank Christmas Club

Beaver Island's Archie LaFreniere has had his account at First State Bank for over 50 years. Archie says "I was always well satisfied with any of my banking experiences with First State Bank. They're friendly, courteous and they make you feel like old time friends."

Not everyone uses their Christmas Club money for Christmas presents. Some members simply use it as a regular savings program for taxes, end of the year expenses, or as a savings bonus. First State Bank invites you to join the 1984 Christmas Club beginning Nov. 4 or anytime thereafter. You can join from one dollar to 20 dollars a week and First State Bank will pay 5¼ % interest on completed clubs.

MEATLESS SWEDISH MEATBALLS
Roni L. Fish
Boyne City

Crush or grind until fine: 2 c. soda or wholewheat crackers and ½ c. walnuts. Set aside.

Mix 4 oz. grated mild cheese (Montery Jack, Brick, or Munster) in a mixing bowl with 1 med. diced onion, 3 eggs beaten until light and foamy. Fold crumb mixture into egg mixture until evenly distributed. Mold result into balls the size of a walnut. Fry in oil in saucepan until golden brown. Drain, set aside.

SAUCE
16 oz. can tomato paste
½ c. water
½ c. brown sugar
1 T. lemon juice
1 T. soy sauce
1 t. salt
1 t. pepper
½ c. diced pineapple-optional

Mix ingredients in sauce pan, saute - do not boil. Pour over meatballs, warm. In casserole dish, chafing dish, or crock pot. Serve with fondue forks or tooth picks.

Note: Even diehard meat eaters have been fooled by this dish.

DIANE'S PARTY MEAT BALLS
Kathy Nowak
Petoskey

Combine first 8 ingredients into small balls. Brown in small amount of hot oil. Combine last 4 ingredients for suace. Simmer balls in sauce for 20 minutes.

First Place Winner

INDIVIDUAL CHEESE CAKES
Judy Donnelly
Charlevoix

Mix together:
16 oz. cream cheese
¾ c. sugar
3 eggs

Butter a small tart pan (similar to a cupcake pan) containing 12 little cups, sprinkle with a graham cracker and sugar mixture: (I put the graham cracker and sugar mixture in a brown paper bag, and shake the buttered pan inside, to coat it good.) After preparing pan: spoon cream cheese mixture into each cup to the top. Bake at 350 degrees for 18 minutes. Cool.

Mix together:
1½ to 3 T. sour cream
2 T. sugar
½ t. vanilla

Spoon on top of each cake and pop back into oven for 5 min. at 350 degrees. These have been a big success at all parties. Makes 35 cakes.

BREAD STICK DIP
Marguerite Mason
Charlevoix

1 can Hormel Chili without beans
1 lb. Velveeta Cheese

Melt together and keep warm.

CHEESE LOGS
Honey Brady
Harbor Springs

8 oz. cream cheese
2 oz. Treasure Cave Blue Cheese
2 bottles Kraft Old English (glass jar)
1 bottle Kraft Roqua (glass jar)
1 clove garlic
4 T. wine vinegar
8 oz. shredded New York Extra Sharp Cheddar cheese
Pecans ground to roll cheese in.

Soften all cheese to room temperature. Combine mixing well. Add vinegar and mix well. Crush pecans and place on piece of saran wrap. Pour cheese onto nuts and scoop nuts on top. Roll in saran and store in refrigerator. Makes several logs. Serve with Sociable Crackers, at room temperature and slice off with knife.

BARBECUED SAUSAGE BALLS
Marion K. Parker
Charlevoix

1 lb. bulk pork sausage
1 slightly beaten egg
1-3 c. fine dry bread crumbs
½ t. sage
½ c. catsup
2 T. brown sugar
1 T. vinegar
1 T. soy sauce

Mix sausage, egg, bread crumbs, and sage; shape in about 2 dozen 1½" balls. In ungreased skillet, brown balls slowly on all sides, about 15 minutes. Pour off excess fat. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over meat. Cover and simmer 30 minutes, stirring occasionally to coat meat balls. Make two dozen.

SPECTACULAR SPINACH DIP

Phyllis Hosler
Boyne City
Jan Biddick
Charlevoix

1 c. Hellman's mayonnaise
1 c. sour cream
1 pkg. frozen spinach (cooked and drained)
1 pkg. Knorr dry vegetable soup mix
3 or 4 green onions, chopped
1 can water chestnuts (drained and chopped)

Mix and chill. Serve in a green pepper with vegetables.

MUSHROOM TURNOVERS

Deborah Peterson
Charlevoix

3 3 oz. pkg. cream cheese
½ c. butter or oleo
1½ c. flour

Mix cream cheese and butter thoroughly. Add flour and work with fingers til smooth. Chill 2 hours.

Roll dough to ⅛" thick on lightly floured board and cut with a 3" biscuit cutter. Roll all dough, then fill.

FILLING:
1 lg. onion, chopped fine
3 T. butter
½ lb. mushrooms, chopped fine (or 4 4oz. cans drained)
¼ t. thyme
½ t. salt
½ t. pepper
2 T. flour
¼ c. cream or ¼ c. sour cream

Brown onion lightly in butter. Add mushrooms and cook, stirring often, for about 3 minutes. Add seasonings and sprinkle with flour. Stir in cream and cook gently till thickened.

Place a teaspoon of filling on each piece of dough, fold over and crimp edges with fork. Place on ungreased cookie sheet and bake in hot oven (450 degrees) for 10 minutes or till lightly browned. Watch carefully.

If desired, you may freeze unbaked and bake just before serving. Freeze on baking sheet then transfer to freezer container. Makes approximately 25. Ideal to keep on hand for holidays.

TUNA BALL

Susan C. Hull
Walloon Lake

8 oz. cream cheese
2 T. chili sauce
2 t. parsley flakes
2 T. minced onion
6½ oz. can tuna
dash lemon juice
2 T. parsley flakes.

Add onion, chili sauce and 2 t. parsley flakes to softened cream cheese. Flake tuna into cheese mixture and add lemon juice. Form into ball and place in freezer until firm (about 5-10 minutes). Roll in parsley and refrigerate. Serve with crackers.

TERIYAKI SALMON APPETIZER

Kay Ball
Charlevoix

1 lb. fresh salmon (or frozen fish thawed)
8 oz. can unsweetened pineapple
1-3 c. soy sauce
1-3 c. sherry
½ t. ground ginger
½ t. dry mustard
1 T. brown sugar
1 clove garlic, minced
1 med. green pepper, cut into 1" pieces

Cut fish into 1" chunks. Put into a medium deep bowl. Drain pineapple (reserve ¼ c. juice). Mix pineapple juice, soy sauce, sherry, ginger, mustard, brown sugar and garlic. Pour over fish. Cover and refrigerate at least 2 hours (overnight if desired).

Drain fish, reserving some marinade. Thread the fish, pineapple and green pepper on skewers. Broil about 4" from heat source for about 10 min. (do not overcook) turning once, brushing at least once with marinade.

This delicious appetizer can be made with fresh Chinook or any firm fleshed fish. Also can be made with frozen Cod, etc., but if using frozen fish, thaw first.

CHEESY BISCUIT RINGS

Janet Simpson
Charlevoix

½ c. shredded Cheddar cheese
¼ c. butter or margarine
3 T. chopped onion or 1 T. instant minced onion
½ t. tabasco sauce
8 oz. can refrigerated biscuits
1 c. crushed cheese-flavored corn puffs

Preheat oven to 375 degrees. In medium saucepan, combine first 4 ingredients. Stir over low heat until cheese melts. Separate biscuit dough into 10 biscuits. Pat or roll out each to a 5x2" rectangle. Dip in cheese mixture, then in corn puffs. Twist each biscuit 3 or 4 times. Join ends to form an O shape; firmly press ends to seal. Place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 10 to 15 minutes or until golden brown.

SIMPLY DELICIOUS HOT HORS D'OEUVRES

Mary K. Sherlock
Petoskey

Cut white bread rounds 1½-2" (about 24 - I use the opening of a juice glass to cut rounds).

Butter the bread rounds. Put very thin slice of white onion on buttered round.

Mix 1 c. Hellmans mayonnaise with 3 T. of Parmesan Cheese. Spread over onion. Sprinkle with additional parmesan cheese and paprika.

Heat under broiler until lightly browned. Watch them; they heat fast. Serve hot.

These could be put together the day before and refrigerated on pan that is going under broiler. Make plenty - everybody likes them!

HOT CREAM CHEESE SPREAD

Anne Thornberry
Harbor Springs

8 oz. cream cheese
2 T. milk
2½ oz. Budlong sliced beef
2 t. onion, grated
½ t. salt
½ pint sour cream
pepper to taste.

Mix in double boiler, until creamy. Place in pie pan. Leave in warm oven while mixing topping.

Brown in frying pan: 2 T. butter, ½ t. salt and ½ c. walnuts. Bake at 300 degrees for 15-20 minutes. Top with paprika. Serve with any bland crackers.

HOR D'OEUVRES

Francis Wolak
Petoskey

1 loaf white bread
8 oz. cream cheese
lunch meat slices
green onions

Cut crust from bread. Spread bread slices with cream cheese, add sliced lunch meat and top with green onion. Roll up each slice and close with tooth pick. Lay the rolls in pan and put in refrigerator overnight.

In the morning take out toothpicks and slice each roll into 4 pieces. Put on platter with meat showing. Put in refrigerator until ready to use.

HALAKAHIKI BOLOGNA

Mrs. Arnold Goldenhar
Birmingham

1½ lb. ring bologna
2 T. margarine
1 med. onion, chopped
20 oz. can pineapple chunks
¼ c. firmly packed brown sugar
2 T. cornstarch
½ t. salt
½ c. cider vinegar
2 T. catsup
1 T. soy sauce

Peel casing from bologna and cut into chunks. Brown slowly in margarine in large frying pan, remove and set aside. Stir onion into drippings and saute until soft.

Mix brown sugar, cornstarch and salt in a bowl. Stir in water until mixture is smooth. Stir in pineapple syrup (drained from can of pineapple) vinegar, catsup and soy sauce. Stir into onion mixture in frying pan. Cook, stirring constantly until sauce thickens and boils 3 minutes, return meat to pan and add pineapple. Cover, simmer 10 minutes or until meat and pineapple are heated through. Serve from chafing dish. Serves 6.

VENISON SAUSAGE BALLS
Jeanne A. Moore
Alanson

1½ lbs. ground venison
½ c. dry bread crumbs
1 egg beaten
1 t. salt
½ c. mashed potatoes
½ t. brown sugar
¼ t. fresh ground pepper
¼ t. ground allspice
¼ t. ground nutmeg
¼ t. ground cloves
⅛ t. ground ginger
¼ c. melted butter or margerine
Orange and lemon slices (optional)
Parsley sprigs (optional)

Be sure there is some fat present in ground venison or add ¼ c. ground suet.

Combine first 11 ingredients, mixing well. Shape into balls. Brown well in butter, stirring occasionally. Cover and cook over low heat 15 minutes. Arrange on serving platter, garnishing with fruit and parsley if desired. Yield: about 5 dozen.

COCKTAIL BOUCHEES
Jan McKay
Charlevoix

Make one basic recipe (Pate Choux) Creme Puffs

Set the oven at 425 degrees. Put in saucepan: ½ c. boiling water and ¼ c. butter. Heat until butter melts. Add all at once, ½ c. flour. Stir hard until dough forms ball in center of pan. Remove from heat and let stand 5 minutes. Add 1 egg. Beat until blended. Add 1 egg, beat as before. The mixture should be very stiff. Take up by spoonfuls and arrange on cookie sheet 2" apart. Use a teaspoon for small puffs. Bake until there are no beads of moisture on the puffs, about 20 minutes for small puffs. Prick small puffs with a knife to let out the steam. Cool.

FILLING

Cut lobster meat in fine pieces, sprinkle with lemon juice or French Dressing, cover and let stand one hour. Add finely cut celery mayonnaise, and stuff puff.

Follow the directions for lobster but delete French Dressing and use chicken, turkey, or tuna. Add onion, chunks of cheese, green olives, black olives, peas, green peppers or had boiled eggs in combinations of your choice.

Serve on a platter with leaves of lettuce.

Make a double recipe of puffs and fill them with your favorite ice cream, and top them with your favorite sauce. My favorite is chocolate heated on the stove, and poured over the puff filled with ice cream.

Breads

STICK EM UP BREAD STICKS
Ivy Woodcock
Charlevoix

2 pkg. active dry yeast
½ c. lukewarm water
1 T. sugar
1 T. salt
¼ c. oil
3 c. all purpose flour
¾ c. hot water (120 to 130 degrees)
1 egg white beaten with 1 T. water sesame seeds or poppy seeds or salt

In a large bowl dissolve yeast in warm water, add sugar, salt, oil and 1 c. flour, beat at medium speed for two minutes, add hot water gradually, add ½ c. more flour and beat at high speed for 2 minutes. Stir in the remaining flour to make a soft dough, beat with a spoon until smooth, turn out on floured board, work into a smooth ball, work into a long strand, cut into halves - keep dividing until there are 16 pieces - grease cookie sheet with oil, roll each stick in oil. When each stick is oiled well, let rise about 15 minutes or until puffy.

With soft brush paint each stick with egg white and water, sprinkle with seeds. Bake in slow oven until sticks are light brown for about 1 hour.

These are fun and easy to make and are finished in about 1¼ hours.

BRAIDED BUTTERMILK BREAD
Honey Brady
Harbor Springs

½ c. warm water
2 oz. fresh yeast
2 T. honey
6 T. dry buttermilk powder
6 T. shortening (¼ lb. margarine)
4 eggs - reserve 1 egg yolk
7 c. flour
poppy seeds

Add buttermilk powder to first 3 c. flour. Make a sponge with ½ c. warm water, 2 oz. yeast, 1 t. honey and ½ c. flour. Let stand in warm place 10 minutes. Meanwhile combine 1½ c. water, 3 well beaten eggs, then add sponge ingredients. Add 3 c. of flour and beat with electric mixer. When mixed well add margarine that has been melted and cooled. Add remaining flour reserving about ½ c. or more to knead the dough with.

Knead dough for 8 to 10 minutes, until smooth and elastic. Cover with moist towel and plastic wrap and place near oven or in a warm place to rise. Let rise for ¾ to 1½ hours. Punch down and divide into 3 parts. Each piece into 3 more pieces. Braid into 3 loaves. Pinching strands together at each end of loaf. Place in 3 bread pans (glass) (spray with Pam). Mix remaining egg yolk with 1 T. cold water and brush over loaves. Sprinkle with poppy seeds. Cover and let rise until double (1 hour). Bake at 375 degrees for 10 minutes, bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes. Makes 3 loaves. Remove from pans to cool Slice when cool. Excellent bread for sandwiches and toasting.

PRETZELS
Debbie Schmunk
Charlevoix

3 pkg. dry yeast
1 T. sugar
1 c. lukewarm water
1 quart scalded milk
1 bottle beer
1 T. salt
5 lb. Nightingale flour
2½ c. all purpose flour coarse salt
DIP:
2 quarts boiling water
4 heaping t. lye

Dissolve yeast, sugar in water. Add half of flour using electric mixer. Add rest by kneading with hands. Cover with damp cloth and let rise slightly. Roll and twist pretzel shapes. Let rise again. Make up lye mixture in stainless steel, glass or enamel pan (never in aluminum). Cover the stove top with paper, except for burner in use, to protect finish. Keep the lye mixture boiling hot while dipping the pretzels. Add more water as it boils away.

Put pretzels into lye mixture and leave until they rise to the top. Remove with slotted spoon and place on slightly greased cookie sheets. Sprinkle with coarse salt and bake 450-500 degrees until brown. This takes only a few minutes. Makes about 50 pretzels. Great rainy Saturday project for Mom and kids to share.

HONEY AND CREAM CHEESE WHOLE WHEAT BREAD
Marion K. Parker
Charlevoix

2 env. active dry yeast
½ c. very warm water
½ c. honey
1 can or 2-3 c. evaporated milk
Water
4 oz. cream cheese, softened
3 c. whole wheat flour
½ c. wheat germ
1½ t. salt
2½ to 3 c. all purpose flour
1 T. water
½ t. honey
2 T. sesame seeds.

Sprinkle yeast over very warm water in a 1 c. measure. Stir in 1 t. of honey. Stir to dissolve yeast, let stand until bubbly, about 10 minutes.

Pour evaporated milk into a 3 c. measure; add water to make 1½ c. liquid. Pour into a medium size saucepan; add remaining honey and cream cheese. Heat slowly until cheese starts to melt; beat slightly with wire wisk until mixture is blended. Pour into large bowl; cool to lukewarm, stir in yeast mixture.

Stir in whole wheat flour, wheat germ and salt until smooth; beat in enough all-purpose flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out onto lightly floured surface; knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes, using only as much flour as needed to keep dough from sticking.

Place dough in buttered large bowl; turn to bring buttered side up. Cover with damp towel. Let rise in warm place, away from drafts, 1 hour or until doubled in volume.

Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured surface; knead a few times; invert bowl over dough; let rest about 10 minutes.

Divide dough in half and knead each half a few times; shape into two loaves. Place loaves in two buttered 8x4x3" loaf, pans; cover with towel.

Let. rise again in warm place, away from drafts, 45 minutes or until doubled in volume.

Combine water with honey in small cup; brush over loaves after second rising; sprinkle with sesame seeds.

Place rack in lowest position in oven. Preheat oven to slow (325 degrees). Bake for 45 minutes or until browned and loaves sound hollow when tapped. Cover loaves loosely with a piece of aluminum foil after 30 minutes to prevent overbrowning. Remove from pans to wire racks to cool completely.

cornmeal

In large bowl combine first 4 ingredients. Let cool to lukewarm. In small bowl combine next 2 ingredients. Add to large bowl plus flour. Let set 10 minutes, stir down every 10 minutes, 5 times. Cut dough in half. Roll each half into rectangle. Roll up from longest edge and place on cookie sheet that has been greased and sprinkled with corn meal. Slash top of each rolled bread every 2". Cover with cloth and let rise in warm place until double. Bake 275 degrees for 25 minutes.

Can be easily made into cinnamon rolls.

CHEESY CORN MUFFINS
Susan C. Hall
Walloon Lake

1 c. flour
¼ c. sugar
2 t. baking powder
½ t. salt
¾ c. corn meal
1 c. milk
¼ c. oil
1 well beaten egg
3 oz. shredded sharp processed American cheese

Sift together first four ingredients. Stir in cornmeal. Add remaining ingredients. Stir just until dry mixture is moistened. Fill muffin pans two-thirds full. Sprinkle with poppy seeds. Bake at 425 degrees for 14 minutes.

REFRIGERATOR DINNER ROLLS
Joyce Boss
Charlevoix

2 pkg. dry yeast
2 c. warm water
½ c. sugar
2 t. salt
2 eggs
4 T. (¼ c.) melted shortening about 6 c. flour

Melt shortening; set aside to cool slightly. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Add sugar, salt, shortening and eggs; mix until blended. Stir in 5 c. of the flour; add the remaining cup a little at a time until dough is easy to handle. Turn dough onto a flour dusted board and knead a few times. Take a little cooking oil and coat inside of a large mixing bowl; put the dough in bowl and cover with a dampened cloth and plastic. Refrigerate overnight. (Recipe can also be made early in the day and refrigerate until late afternoon for use at dinner.) About 1½ hours before you plan to use the rolls, dust bread board with flour and turn dough onto it. Knead a few times. Melt 1 stick of oleo. Grease pans. (I use one 9x13 and one 9x9.) Roll out dough to ½". Cut with juice glass dipped in flour. Dip each dough piece in melted oleo to coat. Put into pans and put in warm place to rise for about ½ hour. Preheat oven to 400 degrees and bake for about 26 minutes. Makes about 4 dozen rolls, depending on size. Also makes good clover leaf rolls or other desired shape.

ONION FORK 'N FINGER BREAD
Norma Molby
East Jordan

1 pkg. hot roll mix
1 T. frozen or dried chopped chives or instant minced onion
1 c. mayonnaise
1 lb. (4 c.) grated cheese
½ c. sliced green onions or chopped onions
¼ c. drained, chopped, stuffed green olives
1 t. capers, if desired
2 T. grated Parmesan cheese

Preheat oven to 375 degrees.

Prepare hot roll mix as directed on package, adding chives along with egg. Cover and let rise in warm place until doubled in size, 30 to 45 minutes. Roll out or pat dough to fit a greased 10x15" pan.

Combine mayonnaise, cheese, onions, olives and capers. Spread mayonnaise mixture over dough in pan, to within 1" from edges. Sprinkle top with Parmesan cheese. Bake for 30 to 45 minutes, until bubbling and golden brown. Cut in squares and serve at once. Makes 36 snacks or 6 main dish servings.

Suggestion: 2 c. of Mozzarella and 1 c. of mellow cheddar cheese is good; otherwise use your favorite cheese.

Tip: Dough may be divided in half and patted to fit two 14" pizza pans. Spread half of mayonnaise mixture over each and sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Bake at 375 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes.

PEPPY CHEESE QUICK BREAD
Janet Simpson
Charlevoix

¾ c. milk
½ c. bottled Italian salad dressing
5 oz. jar Old English Cheese Spread, softened
2 eggs
2¾ c. flour
2 T. sugar
1½ t. baking powder
1 t. salt
1 t. dry mustard
¼ t. soda
3 to 4 oz. (¾ to 1 c.) diced pepperoni or summer sausage
¼ to ½ c. chopped green pepper

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Generously grease bottom and sides of 9x5" loaf pan. In large bowl, blend first 4 ingredients until smooth. By hand, stir in remaining ingredients just until flour is moistened. Pour into greased pan. Bake 50 to 55 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Immediately remove from pan. Best served warm. Makes 1 loaf. Store in refrigerator.

WHOLE WHEAT CINNAMON-RAISIN BREAD
Kim Simpson
Charlevoix

2 heaping t. active dry yeast (about 1½ pkg.)
¼ c. water
2 c. scalded milk
½ c. sugar
½ c. shortening
2 t. salt
4 c. whole wheat flour
4 c. unbleached white flour
2 eggs
2 c. raisins
¾ c. sugar
1½ T. cinnamon
Soft butter or margarine

Soften yeast in warm water. Pour scalded milk over the sugar, shortening and salt. Stir to dissolve sugar, cool to lukewarm. Add 3 c. whole wheat flour, mix well. Stir in softened yeast, eggs and raisins, mix well. Add remaining 1 c. whole wheat flour and 3 c. white flour making a soft dough. Turn out on surface floured with remaining c. of white flour. Cover and let rise 10 minutes. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in lightly greased bowl, turning once to grease surface. Cover and let rise in warm place until double (1½-2 hours). Punch down and rise again until almost double (about 1 hour). Punch down, divide dough in half, cover and let rest 10 minutes. Roll each half in a rectangle about ½" thick. Mix ¾ c. sugar and the cinnamon. Reserving about 2 T. of mixture, sprinkle remainder over dough. Sprinkle about 2 t. of water over each and smooth with spatula. Roll each as for jelly roll, beginning with narrow side. Seal edges. Place sealed edges down in 2 greased 9½x5x3" loaf pans. Let rise until almost double (45 to 60 minutes). Just before baking, brush loaves with soft butter and sprinkle with remaining cinnamon sugar.

Bake at 375 degrees, 35 to 40 minutes. If crust browns too fast, cover with aluminum foil last 5 to 10 minutes. Turn out of pans and cool on rack. Makes 2 loaves.

POPPYSEED BREAD
Mrs. Arnold Goldenhar
Birmingham

4 eggs, beaten
2 c. sugar
1&1-3 c. corn oil
3 c. flour
1 can condensed milk
1 t. vanilla
1½ t. baking soda
1 t. salt
5 T. Poppyseeds

Heat oven to 325 degrees. Combine ingredients in large mixing bowl using electric beater to blend well after each addition, mixing 2 minutes extra, after all ingredients are combined. Grease well and lightly flour 2 9" loaf pans. Divide batter evenly and bake 1 hour and 15 minutes, till top looks dry and edges pull away from sides of pan. Slice thin, serve cold or toasted.

DITTO BREAD
Jeanne A. Moore
Alanson

In a large bowl:
3 T. sesame seeds
3 T. corn meal
8 T. softened butter
¼ c. dark molasses
1-3 c. packed brown sugar.

Scald 3 c. milk.

Proof 3 pkg. dry yeast with ½ t. sugar in ¾ c. warm water. Use a yeast thermometer - temperature 105-115 degrees.

Beat well 2 room temperature eggs.

Add scalded milk to butter, sesame, corn meal and sweeteners, stir well.

Add proofed yeast and beaten eggs.

Gradually add 3 c. stone ground wheat flour. Place in warm, draft free place for 25 minutes, covered with waxed paper. (An oven warmed only to 80-85 degrees is perfect - often the oven light creates enough heat).

Add 1 T. salt.

Gradually beat in 7 to 8 c. bread flour - after 3 c., I usually dump out onto a board, using scraper to incorporate flour. Amount of flour is dependent on the degree of humidity.

Knead for 7 minutes till smooth. Place in large greased bowl and allow to rise in draft free spot til doubled in size.

Punch down with one blow of a fist, cover, and allow to rest for 15 minutes.

Divide dough evenly into 6 measures of approximately 1 pound each (use a scale if possible) shape into loaves and allow to rise til well above the sides of the pan - usually over an hour. Grease pans well.

Heat oven to 350 degrees, bake loaves on next to bottom shelf for 30 minutes, and test with a wooden spoon for a hollow sound. Remove loaves from pans and allow to bake 10 minutes longer in oven. This crisps the bottoms.

Allow to cool on a rack.

Should you have baking tiles, all the better. Keeps beautifully if frozen after cooling completely.

Makes 6 loaves medium size loaf pans, 4 large size.

I use an ordinary inexpensive outdoor thermometer to check the temperature of my oven for bread rising.

Should loaves start to brown too much, cover loosely with foil.

OATS AND BROWN SUGAR BREAD
Janice Harvey
Charlevoix

5½ to 7 c. bread flour
1 c. whole wheat flour
1 c. oat flour
1-3 c. brown sugar
1 T. salt
1-3 c. wheat germ
2 pkg. dry yeast
1 c. mashed potatoes, unseasoned
1 egg
2½ c. very warm water
6 T. softened butter

(To make oat flour - process 1 cup oatmeal in blender for about 1 minute.)

In large mixer bowl, combine 3 c. bread flour, brown sugar, salt, wheat germ and yeast; blend well. Add mashed potatoes, egg, water and butter. Blend at low speed until moistened; beat 3 minutes at medium speed. Stir in whole wheat flour, oat flour and enough bread flour to form a soft dough. On floured surface, knead until smooth and elastic, about 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover and let rise in warm place for 1 to 1½ hours, or until double. Punch down and divide into 3 balls. Cover with bowl and let rest 15 minutes. Flatten and shape into loaves. Place in greased 9x5x3" pans; cover and let rise until about 1" above pans. Bake in 350 degree oven for 45 to 50 minutes. Remove from pans immediately. Cool on wire racks.

Note: This is an original recipe. I experimented with different ingredients until the taste was right.

2 lb. bag frozen hash browns

Break apart from each other.

Mix together:
½ c. melted oleo
1 t. salt
¾ c. chopped onion
1 can cream of chicken soup
1 pint sour cream
1½ c. grated cheddar cheese

Mix potatoes and mixture into 9x15 pan. Top with crushed potato chips. Bake 350 degrees for 45 to 60 minutes. Don't over bake. Very good served with baked ham.

ROUND STEAK CASSEROLE
Barbara Darrigan
Boyne Falls

3 strips bacon
1½ lb. round steak
4 onions
10 carrots
8 potatoes
1½ c. water
salt and pepper

Place bacon in bottom of electric skillet. Slice steak in 1x4" strips and lay on bacon. Slice onions thinly over steak. Add sliced carrots and thinly sliced potatoes. Season to taste. Add water and cook covered at 350 degrees for ½ hour, then reduce heat to 200 degrees and cook covered for 2 hours. This may simmer for up to 8 hours if desired. Serves 8.

A good busy day meal as it doesn't need any attention and is even tastier if it happens to cook longer.

MELT A WAYS
Marie Stolt
Boyne City

½ c. butter or oleo
1 square unsweetened chocolate
¼ c. sugar
1 t. vanilla
1 egg
3 c. graham cracker crumbs
1 c. coconut
½ c. chopped nuts

Melt butter and chocolate in pan. Add sugar, vanilla, and egg. Beat well. Add crumbs, coconut, and nuts. Press in baking pan and bake for 5 minutes at 350 degrees or just refrigerate if you wish. If you bake, let cool well.

Make a butter and powdered sugar frosting with green coloring and a couple drops of mint flavoring. Spread on mixture in pan and let cool well. Spread top with melted chocolate chips.

SPEEDY CRANBERRY APPLE PIE
Janice McKay
Charlevoix

One pie shell already baked.
In saucepan on stove cook sauce.
1½ c. cranberries
1½ c. diced cooking apples
½ c. water
1 c. sugar

When mixture thickens pour into pie shell reserving ½ c. sauce. Let pie cool. Then add whipped cream leaving small opening in center to add remaining sauce.

BANANA CHOCOLATE CREAM PIE
Yvonne Engler
Charlevoix

1½ squares of unsweetened chocolate
3 c. milk
¾ c. sugar
5 T. flour
½ t. salt
3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 T. butter
½ t. vanilla
1 pie shell

Melt chocolate in milk, beat until blended. Mix sugar, flour and salt. Stir into chocolate well. Keep stirring until thick. Cook 10 min. longer. Stir hot mixture into egg yolk, cook 1 min. Add butter and vanilla. Cool. Cover bottom with bananas, pudding, bananas and whip cream.

GRANDMA'S WALNUT DELITES
Dianne VanGuilder
Charlevoix

6 c. all purpose flour
3 c. vegetable shortening
1 t. salt
3 pkg. dry yeast
3 T. powdered sugar
¼ c. warm milk (115 degrees F.)
3 eggs (whole)
3 egg yolks
1 c. half and half

Nut filling:
Grind: 1 lb. walnut meats and add to 4 beaten egg whites and 1 c. powdered sugar.

Work together flour, shortening, and salt as for pie dough. Dissolve yeast and powdered sugar in warm milk and add to flour mixture. Beat eggs, and egg yolks with a fork and add half and half. Mix well and add to flour, stirring in until all is mixed through. Cover with waxed paper and set in refrigerator overnight if possible or at least 4 hours.

Roll portions of dough on surface which has been sprinkled with powdered sugar. Keep remaining dough chilled until ready to use. Roll ¼" or thinner and cut in about 3" squares.

Put small amount of filling on each square and bring corners together. Now, roll again, by hand, in powdered sugar. Cookie will have a round, elongated shape. Put rolled side down on lightly greased cookie sheet and bake at 375 degrees until real light brown. These store well in tightly covered containers. May be frozen and thawed when needed (after baking).

ICE CREAM PIE
Debbie Schmunk
Charlevoix

½ c. sugar
½ c. corn syrup
¾ c. margarine
½ t. salt
Approx. 3 c. rice krispies
½ Gallon vanilla ice cream (slightly thawed)
1 can Hershey chocolate fudge
Crushed pecans

Heat sugar, corn syrup, margarine, and salt to simmering over medium-high heat stirring constantly till sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat and pour enough rice krispies into mixture to use it up. Once krispies are coated, pour into deep dish pie pan, and mold into crust. Place crust in freezer for 15 minutes. Remove crust from freezer and spoon in ice cream, smoothing to fill crust. Return to freezer until set (1 to 3 hours). Remove and spread chocolate fudge over top. Sprinkle pecans over top and return to freezer again until set. Serve and enjoy.

SPECIAL UPSIDE DOWN CAKE
Deborah Peterson
Charlevoix

13 oz. can sliced pineapple, drained
4 oz. instant vanilla pudding
½ c. brown sugar
maraschino cherries

Place pineapple slices in 9x13" pan. Place cherries in center of each slice. (At Christmas I use ½ green and ½ red cherries.) Combine pineapple juice and instant pudding mix. Pour over top of pineapple in pan sprinkle with brown sugar.

1 pkg. yellow cake mix with pudding in mix
4 oz. pkg. instant vanilla pudding
4 eggs
1 c. water
¼ c. oil

Combine cake mix and pudding mix. Add eggs, oil and water. Mix and pour over pineapple mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for about 45-50 minutes.

MINCEMEAT MALLOW CHEESE CAKE
Janet Simpson
Charlevoix

1 c. vanilla wafer crumbs
¼ c. margarine - melted
1¾ c. (18 oz. jar) mincemeat
4 c. miniature marshmallows
1-3 c. orange juice
16 oz. cream cheese
2 t. grated orange rind
1 c. heavy cream, whipped

Combine crumbs and margarine. Press into bottom of 9" spring pan; bake at 325 degrees, 10 minutes. Cool. Spread mincemeat over crust.

Melt marshmallows with orange juice in double boiler; stir until smooth. Chill until thickened. Combined softened cream cheese and orange rind, beating until well blended and fluffy. Whip in marshmallow mixture; fold in whipped cream. Pour over mincement.

Garnish with additional mincemeat and candied cinnamon balls to form a wreath. 10 to 12 servings.

ANGEL CAKE
Yvonne Engler
Charlevoix

1 pkg. White cake mix. Prepare as directed. Bake in 9x13 pan. Pierce with meat fork.

Boil 20 oz. can crushed pineapple with juice and ¾ c. sugar. Pour over cake and cool.

Cook 1 large box vanilla pudding according to directions. Cool and spread on cake. Refrigerate over night. Before serving spread on 9 oz. Cool Whip.

THREE LAYER ITALIAN CAKE
Anne Thornberry
Harbor Springs

½ c. vegetable shorting
½ c. margarine
3 c. sugar
5 eggs, separated
1 t. vanilla
3 c. all purpose flour
1 t. baking powder
½ t. baking soda
½ t. salt
1 c. buttermilk
3½ oz. can coconut
1 c. chopped walnuts

Cream shortening and margarine until light and fluffy. Gradually add 1½ c. sugar, beat until smooth and fluffy. Add egg yolks and vanilla; beat well. Sift flour with baking powder, soda and salt. Add in thirds alternately with buttermilk beating until smooth after every addition. Add coconut and nuts, mix well.

Beat egg whites until soft peaks form. Add remaining ½ c. sugar, continuing to beat until stiff but not dry. Fold into cake batter. Turn into three 9" cake pans which have been greased and floured. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes or until done. Cool.

FROSTING

11 oz. cream cheese
¾ c. margarine
34 oz. confectioner sugar

Beat cream cheese with margarine and vanilla until fluffy. Add confectioner sugar gradually. Beat until smooth.

Apply frosting and garnish with nuts.

CHOCOLATE SURPRISE CAKE
Mrs. Robert Brady
Harbor Springs

3 c. sugar
½ c. butter
3 eggs
½ c. sour cream
1 t. soda in ¼ c. hot water
½ c. cocoa
2 c. flour
1 t. cream of tartar
1 c. boiling water
1 t. vanilla

Cream sugar and butter, add eggs, sour cream and soda in hot water. Sift dry ingredients together and add to batter. Pour boiling water over batter (be courageous). Bake in 3 8" layers at 390 degrees about 15 minutes. (I usually make this into cupcakes for my family.)

ICING

½ c. butter
1½ c. powdered sugar
3 squares melted chocolate
1 egg white

Combine butter, ¾ c. powdered sugar, cooled chocolate. Beat well. Beat egg white till fluffy, gradually adding ¾ c. sugar then blend two mixtures together. Spread on cooled cake.

Dear Friends and Neighbors,

We are taking this opportunity to thank you for being our customers for the past fifty-six years that Oleson's has been in business. We have always maintained our courteous carry-out service, fresh baked goods daily, well stocked shelves, lots of free parking and fresh, local produce when available, all for your shopping convenience.

Our meat department features fresh U.S.D.A. choice beef...and we are especially proud that we can serve you with specialty cuts and buffalo meat in all our locations in Northwest Michigan.

If you're interested in having us cater a party our references serve us well as last year we catered the college barbecue at N.M.C. (Northwestern Michigan College), in Traverse City, where we served approximately 13,000 guests.

In Petoskey you can visit The Little Red Shoe House for all your family's footwear needs...and if you are planning a party our Petoskey store carries all your liquor needs.

So again, thank you for your patronage throughout the past fifty-six years and in the years to come.

With Sincere Appreciation,
The Oleson's

TURTLE CAKE
Richard Fochtman
Charlevoix

1 4 oz. pkg. Kraft caramels
½ c. evaporated milk
1&1-3 c. water
¾ c. softened butter
3 eggs
1 c. chopped pecans
1 c. semi-sweet chocolate chips
1 pkg. Better Crocker Super Moist German Chocolate Cake Mix (2 layer size)

Melt caramels with milk in top of double boiler. (Do this before mixing cake)

Combine cake mix with water, butter and eggs in large bowl. Blend on low speed for 30 seconds, then at medium high speed for 2 minutes. Pour half of the batter into a greased 9x13" pan and bake for 10 minutes at 350 degrees or until cake puffs up and is gooey.

Remove from oven and pour caramel-milk mixture over partially baked layer. Spread to within ½ inch of edge. Sprinkle nuts and chocolate chips evenly over the caramel. Pour remaining batter over all and bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 35 minutes until top springs back when touched lightly. Cool and cut into 2" squares.

First Layer:
1½ c. flour
1½ sticks oleo (room temp.)
1 c. chopped nuts

Cream together and press into pan. Bake for 20 minutes at 350 degrees. Let cool.

Second Layer:
8 oz. cream cheese (room temp.)
½ c. powdered sugar
½ large cool-whip

Mix, spread on crust, let stand 15 minutes.

Third Layer:

Prepare 3 small pkgs. instant pistachio almond pudding with only 3 c. milk. Spread on cheese layer. Top with remaining cool-whip. Refrigerate.

PRALINE CHEESECAKE
Karen S. Hoffman
Petoskey

In small mixing bowl combine:
1¼ c. crushed graham crackers
¼ c. granulated sugar
¼ c. chopped pecans
¼ c. butter or margarine, melted

Press crumb mixture over bottom and 1½ inches up sides of a 9" springform pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 10 minutes.

Meanwhile beat together:
3 - 8 oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
1 c. packed brown sugar
2-3 c. evaporated milk (5 1-3oz. can)
2 T. flour
1½ t. vanilla

Add: 3 eggs.

Beat just until blended. Pour into baked crust. Bake in 350 degree oven 50-55 minutes or till set.

Cool in pan 30 minutes; loosen sides and remove rim from pan. Cool completely. Arrange 1 c. pecan halves atop cheesecake.

Before serving combine in small saucepan:
1 c. dark corn syrup
¼ c. cornstarch
2 T. brown sugar

Cook and stir till thickened and bubbly. Remove from heat; stir in 1 t. vanilla. Cool slightly.

To serve, spoon some of the warm sauce over the nuts on the cheesecake. Pass remaining sauce.

5 apples peeled and sliced thin.

Spread on cooled crust. Chill.

Top with 4 oz. softened frozen whipped topping. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Chill before serving.

CHEESE CAKE COOKIE
Sandy Clark
Charlevoix

Crust:
1-3 c. butter
1-3 c. firmly packed brown sugar
1 c. flour
½ c. walnuts

Cream butter with brown sugar in small mixing bowl. Add flour and walnuts. Mix to make a crumb crust. Reserve 1 c. for topping. Press remaining into bottom of 8" square pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 12-15 minutes.

Topping:
¼ c. white sugar
8 oz. cream cheese
1 egg
2 T. milk
1 T. lemon juice
½ t. vanilla

Blend sugar with cream cheese until smooth; add egg, milk, lemon juice, vanilla and beat well. Spread over baked crust. Sprinkle with reserved crumb mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes. Cool. Cut into 2" squares.

BANANA PRALINE CAKE
Jeanne A. Moore

Make two cakes any flavor. Cut a large triangle out of one cake for the hat. Use the leftover cake pieces for the clown's collar. The second cake you use for the head.

You need sliced pineapple and you use that for the clown's smile and for the tassel on the hat. You need one hard boiled egg and two green olives and four cherries. You put the one egg on a cutting board and slice it. Take the yellow and keep it in if you would like but if not eat it. And use green olives.

Eat it.

MAGIC MARSHMALLOW CRESCENT PUFFS
George R. Lasater
13 years old
Boyne City

¼ c. sugar
1 t. cinnamon
2 cans crescent dinner rolls
16 lg. Marshmallows
¼ c. margarine, melted
¼ c. chopped nuts, if desired
GLAZE:
½ c. powdered sugar
½ t. vanilla
1 to 3 t. milk

Preheat oven 375 degrees.

Combine sugar with cinnamon. Seperate crescents into 16 triangles. Dip marshmallow in melted butter; roll in sugar-cinnamon mixture. Wrap a dough triangle around each marshmallow, completely covering marshmallow and squeezing edges of dough tightly to seal. Dip in melted butter and place buttered side down in muffin cups. Repeat with remaining marshmallows. Place pan on foil or cookie sheet during baking to guard against spill-overs in oven. Bake for 10 to 15 minutes until golden brown. Immediately remove from pans and drizzle with glaze. Sprinkle with nuts. Serve warm or cold.

Happy Thanksgiving from the Courier staff!

Charlevoix Courier

Copyright 1983, Charlevoix Courier Corp., All Rights Reserved

Vol. 99 No. 48 12 Pages Serving Charlevoix County (Mich) Since 1883 Wednesday, November 23, 1983 25¢

TCE deadline eased for city; EPA may take new approach

by DAVE KNIGHT

The City of Charlevoix now has until May 1, 1984 to decide on a permanent solution to the problem of tricholoroethylene (TCE) contamination of its municipal water system.

At a hearing Thursday in Lansing, Michigan Department of Public Health (DPH) officials agreed to grant the city a five-month extension to its previously-set deadline of January 1, 1984 for submission of a final decision on a TCE solution. The hearing was conducted at DPH headquarters in Lansing.

In addition, said Assistant Attorney General Ron Styka representing the DPH, should the city put into operation by May 1, 1984 one of the new wells currently in development stages, DPH will extend the deadline further to January 1, 1985.

The new stipulations to the DPH order were agreed upon by Styka and Attorney Jeffrey Fort representing the City of Charlevoix. Fort is an associate of the Chicago law firm of Martin, Craig, Chester and Sonnenschein which has a specialty in environmental and drinking water matters and which has been retained by the city to assist in its handling of the DPH order.

Also on hand for negotiations Thursday were City Manager Robert Hunt, Utility Superintendent Ed Whitley and City Attorney Jeffrey Van Treese.

The new stipulations to the DPH order were agreed upon during a two-hour negotiation session preceding the ten-minute hearing held before Hearing Officer Charlene Johnson. Taking part in the pre-hearing discussion were representatives of the city, DPH, the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and Bill Huber of Congressman Bob Davis' staff.

A major factor in the amended order were indications made by EPA officials during the pre-hearing discussions that Superfund work on an alternative water supply might be able to start earlier than originally planned.

Drilling of test wells to locate the contamination source is scheduled to begin later this month, according to Joel Balmat, coordinator of the EPA Superfund project in Charlevoix.

Balmat said that data from the wells indicating location of a TCE source is not expected before next "April or May". Under the original Superfund work plan, feasibility studies on what to do about the city's water supply would not have begun until the TCE source was located and the practicality of a clean-up determined.

That schedule, estimated to cover at least 14 months, would have put development of a clean water supply far past the DPH deadline.

At the Thursday session, however, Fort asked Balmat whether EPA work on a replacement water system could begin if early test well data was either inconclusive in pinpointing the contamination source or indicated a distant source that would mean continued presence of TCE in the water for an extended period.

"From a practical standpoint, I think we could start looking at replacement at that point," said Balmat.

EPA legal counsel Roger Grimes cautioned, however, that the proposal to take a concurrent "two-track" approach of working on a new water supply while still searching for the TCE source will have to be submitted to EPA Region V officials in Chicago for ultimate approval.

"I've never seen this type of approach," said Grimes. "You must realize that the Superfund process is still new and that we are still grappling with how to apply it in some cases."

Though Grimes said that "we will make no guarantees today", he assured Fort that he and Balmat

Brinker named city clerk, too

by DAVE KNIGHT

City Treasurer James Brinker will take on the added duties of city clerk following City Council action Monday night.

Brinker was appointed by council to fill both the unespired current term of former City Clerk Deanne Balch which ends January 1 and the two year term for which Balch was elected November 8.

Balch resigned as city clerk in October citing health reasons and resigned again following the general election in which she was unopposed. Following Balch's resignation, the office of city clerk was reduced by council from a full-time to a part-time position and all city finance responsibilities were transferred to the treasurer's office. The City Compensation Commission set a yearly salary of $6,000 for city clerk plus an hourly fee for other specified duties.

Under an arrangement recommended by City Manager Robert Hunt, Brinker's salary of $24,000 as treasurer will be reduced to $18,000 and the clerk's salary of $6,000 will be added so that he will, in effect, be paid the same amount he is now getting.

The net result of eliminating the seperate clerk's position, said Hunt, will be a savings to the city of much more than $6,000 when fringe benefits are taken into consideration.

Hunt also explained that the clerk's and treasurer's offices have been running smoothly with the current personnel setup and that Deputy Clerk Bea Parton and Assistant Clerk Amy Russell are supportive of the new alignment.

In their unanimous approval of the consolidation of the two offices under Brinker, council also included a "promise" to reinstate his $24,000 salary as treasurer should he not continue as clerk at some point.

The city clerk position remains an elected position under the city charter. Hunt suggested to council that, should the clerk-treasurer arrangement work well, a charter amendment formally combining the two offices might be considered.

In other action, the council:

-Approved a letter of support for the general concept, as proposed by the Teklin development firm of Lansing, to build 32 to 36 apartment units on the property just east of the Chez Charlevoix condominiums on Petoskey Ave.

-Appointed Gene Steele and Jeffrey Porter to the Downtown Development Authority.

-Awarded the contract for a computer system study to the Southfield firm of Plante & Moran.

To seek recount

Paul O. Burlew, who appeared to come up three votes short in the November 8 election for Third Ward representative on City Council, filed November 14 for a recount.

F. Earl Muma had 92 votes in the election to Burlew's 89.

The County Board of Canvassers have thirty days from the date of filing, under the law, to conduct the recount. Indications are that the Board of four members will not be able to convene until after Thanksgiving.

Economic time ripe for return to lumbering?

by PEG OHLE

In the fight for economic survival in these times of upheaval, private and public resources are being spent in many ways in an attempt to bring new industries to the area, and to use present facilities in the most efficient manner.

Recent surveys coordinated by state and local government agencies bring to light a factor that, in recent years, has been largely ignored: Charlevoix County's potential for the forest industry.

Everyone who has read or heard about the "olden days" in Charlevoix County knows that it was once a booming lumbering area, with thousands of jobs available in the forests and mills just for the asking. In fact, in 1910, before summer tourists and winter skiers came north annually with pockets full of spending money, the population of Charlevoix County was approximately what it is now, almost 20,000 people, and they were largely supported by the lumbering industry.

Eventually, most of the trees were cut down and parts of the land cleared for growing potatoes and beans and other short-growing-season crops. But the soils that nourished the trees for generations before remained the same and areas that were not cultivated began to produce a "second growth" of marketable trees.

In a study titled "Forest Soils Report, Charlevoix County", it is indicated that 72.7 percent of the land area of the County is good for forestland, and 26 percent is "prime forestland" (capable of producing over a cord of wood per acre per year).

However, according to the report, "The soil groupings designated as capable of supporting prime timberlands are forested on Beaver Island but are almost entirely in

Two from area attend MAEH conference

Gerry Boris and Dee Hoadley of Charlevoix joined 250 other MAEH (Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers) members from across the state at the Learn & Lead '83 conference November 3-4 at Michigan State University's Kellogg Center in East Lansing.

"The purpose of this conference was to help MAEH members learn leadership skills and gain self-confidence for effective participation in organizations and the community as well as to share successful program ideas" says Dee Hoadley Charlevoix County MAEH chairperson.

Paticipants attended two of the six leadership workshops offered. Workshop sessions covered topics such as program planning, reteaching educational lessons, and motivating persons to use their talents in MAEH and other groups. Keynote speakers challenged individuals to think positively about themselves and to use proven techniques from the business world to make maximum use of their skills.

MAEH, affiliated with the Cooperative Extension Service at Michigan State University, has 9,000 members. Most of the members in Charlevoix County meet regularly for programs centered around education lessons.

Since the early 1900s, MAEH has helped homemakers learn to deal with the practical challenges of everyday life, such as child rearing, budgeting, nutrition and health and participating in government.

Size of groups, meeting places and programs vary from county to county. Membership is open to all interested persons. For more information, contact Mary Keem, Charlevoix County MAEH membership chairperson at 547-2062.

Hospital adds sophisticated new equipment

When Invasive Monitoring and Telemetry are added to Charlevoix Area Hospital's Intensive Coronary Care Unit (ICCU) in January, the ICCU's ability to monitor acutely ill patients will be enhanced and the number of patient's the unit can serve will be increased.

The cost will be $50,000.

The hospital is asking its supporters to make tax deductible donations, now, to a special ICCU Fund, to help underwrite the costs of the important new equipment, which the hospital will install soon after New Year's.

Invasive Monitoring will be in addition to the standard heart and vital sign monitoring currently performed in the unit. Standard monitoring involves the placing of sensors on a patient's skin to transmit heart rhythms directly to a bedside monitor and a monitor at the unit's nurses' station.

Invasive monitoring will be used for the most critically ill patients, those with serious heart conditions, where more intensive monitoring is required.

Tiny, delicate monitoring devices will be fed by catheter directly into the heart. The sensitive instruments will measure blood pressure and heart rate while continuously monitoring all the heart's functions.

Not all patients will require such intense monitoring, but for those who do, this invasive monitoring will provide nurses and physicians with important information, enabling them to respond rapidly to changes which standard monitors might not reflect. With invasive monitoring many problems can be detected before they become serious.

Telemetry, monitoring equipment which communicates with the nurses' station through radio signals, will enable less seriously ill patients to continue to be monitored while being cared for on the medical and surgical wings. For patients with suspected arrythmias (irregular heat beats), telemetry will permit them to be out of the unit, up and more active on the regualr nursing floor. This form of moniotoring often provides a more accurate picture of a patient's condition.

Telemetry will have the effect of expanding the ICCU's capabitites to serve the most critically ill, without having to add extra beds, because telemetry patients will be on the regular nursing floors.

Invasive monitoring and telemetry will mean that Charlevoix Area Hospital's Intensive Coronary Care Unit, where the most critically ill patients are cared for, is even better equipped to serve the needs of the community.

The ICCU opened and was dedicated 10 years ago, thanks to a successful fund drive which raised $200,000.

Considering the rapid advances in medical technology in the past ten years, $50,000 is a minor investment for the Invasive Monitoring and Telemetry.

Charlevoix Area Hospital Board of Directors think many people in the area will welcome the opportunity to celebrate the 10th Anniversary of the ICCU while making a tax deductible donation for the new equipment.

Chamber revises membership plan

by DAVE KNIGHT

Want to be a Friend of the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce?

How about a Golden Member?

Under a new membership and dues plan established recently by the Chamber Board of Directors, these are two new categories of membership now available.

According to Chamber Executive Director Jacquie Merta, the "Friends" category was established for individuals who do not fit under any of the conventional membership categories but who wish to support the Chamber's programs.

For $25 a year, an individual can become a "Friend of the Chamber", be designated as such in Chamber membership listings and receive the Chamber newsletter.

A Golden Membership costs $500 a year and is available to any business or individual. Golden Members will enjoy all the benefits of regular membership and will be presented with a commemmorative plaque in addition.

The Golden Membership is being introduced as an opportunity to recognize those who wish to make an especially generous contribution to the Chamber, said Mrs. Merta.

Another new category added is for Service Clubs which can now become Chamber members for $50 a year.

Regular Chamber members will also notice changes in the dues structure when billings are sent out in the coming weeks. While there will be little change in the actual dues amount for most members, said Mrs. Merta, the formula used in determining each member's investment has been simplified.

The previous formula took into consideration several factors such as gross income, number of employees and square footage but the new formula involves, for most membership categories, a base amount plus an amount for each employee.

Some categories, including retail, also now feature an optional flat fee.

Much of the new dues structure was developed by the Chamber board using dues structues of several other nearby Chambers of Commerce.

"We feel that the new, simplified dues plan will not only make it easier for our current members but will encourage more new members to join," said Mrs. Merta.

The Chamber is presently conducting its annual membership drive. Individuals and businesses who are not currently Chamber members but would like information on joining are asked to contact Membership Chairman Michael Greeley.

The 55-acre Sleepy Hollow preserve, located in Eveline Township near Ironton, was acquired earlier this year by the Little Traverse Conservancy. Michigan Youth Corps workers helped this past summer to construct a parking lot, clear trails and build a bridge across the spring-fed stream running through the preserve. The trail system, marked by red ribbons, is now open for use by school biology classes, nature lovers and the general public. It is located on Sleepy Hollow Lane, just off M-66 near the intersection with Phelps Rd.*

Outdoor Report

from the DNR Gaylord Office

Hunters are reminded that grouse and archery deer hunting is illegal until the seasons reopen again on December 1. Both the above seasons closed on November 14.

Many elk will be seen in the Pigeon River State Forest which includes a portion of Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Otsego and Montmorency Counties and these animals do not look like a deer. Be sure of what you shoot.

All people do not hunt and for those who wish to do some fishing, good to excellent catches of walleye are being taken from Black Lake and Burt Lake in Cheboygan County. Also some good steelhead success reported on streams open to the extended fall fishing.

Successful deer huners can obtain a successful patch by bringing the deer to a District DNR Office.

Many cross country and snowmobile maps will be available for the winter season from DNR District Office. Snow conditions will be reported in this report each week.

For whatever reason you may be in northern Michigan, enjoy the State lands that are available for your use and remember to respect private property always.

Bloodmobile to visit

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be visiting Charlevoix on Thursday, December 1.

The Bloodmobile will be set up at the American Legion Hall at 106 E. Garfield Ave. The hours will be from 1 until 7 p.m. The quota for this visit is 125 pints.

All former donors will be called and urged to make appointments. Appointments can be made by calling Nancy Fowler at 547-9314. Anyone in good general health between the ages of 17 and 66 years and weighs at least 110 pounds is eligible to donate blood. A person can safely donate a pint of blood every 56 days.

Volunteer workers for the day are being called by Mrs. Vernon Mathew, Jr. Registered nurses are being scheduled by Mrs. John Bradley. Members of Beta Sigma Phi sorority will staff the canteen for the day.

The committee has been serving homemade cookies to the donors for the past few blood drives. Baking cookies is a good way for people who cannot donate blood to do their share. If you can help by baking cookies, please call Mrs. Fowler at 547-9314.

Publicity is being handled by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Izor.

The committee is hoping for a good turnout Mrs. Fowler said in announcing the blood drive. She went on to say that Charlevoix has missed its quota the last two times. The U.S.C.G.C. Mesquite will be out on its fall buoy run on December 1 which means that Coast Guard connot be counted on to donate their usual 20 points.

Start the Christmas season by giving one of the most precious gifts you can give...a pint of your blood!

EDITORIAL

A good place to start

In the actual sense, Charlevoix is no closer to a TCE-less water supply now than it was before last Thursday's summit in Lansing involving the state Department of Public Health, the Department of Natural Resources, the Environmental Protection Agency and the city.

Nothing that was said there is likely to speed up or slow down the exploratory drilling that is currently in process to find some new well sites for the city. If the work toward new well development continues, there may well be at least an infusion of clean water into the system by next summer, thus diluting the contaminant levels and placating the DPH.

Of course, we have heard the battle cry, "Clean water by summer" before.

What the meeting did accomplish, however, was the welcome acknowledgement by the EPA's Superfund team assigned to Charlevoix that finding out where the TCE is coming from and providing clean water for Charlevoix residents are two distinct propositions, the latter of which should probably be approached with a somewhat greater sense of immediacy.

Not that locating the source of contamination is unimportant. But the primary emphasis should remain on providing clean water to the public. As soon as it appears evident that a clean-up is not a practical means of eliminating TCE from the municipal water system within the coming year, - and considering the futility of the search so far, that must be considered a very likely possibility - the Superfund work plan should turn immediately to the matter of treatment or a replacement system.

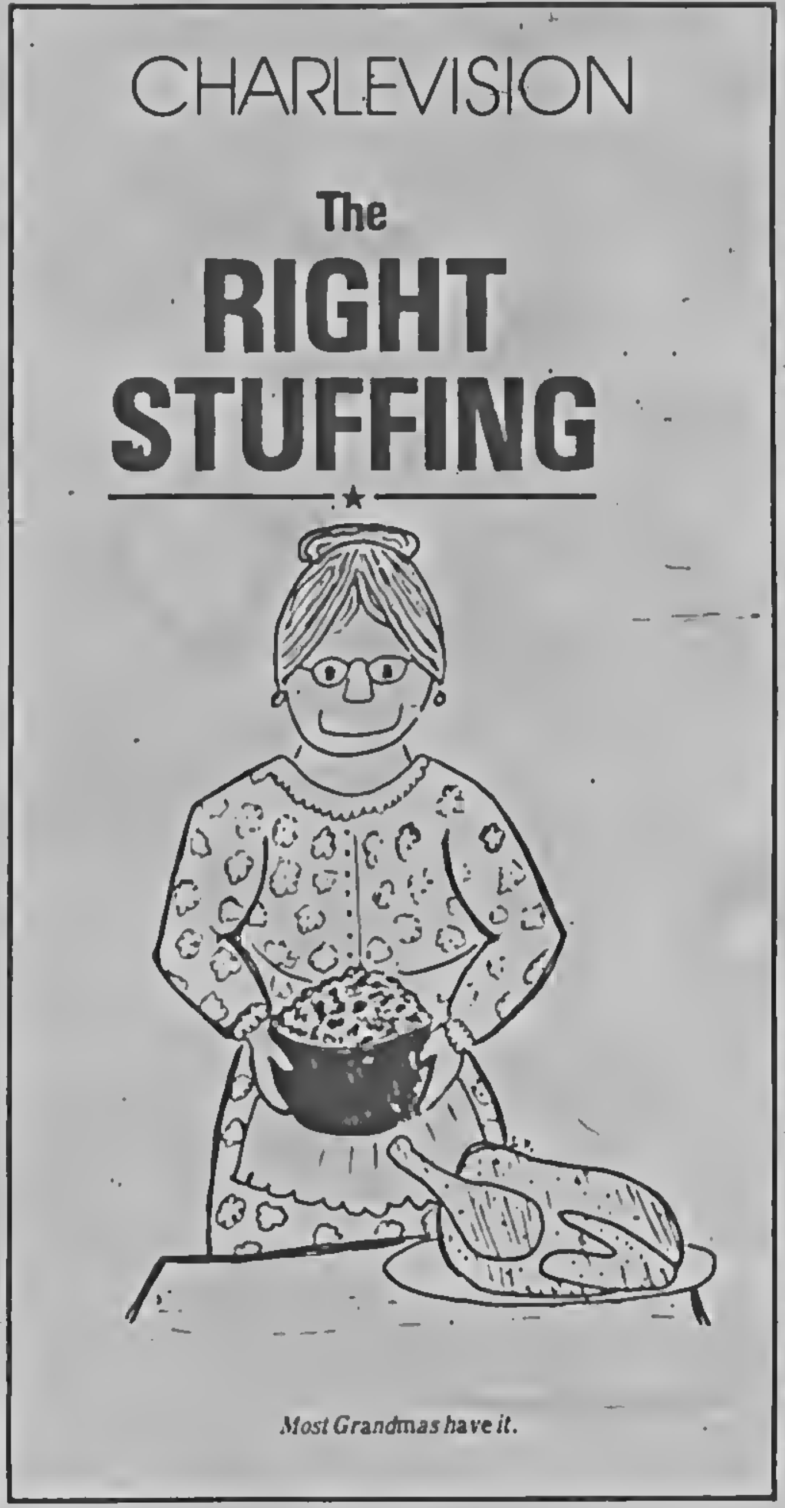
Those alternatives having already been thoroughly studied, there is no practical reason why a Superfund-ed permanent solution to the TCE contamination could not be initiated in 1984.

We are reminded by EPA officials, however, that the Superfund is a relatively new bureacratic beast and that there is almost no precedent of its application to a contaminated municipal water supply. The implication is that it's much easier to deal with a private toxic waste spill where you know who did what, how to clean it up and who pays.

This may be true.

But, with 23 city water systems in Michigan now documented by the DPH as being chemically contaminated, why not start writing the book on how Superfund can best deal with the problem right now.

And right here.



Most Grandmas have it.

County forests...

agricultural use on Charlevoix County's mainland. In addition, many areas capable of supporting timberlands of regional importance (capable of producing less than half a cord of wood per acre per year) are either being farmed, are abandoned farmland, or have been improperly managed or grazed".

The afore-mentioned report was published in October, 1981, and laid the groundwork for further studies. County Planner Larry Sullivan explains, "The report tells where the good tree-growing soils are, but it didn't tell what was really growing there. We had to get an idea what lands would be best to retain for forest development and to find out what woodlots should be harvested."

So the County Planning Department undertook the development of a "Land Use Inventory", showing the kinds of cover on lands other than residential, commercial, or industrial.

They studied what was growing on the various parcels of land, whether the lands were wetlands, forest, agricultural, or pasture; rocky, clay, sandy, etc. They used color infra red transparencies of aerial photos and did field checking and finally presented the results to the townships for study and verification.

Then came the "Timber Stand Inventory", which the County Planning Department is now completing. After locating the stands of timber in the county through the "Land Use Inventory", the Planning Department again used the color infra red transparencies to identify the stands of timber by species, stock, and size - from seedlings to poletimber to sawtimber.

This "Timber Stand Inventory" can be used in several ways for economic development in the county, according to Sullivan.

"Timberland is short term for development," he explains. "We have several stands that could be used now. They are good northern hardwoods and there is enough for a furniture manufacturer to be interested. Right now, we are using only about a quarter of the timber that is grown, and much of it is not even managed.

"If we encourage wood manufacturers to come to the county, we could tell them which stands are available for management (we are going to get this information from the owners). Proper management increases timber yields and cover for habitat. Management could be only thinning, with the thinning being used for firewood. Commercial firewood is the second largest timber industry in the state."

Michigan State University Extension Services and the Soil Conservation District contributed greatly to the "Forest Soils Report", and now Rod Cortright, Charlevoix County Extension Agent, is working closely with the County Planning Department in inventorying forestlands and assessing the economic possibilities of a timber industry.

Cortright says his office will compile a list of owners of forestlands in need of management and direct an educational campaign toward them. "We have a big educational job to do," Cortright explains, "because most people don't know that forest management is inexpensive and can even be profitable."

The reason more people have not planted their acreage in trees is that it takes a minimum of 25 years for most timber to mature. "We're talking about 40 year rotations for hardwoods," he adds.

Neither Sullivan nor Cortright talks about a local timber industry such as once flourished in the county.

"We're talking about small businesses – lumber production for log homes, wood products such as pallets, dimmension stock for furniture, perhaps aspen for chip boards, firewood, that sort of thing," Cortright said in clarification.

Several sawmills already operate within the county. There are three on Beaver Island which ship saw logs to the Upper Peninsula for manufacture of paper and fiber productions. The recently-published "Charlevoix County Planner" lists five companies in the Boyne Falls area which manufacture log homes, wood products, lumber products, and pallets.

All of this is local industry using local natural resources and providing local jobs. The County Planning Department and Extension Services look forward to a growth in the industry which could employ from 1,500 to 2,000 people.

When the field work is completed on the "Timber Stand Inventory", by the end of the year, that information, as well as the "Land Use Inventory" will be computerized in a manner that can be added to so that complete information will be available to everyone interested in the local forestry industry.

This will provide another tool to use in the fight for local economic development.

Yard wars

by Dave Knight

It occurs to me that there is a product on the home improvement market right now that has the potential of starting range wars right in the tawniest of Charlevoix neighborhoods.

I can see this device turning lifelong friends into the vilest of enemies. Relationships that have survived many a neighborhood crisis are in danger of disintegrating into feuds to rival the that of the Hatfields and McCoys.

We may well be facing the beginning of the breakdown of social order as we know it just because of one simple machine.

I'm talking about leaf blowers.

Think about it.

Since the advent of leaf blowers, our entire concept of how to clear the lawn of dead leaves has changed. (For the uninformed, a leaf blower is something like a vacuum cleaner in reverse. Powered by a small, two-cycle engine, it generates a stream of air strong enough to blow leaves from one spot to another.)

Before, one collected leaves with a rake, gathering them carefully from the four corners of the lawn into a nice pile which was bagged or burned. An implosion, of sorts.

The leaf blower, however, scatters the leaves, blowing every which way. An explosion, if you will.

Though the lawn gets cleared either way, at least the rake system brings the leaves to some state of finality. With the leaf blower, however, nobody really knows or cares where their leaves end up, as long as it's not on their own yard.

Leaf blowers are self-proliferating. When one person in the neighborhood starts blowing his leaves off his lawn onto the neighbor's, the neighbor must get a leaf blower and blow them off his lawn - unless he wants to rake up two lawns worth of leaves.

Can you imagine the scene on your block when everyone gets a leaf blower? Tom will blow all his leaves onto John and Ed's' yards. John and Ed will in turn blow their leaves onto Greg, Jim, Paul and George's yards. George will blow his leaves back onto Tom's yard and, well, on it goes until outright warfare breaks out.

It will be the rare leaf that ever touches the ground before December.

I think there is a solution to this ugly scenario.

Everyone on the north side blow their leaves south and everyone on the south side blow their leaves north. When we have a gigantic pile built up in the Valley, right on Bridge St., organize into equal teams with leaf blowers and have at it.

It can be just like the old firemen's water fights. Establish end lines and when one team pushes the the leaf pile over the opposing team's end line, the losers have to dispose of it.

I suppose I am obligated to mention that the leaf blower can blow leaves into nice piles and, in competent hands, be used as a convenient and time-saving alternative to raking.

But what fun is that?

Sullen message

by Bob Clock

"The Day After" — ABC Television's nuclear war spectacular — is now history and I see we're all still around.

Sunday afternoon I made a mental note to count the number of cars traveling down Dixon Avenue during the telecast between 8 p.m. and 10:15 p.m. Sunday night so I'd have something to report. Then — after the program started — I forgot all about my good intentions.

None-the-less, I imagine most of us were riveted to our sets throughout the program, when we weren't letting the cats in or out or snacking on the used lasagne cooling on the kitchen counter.

"The Day After" certainly was an absorbing program, although I wish the producers had paid more attention to the script, which was pretty hackneyed. Sure, most people talk in cliches because it's too hard to be colorful and original 24 hours a day. However, on nationwide television, nothing should ever be "as scarce as hen's teeth." That's a bit much, even for ABC.

Characterization also was a trifle thin — probably because there were so many characters. I realize that in the prologue, the scriptwriters attempted to portray ordinary people doing ordinary things, but I sort of wish they had done them with more class.

Furthermore, it was a trifle distracting — at least for Michiganders — to have the lead character, Jason Robards, look so much like our own Douglas Fraser, retired president of the UAW. Robards did a fine, professional job, however, considering the deficiencies of the script and plot.

Despite its flaws, "The Day After" carried a message that needed to be said. The nuclear arms race is as ridiculous as anything mankind has ever undertaken. A reduction of nuclear arsenals to zero should be the chief aim of every government possessing atomic arms.

Many Americans — and other people around the world — would like President Reagan to make the first move by canceling the deployment of new nuclear missiles in Europe and launching a unilateral phasing out of those already in place. Such a move, of course, is fraught with grave risks, but isn't the world facing an even graver risks through the escalation of nuclear arms?

Is Reagan enough of a statesman to make such a move?

I'm afraid not. To quote from "The Day After," true statesmen are "as scarce as hen's teeth" in the United States today.

TCE approach would seek approval from their superiors as soon as possible and hopefully have a response by December 20 when another informal session is planned among the same parties.

Thursday's proceedings were prompted by an August 19, 1983 order by the DPH that the city decide on a course of action by January 1, 1984 and have an adequately clean and plentiful water supply in operation by January 1, 1987.

Styka pointed out that while the deadline for the city's decision has been extended, the January, 1987 deadline for an approved system on line remains in force.

"We wish to make it clear," said Styka, "that the state cannot continue to sit back while the public of Charlevoix is being given water contaminated by TCE."

Styka told the hearing officer that his agreement to the new stipulations in the DPH order was the result of understandings reached in pre-hearing talks.

"From that meeting, there appears there will be a speed-up in work toward a clean water system," said Styka.

Preliminary work is now underway on two potential sites for new city wells in Charlevoix. Test well drilling was completed last week at the municipal golf course and drilling was then to begin at a site on city airport property near the city's vegetable garden plots off State St.

Results of pump testing to determine capacity are still being awaited for the test well at the golf course.

Engagements

Kimberly Mitchell and Gregory Revoir

Mitchell-Revoir

The engagement has been announced of Kimberly Mae Mitchell and Gregory Lynn Revoir, both of Charlevoix.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mitchell, 304 W. Garfield, Charlevoix and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Revoir, Rt. 3, Charlevoix.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Charlevoix High School and attended Central Michigan University. She is currently employed as a legal secretary by Attorney David Fershee.

The groom is also a Charlevoix High School graduate and is employed by Boyne Machine Company where he is plant manager.

A May 12, 1984 wedding date has been set.

Will discuss reactivation of Womens Club

Plans to re-activate the Charlevoix Women's Club with a membership tea at the home of the president, Mrs. Ivan Witthoeft, on December 10 have been revealed.

The tea will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, December 10. All Charlevoix residents interested in joining the group are invited to attend. Plans are afoot to form special interest groups similar to the Book Review Group which has been a part of the club for several years. Possible suggestions are Financial Concerns, Community Service, Consumers Concerns, Quilting and Small Repair in the Home Groups. Any other suggestions will be welcome. As mentioned earlier, all women in the community are invited to attend the membership tea and offer their suggestions.

The December 10 meeting will also include a cookie exchange. Each member is asked to bring 18 cookies to the meeting for exchange. Miss Edith Harris will present the story of "The Echo" and Trina Wiser will present vocal selections.

Members are also asked to bring canned goods, paper items or toiletries to the meeting to be sent to the Women's Resource Center Safe House, one of the organizations the club helps support.

The annual Mitten Tree, sponsored by at the club, will make its appearance at the First State Bank Thursday, Decmeber 1. Contributions of mittens, caps or scarves pinned to the tree will be distributed to the needy in the community at Christmas time.

The Charlevoix Women's Club has helped support through donations Chip Counseling Center, A Music Grant to Frances Tollas, Charlevoix High School Forensics Group, Virginia McCune Art Center in Petoskey, Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department Junior Deputies, Mt. McSauba Day Camp and the C.H.I.C.O. Fund which aids Native American Children in the community.

The Book Review Group will meet Monday, Nov. 28 at the home of Mrs. P.D. Campbell to hear a review of Roger Rosenblatt's "Children of Way" by Mrs. Kit Carson. The meeting is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

Weathervane represented at conference

Bettering life for Illinois residents through leisure was the concern of over 3000 delegates attending the November 17-20 Illinois Park and Recreation Conference at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare, Rosemont, Illinois.

The Weathervane Terrace Hotel of Charlevoix, was represented at this conference. Their goal is to bring more bus tour business to Charlevoix and the area, especially senior citizens groups and active retirees. To aid them in their efforts, the Weathervane Terrace has recently joined Circle Michigan, an association of Michigan businesses, hotels, restaurants and tourist attractions. Circle Michigan is an organization designed to promote bus tour and travel business in Michigan and to member properties.

Girls down Elk Rapids in Tourney

Rhonda Buchanan drives for a lay-up.

The Charlevoix girls basketball team defeated Elk Rapids by a score of 48-28 Saturday night when it made its initial appearance in the Class C District tournament at Boyne City.

The win advances the Charlevoix team, coached by Henry Wagner, to the tournament finals against East Jordan at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The Charlevoix five got off to a slow start, trailing the Elks 6-3 in the end of the first period before outscoring their opponent 19-6 in the second period for a 22-11 halftime advantage.

Charlevoix doubled the score to 44-17 at the end of the third period. The team scored only four points in the final period as Coach Wagner emptied the bench.

Charlevoix had 21 field goals and six of 12 free throws while collecting 21 personal fouls. The Elks had 12 from the floor, four of 19 from the line and 17 fouls. –

Ann Wagner and Rhonda Buchanan, playing excellent defensive games, had 18 and 13 points respectively. Jill Rhoades had 12 for Elk Rapids.

In the opening game of the tournament, Elk Rapids defeated Boyne City 43-40. The following night East Jordan won over Kalkaska 46-41.

Charlevoix and East Jordan will battle it out for the title at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday. The winner will advance to the regional tournament at Grayling.

Spieles is Coach of the Year again

Pete Spieles

For the second straight year, Pete Spieles, coach of the Charlevoix Rayder Cross Country team which captured the State Class C title earlier this month, has been named Class C Coach of the Year.

The honor was bestowed upon him at the fall meeting of the Michigan Interscholastic Track Coaches Association held at Plymouth.

In his eight years as cross country coach at Charlevoix, Spieles has collected an enviable record that includes 56 wins and six losses in dual competition until 1983 when he had a 7-0 record; his teams won 19 championships in invitational competition, were runners-up 12 times and won six third places.

His teams won Michigan-Huron Shores Conference titles in 1977, 1980, 1981, 1982, 1983; qualified for Class C regional competition seven of the eight years; won the regional title in 1978, 1980, 1982, 1983 and had teams in the state finals five years, finishing fifth in 1978, and 1980, ninth in 1981 and first in 1982 and 1983.

Through the years his runners have received All-State recognition. This year Bill Taylor, who has been a member of the Rayder squad for the past four years, became 1983 State Champion. In 1982 he was an All-Stater. John Tunison was All-Stater in 1982 and '83. Matt Peterson was the third All-Stater in 1982.

Others who have received All-State honors are Jay Swartwout in 1980; Jeff Drenth, who went on to earn All American honors at Central Michigan University, in 1978; Mark Russell in 1978 and Walt Drenth, who went on to run on the Central Michigan team, in 1976. Drenth has returned as assistant coach of the Charlevoix Rayders for the past three years.

A native of St. Ignace, Spieles graduated from Michigan State University with a B.A. degree and has an M.A. degree from Northern Michigan University. He presently teaches Biology at the Charlevoix High School.

Independent basketball results

Action in the Independent League last week saw County State Bank edging Wojan Aluminum 58-52; Judy's Restaurant downing First State Bank 63-51; Townhouse winning over Kit Carson 83-74 and Erber-McKeown Ford dumping Air Force 111-34.

This week Erber-McKeown Ford will play Jody's Restaurant at 6:30 p.m. and Kit Carson will take on Wojan Aluminum at 7:45 p.m. Wednesday; Townhouse and Wojan Aluminum will play at 6:30 and Air Force and Judy's Resturant at 7:45 p.m. Monday. On Nov. 30 Carson's and First State Bank will square off at 8:30 and Erber-McKeown Ford will take on County State Bank at 7:45 p.m.

In the County State Bank-Wojan game the bankers had to come from behind after trailing 11-6, 21-18 and 36-33 to outscore Wojan's 25-16 in the final period for the victory.

Tom Leonard had 30 points and Larry Skippergosh 12 for the winners. Bernie DeVries scored 18 and Larry Martin and Don Ward 10 each for Wojan's.

Judy's took an esrly 20-10 lead over First State Bank and led 33-20 at the half and 50-31 going into the final period for the victory.

Randy Holecheck had 22 points, Jim Alger 11 and Ray LaVoie 10 for the Restaurant. Ike Boss with 20, Dave Summerville with 13 and Jim Arner with 10 were top scorers for First State.

Townhouse had no trouble with Kit Carson as they led 20-13, 43-32 and 60-51 by quarters. Chris Putman with 32 points, Dan McKenzie with 22 and Steve Dunkelberg with 20 led the scoring for Townhouse. Vince Left had 27, Dave Storm 16 and Butch Klooster 10 points for Carson's.

Erber-McKeown Ford piled up a lop-sided win over the Air Force outscoring the Airmen 26-0, 52-11 and 80-25 by quarters with Pat Schmidt dumping in 55 points. Tony Starr added 18 points and Mike Schmidt 11. Ezra Sims and Brian Robinson had 10 each for the Air Force.

Middle School girls lose at Cheboygan

The Charlevoix Middle School eighth grade girls basketball team lost out in the consolation bracket game with Cheboygan by a score of 27-17 in the Junior High tournament hosted by Cheboygan last week.

The team had gone into the game after defeating Petoskey 47-8 in the first game in the consolation play-off Monday night. Charlevoix had led Petoskey 20-4 at halftime before going on to the lopsided win. Allison Hall had 18 points and Monica Havens 11 for Charlevoix and Leslie Garringer had four for Petoskey.

The games had been played in Charlevoix rather than having the two teams travel to Cheboygan.

In the game against Cheboygan Wednesday night, Charlevoix trailed 13-9 at halftime before losing 27-17. Allison Hall had six points for Charlevoix. Meri Yankowiak had 11 for Cheboygan.

Charlevoix had lost to Cheboygan Catholic 33-24 to go into the consolation bracket in the first game of the tournament.

The seventh grade was eliminated from the tournament after losing to Petoskey 17-15 Monday night in their first game in the consolation bracket. The Charlevoix five had led 9-2 at the half but were outscored in the second half 15-6 to give Petoskey the win. Shaun Beatty had seven points for the winner. Stacy Gebott and Shelly Ferguson had six points each for Charlevoix.

Charlevoix had lost to Cheboygan Catholic 20-16 in the opening game of the tournament to go into the consolation bracket.

Bus system issues monthly report

by PEG OHLE

Activities at the Charlevoix County Transit system during October consisted of providing rides for and delivering hot meals to 353 persons, according to its monthly report.

These persons accounted for 5,603 one-way trips within the County and to Petoskey. They paid $3,143.77 in fares, or an average of 56 cents a ride.

In providing this service, Transit System buses traveled 20,189 miles in 21 days of operation and used 2,820 gallons of fuel. Total operating expenses for October (plus some expenses for services for which bills had not been received) amounted to $13,418.55.

The Transit System recently received delivery from the State on two new 16-passenger buses with wheelchair lifts and are awaiting delivery of a third new bus. After being equipped with communication facilities, the new buses will be put into service to replace three of the oldest buses which have been in service for over three years.

The new buses are housed in a former auto dealership garage in Boyne City which the Transit System is renting for $800 a month.

The Charlevoix County Commission on Aging oversees operations of the Transit System as well as the Nutrition Program and other services.

The October report indicates that a total of 3,123 meals were served to senior citizens in the County; 471 in Charlevoix, 1,225 in Boyne City, and 1,427 in East Jordan. In addition, 124 meals were delivered to homebound senior citizens in Charlevoix and 710 in the Boyne City-East Jordan area.

Persons eating the Nutrition Program meals throughout the County contributed $1,897.65 toward their costs, or an average of slightly over 60 cents a meal. In Charlevoix they contributed $276.05, or an average of 59 cents a meal; in Boyne City they contributed $628.95, or an average of 51 cents a meal; and in East Jordan they contributed $992.65, or an average of 70 cents a meal. Total costs of the meals (and delivery to homebound persons) were $4,578.35.

Deducting contributions from cost of meals left a net cost of $2,680.70. Eight other services provided by the Commission on Aging during the month brought total expenditures of the Commission up to $11,049.00, in addition to the Transit expenditures of $13,418.55.

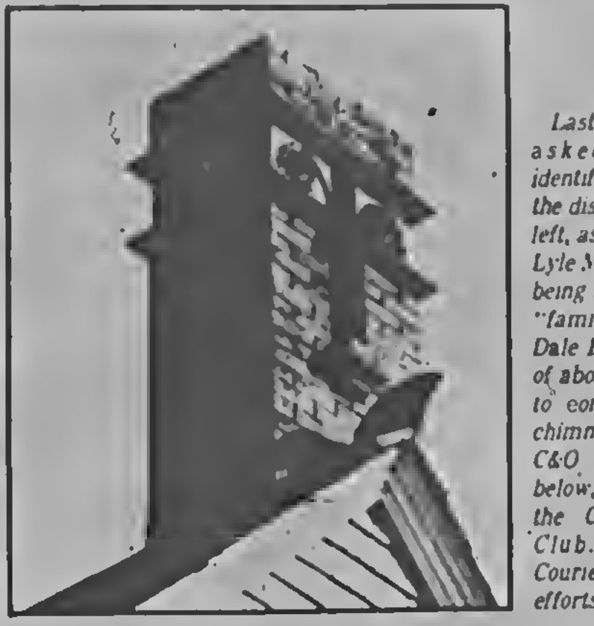
Did you find it?



Last week the Courier asked readers to identify the location of the distinctive chimney, left, as photographed by Lyle Miles, with the clue being that it was atop a "familiar structure". Dale Boss was the first of about 20 respondents to correctly place the chimney at the former C&O Railroad depot, below, now the home of the Charlevoix Yacht Club. Dale won a Courier tote bag for his efforts.

New organization to inform and educate about emotionally disturbed children by

BETH STRAWBRIDGE

Most mental health and special education workers estimate that 10 percent of children 17 and younger require professional assistance because of emotional and learning problems.

That estimate is conservative, according to Gail Brink, regional coordinator and Chapter Development Specialist for the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children.

"I would put the number closer to 15 percent", said Ms. Brink, in Charlevoix last week to speak to the Kiwanis Club.

MAEDC, founded in 1957 by a group of concerned parents and professionals, is the only State-wide organization of its kind in the nation. The Emmet-Charlevoix Chapter of MAEDC, recently organized and awaiting official MAEDC sanction, will be the State's 15th chapter.

"Our group is primarily a parent group," said Marge Bley, newly-elected president of the Emmet-Charlevoix Chapter. "For many families with disturbed children, the traditional support system - friends, even relatives - disappears. They suffer a terrible sense of isolation."

Besides providing an opportunity for parents to come together for mutual support, MAEDC chapters have been instrumental over the years in bringing about improved and expanded services for distrubed children.

"In 1957, there were no public school programs for emotionally disturbed children," said Ms. Brink. "Last year there were nearly 19,000 children enrolled in the state. In the 50's and 60's, MAEDC was funding resident group homes; now these funds are available through Children's Mental Health and the Department of Social Services."

At the local level, MAEDC provides direct assistance to children in need of residential placement, summer camp experiences (the chapter based in Traverse City provided camp scholarships to six children last summer), tutoring, and emergency direct assistance in the form of gas mileage to treatment centers, medication, and special evaluation.

The need for services provided by MAEDC is now especially acute, said Marge Bley. "All social service agencies in the area are in a crises mode now. Funding has been cut, agencies can't afford to hire any new staff. Yet, at the same time there have been cut-backs, there are alot more pressures on families."

One project being discussed by the Emmet-Charlevoix Chapter is the formation of a telephone answering service, a sort of "hot-line" staffed by parents, which other parents can call if the critical point is reached in their family situation.

One of the most important things we parents can give each other is reassurance," said Ms. Bley, "if only to say 'hang in there, you'll make it through till tomorrow'. They need to know they're not alone in the boat."

Parents of disturbed children may also need help in handling anger directed at them by people upset at the parent's apparent "lack of discipline." Discipline and structure are important, said Ms. Bley, but they alone will not solve the child's problem. "The kids need to understand themselves and learn to come to grips with why they behave the way they do."

Gail Brink

Ms. Brink gave an example of such a frustrated parent. "I had a mother tell me that if she heard just one more person behind her in the grocery check-out line say 'What that child needs is some discipline'..., she would turn around and punch them in the nose.' This was in intelligent, loving mother who had come to the end of her string because of the public's misunderstanding of her and her child. These people need the support of other parents who share similar problems. These are the people our group exists for."

Among other concerns of the group is to find ways of making counseling services available to all who are in need of them. "For some families, all counselors, even those that offer a 'sliding' fee schedule, are more than they can afford," said Ms. Bley.

The group also sees the importance of providing a place for "respite care", where, at a time when they are at loggerheads, parents and child could have some time away from each other, even if only for a few hours.

MAEDC receives no public funding. It is supported by United Way contributions, memberships, private gifts and fund raising activities. It is essentially a volunteer-run organization. In the entire State there are only three paid professionals on staff (Gail Brink is one), and 1½ paid secretarial positions.

To raise money to benefit local children, MAEDC chapters are selling Christmas cards designed by an emotionally disturbed teenager. The watercolor, in warm earth tones, depicts a bird on a snowy branch. The cards sell for $3.00 for a pack of ten, and are available at the Char-Em Office.

The Emmet-Charlevoix Chapter of the Michigan Association for Emotional Disturbed Children meets on the fourth Thursday of the month at 7:00 p.m. They will meet alternately at the Northern Mental Health Center at 603 E. Lake St. in Petoskey and at the Char-Em Intermediate School District Offices on Mercer Blvd in Charlevoix. The next meeting will be in Petoskey.

Persons wishing additional information about MAEDC and its services may call Gail Brink at MAEDC in Traverse City (616-946-3335) or Marge Bley at the Char-Em Intermediate office (547-9947).

Local firm introduces new industrial product

CPI, a Charlevoix manufacturer of automation products, has introduced a new line of long-wearing, 6" automation rollers made from a special compound neoprene which resists oil.

Called 600 Series, these 6" rollers are designed for large, fragile parts. They have a dished- or concave roller surface providing double the cushioning effect of 4" rollers.

According to CPI's president, Don Hufford, "These cushion rollers have provided our customers a 90 percent reduction in 'low spots' on fragile outer body panels."

Made for an oil-resistant neoprene material, these CPI rollers will not age harden like urethane rollers or absorb oil like sponge rollers. They are non-marking, and contain no silicone to contaminate prepaint surfaces. The bearings are guaranteed for the life of the roller.

The cushioned models feature an engineered hole pattern which provides greater cushinging effect. This allows the user to get soft cushioning effect while using a longer-lasting, harder durometer.

The 600 Series rollers are available in four, color-coded durometers, and with stud mounts or shaft mounts. When stacked, several shaft mount rollers form a continuous roll making an excellent sheet or coil lubricator. CPI also offers 2½" and 4" diameter rollers.

Obituaries

JAMES S. LANDIS

Funeral services for James S. Landis, 69, of Charlevoix and Port St. Lucie, Fla., were held Nov. 16, at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Walter Hastings of the Community Church of God officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

Mr. Landis died Nov. 13 at Martin Memorial Hospital in Stuart, Fla., shortly after arriving in the south for the winter.

Born in York, Pa., March 3, 1914, Mr. Landis moved to Detroit as a young man. On Dec. 12, 1944, he was married to the former Hilda Whitley at Bowling Green, Ohio. They made their home in Detroit where he was employed at the Ford Motor Co. and the General Motors Corp. Following his retirement in 1971 they came to Charlevoix to make their home, spending the winter months in Florida. He was a member of the B.P.O.E. in Fort Pierce, Fla., and the Community Church of God in Charlevoix.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. Dante (Geraldine) Borto of Livonia and Kathleen Landis of New York City; three grandchildren; two great-grandchildren and a brother, Ivan Landis of York, Pa.

The family suggests memorials to the Dialysis Unit at Northern Michigan Hospitals, Inc.

LILA V. WEST

Funeral services for Mrs. Lila V. West, 80, of Charlevoix and Phoenix, Ariz., were held Nov. 18 at St. Mary's Church. The Rev. O.F.M. of St. Francis Church in Petoskey officiated. Interment was in St. Mary's Cemetery.

The Rosary was recited at the Winchester Funeral Home Thursday evening.

Mrs. West died Nov. 8 at Phoenix, Ariz.

Born in Charlevoix, Aug. 21, 1903, the former Lila V. Hebert was married to Franklin C. McFarland in Charlevoix in 1919. She owned and operated the Parkside Restaurant on a seasonal basis from 1935 until 1978. She had spent the winter months in Pompano Beach, Fla. and more recently at Scottsdale, Ariz. Mr. McFarland preceded her in death in 1951. She was a member of St. Mary's Church and a life member of St. Mary's Altar Society.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Dee (Betty) Anderson of Star Valley, Ariz., Mrs. Victor (Charlene) Pierce of Phoenix, Ariz. and twins, Mrs. James (Dona) Klooster and Mrs. Howard (Mona) Struthers, both of Charlevoix; 12 grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Arthur (Mary) Gleason of Hesperia, Calif., and a brother, Arthur Hebert of Charlevoix.

The family suggests memorials to the Arizona Training Building for Retarded Children, Building F., East McDowell Rd., Phoenix, Ariz. 85008.

LAURENCE A. FOLEY

Funeral services for Laurence A. Foley, 89, of Charlevoix who died Nov. 19 at the Grandvue Medical Care Facility were held Tuesday, Nov. 22, at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. Walter Hastings of the Community Church of God officiated. Interment was in Greenwood Cemetery at Petoskey.

Mr. Foley was born at Mackinac Island Aug. 23, 1894 and lived there and at Frankfort, Manistique and Kalamazoo with his parents who were in hotel management. He attended Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. During World War I he served with the U.S. Army. On June 15, 1935, he was married to the former Lorah Cole at Rochester. In 1949 they came to Charlevoix where he was employed at the Charlevoix County Bureau of Social Aid. He was retired in 1961. During the ensuing years they lived in Boyne City and Gaylord before returning to their present home in Charlevoix. He was associated with the Boy Scouts for 22 years as a Scoutmaster and in other capacities. He was a member of the Community Church of God and was a charter member of the Boyne City chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America.

Surviving are his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Herbert (Mary) Hilliker of Flint, Mrs. David (Margaret) Jullieret and Lorah J. Foley, both of Charlevoix; 11 grandchildren; eight great-grandchildren and a sister, Dorothy Foley of Traverse City.

Because of Mr. Foley's interest in music, the family suggests memorials to the Ministry of Music of the Community Church of God. Envelopes for this purpose are available at the Winchester Funeral Home.

THELMA E. ADDINGTON

Funeral services for Mrs. Thelma E. Addington, 83, of Ellsworth who died Nov. 18 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, were held Tuesday at the First Congregational Church in Charlevoix. The Rev. Philip Schairbaum officiated. Interment was in the Ellsworth Cemetery.

Born at Traverse City April 8, 1900, the former Thelma E. Frink attended Western Michigan University and taught at Alden and Rapid City. On June 14, 1920, she was married to Cecil J. Addington at Bicknell, Ind. They made their home in Rapid City until 1922 when they moved to Kalamazoo. They later moved to the Detroit area where she became widely known in musical circles as a church organist and choir director. She had become a church organist in 1912 at Bellaire. She continued in this role for 65 years. She also taught organ and piano for many years. After moving to Ellsworth in 1977, she continued to play at Alden and Bellaire. She was well known for organ recitals in northern Michigan. She had also been a contralto soloist.

She was a charter member of the National United Methodist Fellowship of Worship Music and Other Arts; former chairperson of the annual Metropolitan Carol Festival; former officer of the Detroit Chapter of the American Guild of Organists, Detroit Guild of Church Musicians and former president of the Northwestern Faculty Wives of Detroit. Mre. Addington preceded her in death Nov. 5, 1983.

She is survived by four daughters, Ellen Addington of Ellsworth, Mrs. Donald (Jean) Goodrich of Detroit, Mrs. Karnik (Marilyn) Mossian of Northville and Mrs. David (Virginia) Pickens of Redford; two sons, Jack of Howell and Robert of Ortonville; 21 grandchildren; 21 great-grandchildren and two sisters, Mrs. Norma Gibbs of Traverse City and Mrs. Betty Ogden of Long Beach, Calif.

The family suggests memorials to the Thelma E. Addington Church Music Scholarship through the National United Methodist Fellowship of Worship Music and Other Arts. Envelopes for this purpose may be obtained at the Hastings Funeral Home which was in charge of arrangements.

BESSIE A. DEAN

Mrs. Bessie Allen Dean, a native of Ironton, died November 14 in Ludington at the age of 87 following a brief illness.

The former Bessie Allen was born in Ironton on May 7, 1896. She graduated from Charlevoix High School, the Charlevoix County Normal School, and Michigan State Normal College in Ypsilanti. She taught school at Ironton and Ann Arbor and owned a restaurant in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Dean had lived in Ludington since 1971.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Betty Merrill of Ludington, and Mrs. Virginia Brady of Manchester; one son, F. Allen Dean of Ann Arbor; eight grandchildren; and seven great grandchildren.

Funeral services were held November 16 at the Alexander-Rye Funeral Home in Ludington, with the Reverend William Collins officiating. Graveside services were held November 17 at Forest Hills Cemetery in Ann Arbor.

MAEH to present holiday program Dec. 3

Charlevoix County MAEH (Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers) clubs will be presenting their annual Holiday Program on Saturday, December 3, 1983 from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. at the Community Reformed Church in Charlevoix. This program is a fund raiser for College Week scholarships. College Week is a four day learning experience for adults held each June in Lansing on the campus of Michigan State University.

Twelve classes will be taught by area residents. Julie Whitley, Charlevoix MAEH member will teach quilted picture frames, Nancy Brooks, East Jordan MAEH, will instruct a class in making snowflake ornaments of candlewick embroidery and Linda Behringer of Brown Bay Originals will teach fabric stenciling.

In addition, making a return visit will be Jim Daunter's Commercial Foods class from the Petoskey Area Skills Center. This year they will prepare a beef flambeau, create a vegetable wreath and prepare a confection dessert. For this class bring your appetite.

Dot Gilding, author of "Pre-Quilted Crafts" and Charlevois resident, will be demonstrating machine monogramming and embroidery as well as how to make prequilted tote bags.

"Creative Crafts For Children" is designed for adults interested in doing simple crafts with children and will be taught by Margaret Arnold, an occupational therapist from Charlevois. Those interested in glass etching can register to participate in hands-on instruction in a class taught by Martha Dodge of Eastport.

Dee Kiebel, Petoskey, will instruct a class in trapunto. Participants will stitch and stuff a pillow top. Needlepoint ornaments will be the subject of the class taught by Claudia Grutsch, East Jordan MAEH member. "Holiday Beverages Minus the Booze" is the class given by Sheri Rhoads, Extension Home Economist for Charlevoix-Antrim Counties.

Lunch on this day will be brown bag with MAEH members sponsoring a dessert sale. Registration for the day is $2.00 plus a small marterials fee for each class. The registration deadline is Friday, November 28. Anyone interested in attending can get complete class descriptions and registration forms by calling the Charlevoix County Extension office during business hours at 582-6232.

YOU PAY FOR THE COUGAR. WE PAY FOR THE SERVICE PLAN.

When you lease an aerodynamic '84 Mercury Cougar, Lincoln-Mercury includes an Extended Service Plan. At no additional charge.

It covers service and repairs of specific major components for 36 months or 48,000 miles, whichever comes first. And promises no parts or labor charges, except a $25 deductible for each eligible repair. No matter how many different covered parts need to be fixed.

So you not only enjoy the pleasure of driving your leased Cougar, but also the peace of mind of knowing that ESP service comes with your car. At no additional charge.

JEANNE MARIE BELFY, assistant professor of Music at Boise State University, has presented a paper "The Commissioning Project of the Louisville Orchestra: The Use of Music as a Political Tool for the United States", to the 49th annual meeting of the American Musicological Society, held in Louisville, Kentucky.

During the meeting, a publication of transcriptions and facsimile letters by contemporary composers compiled by Belfy, with a commentary and introduction written by her, was distributed to registrants.

Belfy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Belfy, Charlevoix.

JILL WASHBURN has completed training as a Welcome Wagon Hostess and will begin greeting households in Charlevoix. Barbara Marshall, President of Welcome Wagon International, Inc. has announced. Jill will join Marilyn Izor to call on newcomers, growning families (birth of a baby) and engaged girls, to present gifts from local sponsoring businesses. As a community service she will also distribute information for many government agencies and local civic and cultural groups. To request a Welcome Wagon call, contact Jill Washburn at 547-4202.

Strept throat cases are increasing

Parents should be aware that the number of cases of strept throat have increased in the District Health Department No. 3 area (Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego Counties).

An individual with strept throat may have any of the following basic symptoms: fever, sore throat, enlarged and enflamed tonsils, and tender and swollen lymph nodes in the neck area. There may also be a minimum of symptoms. High fever, headache, nausea and vomiting may accompany severe infections. Sometimes you can have a rash which is often mistaken for another childhood illness such as roseola or measles.

Untreated people may develop middle ear infections, mastoiditis, and throat and neck abscesses. Other important problems are heart (rheumatic fever) and kidney (glomerulonephritis) disease.

Parents should be aware of the fact that strept throat is a treatable illness. Penicillin will prevent most complications. Therefore, the Health Department urges parents to contact their family doctors if they think their children may have strept throat.

Orchestra preview to be held

Don Th. Jaeger

Donald Brown

The Northwood Orchestra which performs in Charlevoix each summer, will present a Festival of the Lakes Preview on Tuesday, November 29, from 8:00 to 10:00 p.m. at The Perry Davis Hotel Bay Street Lobby in Petoskey. Don Th. Jaeger, Music Director and Conductor of the Northwood Orchestra, will announce concert locations and programming for the 1984 season. Advance ticket subscriptions will be available at the preview.

"I am especially enthusiastic about this season's program," says Jaeger. "There will be something for everyone - familiar favorites as well as lesser known but equally enjoyable selections. I feel our audiences will be particularly pleased with the quality of the featured soloists." According to John Bland, General Manager of the Northwood Orchestra, "I am expecting strong ticket sales after our experience with sold-out concerts last year. This preview event is an opportunity for Little Traverse Bay area residents to purchase tickets well in advance. Concert subscriptions make thoughtful gifts, and we suggest our series tickets for everyone's holiday shopping list."

Entertainment will be provided by Don Th. Jaeger, oboe; Thomas Brown, piano, of Historic Grace Episcopal Church, Brooklyn Heights; and Eugene Proctor, baritone, who most recently performed with the Pittsburgh Opera. Program selections for the November 29 event include: "Largo al factorum" for Rossini's "Barber of Seville"; an area by J.S. Bach, and "Soliloquy" from Rogers and Hammerstein's "Carousel".

The public is invited to the Festival of the Lake Preview at no charge. A complimentary dessert table and cash bar will be available.

The Northwood Orchestra, a professional chamber orchestra sponsored by Northwood Institute, first performed in August, 1979, for the Northwood Institute Festival of the Lakes, founded in the Little Travers Bay cities of Petoskey, Charlevoix, and Harbor Springs. Since that time, the orchestra has appeared in eight northern Michigan communities as well as major cities from coast to coast.

Attorney General files suit against Medusa

by DAVE KNIGHT

Michigan Attorney General Frank J. Kelley announced last week that his office has filed suit against the Medusa Cement Company's Charlevoix plant for failing to adequately control dust emissions from the plant.

Also named as plaintiffs in the suit are the Michigan Department of Natural Resorces (DNR) and WATCH, Inc., an organization of Charlevoix residents and property owners formed in July, 1983 to deal with the cement dust problem.

At a Wednesday, Nov. 23 press conference in Traverse City, Kelley said that his involvement in the action came at the request of the DNR's Air Pollution Control Commission, the agency responsible for enforcing air pollution regulations in Michigan.

It was the Air Pollution Control Commission that first held hearings on citizen complaints of air quality violations by Medusa in August, 1978 and May, 1979 and which, as a result of those hearings, tightened the dust control requirements in the plant's permit to install the dry manufacturing process. That process went on line in December, 1979.

After one year of operation under the new process, however, the DNR cited Medusa for air quality violations and at a January 13, 1981 hearing, the company admitted the violations and agreed to submit in writing how it planned to reduce dust emissions.

According to the Attorney General's suit, "Some documents were submitted by (Medusa), but frequent particulate and visible emissions violations have continued to date at the (Medusa) plant since January, 1981."

"When (Medusa's) plant is operating, air quality violations occur on almost a daily basis. These violations are injurious to the welfare of neighboring citizens and to their property. Dust from (Medusa's) operations has repeatedly fouled the air; caused eye, lung and nose irritation; and has covered homes, vehicles and other citizen property," continues the complaint.

In his comments last week, Kelley said, "The constant belching of cement dust by Medusa is not a new problem. Nor is it beyond their control. We are suing Medusa in Charlevoix Circuit Court because it has continuously failed to meet its commitments to keep its pollution under control. As a result, we find cement dust regularly fouling the air, particularly during the summer months when prevailing winds carry it from Medusa's plant over the City of Charlevoix. Those who have lived under such circumstances know only too well the frustration that comes from washing a car with vinegar, only to find it covered with dust when the next wind blows from Medusa."

Kelley added that Medusa first agreed to voluntary pollution controls ten years ago and made more assurances of abatement when the new manufacturing process was installed five years ago.

"Today," said Kelley, "many complaints, hearings and meetings later, it is clear that only a court order will compel Medusa to become a solid corporate citizen."

He explained that the DNR seeks litigation in such matters only after its own efforts to force compliance have been frustrated.

Said Kelley, "It's understood that a request sent to my office for litigation is a two-by-four designed to make the company sit up and take notice. It is a last resort."

Asked whether WATCH, Inc. was involved in bringing the Attorney General's office into the case, Kelley strongly denied that the citizen group influenced his decision to sue Medusa.

"This case was put on my desk in March of 1983," said Kelley, "It is my understanding that the WATCH group was not formed until the following July. They (WATCH, Inc.) had nothing to do with my decision to file suit. I have never made a decision to file a suit based on a citizen complaint."

Kelley did, however, praise WATCH, Inc. for their efforts to confront Medusa about dust pollution saying, "It is not often that homeowners of an area will invest in the legal expenses required to take on a giant corporation."

WATCH, Inc. currently has about 400 members, according to president Howard F. Neilson. The group initiated a 90-day monitoring plan with Medusa this past summer which is aimed at pinpointing the dust control problems at the plant and eventually finding solutions to those problems.

Said Neilson, who was on hand for the Wednesday news conference, "We plan to continue our cooperative program with Medusa however we got to the point where we needed some help."

WHAT A SAIL! When Charlevoix sailmaker Gary Gleason recently took an order for a spinnaker to equip a 68-foot sailboat bound for the South Pacific from Florida, he found that even his spacious new facility on Ferry Ave. was not big enough to spread out the finished product. As an alternative, Gleason used the Elementary School gym, the floor of which was completely covered by the multi-colored sail. Shown above sitting in the middle of the 71-foot by 41-foot spinnaker is Elementary School student Richie LaVoie.

Waldner suit forcing millage vote nearing completion

by PEG OHLE

The long-drawn-out lawsuit filed last April against the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners by Karl Waldner of Wilson Township may soon be decided.

The suit cites the County Board for failure to hold a special millage reduction election (to reduce allocated millage from 15 to 13 mills) after Waldner and the Organized Voters of America, a group which he heads, submitted petitions with legally sufficient signatures calling for such a millage election.

Former County Prosecutor Scott Beatty advised the County Board to refuse the petitions request because they called for the County to allocate .20 of a mill for public libraries. He determined that public libraries did not have authority to levy millage, and because of this, the petitions did not comply with State law.

Beatty was also a defendant in the original lawsuit, but the case against him was later dismissed.

At the conclusion of a hearing held November 17 before visiting Judge John Unger of Antrim County, Waldner was given an extention of one week's time to prove that it is legal for public libraries to levy taxes, and if so, name which libraries are doing so.

On November 22, Waldner filed in Charlevoix County Circuit Court a document headed "In Furtherance of Fairness" in which he cited "the district library of Jackson, Michigan" as being one of a number of libraries levying taxes.

Judge Unger has promised an early decision in the case following receipt of Waldner's answer.

If Judge Unger decides in favor of the plaintiffs, the County will be forced to set up a special millage election based on the requests included in the petitions, namely allocating 3.30 mills for County operation, 8.25 mills for district schools operation, 1.10 mills for the townships, .15 mills for the Intermediate School District, and .20 mills for public libraries.

Presently, millage is being levied at the rate of 4.7 mills for County operation, 9.1 mills for district schools, 1.0 mills for townships, and .20 mills for public libraries.

Abbott home vandalized

The Charlevoix County Sheriff's Department is investigating an estimated $7,000 in damage done last week to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Abbott at 501 Michigan Ave.

The Abbotts, who divide their time between the recently constructed home in Charlevoix Township and one in Franklin, said that the damage occurred while they were downstate, sometime between Sunday, November 20 and Wednesday, November 23 when it was discovered by friends.

The damage included:

-A black, sticky substance thought to be the undercoating used to rustproof cars was sprayed extensively on the textured stucco walls, hewn beams, brick work, windows and cedar shake roof of the house.

-A large shrub in front of the house was torn apart and thrown over an embankment.

-A bag of cement was spread across a brick patio and was subsequently rained upon to harden it.

-Two thermo-pane picture windows were broken but only the outside pane were broken so that the interior security system was not triggered.

-A SuperGlue-like substance was squirted into the front door lock.

-An outside water faucet was left running and flooded the basement.

Mr. and Mrs. Abbott are currently involved in a legal dispute with Charlevoix Township over ownership of a 66-foot right-of-way extending from the west end of Division St. down to the Lake Michigan beach. They, along with neighbor Elizabeth Hodgson, filed in Charlevoix Circuit Court last year to void the township's ownership of the right-of-way saying that it was never formally accepted by the township when Bessie Pattengill filed a quit claim deed in 1898.

Visiting Judge Nicholas Lambros ruled in the township's favor November 8 but an appeal is still being considered by the Abbotts.

Mr. Abbott, dean of the Detroit College of Law, said that he is convinced the damage to their new home was motivated by the dispute over the right-of-way.

"We are completely sick about it," he said, "I feel sorry for someone with this kind of mentality."

Although Sheriff's deputies have not commented on any suspects, they told the Abbotts that several pieces of evidence collected at the scene should aid the investigation.

Virginia Y. Abbott announced this week that she and her husband are offering a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for the damage. Information may be sent anonymously to Box 144, Charlevoix Courier with a self-selected identification number that will later be matched following a conviction.

Damage to the Abbott home shown above includes an undercoating-type substance sprayed on the exterior, stucco walls.

Obituaries

DAVID B. STEWART

Funeral services for David B. Stewart, 51, who died unexpectedly at his Ellsworth home Nov. 24, were held Nov. 27 at the Ellsworth Wesleyan Church. The Rev. Estel Clark of Grace Community Church of Central Lake officiated. Interment was in the Ellsworth Cemetery.

Born in Detroit March 2, 1932, Mr. Stewart was married to the former Pauline Reibel in Royal Oak May 1, 1958. They lived in Livonia until moving to Ellsworth in 1967. He was a driver for Parker Motor Freight headquartered in Petoskey. He was a member of General Teamsters Union No. 406.

Surviving are his wife; three sons, Greg of Charlevoix and Keith and Kevin at home; his mother, Mrs. Anita Lindig of Brighton; two brothers, Ronald Lindig of Ypsilanti and Jerry Lindig of Fairfield, Calif., and two sisters, Mrs. Douglas (Barbara) Jenkins and Susan Lindig, both of Brighton.

ESTHER NORTH

Funeral services for a former Charlevoix resident, Mrs. Oscar P. (Esther) North, 99, who died Nov. 25 in Comstock Park following a long illness, were held Sunday at the Newaygo United Church of Christ. Interment was in the Newaygo Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. (Esther Kulberg) North came to Charlevoix in the mid-1920's when he joined the faculty at the Charlevoix Public Schools. He later became Superintendent of the Charlevoix Schools, a position he held until the early 1940's when he accepted a similar position in the Newaygo schools. He headed the school system there until he retired. He preceded her in death. She continued to live in Newaygo until recent years when she moved to Comstock Park to be near her daughter, Eleanoir North.

Surviving, besides her daughter, are two sons, Howard of Ionia and Donald of Mt. Clemens; six grandchildren; 10 great-grandchildren; a brother, Henry Kulberg of Bay City and three sisters, Anne and Jennie Kulberg of Bay City and Mrs. Frank (Ruth) Beard of Flint.

IVAN R. SEATON

Funeral services for Ivan R. Seaton, 69, South Arm Township, Ellsworth, were held Friday at the Hastings Funeral Home in Ellsworth. The Rev. Bruce Persenaire of the Ellsworth Christian Reformed Church officiated. Interment was in the Ellsworth Cemetery.

Mr. Seaton died Nov. 22 at the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

Born at Canton Center, Michigan, Feb. 9, 1916, Mr. Seaton was married to the former Edith Lawrence at Ypsilanti, Nov. 12, 1938. They always made their home in Ypsilanti where he was employed by the City of Ypsilanti. Mrs. Seaton preceded him in death in June 1976. He was married to the former Marjorie Woodruff Nov. 25, 1976, at Ypsilanti. They came to South Arm Township to make their home that year. He was a member of the Emanuel Baptist Church in Ypsilanti.

Surviving are his wife; two daughters, Mrs. George (Sandra) Steffen of Central Lake and Mrs. Vern (Patricia) Williams of Ypsilanti and three grandchildren.

School Board awards bids for snow, carpet

by FRAN MARTIN

Two bids were awarded during the regular meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education, November 21.

Robert Zelenock of Boyne City was awarded the contract for snow removal during the 1983-84 school year. Zelenock's bid was the only one received. Earlier the school district had advertised for bids and had no bidders.

Whitley Carpet was awarded the bid for carpeting the study hall at the high school. The Whitley bid was the lowest of three received. The others were Bartlett's and McLelland. Figures on the bids were not available.

In other action, Supt. Gordon W. VanWieren was designated as representative for the school district to apply for federal aid under Public Law No. 874 (military families).

The resignation of Sandra Fassett who has been on a leave of absence from the school was accepted with regret. Mrs. Fassett is now in Clearwater, Fla.

The board received an update on the engineering being done on the high school parking lot to clear up a drainage problem. The work on the parking lot will not be done until springs.

The next meeting of the board is scheduled for Dec. 5.

County Board allocates revenue sharing funds

by FRAN MARTIN

Allocating more than $300,000 in unassigned federal and state revenue sharing monies headlined the action at the recent meeting of the Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners.

On the recommendation of the Ways and Means Committee of the Board, $279,229 in federal revenue sharing funds were assigned as follows: $40,000 to Manatron for processing of tax bills; $50,000 for the Building Authority for payment on the jail and $189,279 for the County Sheriff's operational fund.

A hearing on the above monies was held Nov. 10, 1982.

Another $53,786 to state revenue sharing funds plus $14,214 from the contingency fund was applied to the $67,636 deficit in the Child Care Fund. This fund underwrites the cost of keeping children in foster homes and in other programs. The number of children in the program varies from year to year and it makes it difficult to estimate the program's financial needs.

The county had anticipated $100,000 in State revenue sharing funds which had been allocated to the general fund budget. The unanticipated $53,786 thus became available for use in the Child Care Fund.

The date of the next meeting of the board, Dec. 14, was set as the date the board will decide if it will add its support to a county coordinator through the recently established Charlevoix County Business and Industry Task Force. The three cities, chambers of commerce, and business and industry have approved financial support for the project. The business coordinator would serve as an ombudsman for new and existing business and industry.

Irvin Strum, chairman of the ad hoc committee named to review and update the existing Sanitary Code which has been in use since the late 1960's, presented a brief report on the committee's work to date and asked for a two months extension in order to complete its assignment. The extension was granted and the report will be presented in late January.

The revisions of the plat act or subdivision control act was discussed by Joan Blanchard, Equalization Director, who said that the new act places the burden for enforcing the act on the city or township in which the property is located. Previously, the units had no control over the enforcement of the act. As a result property was often incorrectly listed on the assessment rolls.

Several appointments were approved at the meeting. Randy Frykberg, Boyne City City Manager was named to fill an unexpired term on the Northwest Regional Planning and Development Commission. He succeeds Tim Clifford who resigned from the appointment when he left the city manager's position.

John K. Schmidt of East Jordan, superintendent of the Medusa Cement Company's South Point plant here, and Mark D. Kowalske of Boyne City were named to the Private Industry Council to succeed William Sherman of East Jordan and Charlevoix and Arch Wright of Boyne City who had resigned.

WINNERS in the Charlevoix Public Library's Thanksgiving Coloring Contest were, from left, Will Wildman in the grade 4-5 age group, Jami Prevo, K-1; Kati Parsons, all ages; Kelly Heck, grades 2-3 and Tina Thorp, preschool. Other place winners included Amy Jo Kujawski, Tanya Sweeney, Bree Swan, Amy Shupert and Pat Drenth.

IT WAS PAPERS AWAY last week when the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club employed a conveyor belt, tractor and semi-trailor to empty the former Erber Auto building of old newspapers. The Kiwanians collect the bundles of papers throughout the year as part of their paper drive project and then recycle them as a public service and a fund raiser

Ironton Ferry to close Friday

The Charlevoix Road Commission has announced that this Friday, December 2, will be the last day of operation for the Ironton Ferry this season.

The ferry will close for the winter at 10 p.m. Friday.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR Gaylord District Office

Deer hunting pressure so far this season has been reported above normal in some locations and far below normal in others. Deer kill appears to be generally good at this date, however hunters are not seeing to many deer. From our daily deer season report we indicate that one fatal accident happened on Bois Blanc Island located off Cheboygan. Total of six elk have been shot including five bulls and one cow, 203 arrests have been made and two emergency messages have been delivered to hunters. Pressure is expected to remain light and scattered the rest of the season.

Some smaller inland lakes have already had a thin covering of ice and caution should be exercised at this time of year by anyone thinking about going on these waters.

People are reminded that Christmas trees cannot be cut from state lands.

EDITORIAL

A black eye

Senseless vandalism is nothing new to Charlevoix but there is something unusually disturbing about the damage done to the John Abbott home last week (see page 1) that sets it apart from other such acts.

While most vandals act out of a distorted search for thrills, their boldness often chemically induced, the damage done to the Abbotts was obviously motivated by a cold, calculated hate. From the nature and extent of the damage, the perpetrators do not appear to be kids high on booze or dope. The evidence points to a determined criminal, or criminals, who knew exactly what they wanted to accomplish and went about their business accordingly. There was obviously premeditation and hateful intent involved in the Abbott incident, two factors not found in most cases of juvenile vandalism.

It would be an understatement to say that Mr. and Mrs. Abbott took an unpopular position with their recent attempt to close a public access running along their property to the Lake Michigan beach. Emotions ran high in the legal battle by Charlevoix Township to retain ownership of the access and whether an appeal shall continue the dispute in the courts has yet to be determined.

But to have someone take the law into their own hands and inflict the sort of mindless retribution upon the Abbotts that was done last week is nothing less than a black eye on the entire community.

Many people relocate to communities like Charlevoix from metropolitan areas where hate and resentment are part of daily life. They come here to escape such evils of the crowded city. Must we now admit that small towns offer no better? That everyone taking an unpopular public stand risks damage to their property by misguided vigilantes?

We hope not.

Knight on the Town

Kelley plays the Grinch

by Dave Knight

The press conference held by Michigan Attorney General Frank Kelley last Wednesday in Traverse City was ostensibly to announce actions to be taken by Kelley against the Medusa Cement Company for excess dust emissions and a Cadillac firm accused of groundwater pollution.

This reporter was therefore somewhat surprised to hear Kelley say, as the questioning wound down, "You people haven't done your homework. Aren't you going to ask me about the Charlevoix water system?"

Since nobody else in the room seemed to know or care about what Kelley had to do with the Charlevoix water system, I felt obliged to follow his lead and asked him for his thoughts on the matter.

"We think the City of Charlevoix is stalling," said Kelley of the city's approach to the trichloroethylene (TCE) contamination of its water supply discovered two years ago. "The people of Charlevoix better start to realize that they have a problem and they better stop waiting for Uncle Sam to bail them out."

Kelley was referring to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's proposal to apply Superfund money toward a solution of the TCE problem in Charlevoix. EPA officals have assured the city that at least $450,000 and as much as $900,000 has been allocated for Charlevoix.

But Kelley was quite forthright in his opinion about the prospect of EPA funding of a new water supply.

"I don't think they (the City of Charlevoix) will ever see a penny," he said. "The Superfund has yet to build a single water plant in the country."

I reminded Kelley that just one week before, his assistant in the public health division, ~~Ron~~ Styka, had agreed to extend the deadline set by the Department of Public Health for Charlevoix's final proposal for a TCE remedy and that Styka had based his action at least to some degree on his statement (following negotiations preceding a DPH show-cause hearing in Lansing) that "from this meeting it appears there will be a speed-up in the effort to provide clean water to the people of Charlevoix."

"So they got a few more months to think about it," replied Kelley. "The compliance date (a new system must be on line by January 1, 1987) remains unchanged." He went to say that the taxpayers of Charlevoix will just have to realize that the city needs a new water system and that waiting for federal dollars is an exercise in futility.

"I know it's getting close to Christmas time," said Kelley, "But the people of Charlevoix had better realize that there is no Santy Claus."

Clockwise

Buck kill relates to bucks

by Bob Clock

AS EXPECTED, the Michigan deer kill this season will be down about 20 percent when the clock stops at dusk Wednesday, according the Department of Natural Resources.

Snowless weather, of course, has been a big factor. It is well nigh impossible to track deer through dead leaves and dry grass. Cold, all-day rains haven't helped, either.

The Michigan economy also has played a role in the reduced kill. Although we are struggling to get back on our feet, hunting expeditions are costly outings and it is doubtful the dollar value of the venison harvest even comes close to the cost of harvesting it — including gasoline, overnight lodging, entertainment, beer, booze and restaurant meals. (Don't get excited about the beer and booze. Most of the hunters I know won't touch a drop. But a few hunters have been known, on rare occasions, to hoist a few.)

I imagine many hunters — even though they are back at work — simply have rearranged their priorities until most of their past-due bills are paid.

If the automakers sell 14 million cars and trucks in 1984 — as predicted by GM chairman Roger Smith — I predict we'll see a corresponding increase in hunting pressure next November.

OF COURSE, LOCAL hunters are virtually unaffected by the economic factors that have kept their big city brothers home. There aren't too many places in the world where can you step out your back door and zero-in on a prime whitetail.

A few years ago a cousin from Owosso — Bill Archer — decided to try his luck in the wilds of Ontonagon County in the western Upper Peninsula — more than 500 miles from home. Although Ontonagon County had a respectable deer herd that year, Bill couldn't find so much as a hoofprint and came home empty handed.

However, while he was gone, his wife Vera heard a noise in the breezeway connecting the house to the garage. She investigated and found a young buck pawing through the garbage. She opened the door and chased the deer away with a kitchen broom.

Bill would have been further ahead if he had taken the broom and left his rifle home.

A RECENT POLL by the New York Times shows Ronald Reagan has made solid progress since the invasion of Grenada. Forty-seven percent of the respondents said Reagan should not be re-elected, compared to 45 percent in favor of returning him to office. A similar poll in September showed only 38 percent for re-election and 51 percent opposed.

Although the president sometimes neglects to follow my advice, I predict his chances of re-election will appear even better if he manages to get the nuclear arms limitation talks back on track, even if it involves some hard bargaining — behind Kremlin walls — by the president in person.

Reagan gets high marks for cleaning up the economic mess left by the Democrats. His next bold moves should be on the international front.

Letters: Object to "Quote..." feature

To the Editor:

Apparently, the only people who get their letters printed in your paper without a signature is you the editors and staff.

We refer to your "small" message about Amway in the "Quote...Unquote" of ynur issue of November 16, 1983. That was very clever of you to put the quote of Fulbright's in as well to further your attack.

This nation is fast moving towards having our freedoms, which are guaranteed by our Constitution, taken away because of the type of blatant misuse the Charlevoix Courier, the Detroit Free Press and, I'm sure, many others are currently practicing. Just because you run a newspaper, you use that newspaper to impose your personal opinions on the public. The people you are hurting most are those who believe everything that you intend them to believe by the way you slant your material.

By twisting facts and deleting redeeming facts (deliberate we're sure), you've made the co-owners of the Amway Corporation, and, by the way, any independent distributors of Amway products look dishonest. (Some of them may be your friends and neighbors who are HONESTLY trying to earn a little extra money!) Such deliberate maliciousness can only be stopped by taking away our "Freedom of the Press" because as that "freedom" stands right now, it depends on the honesty, integrity and responsibleness of those running the newspapers. Obviously, not all of those people fill those requirements. In fact, there are far too few who do!

Editors and their staff have a right to their own opinions, and have a right to express them ON THE EDCITORIAL PAGE (and with the required signature) but they DO NOT have the right to use a newspaper as a tool to try to destroy a corporation, business or individual that they, PERSONALLY, don't happen to like.

I can't comprehend just what your purpose is, unless you just can't stand to see others more successful than yourself. No matter what your reason or reasons, the attack was uncalled for.

Far above having the effect of personally hurting Rich DeVos and Jay VanAndel, this type of action has had a far more devastating effect on the hundreds of Michigan residents who lost their sole income in layoffs and the thousands of distributors who have experienced a considerable loss of income by the misdirected and thoughtless use of the "Quote-Unquote" "Freedom of the Press". Perhaps you feel that anything is printable as long as it sells newspapers?

Those two men are running a multibillion dollar a year business and must rely on advisors in areas such as imports, exports and such complex issues as foreign trade legalities, just as you rely on legal, finacial and other advisors. It would be impossible, even in a business such as yours, to be aware of every small detail which goes on in the business, much less understand legal ramifications which stump even the best of lawyers. Also, with over a million independent distributors, it is understandably impossible for Misters DeVos and VanAndel to monitor every move and world each distributor makes. They are continually making substantial changes to improve the integrity of the company and the distributors.

Most people would have been complaining for years about how one guy at the Detroit Free Press used his position and power to try to destroy them and our million plus distributors because he had a personal ax to grind. Instead Rich and Jay are reminding us that we must continue to operate our businesses with honesty and integrity as has always been their policy.

We Amway distributors think it's about time newspaper people did a little soul-searching on the type of material they print and their MOTIVES for printing it.

You will not see any of our business for the Charlevoix Courier until there is a published apology. And, by the way, if you think that the loss of our business is not worth an apology, we'd like to inform you that thre are literally hundreds of Amway distributors in our area, as well as friends and customers who are in sympathy with us.

Letters: Why shouldn't emergency signs be posted in East Park?

To the Editor:

I wish to confront our City Manager Mr. Hunt on two subjects that concern me. One being the letter to Phil Loomis regarding the Emergency Information Sign in East Park. I am a manager in a downtown Charlevoix store and would like you to know that people are very much concerned and want to know why we have the Emergency Sirens. They are very curious and when I explain to them that we have a Nuclear Power Plant and that it is an Emergency Siren just in case something were to happen. They usually are grateful for me to explain the purpose of the sirens and wonder why there is no public awareness for visitors.

Therefore, I feel that a sign in East Park or by the Bridge would be very adequate for this situation. We know that Charlevoix has very strict regulations on signs and that people would think that it clutters up the park but what about the curious visitors and summer residents? Put yourself into their shoes; how would you feel if you were vacationing somewhere and you heard some sirens go off? Wouldn't you want to know why and what reason they were there for? Sure, we all want to get away from it all and escape from our worries and concerns. Wouldn't you be more concerned and more worried if you did not know what they were there for?

The sign out in Elzinga Park is not all that bad and it explains the sirens purpose very short and very brief. A sign like that in East Park or by the Bridge would add to the beauty of Charlevoix not detract. And it would build public awareness on a manner that the public is not fully aware of.

My second concern deals with our contaminated water supply. The article "23 Water Systems are Tainted" in the Detroit Free Press Nov. 21, 1983 stated that "Charlevoix shows the highest contamination–35 parts per billion TCE–and has a single well" and that Mr. Cleland (deputy director of the water supply division in the health department) said "Our basic concern with Charlevoix is the time it's taken for them to get something done" The residents and taxpayers of Charlevoix have a right to an ongoing public posting of our TCE levels so that they can have a choice with how to deal with the water situation in their own homes. I would appreciate a thought or response in these matters and so would alot of other people.

Sincerely,
Natalie Johnstone
Charlevoix

Ed. note: Hunt responded to Ms. Johnstone's concerns about emergency information signs by saying that, first, he believes there are many better places for the signs than East Park; second, that she is welcome to request the matter to be put on a City Council agenda and, third, that emergency preparedness is primarily a responsibility of the county, not the city. As to TCE levels, Hunt said that should concentrations vary substantially from the 30 to 40 parts per billion range that has been consistent over the past several months, customers will be notified immediately. He added that anyone wishing the latest testing results is welcome to call City Hall for the information.

INDIANS AND PILGRIMS *sat down together in the true spirit of Thanksgiving last week at the Charlevoix Elementary School when the first grade enjoyed a traditional feast with traditional costumes. Pilgrims Fritz Sommerfeld and Nicki DeNio, above, may have had some missing front teeth but that did not prevent them from enjoying their Thanksgiving dinner. Sounds of Christmas to be presented Christmas is the Country and the Sounds of Christmas will make up the program for the annual Women's Ministries Christmas program at the Charlevoix Community Reformed Church on Tuesday night December 6 at 7:30. Martha Marley, owner-operator, of Country Clutter (formerly Louisanna Purchase) in Petoskey will speak about Christmases past, and will show ways to recreate the flavor and warmth and comfort of that earlier time in 1983.

Mrs. Marley, a native of Mississippi, has lived in Michigan for 12 years, residing first in Birmingham and vacationing in Petoskey. The dream that she and her husband shared while living downstate was that someday they would open a shop in Petoskey when "the kids are grown." That day came "sooner than we thought" explains Mrs Marley with a smile.

Because the Marleys had always like American antiques, a store featuring antique reproductions, quilts, country accesssories dishes, seemed to be a natural Country Clutter features accessories from all over the United States. "We go on about four buying trips a year, each to a different region," explains the owner, thus the store features Americana from New England, the Midwest, the Southeast.

The Westminster Handbell Choir of the First Presbyterian Church, under the direction of Marian Kuebler will provide the Sounds of Christmas portion of the program. The Handbell choir, formed in 1975, will play traditional Christmas music. The bells were given as a gift in memory of a former pastor of the church, Rev. Albert Kalkbrenner.

The choir has eleven members, three of whom are charter members. Mrs Kuebler explains that "It takes great dedication on the part of the members to participate and to express the sound that is effectively produced by the ringing of the bells. Part of the joy of playing," she continues, "is not only performing sacred music in worship services but also entertaining those who enjoy listening to this expression of music."

The general chairperson of the program is Mrs. Larry Grooters, and Mrs John Coolman is in charge of refreshments.

Pre-Christmas luncheon and bazaar will feature dishes by Charlevoix Area Hospital employees

The amazing pre-Christmas feast - the annual Charlevoix Area Hospital Luncheon and Bake Sale - will be Wednesday, December 7, from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the American Legion Hall.

Advance tickets are available at the hospital or may be purchased at the door. It is one of the season's most popular events and includes an incredible array of fine food in an all-you-can-eat buffet, plus a bake sale and raffle.

This year's luncheon will feature a spectrum of hot casseroles, a variety of salads, Diane Novotny's and Esther Carey's cabbage rolls, Marguerite Ikens famous meat balls, and an assortment of fancy breads. All dishes are prepared by Charlevoix Area Hospital employees who pride themselves on the quality of the foods they create for this special fund raising event.

All the proceeds from the luncheon, bake sale and raffle are used to purchase equipment for Charlevoix Area Hospital. Pediatric cribs, isolettes for the newborn nursery, a life pac for the Emergency Room and video equipment for patient education have been among the items the employees have given to the hospital.

The bake sale, continuing throughout the luncheon, will include Christmas cookies, breads, pies, cakes, coffee cakes, muffins, and homemade preserves.

Raffle tickets, sold separately, will be for chances on the handmade Raggedy Ann and Andy, Gourmet Preserve Packages from Rocky Top Farms, a handmade Christmas stocking, a Judy Williams original Chirstmas apron, handmade Christmas decorations, and a grapevine Christmas wreath created by hospital Administrator Richard Krueger.

This annual fund raising event brought over 350 people to the American Legion Hall last year. At least as many are expected this year, and hospital employees are betting this year's luncheon will further the luncheon's reputation as a "meal not to be missed." Adult tickets are $3; children under 12, $2; senior citizens, $2.75, and children under 5 free.

Santa Claus enjoys working with the Charlevoix Area Hospital employees who organize the annual Christmas Luncheon, Bake Sale and Bazaar, to be held this year on Wednesday, December 7 at the American Legion Hall. While Santa holds the handmade Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls to be raffled, organizers, from left, Brenda Drost, Kathy Boss and Mary Ann Cox, encorage him to visit the event.

Ski swap next week

The annual Ski Swap sponsored by the Charlevoix Rayder ski team has been scheduled for Sunday, Dec. 4, Coach Erik Lundteigen has announced.

The Ski Swap accepts all types of winter sports equipment and winter sports wearing apparel for swap Lundteigen said in announcing the event which will be held from noon on Sunday, Dec. 4, "until there are no longer and customers" he said of the hours.

Anyone entering equipment or apparel in the swap must register it on the previous Saturday, Dec. 3. The cafeteria will be open from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. for registration.

"We'll accept anything that's in good condition and clean" Lundteigen said of the swap.

Winter sports equipment is not limited to the sport of skiing, he went on to say, adding that anything from the smallest of kids' sleds to the most expensive of skis is acceptable.

The same is true of clothing worn for winter sports. "We'll take anything from mittens to socks, leg warmers, ski pants, jackets, boots. Anything as long as it's clean and in good condition" he sdded.

This is the Rayder ski team's only fund-raising event. A charge of 20 per cent commission on any saleable item is levied.

Tree sale set

The Charlevoix Lions Club will again be selling Christmas Trees this year.

The sale is slated to begin Thursday, December 8 and will be located in the old Fochtman Oil building, right next to the Weathervane Restaurant.

Trees will be available from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. weekdays and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekends starting December 8, according to project organizers.

Plans for the event were made at a recent meeting at which an election of officers for 1984 was held. Bertha Smith was elected; Clara Loomer, secretary, and Mary Towsley, treasurer.

Home Health Care is in spotlight this week

November 27th through December 3rd is National Home Health week. Home Health Care Programs are designed to offer a combination of nursing care and supervision along with home health aid services and various therapies, all under your physicians orders for patients in their home. The target population are those ill and disabled patients who need coordinated services, and would require frequent or continued hospital care if these services were not available.

Dr. Brian Youngs, Regional Medical Director, states that "the Home Health Care and Services provided by your District public health staff is immensely important to all our county residents." He is extremely pleased with the past efforts, and is confident that your local public health staff will continue to perform the best care possible, in a highly skilled manner.

District Health Department Number Three became a certified "Home Health" agency in 1968. Since that time the program has grown steadily and now serves about 800 people. The District has been supplying these services in Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet and Otsego Counties longer than any other Home Health Provider.

Home Health Care is the delivery of specific types of medically related service in the home. It may allow for earlier hospital or nursing home discharge. Home Health is a program that can also complement nursing home or hospital care.

Each Home Health patient is unique, and any of the following services may be necessary to help them. Intermittent nursing care, physical and speech therapy and home health aides are available through Home Health Care. Specific examples of services that could be included are: Diet instruction, patient education, use of oxygen equipment, administering prescribed supplies, teaching of prescribed exercises, changing surgical dressings and catheter changes.

Anyone that is essentially homebound, needing Home Health Care, and whose need is certified by their physician, may be eligible for Home Health Care. Specific questions about home health care should be directed to any office of District Health Department Number Three. Antrim 533-8607, Charlevoix 547-6523, Emmet 347-8014 and Otsego (517) 732-1794.

Charlevoix School of Gymnastics and Dance students showed well at a gymnastics meet hosted by Gym Jesters Gymnastics, Inc., in Saginaw on October 29. The Class 3 Competition saw ten teams and 88 gymnasts from around the state participating. Charlevoix's Club took 2nd place team honors in all-around competition. Individual honors went to Carie Eising, Cheboygan, in the children's 9-12 divisions. Carie placed: 4th all-around; 3rd on floor; 5th on beam; 9th on vault.

In the children's 12-14 class, Jamie Spedding, also of Cheboygan, took individual honors by placing 1st on beam; 3rd on floor; 3rd on bars; and tieing for 1st in the all-around competition.

Also in the 12-14 class, Shelly Bascom of Bay Shore placed 5th on beam.

Matmen to open with promising squad

The Charlevoix Rayder wrestling team has been busy preparing for the season's opener st Grayling Thursday, Dec. 1, according to Coach Greg Bryan.

Coach Bryan went on to say that this year's squad should be one of the more competitive teams anchored by Rick Gallant and Shawn Hartnett.

Gallant, a three year letter winner, and Hartnett, a veteran with one year's experience, will be backed up by Scott Mervyn, a two-year veteran and a newcomer to the sport, A.J. Whitthoeft who looks promising.

Matt Hull who wrestled as a freshman and Dan Kelly who has been wrestling since the fourth grade but missed last season because of an injury are reporting regular and should be ready for the first meet.

Other candidates are freshmen who are entering the program from the middle school. The list includes, Bill Marquardt who at 6'3" and 210 pounds shows a great potential; Steve Burrows, a quick 89-pounder; Mike Gauthier who will be performing in the 112 pound class; Bobby Sharrow, a successful 98-112 pounds at the middle school and another big mao, Coy Groyes, 5'8" and 206 pounds.

"We won't be filling all the weight classes but we should be very competitive Coach Bryan said of the team.

Taylor is 4th at Midwest Regional

Four members of the Charlevoix Rayder championship Cross Country team and a Petoskey runner were in Hinsdale, Ill., Saturday to participate in the Midwest Regional Qualifying meet of the Kinney Cross Country Championships. They were among 303 class runners from 13 states who participated.

Charlevoix's Bill Taylor, Class C Champion in the state, placed fourth overall with a time of 15:30.8. The winning time was 15:26.2. Taylor again placed first among Michigan runners participating in the event.

The fourth place finish by Taylor places him on the Midwest Regional team which will travel to San Diego Dec. 10 to compete in the National Championships. Sixty-four of the country's top runners will be entered in this event.

Taylor received a medal for finishing first in the state and for winning a berth on the Midwest Regional Championship team.

John Gobel of Petoskey who accompanied the Charlevoix runners and Coach Pete Spieles to the meet finished 13th overall and fifth among Michigan runners. He received a medal for his state finish and for his berth on the second team.

The Michigan team won the meet with 35 points. Missouri came in second with 53 and Illinois third with 55.

John Tunison finished 76th in the meet with a time of 15:50.4; Lee Allard, 110th in 16:41 and Matt Landon, 138th in 17:15.4. Spieles said that Chris Zinn of Missouri who placed first in the meet placed fourth in the state of Missouri as a freshman and first for the next three years. "This gives you an idea of the calibre of runners entered in the meet" Spieles added.

Coach Spieles said the meet featured only the best runners from the 13 states represented, that it was highly competitive and that he felt it was a fine experience for the runners.

The 3000 M. course in Katherine Legge Park in Hinsdale, Ill., was a hilly course much like the courses on which Charlevoix runners had been participating. As a result there were not intimidated by it as some runners were Spieles said.

A two day clinic for Cross Country coaches was held in conjunction with the meet with many outstanding coaches and runners as clinicians. Among them was Sabastian Coe, World Class Middle Distance runner from England.

Taylor will fly to Chicago, the pick-up point for the Midwest Regional team which will be accompanied to the National Championship by Joe Newton who was in charge of the Hinsdale meet.

Taylor is the son of Mrs. Douglas Bergmann and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. William Taylor of East Jordan.

'Amahl' will highlight season at Art Center

Amahl and the Night Visitors, a Christmas opera, will be presented in Petoskey at the McCune Arts Center on Sunday December 4 at 2:30 p.m. and again at 7 p.m., by the Lyric Opera Company of Northern Michigan.

The opera, Amahl, was written as seen through the eyes of a twelve year old, by Gian Carlo Menotti in 1951.

Somewhere in the world lives a crippled shepherd named Amahl, with his mother, an imporverished widow. Nothing is left, and they are faced with cold and hunger.

Three wise men on their way to Bethlehem stop and ask to be taken in for the night. When Amahl's mother sees their gifts, she becomes bitter and envious, and cannot understand why some of them cannot be for her child.

She tries to steal some of the gold and is caught. When she explains that she needs this gold to feed her starving child, she is forgiven. With great tenderness, the kings explain their mission of love, whereupon the widow not only gives back the stolen gold but wishes she could add a gift of her own.

Amahl comes to her rescue, and as he hands the kings his crutch, in doing so, is miraculously cured of his lameness.

In this afternoon performance, Amahl will be played by Teri Morrison, a senior at Interlochen Arts Academy majoring in theatre and voice. In 1982-83, she performed lead roles in the musicals, Something's Afoot and Pippin. This past summer Teri toured Europe with the Mid-America Choir.

Spencer Palmer of Grand Rapids will appear as Amahl in the evening production. He was Amahl in the Grand Rapids Civic Theatre's rendition of the Christmas Opera in December 1982. In the Spring of 1983, Spencer appeared in 30 performances as Oliver Twist in Grand Rapids Civic Theatre's Oliver. He is a student at East Grand Rapids Middle School, and plays the violin, hockey and loves to sail.

Amahl's mother will be played by Meredith Parsons, Mezzo-soprano, at the matinee show. Ms. Parson has appeared with Minnesota Opera, Michigan Opera Theatre, the Opera Ensemble of New York, and Santa Fe Opera. Operatic roles include the Mother in Amahl, Maddelena in Rigoletto, and Dinah in Trouble in Tahiti. She was soloist in Verdi's Requiem, for Concerts L'Amoureaux in Paris and Evreaux, and was twice a guest artist in Haute Savoie, France. She has been heard in New York in the Messiah, Eligah, Bach's B Minor Mass, and on the recital series of the Harlem School for the Arts. She is the recipient of awards from the Watson Foundation, Liederkranz Society and the Detroit Grand Opera Association.

Diane Riser, soprano, will sing the role of Amahl's mother at the 7 p.m. performance. She has appeared in this role several time. She also has sung the role of Amneris in the Grand Rapids Symphony's Festival performance of Aida, that of Alisa in Lucia di Lammermoor, and of Berta in the Barber of Seville, as well as many other leading roles. She is known for her oratorio and cantata performances, having sung nearly all the major pieces in the field. She is a graduate of Westminister Choir College, where she toured for three years as the choir's soloist.

Willis Patterson, bass, has performed the role of King Balthazar in a number of television productions of Amahl. He is Professor of Voice and Chairman of the Voice Department at the University of Michigan School of Music. He is in addition Administrator of University of Michigan's All State Programs. He won the Marian Anderson Award for Young Singers in 1958, and was First Runner-Up in the Nation Competition of the Association of Teachers of Singing. He won a Fulbright Grant for Study of Opera and Voice in Germany, and the Distinguished Achievement Award from the National Association of Negro Musicians. He has performed opera in both English and in the original inaguages in 18 different roles, in both the U.S. and Europe. He has performed oratorio's with many of the major symphony orchestras including the Philadelphia Symphony, the Boston Symphony, the Detroit Symphony, the Dallas Symphony and others. He has made a number of recordings including one as King Balthazar in Amahl and the Night Visitors on the RCA Red Seal Label.

The role of King Kaspar will be sung by Bradley Creswell, tenor, who is currently pursuing his Doctorate in Voice from the University of Michigan. He has performed numerous operatic and musical theatre roles, and is currently the Director of Choral and Vocal Activities at Muskegon Community College and Director of Music at the First Presbyterian Church of Spring Lake.

King Melchoir will be portrayed by Harlan Jennings, a member of the voice faculty at Michigan State University. He received his Doctor of Musical Arts degree from the College-Conservatory of Music at the University of Cincinnati, where he studied with world renowned basso Italo Tajo. His professional background includes a total of six seasons of summer stock with the St. Louis Municipal Opera and Starlight Theatre of Kansas City, as well as five seasons with the Cincinnati Opera. He has appeared regularly with serveral regional opera companies, and a number of recitals have been video-taped for public television. He also appears as a recitalist and oratorio soloist.

With this outstanding cast and a live orchestra, Lyric Opera's production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors," will be a highlight of the Little Traverse Area Christmas season. Tickets for the opera are $5 for adults and $3 for students and senior citizens. Advance purchase is encouraged, and tickets are available at the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey, Hovey's Drugs in Harbor Springs, the Apple Tree in Charlevoix, the Chamber of Commerce in Boyne City and Hile's Drugs in East Jordan.

Also on the same day, Sunday December 4, there will be open house at the Art Tree Shop at the Arts Center from 1 till 7, with several artists demonstrating their work. Refreshments will be served, and the December Gallery Show, "Art and Antiques in Victorian Settings" will open at 1:30 p.m. These events are all sponsored by the Crooked Tree Arts Council.

It's time to get reacquainted with your phone bill.

When you go to your mail box and find your next phone bill, you'll notice it's changed in some ways. For example, there'll be more pages because the billing information will be more extensive and listed differently. These initial changes are the result of Michigan Bell's upcoming separation from AT&T on January 1, 1984.

We'd like to explain these changes. Probably the first and most important thing to understand is that after January 1, 1984, your Michigan Bell bill may include charges from Michigan Bell and AT&T or other long distance service companies, but you'll continue to pay the total bill to Michigan Bell.

Your billing information will be in three general categories:

Basic Service.

In the future, Michigan Bell will continue to provide and bill your basic telephone service, as well as your local and zone usage. Included in your monthly service could be Custom Calling, Touch-Tone® Service, or optional calling plan charges. Michigan Bell will also bill you for any directory assistance charges you incur.

Long Distance.

Your long distance calls will be separated between those provided by Michigan Bell and those that after January 1, 1984, are provided by other long distance carriers but may be billed by Michigan Bell. They will appear on separate pages.

Telephone Equipment Charges.

In the past, your telephone equipment charge was added into your charge for basic service. Now it will be itemized on a separate page. Ownership of the equipment Michigan Bell now provides you for a monthly fee will soon be transferred from Michigan Bell to AT&T.

Phone numbers will be listed on your bill to call if you have questions about your billing or service. And when you receive your new bill in December, a bill insert will clarify the various pages of the bill in much greater detail.

We want to do whatever we can to help you understand the changes that are taking place in your phone company. Please remember . . .

IT'S AT&T WE'RE SEPARATING FROM... NOT YOU.

Michigan Bell

Facts down the line. We suggest that you continue to watch your monthly telephone bills for any additional changes in the billing format, repair service or procedures for establishing or changing telephone service. Also, because your telephone business office is busily engaged in normal day-to-day telephone service matters, this toll-free number is a source for answers to your questions about your changing telephone company. 1 800 555-5000.

Master Sgt. NUALA R. GARDNER, daughter of Louis P. Gardner of East Jordan, has been awarded an associate degree in applied science by the Community College of the Air Force.

The worldwide college, headquartered at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., awards associate degrees to enlisted airmen for programs combining technical education received in the Air Force with general education provided by civilian institutions.

Gardner is an administration technician at Offutt Air Force Base, Neb.

She is a 1967 graduate of Central Lake High School.

Navy Seaman Recruit BRENT A. ANDERSON, son of Carl A. Anderson of Pellston and Linda L. Balch of Charlevoix,, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid.

SHARI L. MOL was graduated with honors recently from Michigan Technological University with a B.S. degree in Civil Engineering. She has accepted a position with Sargant & Lundy, Engineers in Chicago.

Shari, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Mol, is a 1978 graduate of the Charlevoix High School. She attended Michigan State University for one year before transfering to Michigan Tech.

JOE POTTER, a resident of Birdland Estates on Lake Charlevoix, competed in the New York City Marathon October 23 and finished in under four hours which was good enough for a place within the top ten percent of the over 20,000 runners who participated. Potter, shown above running in downtown Charlevoix, has competed in several prestigious marathons including the Boston Marathon and the Detroit International Marathon. He also made local news in 1979 when he ran the 55-mile distance around Lake Charlevoix in about ten hours.

Korn's reunion with former flame to be on Donohue show

Stephen Korn, whose family has long owned a home in Charlevoix's Boulder Park, was recently reunited with a former girlfriend he hadn't seen in 11 years.

What made the reunion especially notable, however; was the fact that it occurred in front of millions of television viewers nation-wide.

Korn happened to be in the studio audience of the Phil Donohue Show in Chicago about a year and a half ago when he was offered the opportunity to take part in one of Donohue's Sweethearts shows.

The object of the show is to bring together old sweethearts who may not have seen each other for several years.

As it turned out, Korn had just such a sweetheart from the past.

At the age of 17, Korn was on a youth group trip to Israel when he met Renee Karlin Zelin, then 17 also. The relationship continued until their college years when the two parted amicably because of the distance seperating them. He attended the University of Michigan while she was enrolled at Boston University.

The last time they saw each other was 1972 in a Boston subway tunnel.

Delighted at the prospect of seeing Renee again, Korn jumped at the Donohue offer. He was treated to regal lodgings at a swank Chicago hotel by the show's producers. The show even picked up the tab for the night Korn spent on the town in Chicago with Renee and her husband who now live in New York with their children.

Charlevoix area viewers will be able to see Korn's reunion on the Donohue show to be aired Tuesday, November 29 on Channel 12 and on Tuesday, December 8 on Channel 7.

Dr. Kang elected to American Institute of Ultrasound in Medicine

Charlevoix Area Hospital's Radiologist, Tai-Ifee Kang, M.D., was elected a Senior Member of the American Institute of Ultrasound in Medicine, the institute announced earlier this month.

In a letter to Dr. Kang, E.A. Lyons, M.D., Chairman of the Institute, praised the Charlevoix physician's "contributions to the advancement of the field of ultrasound in medicine."

Senior members in the institute "must demonstrate excellence in various areas such as teaching, research, clinical patient care, service to the medical community..." and "must have five years of outstanding accomplishments in ...scientific investigation, education or teaching, clinical, community or organizational service," according to a listing of qualifications published by the institute.

Dr. Kang, who joined the medical staff of Charlevoix Area Hospital in 1978, helped introduce ultrasound in the hospital as a diagnostic tool in the Radiology Department. Ultra sound uses non-radiating sound waves to create an image of internal organs on a tv-like screen. Ultrasound is frequently used in obstetrical cases because the sound waves are not harmful to the unborn child.

Dr. Kang is a graduate of the Catholic Medical College of Seoul, Korea. He served his internship at MacNeal Memorial Hospital in Berwyn, Illinois in Diagnostic Radiology. Following a Residency at Wayne State University Medical School in 1972, he was awarded a Fellowship in Ultrasound and Angiography at Temple University Medical School in Philadelphia. Before coming to Charlevoix, he was on the staff of Hutzel Hospital in Detroit.

Dr. Kang is certified by the American Board of Radiology, a member of the American College of Radiology and the Michigan Radiological Society. He has been a member of the American Institute of Ultrasound in Medicine since 1974.

Board schedules budget hearing

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix County Board of Commissioners has scheduled a public budget hearing on December 14 at 2 p.m. in the Commissioners' Room of the County Building Annex in Charlevoix.

The general public, especially senior citizens, are urged to attend the meeting to ask questions about the proposed 1984 County budget and the use of Revenue Sharing funds which are part of the budget.

The law requires that a public hearing be held for input from citizens as to how Revenue Sharing Funds are spent, but in past years not many suggestions have been made. In 1982, the Senior Citizens Center in Boyne City requested $20,000 and the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization asked for $1,500, but neither request was granted.

The proposed 1984 County budget shows Revenue Sharing revenue in the amount of $793,720. Of this, $100,300 is budgeted for general government and $179,700 for public safety. The remaining $513,720 is budgeted for "Future Years' Allocation".

The 1984 General Fund budget (exclusive of Revenue Sharing funds) amounts to $2,686,881. This will come from: property taxes, $1,873,880; licenses and permits, $47,000; intergovernmental, $343,741; charges for services, $272,550; interest earned, $80,000; and other, $69,000.

Expenditures are budgeted for: general government, $1,227,636; public safety, $323,223; human services, $575,525; and other, $560,387,

The 1984 General Fund budget is up only $33,182, or slightly more than one percent of last year's budget. However, the County Board will also have $344,440 more in Revenue Sharing monies at their disposal than they did last year.

For comparison purposes, the General Fund budgets for the last seven years were:

1977–$1,598,660
1978–$1,841,423
1979–$2,168,725
1980–$2,152,131
1981–$2,395,084
1982–$2,510,424
1983–$2,653,589

The proposed 1984 budget may be inspected by the public from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Monday through Friday in the County Clerk's office at the County building in Charlevoix.

Handbook available for county's parents

by PEG OHLE

"Charlevoix County is a very unique area. We are surrounded by natural beauty everywhere, from forest to water to farmland. Yet amidst our beauty are some very serious family concerns. We have a very high divorce rate, one of the highest in the North. Our juvenile court has a caseload far above surrounding counties and family health problems abound; from a high infant mortality rate to a high cancer rate. Unemployment runs very high. These concerns can increase the daily stress we experience in child-rearing and managing a family; a difficult, yet rewarding task."

These words are from the opening paragraph of "The Parent's Family Handbook for Help and Ideas in Charlevoix County", compiled by D. Brad Campbell, County Juvenile Officer.

The handbook then states that "Charlevoix County, with its special concerns, holds inside it some very special people and agencies to help," and proceeds to list soures of help in amost every field of human relations:

Adoptions, alcoholism, babysitters, Big Brothers-Big Sisters, birth control and family planning, camps, child care–child abuse and neglect, community education, counseling, court and law enforcement, crisis line, day care, divorce, drugs, emotionally disturbed, employment, foster home care, handicapped, housekeeping training, housing, parents' association, protective services, reading materials and suggested family reading, recreation, runaways, speech therapy, transportation, tutoring, and unwed mothers.

The handbook is available at the office of the Juvenile Officer in the County Building in Charlevoix.

...If you're a member of the First State Bank Christmas Club

Eileen Nunemaker of Charlevoix has had a Christmas Club for ten years now because, "I wouldn't save the money otherwise and my children wouldn't be to happy if they didn't receive their Christmas gifts."

Not everyone uses their Christmas Club money for Christmas presents. Some members simply use it as a regular savings program for taxes, end of the year expenses, or as a savings bonus. First State Bank invites you to join the 1984 Christmas Club beginning Nov. 4 or anytime thereafter. You can join from one dollar to 20 dollars a week and First State Bank will pay 5¼ % interest on completed clubs.

Indoor pool plans revealed to Board

By FRAN MARTIN

The Indoor Pool Study committee, formed earlier to study the feasibility of constructing an indoor pool to serve the community, addressed the board of education, at its regular meeting Monday night.

The committee, co-chaired by David Strawbridge and Dale Boss, has proposed that the pool be constructed on school district owned property, that millage be levied to finance its construction and operation and that a liaison committee from the board be named to work with the committee.

Strawbridge gave the history of the committee and said it (the committee) had pursued the idea of a community pool because of the positive reaction it had received in the community.

He then introduced Louis Orlowski, architect, who presented conceptual plans for the structure which would be designed to take advantage of solar heat. He proposed that it be constructed on school property, if possible, in an area directly west of the high school. He explained the design in detail.

Dale Boss suggested embracing the school district as the practical way to go because this represents an established unit with which to work. He said Charlevoix is unique in that it is composed of individuals who are progressive in their thinking. He added that the pool would add to the quality of life in the community and certainly be a plus as a selling point to attract new business and industry to the community. He concluded his presentation by saying, "One must spend money to make money."

Bruce MacArthur, spoke briefly on the proposed financing of the project, stating that the Homestead Property Tax Act would allow senior citizens to approve the pool because most or all of their tax monies would be returned to them through the act. He also mentioned other alternatives the committee is exploring in an effort to obtain funds.

Bob Gorkewitz, physical therapist at the Charlevoix Area Hospital, spoke of all the benefits in physical fitness that would be available to seniors, the handicapped as well as all other residents of the committee. He also touched on the training of children to learn to swim in this land of lakes.

Others who spoke were Yvonne Engler, Sue Mabee and Mrs. MacArthur, all outlying various benefits to be derived from an indoor pool.

The membership then asked if the board would agree to have the proposed pool constructed on school owned property; if the board would suggest engineering firms that might be knowledgeable about school construction; if the school district would consider accepting the committee's proposal to levy millage to underwrite construction of and the cost of operating the facility and if a liaison committee from the board could be named to work with the committee.

Boss concluded by saying the school board people would be in command. MacArthur added "we want your approval of any move we might make."

Max Novak, president of the board, suggested a straw vote at the time of the forthcoming millage election. The committee, however, indicated it preferred a survey of the community.

The committee was advised that the board would take the committee's requests under advisement.

Date for school millage vote

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its regular meeting Monday night, established the date for the 1984 millage election as February 14.

The early date for the election became necessary with the decision to collect 50 percent of the school taxes in the summer. The February date, which coincides with the Char-Em millage election, will allow time for tax bills to be processed with those of the city and to have them in the mail early in July in other units that do not have a summer tax collection.

The amount of the millage levy to meet budget needs will be determined at a later date. Fifty percent of the total levy for the year will then be levied in July.

The reimbursement of townships and the city of Charlevoix for levying the taxes in the summer was set at $3.70 per parcel, Vincent Olach, business manager, said. However, administrative fees paid by the city and Charlevoix township will all but underwrite all of the cost in these two units. Costs of levying summer taxes in the remainder of the school district will be no more than $3.70 per parcel. There are 8,251 parcels in the district with approximately 80 percent of the total located in the city and Charlevoix township. Costs include the processing of every tax bill through Manatron, postage and clerical charges.

In other action, Brenda Bryan was hired as volleyball coach for the 1984 season.

In the absence of Superintendent Gordon VanWieren, Vincent Olach reviewed the snow day procedure which remains the same as in the past. Residents of the school district will be informed via radio and television stations regarding school closings after decisions have been made by Olach and VanWieren after they have covered approximately 70 miles of the bus routes between four and six a.m. when a storm threatens.

A major part of the meeting was given over to the Indoor Pool Study Committee.

Taylor set for national race

by DAVE KNIGHT

Charlevoix High School senior Bill Taylor has never been to Southern California. On Thursday, however, Taylor will leave snowy Charlevoix behind to join 31 of the best high school distance runners in the country in San Diego for the Kinney Shoes national cross-country championship race to be held Saturday.

Taylor qualified for the 5,000-meter race by finishing fourth in the recent Midwest finals of the competition held in Hinsdale, Illinois. He will fly from Traverse City Thursday to Chicago where he will join the seven other boys and eight girls who comprise the Midwest regional team. The Midwest region is comprised of 15 states. Other teams to compete in San Diego will be coming from the East, West and South.

Through the generosity of many Charlevoix area sports boosters, Taylor's coach Pete Spieles and his wife will also fly to San Diego for the race. Some of the high school sports coaches started a fund drive to raise money for the Spieles' air fare and were successful enough to even include gas money for the couple's car travel to Chicago. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Bergmann will also be on hand to root for him.

Christmas tree dedication, Santa's arrival planned for Saturday

by FRAN MARTIN

Saturday will be a special day in Charlevoix for it will mark the decorating of the living Christmas tree in East Park, the arrival of Santa courtesy of the Charlevoix Volunteer Firemen and, later in the day, the formal dedication of the Christmas tree.

The decorating of the Christmas tree, the community's first living tree in recent years, will begin at 1 p.m. when the Student Council from the Charlevoix High School will pin red bows to the branches. Children who have gathered for the arrival of Santa will sing Christmas carols under the direcion of Marina LaBlance, elementary school music director and Mayor Kenneth A. Staley will relate the history of the community Christmas tree. The tree was donated and planted through the efforts of the City of Charlevoix, Dr. Walter Hoffman, Clayton Scott and Keep Charlevoix Beautiful.

At 1:30 p.m. Santa Claus will arrive via the Charlevoix Fire truck and will distribute gifts of candy and nuts to the children present, courtesy of Santa's elves, the members of the Volunteer Fire Department. Hot chocolate will be served by members of Kappa Sigma chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority headed by Connie Phillips.

At 7 p.m., the community Christmas tree will be formally dedicated by Mayor Staley. Dr. Hoffman, representing the donors of the tree, will officially light the tree. The Community Choir under the direction of Cheryl Thayer will sing, accompanied by Steve Stargardt on the piano.

Santa Claus will be at the First State Bank from 4:30 until closing time and at the Charlevoix County State Bank from 4 until 7 p.m. December 16 will also mark the date of the annual Wassail Bowl Party at the Charlevoix County State Bank, an all-day event.

On Saturday, December 17, the Charlevoix County State Bank will sponsor the showing of "The Black Stallion Returns" at Cinema III for the entertainment of the children in the community the film will be shown at 1 p.m.

City and township negotiate line extension

Sewer Diplomacy

by DAVE KNIGHT

Just as the sport of ping pong was an unlikely overture to peace between the U.S. and China, proponents of cooperation between the City of Charlevoix and Charlevoix Township point to extension of the city's sanitary sewer lines into the township as one area where the two units of government can start working more closely together.

According to City Manager Robert Hunt, negotiations on a plan to extend sewer lines into a special users district in the township along the city's southeast side have progressed to the point where a serious proposal may be presented at the City Council's December 12 work session and the Charlevoix Township Board meeting scheduled for the same night.

The only aspect of the plan that remains unsettled is a user rate for the residential and industrial customers within the special assessment district. The area encompassed by the district established earlier this year is bordered roughly by Stover Road to the north, south to Water's Edge resort, west to Marion Center Rd. and east to Lake Charlevoix.

Establishment of the special assessment district was one of the first steps toward extension of the lines into an area of the township where supporters of the extension say many antiquated septic systems are endangering Lake Charlevoix water quality and where development has been stifled by lack of access to sanitary sewer.

John Campbell, president of the Site Planning Development, Inc. landscape architecture firm, has provided much of the impetus behind the extension plan. Campbell's interest is as an owner of potential development property within the district and as a contractor whose business may well benefit from such a project.

In prioritizing his motivations for pushing for the extension, however, Campbell says his most important goal is to promote cooperation between the city and township.

"If we find that the city and township can work together on this project to the benefit of all involved, I think it may open the door to a better working relationship between the two entities in many other areas," said Campbell.

Campbell ranks the second most important goal of the proposed extension as elimination of the residential septic systems along Lake Charlevoix. Many of the older systems are leaking into Lake Charlevoix, he says, a claim born

Bloodmobile reaches 108 pints in Charlevoix visit

Charlevoix area residents donated 108 pints of blood, 17 pints short of the goal, during the recent visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile Nancy Fowler, coordinator of the event, has announced.

She said 119 of the 135 who had made appointments responded with 11 of the total being deferred for various reasons. Among the 108 persons who donated were six new donors Mrs. Fowler said. Several men from the U.S. Coast Guard Station were among the donors.

The U.S.C.G.C. Mesquite which can be counted on for 20 pints was out of port during the Bloodmobile visit to the community.

May 10 has been set as the date for the next visit of the Bloodmobile to the community.

However, Consumers Power Co. is planning its own drive on Dec. 22 and another drive, this one sponsored by the Student Council at the Charlevoix High School, is scheduled for March.

Charlevoix county will be credited for any blood donated during the above drives Mrs. Fowler said.

In conclusion Mrs. Fowler expressed her appreciation to all donors who responded to the call for blood; to local residents who provided homemade cookies for the donors; to all the workers who donated their time; to the members of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority who staffed the canteen; to the First State Bank for the coffee and Oleson Foods for the juice; the Lions Club for off-loading and loading; the American Legion for the use of the hall and to the many others who assisted in the project.

"May your holidays to happier for having taken the time to help in this very worthwhile project" she added.

CHS Spanish students looking forward to Mexico trip in March

The Charlevoix High School Spanish Club will say "hasta luego" to snowy Charlevoix March 24 as it heads to Detroit Metropolitan Airport en route to sunny Mexico. The group, consisting of 23 students and four chaperones, will visit Mexico City, Cuernavaca, Taxco and Acapolco during its eight-day tour with EF Interstudy of Santa Barbara, California.

"The students have worked hard, some of them for three years, to earn money toward this trip," says club advisor Ted Miller. "This will be a great opportunity for them to practice the Spanish they've learned in school and to see several of the places they've studied about - the pyramids of Teotihuacan, the markets, the silver shops...maybe even a bullfight."

The cost of the trip, approximately $700 per student, has been funded partially by fundraising projects such as car washes, dances, booths at Charlevoix's Venetian and Apple Festivals and the annual "Ski Package Giveaway" which will wind up this week.

"The giveaway is our most successful project, mainly because of the tremendous support of the community," says Miller. This year, area businesses have donated over $800 worth of prizes. For a one dollar donation to the club, one gets a chance to win one of twenty eight prizes ranging from a $5 gift certificate from MacDonald's to a complete cross-country ski package from Le Sportif. Tickets can be obtained this week at the Charlevoix High School office or at the home basketball game this Friday night. The drawing will be held during half time of the varsity game.

Irwin rep sets hours

State Senator Mitch Irwin's District Representative Greg T. Long has scheduled office hours in Charlevoix for the month of December.

He will be at the Charlevoix County Building from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday, December 6; at the Charlevoix County Commission meeting at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, December 14 and back at the County Building from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Wednesday, December 21.

Area residents are welcome to visit with Long if they would like to make their views known or if they have a problem involving an agency of the state government. No appointment is necesary.

County included in crop damage list

Charlevoix County is one of 22 Michigan counties declared by Gov. James J. Blanchard as natural disaster areas eligible for Farmers Home Administration emergency loan assistance.

Blanchard requsted the help based on the loss of crops due to freezing temperatures and drought occurring from May 9, 1983 through September 1, 1983.

Charlevoix County, along with Allegan, Antrim, and Berrien Counties, have been approved for aid because of both freezing temperatures and drought between May 9 and September 1, 1983.

Thirteen counties, including Emmet, Otsego and Cheboygan, were on the list because of drought conditions during the June 1 through September 1 period.

Five orchard counties in the Grand Traverse region made the list because of freezing temperatures occurring between May 9 and May 26, 1983.

Local hospital lends support to NMH reclassification

by DAVE KNIGHT

The effort to reclassify Northern Michigan Hospital from a "rural" to a "regional referral" hospital under new federal guidelines and thereby preserve many specialized services provided there has been joined by the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

CAH administrator Richard L. Kreuger said last week that a letter has been sent to Congressman Robert Davis, on behalf of the hospital's administration and board of directors, urging support for the reclassification.

Under the Medicare Prospective Payment System, there are two rates of Medicare payments to hospitals: a higher rate for those hospitals designated as "urban" and a lower rate for hospitals designated as "rural". Under the "rural" classification proposed for NMH by the federal Health Care Finance Administration, NMH would not be able to provide many of the expensive, specialized services the facility now offers.

By reclassification as a "region referral" hospital, said Krueger, NMH would be eligile for the "urban" rate of Medicare payments and would be able to retain the specialized services it has come to provide such as neurosurgery, open heart surgery and renal dialysis.

"As Chief Executive Officer of a small community hospital," wrote Krueger in the letter to Davis, "I really understand the need to find ways to hold down the inflationary rise of health care costs. But when the new ... regulations have the effect of significantly reducing the quality and access to health care for over 200,000 people in Northern Michigan, I believe the regulations have gone too far and a change must be made."

At a press conference last week, Krueger explained how loss of the specialized services at NMH would affect the Charlevoix Area Hospital saying, "Such a loss would be a real blow to the people of this part of the state. Our entire referral pattern would have to change and in most cases it would be at the expense of the patient."

Without the specialized referral services available in Petoskey, said Krueger, Charlevoix Area Hospital patients needing those services would have to be transported long distances - Grand Rapids or Ann Arbor, for instance.

"The added cost would be tremendous when you add up the costs of transportation, lodging and meals for the family members and other complications of having to transfer a critically ill patient a long distance," said Krueger, "Such a transfer also makes it difficult for our personnel who would have to accompany many patients."

As a primary care facility, Charlevoix Area Hospital is able to treat approximately 90 percent of its cases on site. About ten percent, however, require specialized treatment not available at CAH and are almost always referred to NMH in Petoskey.

"It is apparent that if this regulation is not changed," wrote Krueger to Congressman Davis, "Northern Michigan Hospitals simply cannot survive in its present form. It is really an urban hospital in a rural setting, and if it is not so compensated, thousands of people in Northern Michigan will be deprived of essential, life-saving medical services on which they now depend. This is obviously an unacceptable situation and one I, and our hospital Board of Directors, oppose."

Santa Claus came a bit early to the Charlevoix [illegible] Hospital when he helped Charlevoix County State Bank President [illegible] Wehman deliver a check for $5,000 to the hospital via Board of [illegible] member Marcia Trimper. This was the final payment in a five [illegible] the County State Bank made to Charlevoix Area Hospital during [illegible] to help build the new wing and complete renovations in many [illegible] departments. The County State bank had pledged to give $25,000 [illegible] years.

A Real Lifesaver

A split second of awareness turned Consumers Power lineman Tom Burghdoff into a hero and saved the life of a father of six.

It happened in mid-August as Burghdoff drove his company truck along M-50 south of Alto, his thoughts running ahead to the job awaiting him in Freeport.

"I was wondering how long the job would take and whether it would be straightforward or not," said Burgdoff, 39, who works out of the company's Hastings office in southwestern Michigan.

He never got to find out.

Something he glimpsed — seen for an instant, then hidden by a barn—made him swing his truck around and head back to the farm he had just passed.

"Out of the corner of my eye I thought I saw a tractor tipping over," he said. "I don't know how I happened to catch it, it was back off the road some. And I wasn't really sure that I had seen it."

As Burghdoff pulled into the driveway of the Logos Christian Farm he found that his eyes hadn't been playing tricks.

Pinned beneath an overturned tractor lay farm maintenance man Tom Mellon. His 8,000 pound Massey-Ferguson had slid sideways off a ramp leading up to a barn, thrown Mellon to the ground and rolled on top of him. The rear fender was crushing his chest and head.

Burghdoff summoned help from people at a store next-door but realized he couldn't wait for an ambulance to arrive.

"His air was cut off by the weight of the tractor and he was beginning to turn blue," said Burghdoff, a former Barry County sheriff's deputy.

He decided to use the cable winch on the front of the Consumers Power truck to pull the tractor off. It worked. As the tractor was raised a helper positioned car jacks underneath.

This prompt action saved Mellon's life, according to the surgeon who treated him at Butterworth Hospital, Grand Rapids.

Tom Burghdoff

[illegible] said Dr. [illegible] [illegible] quick response of Tom Burghdoff.

[illegible] his company's [illegible] Award.

For Mellon, now almost fully recovered from his injuries, August 15 was a day of miracles.

He said: "From the road, Burghdoff could have seen the tractor for only one second — and right at the moment he passed by, the tractor was tipping. Two seconds later it would have been on the ground and out of sight. Also he had the right equipment with him and knew how to handle an emergency without going to pieces.

"There were all kinds of little miracles going on that day. It confirms my Christian faith."

Mellon's wife Pat and their children — Lisa, Christy, Janet, Michael, Deborah and Denise — would probably say "amen" to that.

Special meeting to address zoning needs of townships and cities in county

by PEG OHLE

The Charlevoix County Planning Department has invited all township supervisors and city managers in the County to a special meeting Thursday evening, December 8, at the City Hall in Boyne City.

The meeting has been called to discuss various zoning administration options for governmental units in the County.

Presently, the County Planning Department is zoning administrator for Melrose and Boyne Valley Townships, while the other townships and cities handle their own zoning details. However, at last week's meeting, the County Planning Commission voted to discontinue this arrangement with the two townships as of April 1. The County undertook the zoning administration for the two townships several years ago to tide them over until they could find local administrators. So far, neither township has hired a local administrator.

Handling zoning problems for the townships has been a burden to the County Planning Department staff because of the number of special meetings they must attend. Both townships pay the County a small fee for doing their zoning administration work. Melrose Township pays $750 a year and Boyne Valley Township, $450 a year.

According to County Planner Larry Sullivan, some of the zoning administration options to be discussed at the meeting are: grouping townships for zoning administration, a common ordinance for all townships administered by one or two persons, enough townships joining together to make it worthwhile for the County to hire an administrator to do their work, or County zoning.

The County adopted a County Zoning Ordinance about 12 years ago but it was voted out in a special referendum. Since then, all the townships and cities in the County have adopted their own ordinances.

Correction

In a story last week about allocated millage in the County, it was stated that .20 mills is presently being levied for public libraries. That is not true. The millage is levied for operation of the Intermediate School District.

East Park rink a slick idea

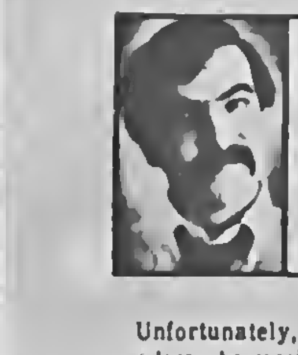
Of the several items proposed at a joint work session of the City Council and the City Recreation Commission last week, the idea of moving the city's ice rink from its present location on May St. next to the high school downtown to East Park rates as the best.

For city residents of both the north and south sides who use the facility, the East Park site would be a more central and thus more convenient location. The park serves as a focal point for many civic activities throughout the year. Ice skating would be a logical addition.

A nicely-lit rink in the attractive park setting would also lend to the visual impact of downtown Charlevoix during the winter months. While Charlevoix may have little in common with New York City, the latter's ice rink in Rockefeller Center has long provided the quintessential example of wholesome family-type fun in the urban setting. There is something about skaters in pairs circling under the lights amid falling snowflakes that paints a very peaceful picture.

Lastly, a skating rink in East Park would bring welcome activity to the Bridge St. merchants, many of whom have traditionally faced the winter months with understandable dread. All the downtown facilities available to the skaters would make such an arrangement mutually beneficial as well.

Our only regret about the whole idea is that it wasn't brought up earlier.



Knight on the Town

What's next?

by Dave Knight

Unfortunately, many of our readers who receive the Courier in Wednesday's mail will be reading this too late.

But for the Tuesday newstand hawks, here's a TV tip: Tom Kneeland, whose Tom's Mom's chocolate chunk cookies have become quite the rage in recent months, will be appearing on ABC's Good Morning America program Wednesday morning.

Word has it that Kneeland is being flown out to New York for a live appearance with Julia Child in her kitchen feature on the show and will show America and the world how Tom's Mom's cookies are made.

In fact, our sources report, Kneeland is even getting a haircut for the occasion which says something about the gravity of the whole affair. (He didn't get a haircut for his audience with President and Mrs. Reagan, we don't believe.)

All this leads us to wonder what is next for Charlevoix's cookie czar?

The Congressional Medal of Honor? No, we think he got that last week.

The Heisman Trophy? He's got great hands and speed.

An Oscar? Not much competition in the Best Supporting Cookie category.

A Pulitzer? He should get it for supplying more newspaper copy this year than Princess Di.

A Nobel Peace Prize? If everyone had at least one Tom's Mom cooky a day, the world would be a much happier place.

Actually, we know what lofty honor is next in store for Tom's Mom's. Pick up a People magazine next week and find out.

Sewer diplomacy

out by recent shoreline surveys showing some algal growth that may be caused by excess nutrients emanating from the systems.

Other benefits of the extension cited by Campbell include the work it would provide for several local contractors and the financial gains to the city that would result from the added use of the city's relatively new waste water treatment plant. While the plant was designed to accomodate up to one million gallons per day, it is presently treating only about 200,000 gallons per day.

City Manager Hunt agrees that the treatment plant needs more business but he wants the city to look very carefully at all the angles of the plan before making a decsion. He points out that extanding sewer lines into the township represents a significant policy decision for the city and is not strictly a business proposition.

"Right now, water and sewer are the only factors limiting commercial development in that area," said Hunt, "But we should have some legitimate concerns about whether such development in that sector is in our best interest. In some cases, extension of sewer lines outside city limits can lead to poor land use decisions."

There are other sewer line extensions that the city should be looking at, too, says Hunt, such as to the north side Business Park, which may be of equal or greater benefit to the city.

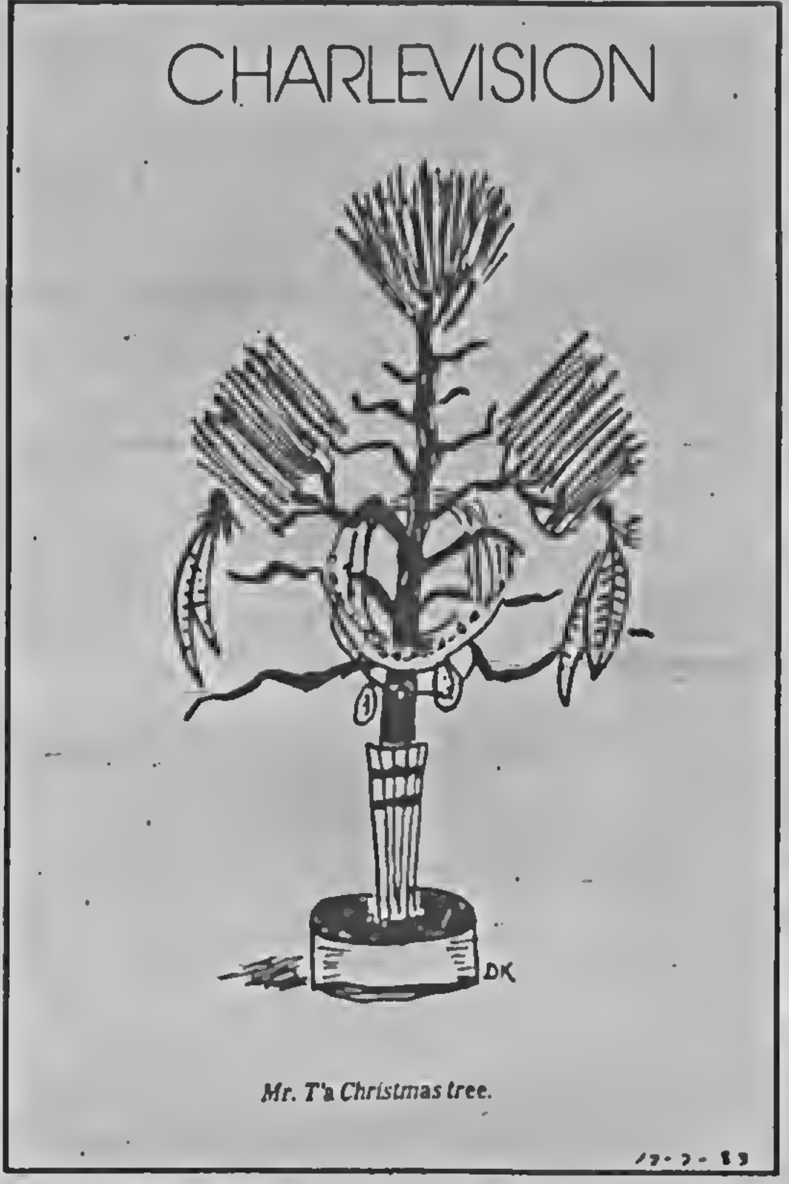
Hunt also feels strongly about establishing a user rate that is as fair to the city residents as to the township customers.

"For the years since the new treatment plant was built, city taxpayers have been subsidizing it," said Hunt, "I feel they should be fairly compensated."

The city presently faces a $150,000 deficit in its sewer fund and is losing money on a current basis. Council acted just weeks ago, however, to boost rates by an average of 17.6 percent starting in May, 1984.

The retail rate for sanitary sewer customers outside city limits is presently double the rate paid by customers within the city. That, says the township, is too high. They are seeking a rate closer to 1.5 times the city rate. The user rate that may be proposed this Monday night is likely to fall somewhere in between.

One factor underlying the entire issue of city sewer line extension is that the waste water treatment plant was constructed largely with federal funds and was designated at the time as a regional facility. While Campbell, for one, says nothing would be gained by pursuing a legal battle with the city, the implication remains that the federal government could force the city to provide service within the region it was planned to serve.



Mr. T's Christmas tree.

Clockwise

Downtown skating appeals

by Bob Clock

Recreation Director Dwight Boss' suggestion that the skating rink be moved to East Park is one of the most exciting proposals I've heard for downtown Charlevoix in years.

Can't you see it now: A rectagular rink on the shuffleboard level, soft lights, waltz music playing on a public address system, skaters — young and old — dressed in winter toggery gliding across the ice in time to the music. A few of them would have to have long scarves trailing over their shoulders, a la Charles Dickens.

The picture is one I have conjured up many times — particularly in the dead of winter when East Park is one of the dreadliest places in town.

But the Charlevoix Council reacted favorably to Boss' suggestion and City Manager Rob Hunt says it would involve no great effort to move the rink, particularly since he already has some improvements in mind for East Park and the necessary berming could be done at the same time.

Of course, we'd have to have some kind of warming shelter — but the present building might fit in quite nicely. It could be moved to the park in December and removed in March. I'd hate to see a new building erected on the site, particularly since the old building with its well-chewed floorboards carries fond memories of days when we all were a lot younger.

If the rink is moved, I wish the council would bend just a trifle to allow one of the service clubs to operate a portable snack bar somewhere nearby. What would be nicer than wolfing down a steaming bratwurst sandwiches and tumblers of hot coffee between turns around the rink?

Or perhaps one of the present city restaurants would like a crack at the rink business. I don't care who does it but a sidewalk restaurant of some description would complete the picture to my satisfaction.

MANY DETAILS, of course, must be worked out. Fran Martin, who has lived in Charlevoix since the Year One, says that East Park is too exposed, too sunny for a rink. She says it was tried years ago and city workers had the devil's own time keeping the rink flooded and frozen.

On the other hand, Jim Willis, a member of the Recreation Commission, remembers playing hockey in East Park as a boy.

Success of such a rink depends entirely on the weather, but I, for one, think it's worth a try, since East Park is centrally located for everyone in town.

I don't expect we'll create another Rockefeller Plaza — but we might come close. Our setting certainly is more attractive.

Taylor to run in national race

The Kinney race is the only national championship cross country race for high schoolers. Sanctioned by The Athletic Congress, distance running's governing body, the race features the best 32 boys and 32 girls in the country.

For Taylor, it will be a fitting conclusion to a stellar high school career in cross country. Three-time conference champ, Taylor led the Charlevoix team to two straight Class C state championships and was Class C individual champ this year.

He credits Spieles and his teammates for much of his success saying, "We're all very close as a team. Mr. Spieles has a good way of bringing a lot out of us and he has been a good friend as well."

Taylor started competitive running on his eighth grade track team. While he enjoys running as a pasttime, the excitement of racing has always had a special attraction to him.

"I know I'll always like to run long after my days as a serious racer are over," he said, "But I really like the competition of racing. It's fun."

Training for Taylor means from 40 to 55 miles a week during the summer when the foundation is laid for the fall season. Once he reaches a fine tune, however, the quantity of mileage is decreased and replaced by "quality" mileage. It is a process Taylor calls "maintenance" and that's what he's doing this week in preparation for San Diego.

Taylor has already gotten letters of interest from a dozen colleges but has not made any definite plans for next year. He does want to compete for a Division I school and is looking seriously at the University of Wisconsin which has established itself as a national cross country power in recent years, winning the NCAA championships last year and placing high this year.

Letters: Search for peace

To the Editor,

The most agonizing, question of our time is, "Will there be a world for our children?" By nature, parents are the providers and the protectors of the young. In ages past, the role of the father was to forage for food and to fend for his family with sticks and stones if necessary. The role of the mother was to care for the children and to keep the hearth fires burning.

But over the centuries, sticks and stones give way to ever more deadly weapons until now there are intercontinental ballistic missiles which can span the oceans and wipe out whole populations. These new weapons have become "gods of metal" to men in high places who seem to worship them as if they were saviors. Against these harbingers of death there is no protection; people would be like fallen leaves in a raging storm and on both sides of the "Iron Curtain" they are frightened, many are bewildered and benumbed, many feel helpless and hopeless.

The human mind has created the new weapons technology which governments have exploited for their own purposes. And while it is impossible to "undiscover" the secrets of the atom, the human mind can devise ways to outlaw nuclear weapons if there is the will to do so.

And what could be more powerful than the will of parents, whatever their creed or their ideology, to find those ways and thus to make the world safe for their children? What could be mightier than the determination of people everywhere not to bow down before the false "gods of metal"? What could be stronger than a human chain of fathers and mothers, symbolically encircling the earth and locking hands with each other to deny their governments access to the weapons which can blot out the sun and destroy all living things?

The cries from the hearts of mothers and fathers must rise in a great crescendo to demand that the weapons of mass destruction be forever banished from the face of the earth. And that can be accomplished if people everywhere join with each other to work for "Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men". Only then can we be assured that there will be a world for our children.

On Friday, Dec. 9 at 7:00 p.m. at St. Francis Church in Petoskey, there will be an Interfaith Peace Service followed by a Children's Candlelight Procession. All area families are welcome.

Still questions

To the Editor:

Regarding the recent recount for Third Ward Council position, I would like to compliment the Charlevoix County Board of Canvassers and the County Clerk's Office for the professional manner in which they performed their function. The recount did not change the results. However, it did highlight inefficiencies in Charlevoix City voting practices. There were a number of NO VOTE ballots....WHY? There were a couple of ballots punched in the number 12 position...instead of 13 or 14...WHY? There was one ballot maked in the number 13 position by a ball point pen (disallowed). My contention is that in a small community with concerned people it behooves the City Council to provide adequate information to allow each citizen to properly exercise their right to Vote. Also, to know how?? I also have questioned the necessity of placing two positions in juxtaposition on the ballot, when the ballot format provides room to separate and eliminate confusion. Hopefully this may help to improve our City election process and impress upon the Voters that if you DO NOT VOTE you must accept the results of those who are interested enough to vote!!!

Paul O. Burlew

Well, well

To the Editor:

The high cost of scientific well-wishing began last year with the discovery of chemical pollution in the only city water supply. There were and still are all kinds of outside advisors ready to help the city spend money on water treatment plants and equipment. They went so far as to claim that areas in and around the city are geologically unsuitable for any kind of undeground water supply. This, in spite of the fact that the township has useable wells on the north and south sides near the city limits.

These are some of the expenses that are a result of so-called scientific advisors as paid for by the city. We were told that it would be neccessary to have a water treatment plant. Whereby the council approved expenses that came to about $34,000 for a survey and bid plan.

The result was a non-competitive bid of $1.6 million that was turned down by the voters. The city council asked for local information and a few interested citizens responded. However, their experience was mostly ignored.

In February I suggested three test wells be put down on the lake side of Mt. McSauba. I pointed out that there are not any sewers or street drains in that area and there is a possibility of a large water supply near the lake. At a July council meeting some interested citizens suggested the city hire a well digger to put down some test wells. This was ignored by Mr. Hunt as being too amateurish.

After two months of haggling it was decided to try exploring for some test wells. This was done but again with the help of some outsiders that sold the city a geological survey and contract plan for an open amount of 50 to 60 thousand dollars. This came to a bid by a well driller for 65 thousand dollars. Adding up these totals we have a cost of 150 thousand dollars to find some good water right in our back yard.

Special program aimed at pregnant teens

by PEG OHLE

Some 50 pregnant teenage girls in the Char-Em School District will attend a special school this year.

It is the Alternate Program for School Age Parents provided by the Intermediate School District and the 11 schools within it (schools in Charlevoix and Emmet Counties and the Ellsworth and Central Lake schools in Antrim County).

The girls will attend the school for a year – one semester while they are pregnant and one semester after their babies are born, with the babies being provided day care in the same facility as their mothers' classes.

The girls will take courses in food and nutrition, pre natal and after birth child care, and communications (how to understand themselves and their relationship to the world around them) in preparation for their roles as mothers; they will receive counseling by a trained counselor on a one-to-one basis; and they will study history, government, English, and human sexuality (a science course). They will be given credit toward graduation from high school for the academic couses.

The Alternate Program is now in its tenth year of operation and has been administered since the beginning by Mary Biagini, an experienced teacher and counselor with a master's degree from Central Michigan University.

"We started as a homebound program", Mary explains. "Besides the pregnant girls, we tutored all students who were out of school for any length of time because of illness or injury."

But the caseload increased and driving to students' homes in the large three-county area took a lot of time, so in the third year, the program was centralised. Headquarters through the years have been in church buildings in Petoskey, East Jordan, and Boyne City. Presently, Alternate Program classes are held in the lower level of St. Matthew's Church in Boyne City.

Mary Biagini

The girls in the classes are fortunate in having Mary Biagini for a teacher and counselor.

Ten years on the job have not lessened her enthusiasm. Rather, she is more enthusiastic and dedicated than ever. In her own words:

"I feel that in terms of a job and career this is an intense job. We are involved with fund-raising, counseling, families, schools, communities, but we feel committed. It is a job of hope, not always negative. I have had to work to keep this attitude but I feel good about what I do."

What Mary and the Alternate Program are trying to do is grow healthy babies and teach their mothers to be good parents.

Babies born of teenagers are usually smaller than average and often suffer from physical problems, but the babies born of girls in this Program weigh an average of seven pounds two ounces at birth, higher than the national average for babies of teenage mothers.

Most of the unmarried teenage mothers keep their babies after they are born and return to their parents' homes for shelter. However, at the end of their year in the Alternate Program, about half of the mothers have wed the father of their child and set up homes of their own.

In some instances, the girls are married when they enter the Program. They feel that they need the security of a high school diploma as well as expertise in child care. It is not unusual for the father of a baby to participate in the child care classes, according to Mary.

The average teenager who enters the Alternate Program is about 16 and a half years old in her second trimester of pregnancy, although the sooner she comes under the guidance of the Program, the more impact the Program will have, Mary stresses. The teenager is usually referred by her school counselor, who has given her the choice of participating in the Program or staying in her regular school and attending the Alternate Program classes for one day a week for pre natal care study. Most teenage girls prefer the Alternate Program because they fear the changes their pregnacies will make in their relationships with other students.

"The emotional impact of pregnancy on adolescents is scary", Mary explains.

In the course of teaching and counseling, these pregnant teenagers learn not only how to care for their babies and themselves, but that adoption is an alternative for them if they feel incompetent to keep the baby.

While the Char-Em School District coordinates and supervises the Alternate Program for School Age Parents, it does not fund the Program. Public money for the Program comes from the State through one school district which acts as fiscal agent. This year that school district is East Jordan, while in the past both Boyne City and Littlefield school districts have been fiscal agents. Only those schools with a State Aid formula are able to raise money for the Program, which leaves out Charlevoix and a few other school districts although students from those districts may attend Alternate Program classes.

One federal government program, the WIC (Women, Infants, Children) program of the Health Department also contributes to the Alternate Program through food stamps.

The March of Dimes, with its program to prevent birth defects, is another contributor, and the rest of the funding comes from private local sources – churches, service clubs, fraternal organizations, sororities, and child study groups. Part of Mary Biagini's job is to present slide films of Alternate Program activities to interested organizations.

What makes this Alternate Program so special is that it is not a mandated program, is one of only 60 such programs in the State, and is the only comprehensive Alternate Program in northern Michigan.

As might be expected, no judgements are passed as to why or how a teenage in the Program became pregnant. As they progress in their classes, they will learn about family planning, receive pre-marital instruction, and face the hardships of being a pregnant teenager.

A firm believer in sex edocation in schools, Mary has found that knowledge of contraceptives does not necessarily mean a teenager will not become pregant, nor does such knowledge make a teenager more sexually active. There are many variables, she explains, some of which can be countered by the girls gaining a more positive attitude about themselves and becoming more assertive. These qualities are high on the list of goals of the Alternate Program.

An important side effect of the Program may be lessening the number of abortions among teenagers in the three-county area, where 52 were reported last year (with perhaps as many performed and not reported).

Assisting Mary Biagini with the Program are Kay McDowell, who teaches food subjects, child care, history, and government. There is also a nutrition aide who teaches the girls to plan, shop, and cook good nutritional meals, and a nursery aide who helps care for the babies.

Looking back over the last ten years, Mary has found that most of her girls become good parents. "They do everything in their power to do the right thing," she says, commenting on the follow-up studies they have made of the babies. She is planning a ten-year study later this year, and probably a reunion of mothers and children next summer.

A grandmother couldn't be more eager to see her offspring.

Tryouts set for "Streetcar"

Little Traverse Civic Theatre announces that open try-out dates for "A Streetcar Named Desire" will be Monday, December 12, from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. and Tuesday, December 13, from 7:00 to 7:30 p.m. Call backs will be Tuesday, December 13, from 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

"A Streetcar Named Desire", which won the Pulitzer Prize, The Donaldson Award and the New York Drama Critics Award for author Tennessee Williams, is the second presentation of Little Traverse Civic Theatre's current season. It is a haunting story of a beautiful woman who was betrayed by love as well as by life.

The cast requires 5 women (2 principal roles ages 20 to 30, 3 supporting roles ages 27 to 40) and 6 men (2 principal roles ages 25 to 35, 4 supporting roles ages 30 to 50).

Scripts for "A Streetcar Named Desire" are available at the Petoskey Public Library on a "sign out" basis.

Try outs will be held at the Ross Stoakes Theatre of the Virginia McCune Community Arts Center, Petoskey. For further information, call Beverly Holden, after 6:00 p.m. at 535-2456.

The Spirit of Christmas

Doug Sloan snags a rebound.

Girls finally bow in Regional tourney

The Charlevoix girls basketball team lost to a strong Benzie Central team by a score of 60-30 in the Class C Regional finals at Grayling Saturday after defeating Roscommon 40-30 in the opening game of the tournament.

After playing heads up ball in the game against Roscommon, Saturday's game was marked by tournament jitters and turn-overs against the very aggressive Benzie five who took control early and never relinquished it Coach Henry Wagner said.

Benzie moved into a 13-4 first quarter lead, doubled their score for a 26-11 advantage at halftime and 60-19 going into the final period.

Benzie scored 27 field goals to 12 for Charlevoix; hit on six of 17 free throws to Charlevoix's six of 12. Benzie had 14 personal fouls while Charlevoix had 12.

Dawn Cady had 15 points and Vonnie Shimp 14 for Benzie. Michelle Gagnon, who came off the bench, had eight and Rhonda Buchanan six for Charlevoix.

In the earlier game with Roscommon, Charlevoix led 9-5, 19-8 and 29-16 by quarters before winning 40-30. Charlevoix had 17 from the floor, six of 16 from the line and 11 personal fouls while Roscommon had 16 field goals, four of 11 free throws and 20 personal fouls.

Gagnon, who had also come off the bench in this game, and Buchanan each had 11 points. Janie Levatin had 12 for Roscommon.

The team closed out the season with a record of 12 wins and eight losses.

Seniors on the team are Mary Lenhart, Rhonda Buchanan and Amy Sell.

Four named to conference MVP team

Four members of the Charlevoix girls basketball team received Michigan-Huron Shores Conference recognition recently when coaches selected players to the Most Valuable Player list.

Ann Wagner and Rhonda Buchanan were named to the Most Valuable Player list while Amy Sell and Mary Lenhart received honorable mention.

Buchanan, Lenhart and Sell are seniors. Wagner is a sophomore.

Frosh lose to Soo following cold start

The Charlevoix Rayder freshmen, who traveled to the Soo with the Varsity and JV's because of the distance, lost to their hosts by a score of 48-41.

The young Rayders got off to a slow start and trailed 14-8 at the quarter and were never able to overcome the deficit as the Soo lead 21-16 at halftime and 31-28 going into the final eight minutes.

Darin Batdorff with 12 points and Jim Gibbs with 10 paced the Rayders. R.J. Neil had 10 points for the victors.

Charlevoix freshmen will be at Boyne City Thursday and will host Central Lake Monday.

Boys open with win

Charlevoix High School's 1983-84 varsity basketball campaign got off to an easy start Friday night as the Red Rayders clobbered Sault Ste. Marie 62-39.

The game was the season debut for the squad which sports several new faces. Of the starting five Friday night, only two were starters on last year's 25-1 team. Tim LaBlance and Doug Sloan were the returnees; they were joined in the starting lineup by Brent Cole, John Pearl and Jim Martin.

Though Charlevoix took the lead early in the game running to a 16-10 lead in the first quarter, it was in the second stanza that the Rayders really took command, outscoring the Soo 25-12 to take a 41-22 advantage into the locker room.

After three quarters it was 52-32 Charlevoix and the Rayders cruised from then on giving Coach Dave Smith a good opportunity to test his bench strength.

Junior Doug Sloan led both teams in scoring with 17 points. Cole had 14, LaBlance 11 and Pearl 10 for Charlevoix. Dan Rambo led the Soo with 12. In rebounding, Sloan, Pearl and Will Syvertsen dominated the boards with six rebounds each. Charlevoix topped the Soo 27-15 in team rebounding.

The Rayders shot 53 percent from the floor compared to the Soo's 38 percent; in team free throws, the Rayders sank 56 percent (10 for 16) while the Soo made one of four attempts for 25 percent.

This Tuesday night, the Rayders make their first home appearance of the season against the St. Ignace Saints.

Brent Cole lays one up against the Soo.

Grayling tops grapplers in dual

The Charlevoix Rayder grapplers made a good showing in their first dual meet of the season Coach Greg Bryan said following the teams 42-27 loss to Grayling.

He went on to say that the team had to forfeit in six weight classes that accounted for the lion's share of the Vikings' 42 points.

Bobby Sharrow won by forfeit in the 98 pound class while Charlevoix posted wins in three classes by pins and one by a decision.

Dan Kelly won by a pin in 2:26 over Mike Keene in the 132 pound weight class; Rick Gallant (138) by a pin in 1:37 over Bob Howe; Shawn Harnett lost by a pin in 4:48 to Ron Wyman; Matt Hull (155) pinned Jim Sorenson in 5:17; A.J. Witthoeft won by an 8-5 decision over Gary Gugin and in the heavyweight class Bill Marquardt was pinned by Tom Sorenson in :51.

...But Rayders top two teams at invitational meet

The Charlevoix Rayder wrestling team participated against two schools in the annual Glen Lake Invitational meet held Saturday.

The Rayders lost to Benzie Central 54-16 and Glen Lake 51-18 and posted wins over Traverse City St. Francis 36-30 and Frankfort 30-29.

In the Benzie Central meet, Dan Kelly (132) won by a pin in 4:20 and Rick Gallant (138) in 1:06.

In the St. Francis meet, Kelly won by a pin in :28 and A.J. Witthoeft (167) in 1:24.

Against Glen Lake Kelly won by a pin in :29; Gallant in 2:12 and Witthoeft lost a close match by a 11-12 decision.

Against Frankfort, Kelly won by a pin in 2:57; Gallant in 2:30; Witthoeft in 1:04 and Jeff Mervyn (hvy.wt.) in 1:00.

Charlevoix failed to fill six weight classes so lost by forfeit.

In the meet, Bobby Sharrow had a 2 win-2 loss record; Kelly, 4-0; Gallant, 4-0; Shawn Hartnett (145), 1-3; Matt Hull (155) 1-2; Witthoeft, 2-2; Bill Marquardt (hvy), 2-1 and Scott Mervyn, 1-0.

Charlevoix will be at the Soo Thursday and at the Manistee Catholic Invitational meet Saturday.

John Pearl dishes off a pass.

JV squad wins opener with second half surge

The Charlevoix Junior Varsity basketball team, coached by Don Carey, defeated the Soo JV's 49-33 in their first game of the season.

The Soo jumped off to a 1-6 first period lead but were outscored 10-1 in the second quarter as the young Rayders went ahead 16-15 at halftime. The Rayders continued out-scoring their opponents as they went ahead 30-21 going into the final period before posting the 16 point win.

Sean Ferguson and Jody Putman shared scoring honors with 14 points each. Randy Anderson had the same number for the Soo.

New health and fitness center reflects Kehrer's dedication to self-improvement

by DAVE KNIGHT

Some people's lives are turned around by a stroke of luck. For others the revelation happens in church.

For Steve Kehrer, it took an insult from Mr. Olympia to change his life completely.

Kehrer is the manager and co-owner of the newly opened Charlevoix Health and Fitness Center which will be having its grand opening Saturday, December 10. He traces his serious interest in fitness to the day about a year and a half ago that he met Franco Columbo, an internationally known bodybuilder and former Mr. Olympia.

At the time, Kehrer tipped the scale at 255 pounds. He was visiting a friend at a health club in Denver when Columbo was making an appearance there. When Kehrer approached Columbo for an autograph, Columbo took one look at Steve and said sarcastically, "What are you doing to yourself."

"My first reaction was to hit him," said Kehrer, "But then it occurred to me that a smart person does not hit Mr. Olympia."

A smart person, Kehrer later realized, works to change himself if he doesn't like what he sees in the mirror. That is what Kehrer did (he is now down to 187 pounds, mostly muscle) and that is what he wants to help others do with the Charlevoix Health & Fitness Center.

"Most people are too occupied with the needs of others - wife, kids, boss - so they ignore the needs of 'self' ", said Kehrer, "If you neglect your car, for example, it'll fall apart. The same goes for 'self'. If you don't take care of 'self', it will fall apart."

To help people take care of 'self', Kehrer and his partner in the venture Norman Brumm have renovated the 5,000 square-foot former Professional Building Services building on U.S. 31 South into a carpeted, fully-equipped fitness center featuring a weight room, mens and womens locker rooms with showers, a large room for the Vital Options exercise classes, babysitting nursery, hot tub and sauna.

A native of Northville, Kehrer has lived in Charlevoix for the past 12 years, working in the construction business as a mason. He and his wife Ameda have two sons, Scott and Zachary.

After coming back from Denver and his encounter with Franco Columbo, Kehrer starting working out at a body-building gym in Central Lake. He became so enthused in the process that he wound up going back to Denver to be trained as a health and fitness instructor.

Kehrer is quick to explain that the physical benefits represent only a small part of the change in his life that fitness training has brought about.

"What it did for me mentally is ten times what it did for me physically," says Kehrer, "Working out can do wonders for one's self-esteem and stress tolerance, for example."

Espousing a concept that is becoming more and more popular among fitness experts, Kehrer takes a holistic approach to exercising.

"I see working out as a physical, mental and spiritual experience. The atmosphere here at the Charlevoix Health & Fitness Center is one of comradery. Nobody's out to impress anybody else. We're here to help each person reach his or her personal goals."

For the newcomer, the first workout at the Center is free. Kehrer will go through each activity in the weight room with the prospective member to explain which apparatus affects which muscle group. If the prospect decides to start a program at the Center, Kehrer will work with him or her the next two or three visits to set personal goals and further explain exercise techniques.

Interestingly, the first thing Kehrer teaches is how to rest.

"People have to learn how to rest and relax the muscles before they start to build them up," says Kehrer who will also offer nutritional advice as part of his three-phase fitness philosophy of rest, diet and exercise.

The Center's weight room features both free-weights (dumb bells and bar bells) and weight machines. While some fitness centers have only the machines such as Nautilus, Kehrer believes in a combination of free-weights and machines to achieve a well-rounded program. There is also cardio-vascular workout equipment in the weight room.

The weight room can accomodate both power lifters who concentrate solely on developing strength and body builders who are into it for the appearance. Kehrer has competed in power lifting meets, finishing third in a recent Traverse City competition. He would like, someday, to host such competition in Charlevoix.

Candy Smith's Vital Options program involves about 135 local women who can select from 11 different class periods each week. Babysitting services are offered at the Center.

Rates at the Center are structured for students and adults, can apply for just one activity at the Center or a combination of activities and are available for daily, monthly, three-month, six-month or yearly bases.

There are also three-month, six-month and yearly membership rates (all activities are available to members) for couples and families.

The Center is open Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. and on Saturday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. The grand opening on Saturday, December 10 will be from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

PUBLIC NOTICE
Date: December 2, 1983
Permit No.: MI 0003590

The Michigan Water Resources Commission proposes to reissue a discharge permit to East Jordan Iron Works, Inc., formerly ITT Automotive Electrical Products Division, East Jordan. The applicant is engaged in the production of grey and ductile iron castings, and in the assembly of hydrants and valves. The applicant discharges noncontact cooling water, stormwater runoff, and drinking fountain water to Lake Charlevoix in Section 23, T32N, R7S.

The draft permit includes the following modifications to the previously issued permits:

1. Combines NPDES permits MI 0003590 and MI 0021814 into one permit MI 0003590.
2. Deletes pH, Total Suspended Solids and oil and grease requirements for all outfalls.
3. Requires daily observation when discharging at outfall 005.
4. Changes flow measurement frequency for outfalls 001 and 005 to monthly.

Comments or objections to the draft permit received by January 2, 1984 will be considered in the final decision to issue the permit. Persons desiring information regarding the draft permit, procedures for commenting or requesting a hearing, should contact: Permits Section, Surface Water Quality Division, Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 30028, Lansing, Michigan 48909, Phone (517) 373-8088.

All proceeds from the project are to go to charity.

Financial aid for college to be explained

The 10th annnal workshop on financial aid for college will be held at the high school study hall at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 13 under the direction of Gayle Gennett and Charles Bentley, counselors at the Charlevoix High School.

Clifford Denay, Director of Financial Aid at North Central Michigan College, will join the counseling staff in a presentation of federal, state and local sources of financial aid as well as a discussion of the process by which financial need is determined.

A national report indicates that college costs are increasing at an average rate of nine to 10 per cent each year. For the 1983-84 school year the average cost is $4,818 to attend a public four-year college and $8,929 to attend a private four-year college.

Obviously, few families can afford to assume this kind of expense for their daughter-son to attend college. While the basic assumption is that parents and the student have the primary obligation to pay for a college education, many programs exist to make up the difference between the total cost and what the parents can contribute.

To assist students and parents in finding those alternate sources and to acquaint them with obtaining assistance the financial workshop is being held. Parents who wish to receive an estimate of their expected contributions are asked to bring a copy of their 1982 income tax return. Using the information and a computer, a parents' estimated contribution can be developed. The actual computer input will be by the participants, ensuring confidentiality.

Any questions regarding this program should be directed to Charles Bentley, Counselor at the Charlevoix High School, 547-3226.

Salvation Army to canvass

Saturday, December 10th, marks Salvation Army World Hunger Day across the State of Michigan. Volunteers from Charlevoix will be collecting in the interest of world hunger in several locations in the Charlevoix area.

The demands on The Salvation Army in the interest of world hunger continue to be great. Food needs of people in many areas of the world are sometimes overwhelming. A concern of the men and women of The Salvation Army is that food needs be met, at the time and point of need.

Names In The News

An area farmer, Dan Berg, Rt. 3, Charlevoix, has been named Farmer of the Week for the week of December 5 in recognition of his contributions to Michigan agriculture.

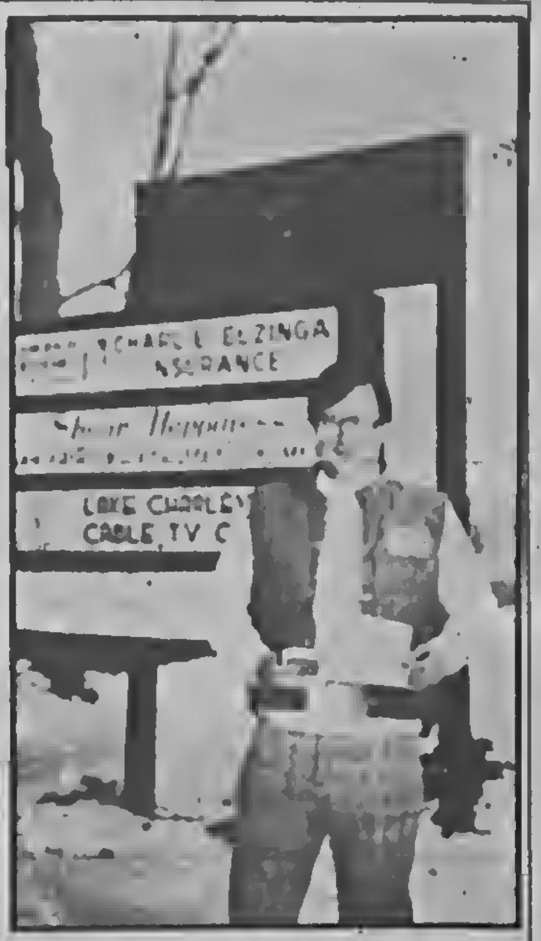
The weekly award, which honors farmers in Michigan, is sponsored by the Michigan Farm Radio Network and Farm Bureau Insurance Group.

Berg, 31, who has been farming most of his life, is a grain and hog farmer. He currently farms 840 acres.

His involvement in the community and agricultural affairs include serving on the County Board of the Charlevoix County Farm Bureau, two years as president of the County Farm Bureau, participation in the County Young Farmers Organization and working with local 4-H groups in the community.

Recipients of the Farmer of the Week Award, who are selected by the Michigan Farm Radio Network and Farm Bureau Insurance Group, are chosen for the quality of their farming operations and for their contributions to the community and agriculture.

The award recipient for each week is announced Monday mornings over the statewide Michigan Farm Radio Network. Recipients are awarded a personalized certificate and a custom designed Farmer of the Week belt buckle from the local Farm Bureau insurance agent.



Dan Berg

The Farmer of the Week program was started in 1975 to recognize Michigan farmers each week for their contributions to the state asnd agriculture industry.

Shanahan honored by Vets Trust Fund

Edward K. Shanahan was honored recently at a dinner at the Grey Gables Inn for his 16 years of service as a member of the Veterans Trust Fund in Charlevoix County.

Mr. Shanahan was appointed to the Veterans Trust Fund Committee in the county on March 3, 1966, as a representative of unaffiliated veterans. In 1970 he was re-appointed to represent the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He served during those 16 years as a volunteer without compensation.

In honoring Mr. Shanahan, Frank Young, regional Supervisor for the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund, commended him for his years of service as a volunteer and for the exemplary record of the Charlevios County office under his chairmanship. "This Charlevoix County office has spent little on administration and channeled the funds available to helping veterans. As county chairman, you are to be commended for the many hours of volunteer service to fellow veterans" Young said in presenting Mr. Shanahan with a plaque in recognition of his service.

Attending the dinner honoring Mr. Shanahan were Mrs. Shanahan, Ray V. Wood representing the American Legion and Mrs. Wood, Clarence F. Rabach, representing Veterans of Foreign Wars and present chairman and Mrs. Rabach and Mr. Young.

All members of the Charlevois County committee volunteer their time as members of the committee. The committee utilizes the office of the Charlevios County Vetarans' Counselor in the county building several hours each week.

The Veterans Trust Fund providee emergency assistance to veterans who have served a minimum of 180 days in a combat zone. Each county in the state is allocated funds from the Veterans Trust fond on a veteran population basis. Each county has its own committee to administer the funds it receives. Most requests in Charlevoix County are for food, utilities and shelter Rabach said.

Graf is high finisher in math contest

Thomas Graf, Charlevoix High School junior, finished in the top five percent on Part I of the 27th annual Mathematics Prize Competition and is among approximately 1,000 Michigan students to compete on the final examination Wednesday, Dec. 7.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Graf of Charlevoix.

The competition is sponsored by the Michigan section of the Mathematical Association of America and is designed to foster a wider interest in mathematics, to focus attention on the necessity of mathematical training in most professions and trades and to identify and provide scholarships for capable mathematics students in the State of Michigan.

The approximately 100 winners of the competition will be honored at the Awards Program to be held at Alma College Feb. 25 with half the winners receiving scholarships. These scholarships totaled $15,425 in last year's competition. The competition funds include contributions from the Borroughs Corporation, Michigan Bell, Kuhlman Corporation and the Michigan Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

Chamber ballot set

Four new directors will be elected to the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce in the annual election to be held later this month.

Four candidates have been nominated by the nominating committee and others may be submitted in writing no later than Dec. 10. The nomination must be signed by three members of the chamber and filed with the executive director, Jacquie Merta.

Nominees are Gary Gleason, president of Gleason Sailmakers, Kjell Johansson, manager of the Weathervane Terrace Hotel, John (Jack) Schmidt, plant superintendent at the Medusa Cement Co., and Gordon W. VanWieren, superintendent of the Charlevoix Public Schools.

Directors whose terms expire Jan. 1 are Linda Mason, Peter Pace, Suzie Reis and Jeannine Wallace.

Three from B.I. to be honored in Chicago

Three residents of Beaver Island will be among the 14 persons being honored by the Chicago Province of the Brothers of the Christian Schools in Chicago Saturday, December 10.

At that time, 14 benefactors will be presented with the LaSallian Award, a distinction bestowed by the Brothers on friends and benefactors who are being recognized for their exemplary Catholic Life and their extraordinary devotion to Christian education.

Among the 14 to be honored are Mr. and Mrs. Archie (Frances) LaFreniere and Mrs. Joseph (Skip) McDonough of St. James, Beaver Island.

The ceremony will be held at the Walnut Room of the Bismarck Hotel in Chicago. It will begin with a Mass at 7 p.m. celebrated by the Most Reverend Daniel Ryan, auxiliary bishop of the Joliet Diocese. During the Mass Brother James Gaffney, FSC, provincial, acting as representative of Brother Pablo Basterrechea, FSC, Superior General, will present the awards.

The Institute of the Brothers of the Christian Schools, commonly known as the Christian Brothers in the United States and De La Salle Brothers elsewhere in the English-speaking world, was founded in the 1680's in the city of Reims in France by St. John Baptist de La Salle and came to the United States in 1845.

The members of the congregation are devoted exclusively to the work of Christian education. As Brothers, the men are not priests and do not engage in the ministeries proper to the ordained clergy. However, the Brothers do take vows.

The Christian Brothers of the Chicago Province have had a retreat house on Beaver Island since 1931. The facility, located west of the King's Highway a short distance south of St. James, is used as a vacation house each summer by the Christian Brothers of the Chicago Province.

In answer to the question of why they might be receiving the award, LaFreniere was quick to respond "I don't know. I haven't done that much but I do know they helped my kids become first class citizens". In answer to the same question Mrs. McDonough said "I don't know but I know they did a lot for our kids".

Dr. Walter Hoffmann

Dedication of community tree warms a cold night

by DAVE KNIGHT

"Let this tree, with its life, growth and vitality, be a living symbol for Charlevoix the Beautiful."

With those words, Dr. Walter Hoffmann presided over the dedication and official lighting Saturday night of Charlevoix's new community Christmas tree in East Park.

The 30-foot white fir is one of ten donated to the city in December by Dr. Hoffmann and Clayton Scott. Also responsible for the city's first "living Christmas tree" are Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Rothschild who contributed the cost of moving and planting the tree on the southeast corner of the Bridge. St. - Mason St. intersection.

Icy winds laced downtown Charlevoix for Saturday night's lighting ceremony but they were not enough to drown out the Community Choir which provided a hearty round of Christmas carols as an appropriate background for the occasion.

Offered the opportunity to throw the switch to light the tree for the first time, Dr. Hoffmann said, "I am not going to light this tree. WE are going to light this tree. All of Charlevoix is going to light this tree. It belongs to all of us."

The donation of the tree by Hoffmann, a retired Charlevoix dentist, was made through the Keep Charlevoix Beautiful organization. The nine other donated trees have been added to the landscape of the city's Mt. McSauba Recreation Area.

Charlevoix's new, living Christmas tree.

Volunteers are key to many of Sheriff's important functions

by PEG OHLE

(This is the first of a two-part series to be continued next week)

Why are some 60 Charlevoix County residents volunteering their time and talents to help the Sheriff's Department?

The volunteers themselvea will tell you: "Because we are needed and because the work we do is important to the welfare of the community."

Sheriff George T. Lasater says he would not be able to maintain the high level of service his Department provides if it were not for the hours of work donated by volunteers (7,746 hours last year).

The volunteers say they enjoy the work they do for the Sheriff'a Department becanse it ia interesting, educational, and never the same.

They are members of the Sheriff's Posse who work directly with the Sheriff and his deputies in law enforcement activities, typists and clerks who work in the Sheriff'a office so the officers may have more time for other duties, the coordinator and members of the Junior Deputy Program who learn about law enforcement at an early age, members of the Neighborhood Watch Program who are ever alert to suspicious people and their actions, local clergymen who offer comfort and counsel to prisoners, and men and women who try to rehabilitate prisoners by teaching them reading and other academic skills.

Last week we had an opportunity to talk with some of these volunteers and to learn first hand what motivates them in their regular schedules of helping the Sheriff'a Department:

Every Tuesday and Friday, Mary Mateskon leaves her home in Bay Shore and drives to the Sheriff's Department where she spends several hours typing reports and doing clerical tasks. A former school teacher in Dearborn, Mary says she gets more out of her volunteer work than the Sheriff's Department does. "It is a warm and friendly place to work. We have a good rapport and I feel welcome," she esplains.

Mary Mateskon is 69 years old and believes that older people should make themselves useful. "They shouldn't sit in rocking chairs and do nothing" is the way she puts it.

Why did this senior citizen decide to help out in the Sheriff's Department? Because "The Sheriff is my friend. He helped me with some problems. When I moved here over eight years ago, I hesitated to call the Sheriff for help. Now people feel more free to ask the Sheriff for help. He is a good listener."

Joni Olacb of Charlevoix has been a member of the Sheriff's Posse for three years and is presently Assistant Commander of the Communications Posse. This group of volunteers dispatchea radio messagea, answers the telephone, and helps at the front desk, thus freeing up regular personnel for other professional duties.

Joni's interest in law enforcement work was heightened when she took a course in Criminal Justice at North Central Michigan College in Petoskey. The Communications Posse meets once a month to set up work schedules and to keep up with any changes in the law that may apply to their work. Among the duties specifically covered by law are the issuance of permits to buy firearms and the registration of firearms. In order to register firearms, members of the Communications Posse have to handle them for inspection. These are the only instances (except for concealed weapons) when they handle guns.

Besides the work she does in the Sheriff's Department, Joni Olach serves as the Department's representative on the Child Abuse Council for Emmet and Charlevoix Counties. "Every once in a while we are asked to do something extra, and

China program planned here

by TOM DAMMANN

A dozen experts on China, educational TV specialists and TV producers from England, the Northwest Coast, Harvard University, the Universities of Michigan and Chicago, gathered at the Weathervane Terrace Hotel here this past weekend to outline a 30 hour telecourse on China.

The South Carolina Educational Television Network (S.C.ETV) has obtained the rights to the 200 hours of footage — entitled "The Heart of the Dragon" — from a group of independent production companies based in London, England, and Hong Kong.

Because none of the major networks of Europe or the U.S. have been permitted the rights to do such thorough filming of life in present day China, NBC culled from "The Heart of the Dragon" the two hour white paper "Journey to the Heart of China" reported by Tom Brokaw last Wednesday night.

A major 10 program series produced by S.C. ETV is scheduled for broadcast in the United States next year by Public Broadcasting Service (PBS). This is already described as the most detailed television portrait of China ever made.

The four crews who roamed China filmed sequences in a village (where one crew stayed a month), party meetings, religious ceremonies (including Christian), a criminal trial involving a woman cat burglar after western made products, a mental hospital, a jail and factories, to mention a few.

The past weekend's intense skull session was devoted to filling out the work outline for the 30 hours telecourse already prepared by S.C. ETV in collaboration with the Michigan based National Video Communication, Inc. (NVC) according to Julius Gilbert's 1963 Jaguar.

Gilbert's Jaguar goes to hospital for ICCU benefit

Julius Gilbert, long time supporter of Charlevoix Area Hospital, has given his classic 1963 Jaguar Mark X to the hospital as part of the drive to raise funds for the new monitoring equipment for the Intensive-Coronary Care Unit.

The distinctive silver Jaguar's title was turned over to the hospital this week.

Expressing their deep appreciate to Mr. Gilbert, not only for this extraordiary donation, but for his unceasing support for Charlevoix Area Hospital, the board of directors explained that plans for a raffle of the Jaguar are now being made.

The proceeds from the sale of raffle tickets for the Jaguar, valued at $10,000, will be a major help to the hospital's acquisition of the specialized invasive monitoring and telemetry equipment being added to the Intensive-Coronary Care Unit this January. The raffle is being planned for early summer, with a limited number of raffle tickets being offered.

Mr. Gilbert said, in announcing his decision to give his prized Jaguar to the hospital, "I received the same letter about the new equipment that went out to all hospital supporters. We are proud of Charlevoix Area Hospital and updating the cardiac unit is most important to extending the life saving services of the unit.

"I hope my gift will inspire others to come forward to help the hospital," Mr. Gilbert concluded.

Earlier in November the hospital sent letters to people throughout the area, detailing the benefits of the additional monitoring equipment. The letter explained that the equipment will use a catheter to place tiny, delicate instruments into the heart of seriously ill patients. This type monitoring will provide the ICCU medical and nursing staff with a range of information which can detect potentially serious problems before they occur. In addition, the letter esplained, telemetry, or radio controlled monitoring equipment will permit some patients to be placed in regular hospital rooms while being monitored. Monitoring under such conditions will provide a more accurate picture of a patient's heart rhythms, while also opening a bed in the ICCU so more patients can be cared for at once.

The Jaguar has been described as a classic, a type that auto dealer Tom Erber says he has "never seen come across an auction block."

"It is truly a classic, with rounded fenders, real leather and black walnut interior. It's fun to drive as well as comfortable. Mr. Gilbert has kept it in a garage and taken excellent care of it. He was its only owner.

"You don't see many cars like that. Anyone who gets it is going to have something no one else has."

Outdoor Report

from the DNR Gaylord District Office

The heavy snowfall of Nov. 30 left back roads and trails very slippery for muzzle loading deer hunters as well as grouse, rabbit and archery hunters.

Snowmobilers are reminded that about 250 miles of trails will be groomed from the Gaylord District which include trails from the jackpine plains of southern Otsego County to the scenic ride along the Jordan River to the Black Mt. trail of Presque Isle County. Monies to maintain this program come from the registration of the snowmobiles. Out state snowmobiles have to be registered this year. The sticker will cost $5.00 and will be available from the Secretary of States Office or approved agents. Businesses interested in selling these permits can obtain information by calling a D.N.R. District Office.

Many smaller shallow lakes have a thin covering of ice at present but snowmobilers and fishermen should not attempt to travel on any lake until ice conditions become safe.

Many people were out last weekend on snowmobiles and cross country skis and conditions will improve with each new snowfall.

Presently fishing pressure is slow in all areas as fishermen wait for safe ice.

Beaver and Otter trapping season got underway December 10th and trappers are reminded that Beaver and Otter can be sealed at the District D.N.R. office between 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

The winter season is now underway and you should enjoy snowmobiles and respect private property and be cautious when traveling on any lake at anytime.

Discussion about flooding East Park for a centrally-located ice skating rink reminds us that there once was another rink in downtown Charlevoix. For several years, the school yard in the Grant-Mason-Clinton Street area was flooded for use by local Hans Brinkers. (Photo courtesy of Tinker Kirby)

Can apply for crop loans

The Farmers Home Administration is now accepting emergency loan applications, according to Duane L. Reid, the FmHA supervisor: Chaleoix, Emmet, and Cheboygan Counties were declared eligible for Farmers Home Administration disaster emergency loans.

Generally, that means that farmers who have lost at least 30 percent of their production due to the drought are eligible for FmHA loans. Proceeds from crop insurance and the PIK program are taken into account when determining eligibility. FmHA is urging farmers who are interested in receiving an emergency loan to get their applications into FmHA as soon as possible. Reid said, "They hope farmers will get their application in early rather than waiting until near the deadline which is May 29. 1984. The longer they wait, the more chance there is for long delays in getting their checks. If the applications come in early we can avoid backlogs and speed op the process."

There will be an information session to explain the loans, answer questions and hand out applications on December 21, at the Petoskey 4-H Building starting at 10:00 a.m.

The FmHA Office is located in Petoskey at 231 State Street. If you want to contact FmHA by phone call 347-4551.

No sledding this year on Grant St. hill

by DAVE KNIGHT

The one-block stretch of Grant St. between Newman St. and W. Hurlbut Ave., barricaded in winters past for use by Charlevoix youngsters as a sledding hill, will be kept open to regular traffic this year on an experimental basis.

Police Chief Jack Mol and Street Superintendent Leonard Dubey both told City Council members at their regular meeting Dec. 1 that they were willing to keep the hill open for vehicles over the winter, if conditions permit.

Dubey said the steep grade made it difficult to plow at times but that his department would attempt to keep the street driveable throughout the winter.

The suggestion to open the hill for vehicles was made by Second Ward council member James Block who said that the increased traffic related to the Pine River Place senior citizen housing project warranted the additional street access.

Block also said that use of the hill for sliding by local youngsters has diminished substantially in recent years, primarily because of the new sliding hill opened two years ago at the city's Mt. McSauba Recreation Area.

There was no opposition to the idea from other council members.

In other action, the council:

-Approved a $3 landing fee for all commercial, or charter, landings at the Charlevoix Airport.

-Authorized a $25 Christmas bonus for all full and part-time year-round city employees (seasonal employees not included), up from $10 bonuses last year. Forty-eight employees would be involved at a cost to the city of $1,200.

-Approved preliminary plans for a walk and stairway under the north side of the U.S. 31 drawbridge. The walkway would link the Bay Queen mooring area east of the bridge to the north pier of the Pine River Channel. Consulting Engineer George Granger's cost estimate for the project is $13,000. Council directed city staff to seek financial sponsorship of the project by the Downtown Development Authority (DDA).

-Reappointed John Hess and Henry Wagner to the City Recreation Commission.

Lions sold out

The Charlevoix Lions Club announced Monday that its 1983 Christmas Tree Sale has completely sold out.

Organizers said that the club's supply of 250 has been depleted and that no more new trees were available to the club.

The Lions expressed thanks to local customers and other supporters who were responsible for the successful sale.

Mr. Gilbert asked that his granddaughter and great granddaughter officially donate the Jaguar for him.

'Buy American' rule enforced following pressure from Medusa and others

by DAVE KNIGHT

A federal regulation that would have allowed the purchase of Canadian cement for state-funded highway projects in Michigan has been changed following strong opposition from the Medusa Cement Company in Charlevoix and three other firms that manufacture cement in the state.

According to U.S. Rep. Bob Davis's office, the Federal Highway Administration's (FHWA) regulations covering the "Buy American" provision of the Surface Transportation Act of 1982 is to be amended to prohibit the use of any foreign products in federally-funded highway projects unless such use would result in savings of at least 25 percent in a project's total cost.

In April, 1983, the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) sought a waiver from the FHWA's "Buy American" policy so that cement could be purchased from two Michigan firms that import clinker from Canada. Clinker, a stone-like material produced by firing limestone and shale in a kiln, is a neccessary ingredient to the manufacture of cement.

Aetna Cement Corporation of Essexville and Wyandotte Cement Company of Wyandotte, subsidiaries of Canadian companies, use Canadian-made clinker to produce finished cement. The two companies asked the MDOT to seek the waiver from the "Buy American" regulation claiming that without it, they could be forced out of business and that about 120 jobs in the two communities would be

Indoor pool committee studying other sites

As of Monday, at least seven sites were still under consideration by the Indoor Pool Study Committee, representatives of which appeared before the Charlevoix City Council that evening to explain their plans.

The committee made its first offical appearance before the school board one week previous. At that meeting, the indoor pool was proposed to be constructed on school property adjacent to the high school.

Since then, however, several additional sites have been offered for consideration, according to committee member Bruce MacArthur. The sites that have been offered range in size from one to three acres and some have been offered for the token fee of $1, said MacArthur.

While some of the sites that have been offered have already been roled out, MacArthur said that seven, including sites at the City Golf Course, on Division Ave. and near Pine River Place, are still being studied.

The Indoor Pool Study Committee, co-chaired by David Strawbridge and Dale Boss, has scheduled its next meeting for 7 p.m. Thursday, December 15, at the Village Inn Pizza restaurant in downtown Charlevoix.

Mettlers is overall winner of window decoration contest

Mettler's By The Bay was the overall winner of the traveling trophy in the Christmas Window Decorating contests sponsored by the Charlevoix Chamber of Commerce Jacquie Merta, executive director of the chamber, has announced.

After touring the community Friday night the judges made the following selections:

Hard goods: McLelland's Home Furnishings, first place; Williams Dockside Pharmacy, second place; Soft goods: Mettler's By The Bay, first place; Trademark, second place.

Hospital's needs deserve support

Charlevoixians have an impressive track record for supporting their hospital.

Primarily through the efforts of local citizens, the Charlevoix Area Hospital has grown to be an excellent health care facility as well as a well-deserved source of pride for the community.

It was just two years ago that the hospital dedicated a entire new wing and many new outpatient services made possible by a locally organized fund drive that raised hundreds of thousands of dollars.

It was exactly ten years ago that area residents contibuted $200,000 in a fund drive to add an Intensive Coronary Care Unit (ICCU) for critically ill patients.

This coming January, the hospital plans to upgrade the ten-year old ICCU with some sophisticated - and expensive - new equipment. Invasive monitoring apparatus, with which a catheter can place delicate sensors directly into a patient's heart, will permit the more intensive monitoring required for some critically ill patients. A telemetry system to be installed will allow the monitoring of patients' vital signs in areas of the hospital other than the ICCU. This will expand the ICCU's capacity and its capabilities and will provide more accurate data on patients' conditions.

The added equipment will cost a total of $50,000, a sum that the hospital's Board of Directors hope area residents will help raise through donations. Already, Julius Gilbert has provided the lead with his generous donation of a $10,000 Jaguar to be raffled off next summer. (See page 1.)

We hope all those who have supported the Charlevoix Area Hospital in past years will again respond to this request for help. For those wishing to include a tax-deductible gift on this year's return, the time to contribute is now.

Pool would promote water safety

To the Editor,

Regarding the article, "Indoor pool plans revealed to board", in last weeks Courier, I feel that one of the main potential benefits a pool would contribute to our community was overlooked. Besides the progressive community, and health fitness aspects, the need for proper water safety instruction is prevalent. Without this foundation, recreational programs at the proposed pool, and also at our beaches, becomes unsafe. If anyone has been at Ferry Avenue beach during a hot summer day, they can clearly see the youth in the community lack training in the proper behavior to be displayed on the beach. It is not only on the shoreline where there is a safety problem, but often teenagers and adults take their non-swimming friends out on a boat for a day of water-skiing and drinking. The city swimming program can only partially help, because the effectiveness of swimming lessons is greatly reduced when seventy percent of the time part of the lesson has to be given on land because the water is often too cold for the students to stay in for a half hour, or there has been rain for one solid week. The only place to learn to swim is in the water. The most effective way to create safe swimmer recreation at our lakes would be to implement mandatory classes through the school system prior to graduation. Is this unthinkable? In some communities this is already being done, because it helps to prepare students for something ninety-nine percent of them will be involved with in their lifetime - water recreation. A pool would also open other options such as baby swim classes where the water needs to be approximately ninety degrees, and also adult swim classes would be more appropriate in warmer temperatures. Thank-you!

Knight on the Town

The art of giving

by Dave Knight

Is Christmas shopping really such drudgery?

I think not.

Some grumpy types would have us believe that the act of searching for Christmas gifts is something to look forward to with dread and misery.

They see it as a drain on their bank account, a time-consuming waste of effort and nothing more.

Too bad.

It does not have to be that way.

The secret to enjoyable Christmas shopping is to concentrate on the person, or persons, for whom you are shopping. Friend, relative or spouse, if you keep thinking how delighted they will be with your gift, the price tag becomes all the more insignificant.

Giving is part of Christmas because of the love and fellowship it fosters among us. It is a charitable act in its purest state and if we remember this as we stroll the aisles, the part that comes at the cash register will be less painful.

One small warning: don't get blissed out completely.

I want to caution the young guys with girlfriends, especially. If the relationship is fairly sound, there is no need for the extravagance to which you are tempted.

The Christmas before I got married, I was looking in a music store for a present for my wife-to-be, a music teacher. I started at the kazoos but ended up with an autoharp.

There's a difference there of about eighty bucks. Looking back, I am pretty sure she still would have married me if I had bought her a kazoo. What's wrong with being happy and eighty bucks richer, too? (Sha- bought me socks that Christmas and didn't seem a bit guilty about it.)

Just keep in mind, guys, that if it takes an autoharp to win her heart, it'll probably take a Steinway piano to keep it.

Shop with your heart but don't let it get too far away from the kazoos.

Clockwise

We're into it now

by Bob Clock

SNOWBIRDS wintering in Florida, Texas, Arizona and points west certainly must be grateful they left early after Sunday's snow and freezing rain.

The roads, of course, were abominable Monday morning and it was little short of a miracle that traffic moved at all.

The kids had hoped for a "snow day," but the powers-that-be decided school should keep — and keep it did, at least in Charlevoix and Petoskey.

If we had had the rain without the snow, it probably would have been a different story, since the crusty snow offered a modicum of traction.

Probably the hardest part of getting out and about on such a morning is chipping the car out of its icy cocoon. I broke my scraper off at the handle and had to finish the job with my fingernails.

The nicest part of Sunday's storm is the grim realization that winter doesn't get much worse. From here on it, it should be all downhill.

LIKE MANY OTHERS in town, I have been following the proposal for an indoor swimming pool with mixed emotions.

There is nothing I would like better for my children (and myself) than an indoor pool. Pools are particularly important in such waterlogged communities as Charlevoix where kids spend so much of their time around lakes. It is vitally important that they learn to swim and swim well.

Of course, we have beaches, but the water is so cold most of the year it is difficult for kids to attain and retain a great deal of swimming proficiency.

I have little doubt that Charlevoix could raise the wherewithal to build a fairly decent swimming pool.

However, the operation and maintenance of a pool year after year could kill us financially.

I made a few phone calls when Petoskey was considering building a pool a few years ago, including one to Grand Traverse County. As you probably know, Grand Traverse maintains a beautiful pool at the civic center in Traverse City.

However, even that affluent community had trouble meeting its pool expenses until an angel in the guise of Chef Pierre stepped in with a handsome donation.

I am awfully afraid a pool in Charlevoix would also run afoul of financial problems unless we could line up an angel or two — in advance.

we are glad to do it," she says.

Patty Muma of Charlevoix is coordinator for the three-year-old Junior Deputy Program. This group of 14 boys and girls participates in many learning and service projects throughout the year. They have witnessed demonstrations on finger printing, cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, identifying child abuse, handling a tracking dog, Department of Natural Resources work, drug abuse, and burglary and theft prevention.

The Junior Deputies have taken field trips to District Court, the fire and ambulance departments, the jail, the Air Force station, the water treatment plant, and learned about the security system at Brumm's Studio. They have met once a month in the Sheriff's Department to hear speakers like Judge Harvey C. Varnum, Dr. W. E. Mosher, and a representative of the Department of Natural Resources.

Next Saturday, in the spirit of community service, the Junior Deputies will deliver fruit baskets for the Women's Club to a list of elderly persons who live alone. In the next few months, they will assist with Operation Identification at Pine River Place, help with the Neighborhood Watch Program, make checks and inspections for the Neighborhood Security Program, and hand out crime prevention booklets, among other things.

Patty Muma brought the Junior Deputy Program with her from her home town of Lenoir, North Carolina, where a similar program has operated successfully for many years. She volunteered to set up the program for Charlevoix County and is enthusiastically coordinating it.

"Our aim is to build better leadership among young people", Patty told us, "and to catch decay before it starts. A sort of preventive medicine."

And in the process she is not only volunteering her time and talents to the Sheriff's Department but training a whole new generation of volunteers.

Telecourse on China

George Colburn, NVC director of operations.

The finished product will be offered to small colleges and universities throughout the nation.

Colburn, formerly owner-publisher of Boyne City's Charlevoix County Press, owns a home on Walloon Lake.

From 1974 until 1982 he headed the University of California's national media education division, located on the San Diego campus in La Jolla, which included "Courses by Newspaper," which annually involved hundreds of newspapers, coollweges and universities.

NVC grew from an association between Colburn and British TV producer — director David Kennard on two major international documentary series "Connections" and Carl Sagan's "Cosmos". Kennard is NVC's director of television production.

One of the four producers of "The Heart of the Dragon", Alisdair Clayre, flew from London to participate in the session. Clayre, who spent two months in China, working with film crews, is also series editor and author of the accompanying book, "The Heart of the Dragon", in which he enlisted the assistance of the world's leading Sinologists.

At the outset, Colburn explained that he organized the session here because he felt more could be accomplished in a beautiful setting, free from metropolitain distraction. At the end, both he and Clayre said the meeting had been highly productive. Colburn added, he would plan similar meetings here in the future.

Weddings

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Muma

Alden-Muma

Kristin Alden and Robert Muma were married Saturday afternoon, November 12, at the Church of the Nazarene in Charlevoix.

The bride is the daughter of Swanee Lee Alden of Charlevoix, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Muma, also of Charlevoix.

The Reverend James M. Raum officiated at the double-ring ceremony witnessed by relatives and close friends.

The altar was decorated with pink carnations for the occasion and Ann Fiedler provided organ music.

Given in marriage by Ralph M. Cross, Jr., the bride wore a cranberry color flower-sprigged silk dress and carried long-stemmed pink roses. Dawn Peterson, as her maid of honor, also carried a bouquet of pink roses.

John Perron served as best man.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

The newlyweds, who are both students, are at home in Charlevoix following a wedding trip to Iowa.

PWC gets down to business after kickoff meeting

by DAVE KNIGHT

Fresh on the heels of a successful kick-off meeting held November 21 at the Charlevoix Public Library, the newly formed Parents Who Care (PWC) organization has begun follwing up with the establishment of individual committees.

Substance abuse prevention specialist Robert Sell of the Chip Counseling Center was the keynote speaker at the meeting which was called by a group of local parents concerned about alcohol and drug abuse among young people in Charlevoix.

About 120 Charlevoix area parents turned out for the Nov. 21 meeting, a crowd that far surpassed the expectations of PWC organizers.

Dr. John Hall of Charlevoix, one of the organizers, was encouraged not only by the fact that 120 parents attended the meeting, but that over 100 of them signed up to work on the committee level.

The formation of a parent group concerned with youth substance abuse in Charlevoix follows the recent organiztion of similar parent groups in Petoskey and Cheboygan.

Hall said that those parents who have expressed willingness to participate in the local PWC group are now being subdivided into five committees, each to address one phase of the PWC goals.

Among those committees are a communication committee to promote the sharing of information between local parents, a publicity and education committee to promote the group's aims within the general public, a liaison committee to develop a working relationship with the various agencies in the community that are equipped to deal with substance abuse problems, a parent support group to offer support to those parents who think they may have a problem and a student activites committee to encourage local students to develop activities among themselves as alternatives to drinking and drug use.

Anyone who would like to become involved with PWC or who would like more information on the organization is invited to write to Parents Who Care, P.O. Box 52, Charlevoix, MI 49720.

Announcements of future PWC meetings will appear in the Courier when they are scheduled.

Collection of plates featured at Public Library

The Charlevoix Public Library is showing a collection of fine China plates during December.

Loaned by the Lenox Company of Lawrenceville, New Jersey, the collection includes two presidential plates, the Roosevelt dinner plate used by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and the Truman dinner plate used by Presidents Harry S. Truman, Dwight Eisenhower, and John F. Kennedy. The same China is still occasionally used by President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan.

Also in the collection is a display of plates showing the progressive stages of making and finishing fine China, and a 1979 Olympic plate used for celebration by the Gold Medal winners.

The plates may be seen during regular library hours: 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday; 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday; 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Friday; and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Further information may be obtained from the library at 547-2651.

Engagements

Mary E. Horton and Daniel A. Farrell

Horton-Farrell

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Horton of Charlevoix announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Daniel Allen Farrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Farrell of Grand Rapids.

The bride-to-be is a 1980 graduate of Charlevoix High School and a senior at Aquinas College. Following graduation next May she plans to attend law school. Her fiance is a 1979 graduate of Ottawa Hills High School in Grand Rapids, 1983 graduate of Aquinas College, and is now a student at Wayne State University School of Medicine.

The wedding will take place next August 3 at St. Paul the Apostle Roman Catholic Church in Grand Rapids.

Over $100 in gifts donated by V.F.W.

The Auxiliary of Charlevoix Post No. 1153, Veterans of Foreign Wars, donated numerous personal items, knitted items and lap robes for hospitalized veterans at the State Hospital at Traverse City it was announced at a recent meeting of the Auxiliary held at the post home. Mrs. Kenneth Staley, chairman of the project, said the gifts were valued at more than $100. They have been forwarded to the hospital for distribution at holiday time.

At the same meeting, Mrs. Ivan Phillips, Voice of Democracy essay chairperson, said that Laurie Finck, Charlevoix High School student, had been named the winner of the Voice of Democracy essay contest sponsored by the V.F.W. post and auxiliary. Her topic was "My Role in Upholding the Contitution". She was awarded a $50 U.S. Savings Bond. Her winning entry will be eligible for the state contest.

All but four present members have renewed their memberships for 1984 Mrs. Melvin Plum, membership chairperson, announced at the meeting. She asked that everyone renew their memberships prior to Jan. 1.

Plans for the annual Christmas party held at the V.F.W. post home Sunday were completed at the meeting. Mrs. Larry Finck chaired the meeting. Assisting with the dinner and the decorations were Mrs. John Curtis, Mrs. Angela Borths, Mrs. Clarence Goldstick and Mrs. Staley.

Mrs. Jack Warner will deliver poinsettia plants to shut-ins prior to the holiday.

Because of the inclement weather, the membership voted to meet at the homes of members during the winter months. The auxiliary meets on the first and third Thursdays of the Month. Mrs. Goldstick will host the Jan. 5 meeting. All meetings will be held at 8 p.m. Persons to assist with refreshments were also named to assist the hostesses. Mrs. Plum and Mrs. John Gilding will assist at the January meetings.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Donald White and Mrs. Ted Brown Sr.

The V.F.W. meets at the post home the second and fourth Tuesdays of the months. Eligible veterans are encouraged to attend the meetings and join the local unit.

The Dec. 11 Christmas party will replace the Dec. 15 social meeting.

Taylor 23rd at San Diego

Bill Taylor, Charlevoix high school senior, finished 23rd in a time of 15:46.9 in the Kinney Shoe National Cross Country championship race in San Diego Saturday.

He was a member of the Midwest Regional team which finished second behind the West Regional team which placed first in the four-team competition which involved 34 runners.

The winning time was 14:54.1 set by Matt Guisto of the West team. The west team finished 1-2-3 in the meet with the Midwest regional team finishing 4-5-6-8 and 16 Coach Pete Spieles said.

Both Spieles and Taylor described the race as "grueling" and "tough".

To give you an idea of the calibre of the runner, Spieles said, the first of the 34 runner covered the first mile in 4:33 with the last runner passing through the mile gate in 4:37.

Neither Spieles or Taylor felt he did as well as he could Spieles said. The itenerary planned for team members disrupted Taylor's normal preparation for the race Spieles said. This had bearing on his performance, he added.

"It was an unbelievable experience. He learned a lot" Spieles said of the race.

Taylor, who was stranded in Grand Rapids when his plane was grounded because of freezing rain, was not available for comment.

Coach Spieles, and Mrs. Spieles who had made the trip from Charlevoix to Chicago by car with Taylor's parents, the Doug Bergmanns, returned home at 1 a.m. Monday.

Brent Cole goes in for a lay-up against Boyne City.

Rayders post win against Ramblers

Two Michigan-Huron Shores Conference wins last week boosted the promising Charlevoix Rayder basketball squad to a 3-0 overall record.

On Tuesday, the Rayders crossed the Straits to deliver a 66-52 defeat to the St. Ignace Saints and on Friday, the Boyne City Ramblers fell victim in the Charlevoix home opener by a decisive 62-39 margin.

Both games revealed the young Rayder squad as a "second half team"; though the scores do not indicate either game as being very close, Charlevoix needed strong surges in the closing halves of both to pull out the wins.

At St. Ignace Tuesday, Charlevoix held an 18-13 advantage at the close of the first quarter but managed only eight points in the second quarter which allowed the Saints to climb back into it with a 26-26 tie at halftime.

Even at the end of three quarters, it was 42-40, Rayders. A 24-point performance in the final quarter, however, put the game away and Charlevoix came out with the 66-52 victory. For the Rayders, Doug Sloan had 18, Tim LaBlance had 16, Brent Cole 15 and Jim Martin 10.

Boyne City never quite recovered from a first quarter that ended with them down 18-6, but the Ramblers made a 22-point run at Charlevoix in the second quarter bringing them within six, 28-22, by halftime in Friday night's game.

By the end of the third quarter, however, it was all over following a 12-point explosion by Cole and a stiff defensive press that held the Ramblers to six points. The Rayders went on to cruise to the 62-39 win with Cole's 20 total points leading all scorers. Also for Charlevoix, Sloan had 17 and LaBlance 15.

This week's action sees Charlevoix traveling to Petoskey for a conference match-up with the struggling Northmen (0-3) Friday night.

Jeff Drenth leads the pack in a race earlier this season.

Drenth closes spectacular CC career at Central

When you look at the accomplishments of Central Michigan University's Jeff Drenth of Charlevoix, you would wonder if there is anything left in college cross country or track for him to conquer.

The senior standout from Charlevoix High School holds the Mid-American Conference (MAC) 10,000-meter cross country course record of 30:14.49, as well as the school track record in the 10,000-meter run.

Drenth won the MAC Invitational individual cross country crown in his junior year and the MAC title this year. He was also named All-American after his 31st place finish at the NCAA cross country championships a year ago. A tragic fall kept that honor away from him at nationals this year.

Jeff won the Notre Dame Invitational this year and was the first Chippewa to cross the finish line in dual meets with Toledo and Western Michigan University. He also finished fifth at the Central Collegiate Conference meet and ninth at the NCAA District IV meet.

Men's head cross country and track coach Don Sazima says Jeff is the best leader he has ever coached. "Jeff has been an inspiration to everyone on the team. He has the personality, performance and leadership of an All-American;" said Sazima.

Jeff's track accomplishments include being a member of last year's World University Games team. At the Games, he finished eighth in the 5,000-meter run. There were 96 teams competing there. He also won the 5,000-meter crown at the Drake Relays and qualified for the NCAA national championships in the indoor two-mile and 5,000-meter runs.

Sazima commented that Jeff is expected to try out for the 1984 Olympic team. "He should be able to make the Olympic trails in the 5,000 and 10,000 runs."

Central's cross country and track teams will miss the services of Drenth next year. Sazima said that Jeff created a prototype by which young athletes should function. "He has given a direction for future leaders, and he has been a good example for our young athletes to follow," Sazima said.

Townhouse is sole leader in adult league basketball

The Townhouse defeated Judy's Restaurant 62-56 to break the tie for first place in the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department.

In other games played during the week, First State Bank won over Wojan Aluminum 65-48; County State Bank downed Air Force 44-30 and Kit Carson edges Erber-McKeown Ford 61-56.

Prior to Monday's games, Judy's and Kit Carson were tied for second place with 4-1 records; First State Bank had a 3-2 record; County State Bank and Erber-McKeown, 2-3 records; Wojan's and Air Force, 0-5 records.

In the play-off for the league lead, Townhouse moved into an 18-14 first period lead, went ahead by 10 points, 32-22 at halftime but trailed 41-38 going into the final period when they outscored Judy's 24-15 for the victory.

Clint Berlage with 22 points, Steve Dunkelberg with 19 and Chris Putman with 13 led the scoring. Randy Holecheck had 15, Dave Swanson 14 and Jim Elzinga 11 for Judy's.

Tim Arner with 14 points, Brian Farrell with 13 and Ralph Doan with 10 points led First State Bank to victory, heading Wojan Aluminum 14-7, 25-22 and 43-34 by quarters. Bernie DeVries had 11 for Wojan's.

In a slow moving game County State Bank was in control all the way, topping Air Force 10-6, 28-8 and 36-16 by quarters. Rob Hilton and Steve Martinus had eight points each for the Bank. Brian Stewart with 17 and Mike Runyon with 10 were top scorers for the Air Force.

Erber-McKeown Ford jumped to a 20-15 lead over Kit Carson but were unable to hold it as Carson's took over 36-29 at halftime and 49-40 going into the final period when their victory margin was trimmed to five points. Vince Left had 19 points and Butch Klooster and Dave Storm 11 each for the victors. Tony Starr scored 17 and Jim Parrish 15 for Ford.

Wojan Aluminum will play Erber McKeown at 6:30 p.m. and the Air Force will play Kit Carson at 7:45 on Wednesday Dec. 14. The games scheduled for Monday Dec. 19 have been set back to Jan. 12.

Rayders are sixth out of seven at Roscommon Inv.

With entries in only six weight classes in the Roscommon Invitational Tournament Saturday, Charlevoix placed sixth in the seven team meet won by the tournament host, Roscommon.

Other teams entered were Gaylord, Michigan Lutheran Seminary, Boyne City, Glen Lake, Clare and Manistee Catholic.

Rick Gallant (138) and Jeff Mervyn, heavyweight, placed second and Shawn Hartnett (145) and Matt Hull (155) came in fourth. John Grey (132) and Bill Marquardt (198) also participated.

Gallant pinned Bill Couture (Gaylord) in 5:20 and decisioned Dave Rappuha (MLS) before losing by a 6-4 decision to Greg Settles (Glen Lake).

Mervyn lost in the finals to Dave Sutton of Boyne City.

Hartnett lost to Bill Kerr (Gaylord) by a 5-4 decision and decisioned Mark Warner (Mich. Lutheran Seminary) 10-4 before being pinned by Charlie Roose (Roscommon) in 4:54.

Hull lost to Rob Koren (Mich. Lutheran Seminary) by a pin in 1:55 and decisioned Greg Schrieber (Roscommon) before losing by a 9-2 decision to Scott Kleinsarge (Gaylord).

Grey lost twice and Bill Marquardt was pinned by Dave Peffers (Gaylord) in :26 and by Jim Witkowski (Manistee Catholic) in 2:58.

Charlevoix will be at Gaylord with Rogers City at 5:30 p.m. Thursday and at the St. Ignace Invitational Tournament Saturday.

Matmen split with St. Francis, Soo

The Charlevoix Rayder wrestlers split with Traverse City St. Francis and the Soo at a meet held here Thursday.

The Rayders won over St. Francis 48-24 and lost to the Soo by a score of 33-22.

Charlevoix will be at Gaylord with Rogera City on Thursday and at the St. Ignace Invitational on Saturday.

In the dual meet with St. Francis Jim Kenney won by forfeit in the 126 pound class; Dan Kelly (132) pinned Dan Hodge in :40; Rick Gallant (138) pinned Matt Ludka in :39; Shawn Harnett (145) pinned Tony Sandinerski in 1:34; Matt Hull (155) pinned Jack Rossi in 4:20; A.J. Witthoeft (167) pinned Quint Taylor in 3:49.

Charlevoix lost by forfeit in the 98, 105, and 112 pound classes, and won by forfeit in the 198 and heavyweight classes.

In the meet with the Soo, Kenny lost by a pin in 3:55 to Mike Brady; Kelly lost by a 16-10 decision to Jerry LaJoie; Gallant chalked up a 7-0 record for the season when he pinned Eric Pulliry in 3:07; Harnett won by a 13-4 decision over E.J. Maki; Hull lost by a pin in 1:49 to Ken Dale; Witthoeft lost to Ken LeJoie by default when he was injured; Jeff Mervy (heavyweight) had an impressive win over Ted Brost when he pinned him in :32.

Charlevoix lost by forfeit in the 98 and 105 weight classes and Bill Marquart (198) won by forfeit.

Santa heralds holiday season

Santa Claus made his tradionally flashy Chirstmas debut in Charlevoix Saturday riding into town on the back of a Charlevoix Fire Department pumper. Dozens of local youngsters met Santa and received treats from the gracious old man. Charlevoix high school Student Council members, including, below left, Tim Norot atop Bob Waun's shoulders, helped trim the new city Christmas tree in preparation for Santa's arrival and a group of Charlevoix Elementary School students sang carols directed by Marina LaBlance, below.

Doll auction to benefit Chx. County Hospice

Charlevoix County Hospice will benefit from a silent auction of some 20 exquisitely dressed dolls, at Northwestern State Bank in East Jordan, from now until December 20.

The proceeds from the auction of the dolls will be matched by the bank, according to bank president Charles McDowell, with all the funds going to Charlevoix County Hospice.

The dolls were purchased by Northwestern State Bank. Members of the Charlevoix County Senior Citizen Center in East Jordan designed and hand sewed the clothing for each doll. Each doll is distinctive and wonderful Christmas gifts.

The dolls are now on display in the bank lobby in East Jordan. Boxes for the bids are in the lobby. Each doll is numbered. Bids are to be placed on a piece of paper with the doll's number, the amount of the bid and the name, address and telephone of the bidder. All bids must be received by December 20.

Charlevoix County Hospice, which was organized two years ago, works with terminally ill persons and their families, assisting them through a coordinated program using professionals and volunteers. The goal of Charlevoix County Hospice is to enable people with a terminal illness to chose to die at home.

A non-profit organization, Charlevoix County Hospice is supported by donations from individuals and organizations. Currently operating with a minimal budget, Charlevoix County Hospice will begin raising funds, in early 1984, to allow it to expand its services to people of Charlevoix County. All donations to Charlevoix County Hospice are tax deductible.

For further information about Charlevoix County Hospice call 536-2842.

Twenty exquisitely dressed dolls are to be sold at silent auction from now until December 20th at Northwestern State Bank in East Jordan, with all proceeds going to Charlevoix County Hospice. Pictures here holding some of the dolls, whose dresses were designed and sewn by members of the Charlevoix County Senior Citizens Center, are (l to r) Dorothy Pelton, Director of the Senior Citizen Center, Carol McTaggart, President of Charlevoix County Hospice, Charles McDowell, president of Northwestern State Bank, and Ruth McDonald, Assistant Vice President of the bank.

Obituaries

ANDREW C. HANSEN, JR.

Funeral services for a former resident, Andrew C. Hansen, Jr., 68, who died Dec. 5 in Palatine, Ill., were held Saturday at the Winchester Funeral Home. The Rev. David W. Yingling of the United Methodist Church officiated. Interment was in Brookside Cemetery.

Born at Sault Ste. Marie Nov. 13, 1915, Mr. Hansen came to Charlevoix as a child and was graduated from the Charlevoix Schools and Michigan Technicalogical University as a chemical engineer. During World War II he served as a First Lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force. He was employed as a chemical engineer in the petroleum industry in Chicago, London, England for 10 years and at Palatine, Ill., for the past 20 years. He was a member of the United Church.

He is survived by his wife, the former June M. Bryant whom he married in Australia in 1953; two sons, Andrew and Peter both of Palatine, Ill.; six daughters, Mrs. Laura Rabb, Mrs. Martha Hulseberg, Sonia, Teresa and Christine of Palatine, Ill., and Mrs. Mary Jean Christy of Munster, Ind.; four grandchildren; two brothers, William and Edward P. of Charlevoix and two sisters, Mrs. Marie Roach of Ithaca and Mrs. Esther Carey of Charlevoix.

A service was held at the Ahlgrim & Sons Funeral Home in Palatine Thursday.

MARGARET W. McDONOUGH

Funeral services for a former Beaver Island resident, Mrs. Margaret (Meg) Works McDonough, 25, who died Dec. 6 at San Antonio, Tex., were held Sunday at the Beaver Island Christian Church. Phillip Gregg of St. James officiated. Interment was in the St. James Township Cemetery.

Born in Chicago Dec. 10, 1957, the former Margaret Works had spent several years recently at St. James where she was employed at the Beaver Island Medical Center. On Feb. 22, 1983 she was married to Kenneth McDonough at San Antonio, Tex.

Surviving are her husband, Kenneth of St. James; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Works of Akron, Ohio, and St. James; two brothers, John and James and a sister, Mrs. Hugh (Gabriel) Cole, all of St. James.

The family suggests memorials to the Beaver Island Medical Center.

IRENE E. WILLIAMS

Funeral services for a former resident, Mrs. Irene E. Williams, 72, who died Dec. 11 at a Lansing hospital, were held Tuesday at the Estes-Leadley Funeral Home in Lansing. Interment will be in the Brookside cemetery at Charlevoix Wednesday.

Born in Charlevoix, Aug. 15, 1911, the former Irene E. Bogart was graduated from the Charlevoix High School in 1929 and later took nurses' training at the former Petoskey Hospital. She was employed in local doctors' offices in Charlevoix until going to Lansing in late 1930's. She was married to Otis Williams who preceded her in death.

She is survived by a son, Warren J. Shadko of Memphis, Tenn.; four grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. Marguerite Williams and a brother, James Bogart, both of Charlevoix.

Wordsmith Chuck Duerr doubles as Courier's "Amos"

By SARA GAY DAMMANN

Words, esoteric places and obscure people delight Charles Duerr.

His avocation, which included lengthy Christmas poems and double acrostic puzzles, before his retirement, is now almost a full time job. People who share his "strange addiction" to words and word games, are delighted he has published 13 volumes of double acrostic puzzles (Dur-Acrostics), has been discovered by national game magazines, and is regularly submitting two mini-columns to the Courier, well as continuing with his traditional Christmas poem.

At Christmas, Duerr leaves his desk of letter tiles, dictionaries, books of quotations and biographical dictionaries, to indulge his family and friends with his annual Christmas poem — the hand-to-hand circulation of which must double the 150 he mails.

This year's poem, opened with a message:

"But this Christmastide if different, and our thoughts today embrace

"The folks of many another land...and color...and faith...and race,

"For now, as never before, we see that the question is simply whether

"We live in peace or die in war — but we're all going to do it together."

Then he departed, with outlandish rhyme, for far-flung ports:

"May Santa shower gifts on Guam...Osaka...and Bostwana —

"And Novosibirsk ... and Nottingham ... and Dacca, Prague and Ghana.

"May skies be blue in Katmandu, and sunny in Curacao —

"And Marrakech...and Uttar Pradesh...and Mecca and Mindanao."

With gay abandon, Duerr circled the world with impossible rhymes and peculiar pairings of: "Kawjalein" and "El Alamein"; "Silesia" and "Zambesia"; "Rangoon" and "Saskatoon".

Toward the end of the 51 line epic he returned to his serious point.

"May strife be banished forevermore from Senegal and the Sudan;

And in every house by the side of the road may there live a friend to man."

But it is the demand for double acrostics that keeps him at his desk, throughout the year.

Double acrostics are complicated puzzles, designed for the few who find straight old fashioned crossword puzzles too boring, easy or simple minded. Invented by Elizabeth Kingsley, a crossword puzzle competitor, in 1934, they were called "Kingsley Double-Crostics", when first published in the Saturday Review of Literature. They dealt only with classical literary subjects.

Today acrostics tend to focus on literature, history and famous quotes. The main requirement is they be interesting and unusual. Duerr's must be both judging from his fan mail and publishers.

Acrostics involve solving a clue, frequently misleading, usually with a double meaning. The answer to the clue provides the letters to fill in the crossword puzzle type square to form the quotation. The name of the author is formed by the first letters in the answers to the clues.

An engineer by training, Duerr retired in 1977 as Northern Michigan coordinator for Michigan United Fund. He says he always enjoyed "playing" with words.

He began with a 1953 Christmas carol, in which he wrote four line verses for each member of the family.

His first professional work, when he retired, was a series of Will Roger's type commentaries he signed "Amos" for a newspaper chain. Now "Amos" (a nickname given him by his youngest daughter) and another mini-column; "Quote...Unquote" are published by the Charlevoix Courier.

A typical "Amos..." might read:

"After the touchdown
Such falderal
By the Silly clown
Who 'spikes the ball.'"

And:

"Liz Taylor's only
On number 8 –
How long is she gonna'
Make me wait?"

"Quote...Unquote", contrasts current news headlines, with a pointed appropriate quotation, sometimes finding finds a reader's sore point as he did with a recent COURIER "Quote ... Unquote:"

He quoted a recent newspaper headline:

"Amway admits cheating on Canadian customs duties."

The quote read:

"'There is much cant in American moralism and not a little inconsistency.' James William Fullbright, Senate Speech, 1964.

A week later, an angry letter to the editor berated Duerr for endangering a distributor's reputation and income. It ran for two full columns, about 100 times longer than the original published three lines.

But Amos and the "Quote" column are secondary to working on double acrostics with reference books, letter tiles and unusual sense of humor. A puzzler may find in solving the puzzles of one Duerr's 13 volumes, quotes from such writers as Washington Irving and Thomas Hardy, Presidents Nixon and Eisenhower, Diplomat George Kennan, Historian Samuel Eliot Morison, and philosopher Jiddu Krishnamurti.

The clues will tax what Duerr call the "clutter in the attic of your mind."

He works with a northern Michigan printer to publish his own volumes of Dur-Acrostics, which he sells by mail for $3.75. Other publishers of his double-crostics include The Four Star Puzzler, a former Playboy publication, Consumer Guide's Double Crostics book, and Champion Variety Puzzles. Crown Publishing group compiled his first four volumes into one book to be published by Harmony books.

His fans write they are thrilled with his esoteric quotes and his feeding of their addiction:

"You sir, are Good! I've been a crostic addict for many years, getting desperate at times for food to feed my habit..." (Mrs. J.M.B., Glouster, Virginia);

"I am hooked on Double Crostics..." (Mrs. D.W.L., Kalamazoo); and "Keep them coming — yours are the best acrostics I've found." (Mrs. J.F.K., West Bloomfield, MI.)

As he looks at the accumulated pile of tiles on the desk, Duerr says, I must not forget to save a "U" to go with that "Q" or I'll be stuck later. "Sure, I am one of those strange addicts, too."

The waiver was granted by the FHWA on June 1, 1983.

Medusa and the three other cement companies in Michigan who produce their own clinker objected to the waiver, however, saying that the production of clinker comprises the greatest cost in making finished cement and that a much greater loss of jobs would result if the two Canadian subsidiaries were allowed to import clinker.

Joining Medusa in the opposition to the waiver were Huron Cement Company in Alpena, Peerless Cement Company in Detroit and Dundee Cement Company in Dundee. Together, the four firms have 1,440 employees.

Medusa has the capacity of producing up to 1.3 million tons of cement annually, 10 to 15 percent of which is for highway work.

Norman O'Neil, Director of Marketing Services for the Medusa company in Cleveland, said that he saw the action by the FHWA as having a positive impact upon Medusa's ability to compete in the cement market for highway projects.

School musicians set Christmas Concert

The Instrumental Music Department of the Charlevoix Schools will present its Christmas gift to the residents of the Charlevoix School District on Wednesday, Dec. 21, in the form of a Christmas Concert featuring the Charlevoix Middle School Seventh and Eighth Grade Bands and the Charlevoix High School Symphonic Band. All three will appear under the direction of Terry Isenbarger.

The Seventh Grade Band, making its first public appearance, will be heard playing "Home for Christmas", "A New Twist to Jingle Bells" and "Silver Bells" among other selections.

"I Hear the Bells on Christmas Day", "He is Born" and "Symphonette for Band" plus several traditional band numbers will be played by the Eighth Grade Band.

In addition to several band selections, the Symphonic Band will present the march, "Zia, Zia", "The Parade of the Tall Ships", Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" and the seasonal selection, "The Celebration of Christmas".

The concert will be presented at 8 p.m. at the high school gymnasium.

For Saints and Sinners

by Pastor Jim Plackner
Bethany Lutheran Church

Is there anyone who couldn't use a shot of patience? You? If not you, do you know someone who could? So do they!

Someone has written what is commonly known as The Advent Prayer: "Oh, Lord, give me patience — and hurry up!"

A man was walking thru a supermarket with a screaming baby in the shopping cart. A woman nearby noticed that time and again the man would calmly say, "Keep calm, Robert. Keep calm, Robert". In admiration for the dad's patience as the child kept it up and kept it up, she walked up to the man and said, "Sir, I must commend you for your patience with baby Robert." To which the man replied, "Madam, I am Robert."

Well, we're not all as patient as Robert. How do you go about getting a little (alot?) more patience?

"Be patient until the coming of the Lord" (James 5:7). If you knew beyond a doubt that God loved you — and because of that love He is with you right now, taking care of you right now, doing good for you right now, working His will in your life right now, then you'd have no trouble being patient. Impatience comes from thinking (wrongly) that you're alone as you face the world, that God is not dependable, that He doesn't care.

That's the importance of James 5:7, then. Jesus is coming and He is coming to you. To bring you all the promises of God fulfilled, in the original sense of the word: filled full. Jesus is coming: at Christmas — at the end of the world — and on all the days between those sure comings. That is God's promise to you, and God always keeps His promises. To you. You are God's and God is yours. His Son is the sign that this is so.

So-relax. Be patient. Jesus is coming. To you. For you. For sure! Keep calm, Christian!

CRECHES OF EVERY SHAPE AND STYLE were brought together last week for a special display by the members of the First Congregational Church Womens Fellowship. Many of the creches represented precious family collections such as the one above belonging to the Cliff Biddick, Sr. family. The figures were carved from balsa wood and stained by Mary Biddick's cousin; the metal and jewels came from Biddick's boat modeling shop.

Mrs. Ivan Witthoeft displayed this creche that she purchased in 1963. Mrs. Witthoeft made the large pairs of shepherds and angels herself from papier mache.

Mrs. Carol Dutcher's contribution to the creche display was a set purchased piece by piece over the 35 years her family was growing.

To present 'Christmas Around the World' at Grade School

"Christmas Around the World" will be the theme of the program to be presented at the Charlevoix Elementary School at 2 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 21, under the direction of Marina LaBlance.

The "Lost Chords", a choral group composed of third, fourth and fifth grade students dressed in costumes of other lands, will take their fellow students on a travelogue of "Jingle Bells"; Vincent Chew of the faculty will sing a traditional Christmas song in keeping with the season; the members of the faculty will present a parody for the entertainment of the students and the student body will conclude the program with the singing of traditional Christmas carols.

The spirit of Christmas will reign throughout the school all week as carol groups carol and classes present various entertainment for the benefit of fellow students.

The Lost Chords will carol at the Charlevoix Area Hospital and along Bridge Street during the holidays Mrs. LaBlance said. They and other children participated in the lighting of the living Christmas tree in East Park and the visit from Santa Claus last Saturday.

Because of the limited seating space, the program will not be open to the public. However, visitors will be welcome if they come.

High School plans Christmas dance

The Charlevoix High School students will launch the Christmas season with their annual Christmas Dance at the Elementary School Gymnasium from 9:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. Saturday.

Sponsored by the Student Council, the gymnasium will be decorated in a holiday motif for the semi-formal dance.

Music for dancing will be by a KHQ disc jockey. There will also be refreshments.

Dan Buday as president and Amy Sell as vice president head the Student Council, sponsors of the event. Gayle Gennett is the faculty advisor.

Village Car Care plays Santa Claus

Village Car Care got into the Christmas spirit last week with three community service donations. Clockwise from right, dealer Mike Carland presents a child car seat to Charlevoix County Sheriff George Lasater for loan to the public; below right, Carland presented a series of film strips on drugs, drinking and driving on behalf of the Dealers' Safety Council to Charlevoix High School driver education instructor James Jensen and, below, on behalf of the Chrysler Corp., Jim Keller presents C.H.S. auto mechanics instructor Richard McLenon with a brand new transverse Chrysler engine for classroom use.

American Legion plans Christmas party

Plans for the annual Christmas party for members of the Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, its Auxiliary, their respective families and other veterans and their families were made at the recent meeting of the Auxiliary held at the post home. The meeting followed the joint potluck supper held with post members.

The event will be held at the post home at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 18. Those attending are asked to bring a dish to pass and their own table service. Santa will be at the party with gifts for the children. Anyone bringing a child under 12 years of age is asked to contact Mrs. Louis McKenzie or Mrs. Ray Wood prior to Dec. 15. At the same time there will be a kitchen shower for the kitchen at the Legion Hall. Members are asked to bring pot holders for use in the kitchen.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Wood announced that prospective donors were being contacted in an effort to send as many as 12 or 15 Charlevoix High School junior girls to the annual Girls State at Central Michigan University in June. Anyone wishing to help sponsor a girl is asked to contact Mrs. Wood. Several donors and others who will help finance a girl have been received Mrs. Wood said.

Mrs. Wood also reported that 100 fruit baskets were made and delivered to patients at Grandvue Medical Care Facility and to shut-in members. Assisting were Mrs. McKenzie, Mrs. George Lochner, Mrs. William Farkas, Mrs. Lester Smith, Mrs. Josephine Bindi and Mrs. Gertrude Holt.

Members were reminded of the District meeting to be held in Ellsworth Saturday, Dec. 10.

Members were also reminded to pay their 1984 dues. They may be paid to Mrs. Clarence Goldstick, membership chairperson, or to any member.

A gift exchange was held at the close of the business session.

'Messiah' is area-wide effort

A community effort has now made the production of Handel's "Messiah" a reality this Christmas season. With the help of the Northern Michigan Chorale and Petoskey's United Methodist Church, Crooked Tree Arts Council announces two performances of this beloved oratorio, at 7 p.m. on Saturday, December 17, and at 4 p.m. on Sunday, December 18. Admission is $5.00 for adults and $2.50 for students and senior citizens.

Featured will be Gig Stewart as conductor, a chorus of over 80 persons from Emmet and Charlevoix counties, and an orchestra of 40 musicians. Sean Ley will play the organ, and Cheryl McGinnis, the harpsichord. Soloists will be Mary Stewart Keisgen, Cora Enman and Jeffrey Foote, all members of the Faculty of Central Michigan University's Music Department, and Peter Hopkins, tenor from Traverse City.

Musicians from Charlevoix performing in the Messiah include trombonists Andre Fiedler, Peter Plagge and Frank North, and violinist, Julie Zinn.

Gig Stewart has conducted performances of the Messiah many times in the past in Petoskey, and is currently the director of the choir at the Congregational Church in Petoskey. He graduated from the University of Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music, and played double bass with the Cincinnati Symphony. He studied conducting with renowned conductor, Thor Johnson, and served as orchestral director for the Young Americans for several years. He is a member of the popular Epsilon Jass Band.

Sean Ley, the organist, received his Master's Degree in Organ from the Eastman School of Music, and is currently serving as organist at the Emmanuel Episcopal Church in Petoskey. When in high school, he already was organist at a Catholic Church in Winnetka, Illinois. Recently he gave a concert at St. Mary's Cathedral in Gaylord, and is presenting a noon concert at St. Francis in Petoskey on Wednesday, December 14.

Cheryl McGinnis, harpsichord soloist, is director of vocal music and choirs at Petoskey high School. She has just finished, with her Madrigal singers, 2 successful Madrigal Dinner productions. She often accompanies theatre and choral groups on the piano, and has just finished directing the Little Traverse Civic Theatre Musical, "Stop the World - I Want to Get Off".

Peter Hopkins, the tenor soloist, is currently a Vocal Music Specialist in the Traverse City Public Schools and Director of Music at the First Congregational Church of Traverse City. He holds Bachelor's and Master's Degrees in Choral Conducting from Michigan State University. While at Michigan State, Peter was director of the Women's Glee Club and the Chamber Choir. He remains active as a tenor soloist in Traverse City, Grand Rapids and Lansing, and specializes in the art song and Oratorio literature. In the summer season, Peter is conductor of MSU's Youth Music Camp Choir and attends the Aspen Music Festival as a choral fellow.

Jeffrey Foote, a basso-cantante, has the BM, MM, and Doctor of Musical Arts degrees from the University of Illinois where he sang eighteen major roles with the Illinois Opera Theatre. He is an Associate Professor of Voice at CMU, and a member of the CMU Faculty Quartet, together with Ms. Enman and Ms. Kiesgen. Dr. Foote performs regularly in operatic roles, is an author, and at CMU teaches studio voice, conducts the CMU Men's Chorus, and is coordinator of the Faculty Vocal Quartet.

Mary Stewart Kiesgen, Associate Professor of Voice at CMU, holds Bachelor's and Master's Degrees from Northwestern University in Music, and has sung leading roles with opera companies both in the U.S. and abroad. She has appeared as a recitalist and guest lecturer throughout the midwest and has been guest soloist with the Des Moines and Wichita Symphonies. Ms. Kiesgen, a soprano, teaches voice, voice pedagogy, and is co-director of the CMU Opera Workshop.

Cora Enman, a mezzo-soprano and Associate Professor at CMU, holds a MM in Voice from Michigan State University, where she has also done advanced graduate study. She has performed as solist in several states, and has an abiding interest in new vocal music of the 20th century, keeping new works and premier performances a focus of her programs. Ms. Enman teaches voice, song literature and diction at CMU.

Tickets for the performances of the Messiah on Saturday evening, December 17 at 7 p.m. and Sunday afternoon, December 18 at 4 p.m., are $5.00 for adults and $2.50 for senior citizens and students. The production will last approximately 90 minutes and includes the Christmas portion of the oratorio. They are available at the McCune Arts Center in Petoskey, the Apple Tree in Charlevoix, Hovey's Drugs in Harbor Springs, the Chamber of Commerce in Boyne City and Hite's Drugs in East Jordan. The performance will be at the Petoskey Methodist Church, up the hill from downtown on East Mitchell in Petoskey. Advance purchase of tickets in encouraged. Call the Crooked Tree Arts Council office at 347-4337 for further information or to order tickets by mail.

Bldg. permits start to drop

The coming of winter was reflected in the continuing drop in number of building permits issued in November.

The Charlevoix County Department of Building Inspection reports that only 41 permits were issued in November, compared with 46 in October and 61 in September.

The November permits include seven for new houses, 13 for additions to and remodeling of houses, three for residential garages, four for decks and porches, three for residential outbuildings, two for mobile homes, five for additions to and remodeling of commercial buildings, one for a commercial outbuilding, and three for demolitions.

Two of the new houses will be built in Bay Township, three in Hayes Township, and one each in St. James and Peaine Townships.

Construction costs (excluding electrical, plumbing, and heating) of the seven houses are estimated at $386,398, or an average of approximately $45,126 per house.

New group to stand up for children's rights

A group of people from Emmet and Charlevoix counties met Monday night, November 21 to form the Char-Em Chapter of KINDER. Officers were elected and the group's goals and origins were discussed.

Meaning literally, "Kids In Need Deserve Equal Rights", KINDER is a national organization, formed in February of 1982, by Patricia Turner and Patricia Kelly in Flint, Michigan. The coalition's concerns lie with the rights and problems of children from divorced or single-parent families. Its goals are to inform and assist those who share these concerns and have become frustrated by the system's inability or unwillingness to enforce court orders in areas of support, visitation and custody.

The immediate goals of the Char-Em KINDER chapter are to acquaint its members and any interested persons with recent legislation that may affect their position and to seek audience with those persons who work within the system, striving for cooperation and understanding.

KINDER derives its name from the German word for "children" and children are the organization's main concern. Men and women, custodial and noncustodial parents are invited to join.

Grant St. to be sliding hill after all

by DAVE KNIGHT

The experiment to keep the Grant St hill between Hurlbut and Newman open to vehicular traffic this winter turned out to be short-lived indeed.

City Council, which opted Dec. 1 to discontinue the hill's use by neighborhood children for sliding, reversed itself Monday night and unanimously agreed to barricade the one-block again for the winter.

The action came following requests from parents in the area who claimed that the north side's Mt. McSauba sliding hill was too far away for central city youngsters and that the steepness of the grade prevented most vehicles from negotiating it during the winter months anyway.

On another subject, sewer tap fees were increased by council to $500 per unit up from the present tap fee of $300. Although City Manager Robert Hunt recommended that a discount tap fee of $400 be set for every unit in excess of two (the first two would pay $500 each) in the case of multi-unit projects, council chose to set the $500 per unit flat fee.

In other action, council:

School millage vote to be Feb. 14

By FRAN MARTIN

The Charlevoix Board of Education, at its regular meeting Monday, adopted election resolution for the special millage elections to be held in the Charlevoix School District Tuesday, February 14.

At that time, the voters of the Charlevoix School District will be asked to renew the 15.25 mills for operational purposes for two years.

The second resolution related to the renewal of .8 mill for three years for Special Education in the Char-Em School District. It was necessary for the Charlevoix Board of Education to approve this resolution because each school district conducts the election for the intermediate district within the confines of its district. Twelve school districts within the Char-Em district will adopt like resolutions. The .8 of a mill is levied to underwrite the special education program within the Char-Em district.

The Charlevoix School District is voting on operational millage at this time in order that 50 percent of school taxes can be collected during the summer. The school district is asking for the renewal of the same operational millage requested for the past two years, 15.25 mills. After a lengthy discussion, it was decided to ask for the renewal for two years because two years would result in financial stability and because it would cut the cost of an election every year. Vincent Olach, business manager, said this would save approximately $2,500.

The election is scheduled for February 14 at the Charlevoix Elementary School.

Persons who are not registered to vote have until January 16 to register in order to vote in the February 14 election.

Don Voison, president of the Band Boosters, addressed the board on the subject of a portable band shell. He said it was something that would enhance not only the music program but the vocal music, forensics and other related programs where sound was a prime factor.

He advised the board that a portable shell that would meet the needs of the local programs would cost approximately $8,281 and that the Band Boosters were prepared to pay the down payment of 25 percent of the cost now and to repay the remainder over a period of time if the school district could underwrite the remainder of the cost at this time.

The board advised Voison it would take the request under advisement and give a decision within a "few" days.

CHARLEVOIX'S SKYLINE was dramatically altered last week with the erection of a new antenna tower at the U.S. Coast Guard rescue station. The 195-foot tower will replace and improve the Coast Guard's antennas that had been atop the old water tower along the Pine River Channel. The tower has been out of service for two years and is slated for removal. Unsupported by any guy wires, the new tower consists of telescoping sections that will bow from two to six feet at the top during high winds. For the Coast Guard, the tower has a two-fold purpose. It will provide low level communications for the Lake Charlevoix and immediate Lake Michigan area for search and rescue use. It will also pick up high level signals from 1,000-foot towers on Beaver Island and North Manitou Island which will then be relayed to group headquarters in St. Ignace by telephone lines.

Sewer extension plan heads for final approval

by DAVE KNIGHT

Response from both the Charlevoix City Council and the Charlevoix Township Board has been generally favorable to a draft agreement presented to both bodies December 12 outlining a proposed extension of sanitary sewer service to a special assessment district within the township just south of the city.

At their regular meeting this week, the council set a timetable under which one more discussion will be held on the agreement at a January 3 organizational meeting and final approval possible at a January 9 special meeting.

Council approval of the plan on January 9 would allow the township board to grant its approval the same night, thus paving the way for preliminary engineering and a start on construction this coming spring.

Under the agreement, now being drafted in final form before it is submitted for approval, customers in the special assessment district will pay a monthly rate 1.5 times that which city customers pay. Tap fees and termination charges will also be 1.5 times the fees paid by customers.

According to John Campbell, who heads the township's sewer committee, there are presently 39 residential customers in the special assessment district plus the DME manufacturing plant and Irish Boat Shop. All customers within the district will be required to tap into the new sewer line under a stipulation in the draft agreement.

Campbell told the council Monday that the city could realize up to $75,000 in revenue alone from tap fees paid by the new customers.

Although the exact placement of the sewer line extension will not be finalized until preliminary engineering is completed, it is roughly planned to extend from the city treatment plant southeast along the perimeter of the Charlevoix airport, across U.S. 31 South to Stover Rd. and then east across M-66 to Lake Charlevoix. (See map on page 4.)

Brief summaries of some points covered in the draft agreement include the following:

Construction: The special assessment district shall be responsible for a preliminary engineering study of the neccessary sewer mains and lift stations. All plans and specifications, for this projet and for future modifications, will be submitted to the city for final approval before bids are let.

The city can enlarge the capacity for its own needs or add any other utilities it sees fit but the district will pay for only those services that meet

Hoffmann donates property to city

Dr. Walter Hoffmann, whose gift to the city of a living Christmas tree was acknowedged at an official dedication in East Park just last week, this week provided the city with a generous Christmas gift to go with it.

The only trouble is, the present won't fit under the tree by any means.

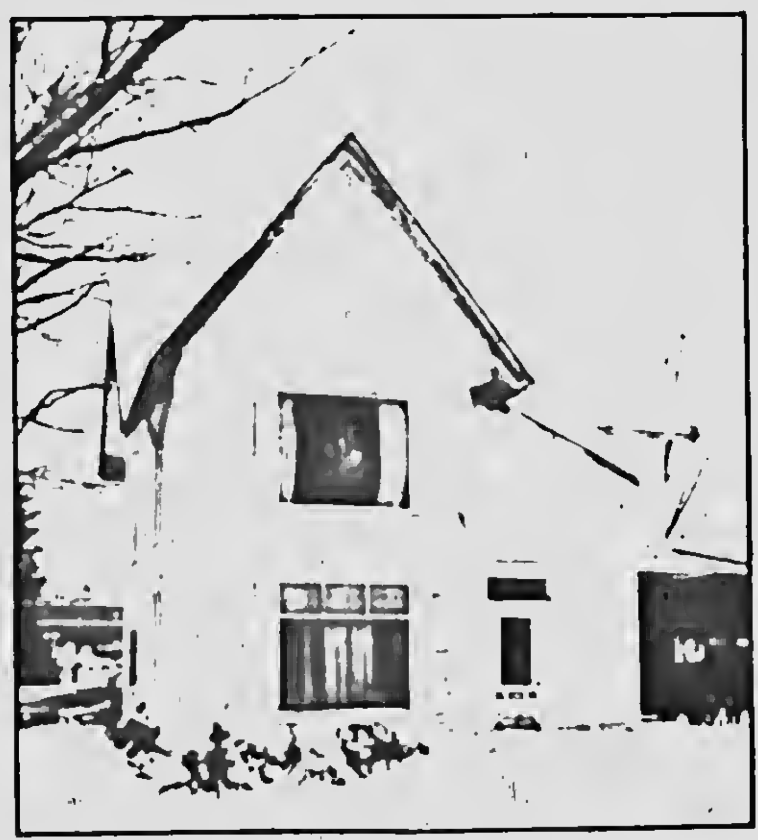
Dale Boss announced Friday that Hoffmann has agreed to donate to the City of Charlevoix his property at 103 Park Ave. for use as a park and access to a walkway along the Pine River Channel.

Boss told the city council Monday night that Hoffmann intends to turn over the deed to the 66' by 240' lot before the end of the year. In making the donation, Hoffmann stipulated that the property be developed by Keep Charlevoix Beautiful as a green belt with no sturctures built upon it other than walkways to the channel. He also requested that the house presently standing on the property not be taken down until next August so that he may remove his personal belongings.

One of those belongings has become one of Charlevoix's more unique landmarks. For many years, even after the house was no longer lived in, a silver Christmas tree has remained prominently displayed in an upstairs window.

Boss told council that an appraisal of the property is presently underway.

Said Boss of Dr. Hoffmann, who has been in poor health in recent years, "Doc can't get around very well anymore but we know where his heart is."



Dr. Hoffmann's house to be donated to the city with its familiar Christmas tree in the upstairs window.

DEC

For Saints and Sinners

by Rev. Phil Schairbaum
First Congregational Church

A favorite comic strip is "Sally Forth". It tells of the trials and tribulations of a woman who is wife, mother, homemaker and an "employed-outside-the-home" worker who is always trying to get life together. One strip about this time last year showed Sally with her hand over the phone telling her husband:

"It's someone from church. They want me to bake six dozen cookies for the Christmas bake sale again this year."

"Have you got the time?" he responds.

"No, but I'll feel so guilty if I don't do it."

"Don't feel guilty, Sal...You can't do everything, you know. Tell them you just don't have the time this year."

In the last panel, she is talking on the phone:

"I'm sorry, I just don't have the time to bake six dozen cookies...Would five dozen be okay?"

We all know that feeling, when one more thing, one more obligation, one more good work, even one more party is more than we can do this season. But saying no makes us feel so guilty..Still there is a time when we simply must say, "No," not "Maybe," not "Will five dozen do?"

But there is also a time when "No" is not appropriate. There is a part of Christmas that is not to be missed. There is an appropriate sense of guilt if we do not have time to do our part to carry the message of Christmas, the birth, life, death and resurection of the Lord Jesus Christ. That may or may not mean baking cookies. But it will always mean sharing, in wold and in deed, the importance of the Christ event in our own lives. As one person said when asked to finish the phrase, "Christmas is...",

"Christmas is ... and because we are carriers of our faith, will continue to be."

A Blessed Christmas to all!!

Margaret Davenport heads the Hospital Guild's telephone reassurance service.

Hospital Guild members will 'phone home' to offer help, reassurance

They telephone sick, elderly or just plain lonely people to let them know someone cares - that's the purpose of Charlevoix Area Hospital Guild members' daily "telephone reassurance" service begun a year ago.

Each day at the same time, the phone rings and the same friendly voice inquires about the person's health, chats about subjects of mutual interest and offers assistance if needed.

The people who receive these calls have been referred by hospital Social Worker Camille Green, representatives of other social service agencies, members of their families or even themselves, explains Margaret Davenport, head of the Telephone Reassurance Committee.

"We are seeking more people who would like to get regular calls," Mrs. Davenport revealed.

She explained that a member of the hospital guild is matched with the person to receive the call. Between them, they arrange the time of day for the call.

"The call is made every day at the same time," Mrs. Davenport continued, "If the caller is going to be out of town or not able to make the call, we have a list of substitute callers."

To a lonely person, to someone at home recuperating from an illness, the importance of the call cannot be overestimated.

"I look forward to it," says Mrs. Adele Snyder of Boyne City who receives a regular morning call form Karen Bowman of Charlevoix.

Mrs. Snyder began receiving calls when she was discharged from the hospital after an illness. Now living in the Litzenburger Apartments, she comments, "It's not all that neccessary now because I am surrounded by people.

"But even surrounded by people you can be alone," Mrs. Snyder said. "Mrs. Bowman is a delightful person. I really enjoy talking to her."

There is a practical side to the telephone reassurance service as well as the just plain friendly neighborliness.

"One of our clients, an older woman, received a regular call every morning. One evening she apparently slipped and fell in her kitchen. She laid there all night until her son came by the next morning and discovered her. Luckily she was not badly hurt," Mrs. Davenport said.

"When our caller heard about the accident and that the son would visit every morning, we switched the calling time to evening so someone was checking on the woman twice a day."

For most people, the importance of the daily telephone call is the friendly, interested voice on the phone.

Anyone knowing of someone who'd like this service may call Mrs. Davenport at 547-9891, mornings and evenings.

Deadline near for '83 United Way gifts

Even though a door-to-door canvass drive is not planned for this campaign regular contributors to the Charlevoix United Way are still invited to submit their 1983 contributions in the mail and are reminded that to claim the donations as deductions for the 1983 tax year, they must be in by January 1.

That is the word from local United Way officials who are in the process of re-organizing the group's local structure.

A new board of nine members is in the process of being formed with Secretary Edna DeMitchell and Treasurer Helen Emmons retaining their positions.

According to Mrs. Emmons, agencies approved for United Way funding will continue to receive their

Knight on the Town

Magic returns

by Dave Knight

It must be nature's way that at precisely the point in a person's life when the magic of Christmas becomes wearing a bit thin, when all the traditions seem trite and even the carols start sounding tired, a little one comes along.

All of a sudden, the magic is back.

It has been a delightful experience to introduce our little one, just turned two, to the fascination of Christmas.

The process of explaining why things look, smell, sound and feel different at Christmas time has been as much a renewal for me as it has been a new experience for her.

When was the last time you tried to explain why we drag a big tree into the house to string lights and all sorts of fancy things all over it?

For that matter, could you ever explain it?

And then, how does one tie into the picture the fat, old man with a white beard and red snowmobile suit? Just when you get her little imagination to visualize Santa streaking across the sky in a sleigh heaped with toys and drawn by reindeer, he comes into town on a fire truck.

Back to the drawing board.

All the mysterious things going on around the house - industrious sewing and woodworking projects being furiously completed, apple butter going right from the stove into decorated jars, never making it to the table; songs about silver bells, jingle bells and church bells constantly on the radio - it is a challenge indeed to explain to a puzzled two year old what the heck is going on.

Of course, the hardest part of all is trying to associate all the chaotic merriment with the true meaning of Christmas.

At least one thing is in my favor. If there is anything a baby relates to easily, it is another baby. Babies seem to have a common channel of communication among themselves. They are fascinated with each other in an innocent sort of way.

Thus our little one finds it most pleasing that this whole business of Christmas has to do with a baby, just like her.

Again, explaining why the baby is in a barn surrounded by donkeys, sheep, cows, people in strange costumes and even people with wings is taking some effort. I'm not sure that everything will - or has to - fall into place for her this season.

But I think she does understand that amid all all the sensory splendor of Christmas time, the little baby in the barn is definitely the center of attention.

For reminding me of that, I thank her.

Clockwise

Next year, early tree

by Bob Clock

OVER THE WEEKEND the kids forced me to take a solemn oath with my right hand on a stack of Christmas cookies that next Christmas I will buy our Christmas tree the minute they go on sale — even if it's September and the temperature stands at 80 degrees.

To understand my predicament, you must know that I come from a family that never has believed in dressing up early for Christmas. My mother couldn't abide those super-efficient housewives in our old neighborhood who had their Christmas baking done by Dec. 1 and their trees up and decorated two weeks before Christmas.

"You wait and see!" she'd warn. "They won't have a thing left to eat by Christmas Eve and all the needles will have fallen off their trees."

Of course, I believed her. After all she was my mother and she had a lot more Christmases under her belt than I had. Furthermore, Christmas trees were always so plentiful in Detroit that dealers set the torch to literally thousands of them the day after Christmas every year.

So I live in a fool's paradise, believing that you can always pick up a tree at the last minute.

BUT THOSE DAYS apparently are over. Big Brothers and Big Sisters didn't even sell trees in Charlevoix this year. And the Lion's Club, which dispensed trees from the old Charlevoix Oil Building, was sold out on Monday, Dec. 12 — almost two weeks before Christmas.

"Not to worry," I kept telling the kids. "There are lots of trees around. After all, isn't this Northern Michigan — the home of the Christmas tree?"

I had planned to buy a tree Saturday, but the blizzard set in so I put it off. Sunday morning I called the Clayton Smiths at Smith's Little Acre, one of our regular suppliers, to see if they had any trees left.

"We only have one and it's so straggly it wouldn't be worth your while to drive out here," Kay said.

I looked out the kitchen window and wondered how raspberry canes would look gussied up with tinsel and ornaments.

"Why not call Dave?" Danny suggested. Someone named Dave had left a note on the bulletin board at Olesons saying he would deliver a tree to your home for $10. Danny had copied down the phone number.

"I don't want anyone else to pick out our tree," Jennifer wailed. "Dave doesn't know that we always buy a tree with a hole at the back."

Jennifer, of course, doesn't know that we always buy a tree with a hole at the back because that's the only kind left. She thinks it'a a family tradition and I'm not about to change her mind.

"WHAT ABOUT HAGGERTYS on Boyne City Road," Judy suggested. "They had a note on the Oleson's bulletin board saying they had Christmas trees for sale."

I called the Haggertys and they still had a few trees left. Within minutes we were tooling down Boyne City Road.

Only a few specimens were still standing in hip-deep snow in the front yard and they had been well picked over. One by one I shook off the snow and the kids stepped back and examined them from every angle. Danny's favorite looked like a runaway from Hartwick Pines. It was nice and "full," as they say, but it stood all of 15 feet tall and would have filled the entire living room.

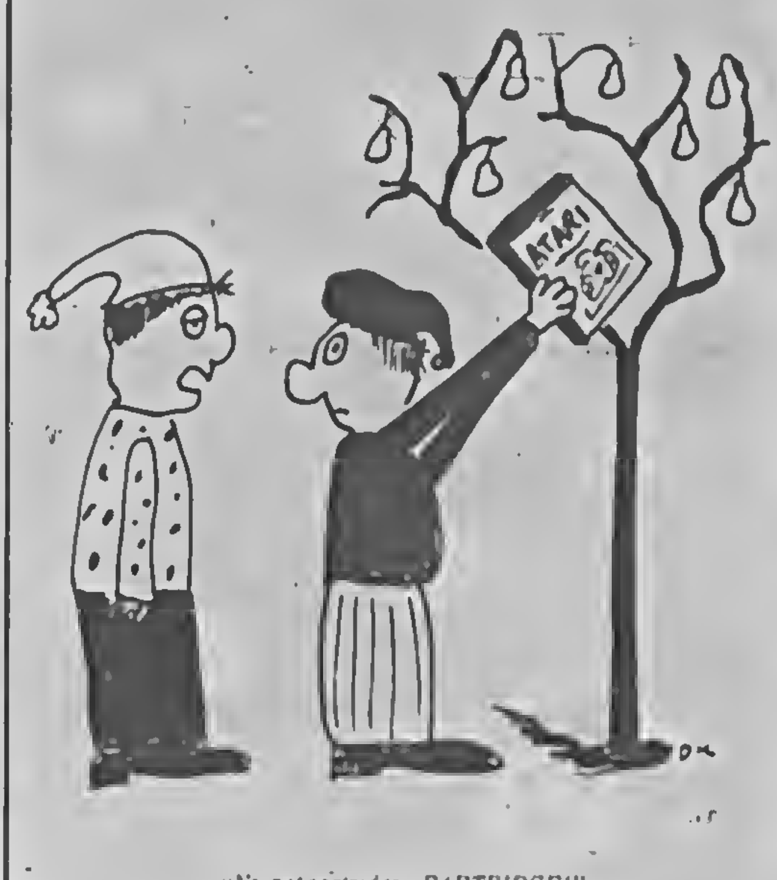
"We've got to find one with a hole in the back," Allison kept reminding the selection committee.

Finally we decided on a trim little number that has a full skirt on the bottom but looks something like a TV antenna on top.

The kids aren't entirely happy with our selection, but I keep telling them we're starting a new tradition — trees with holes both back and front.

However, now the the tree is up and decorated, the size and shape don't make any difference. It looks just like our Christmas tree and the kids wouldn't trade it for the Monarch Pine.

CHARLEVISION



"No, not cartridge...PARTRIDGE!"

Breezy's carol

Al Breeze, longtime entertainer at the Grey Gables and composer laureate of Charlevoix once again has come up with a Christmas message set to the familiar tune of "Hello, Dolly".

Hello, Charlevoix
Well hello, Charlevoix
It's so nice to be in your grand town again.
Your're looking swell, Charlevoix,
We can tell, Charlevoix,
You're still glowing, it'a still snowing,
It'a that Christmas time again.

Merry Christmas, Charlevoix
Happy New Year, Charlevoix
We hope your future's bright as it can be,'
So - good cheer to everyone
Happy holidays to everyone
From your friend "Breezy" Breeze,
Oh gosh, oh gee!

Letters: Thanks for the help

To the Editor:

The Charlevoix-Emmet Intermediate School District special education staff and students would like to thank all the service clubs and organizations that have donated money, time, and-or equipment to our students over the past year. The donations have allowed us to enrich our students' educational experiences. Thank you again and have a happy holiday season and all the best for the new year.

Two debt retirement payments were approved by the board. One was a payment of $12,896 to the National Bank of Detroit for bonds dated June 6, 1968 (the elementary school) and to the First of America Bank in the amount of $3,057 on bonds dated April 1, 1969 (high school).

In other action, permission was granted to the French Club to make a trip to Canada for four days and three nights late in April.

One of the highlights of the meeting was the resolution honoring the Charlevoix High School cross country team and its coaches, Pete Spieles and Walt Drenth. The resolution commended the team for its fine record, a second state class C title in two years, a regional title, Michigan-Huron Shores title and its season record of seven wins and no losses in dual meets and four wins and two third places in invitational meets.

Copies of the resolution were presented to 27 team members including Bill Taylor and John Tunnison, co-captains who won all-state honors and Lee Allard, Mike Dohm, Rick Gallant, Dave Hendrickson, and Matt Landon, all members of the championship team. Among those receiving copies of the resolution were seven members of the girix team.

The next meeting of the Charlevoix Board of Education ix scheduled for January 16.

to avoid high interest payments due to lack of cash flow during the summer months. The city will receive a one percent administrative fee for collecting the summer taxes.

-Designated the Downtown Development Authority as the lead agency in the development of an ice skating rink in East Park for next season. Council also learned that John Campbell, president of the Site Planning Development landscape firm, has offered to design the project at no cost to the city.

-Approved a lot split for Robert Withers that will separate Mont's Restaurant from the Stained Glass Cabinet Shop.

-Approved a site plan for an addition to Dr. Jeffrey Ricks' chiropractic clinic.

-Tabled a site plan for a proposed construction storage building on May St.

-Honored council members Dr. Jeffrey Porter and Clement Dlach who have served five years and two years on the council respectively and who will be retiring from council as of the first of the year following their decision not to run for re-election.

its needs.

After the project is completed, no increase in size, capacity or length shall be added by the district without approval from the city. If the use of the system within the district ever exceeds 80 percent of the design capacity, the district shall begin the process of upgrading it.

Taps: Everyone in the district who taps into the system must first file with the city and be accepted. Tap installation shall then be performed by private contractors.

Should the district decided to set a tap fee of its own, it shall be based upon the same unit factor as the city's and shall be collected by the city with remittance to the district quarterly.

The district shall obtain from the township an ordinance requiring all customers within the district to tap into the system. The city will have the right to regulate what sort of sewage enters the system and refuse any sewage regarded as untreatable. Neither storm drainage or surface water will be permitted in the system. Taps will only be permitted where the person or firm is a city water customer.

The city reserves the right to place a moratorium on further taps or extensions when it determines that its facilities' capacity has been reached.

Ownership and maintenance: The district shall own and maintain the system until the debt on the improvements is repaid. Any repairs or replacements to the system costing over $5,000 shall be paid for by the district.

Termination: The agreement shall terminate if the city determines, after preliminary engineering, that the project is not practical to construct, operate or maintain. It shall also terminate if construction is not started in 1984.

Weddings

Rozema-Vandenberg

Luann S. Rozema became the bride of Cornelius J. Vandenberg Saturday afternoon, December 10, at Belltower Reformed Church in Ellsworth.

The bride's parents are James and Delores Rozema of Ellsworth and the bridegroom's parents are Jacob and Alice Vandenberg, also of Ellsworth.

Approximately 160 guests witnessed the single-ring ceremony performed by the Reverend James Heneveld.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her parents, wore a white polyester knit gown with Wedgewood and silk Venice lace. It was fashioned with a wedding band neckline, bishop sleeves, natural waistline, circular skirt, chapel train, and a veil borrowed from her sister. She carried a bouquet of daisies, blue-tipped carnations, white roses, and baby's breath.

For the occasion, the church altar was decorated with two candelabra and a unity candle with ivy and daisies. The pews were tied with blue and white bows.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Ron Schuitema, an uncle of the bride, who sang, "The Wedding Song" and "The Lord's Prayer", and Karen Bolhuis, aunt of the bride, who was organist.

Eileen Danbert, sister of the bridegroom, served as matron of honor. Barb Van Stedum, another sister of the bridegroom, Barb Wynsma, and Amy Schuitema, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore floor-length light blue "Gunne Sax" dresses accented with white lace and ribbon and pearl buttons.

Jenny Drenth and Angie Van Stedum, nieces of the bridegroom, were flower girix and wore dresses of the same design as those of the bridesmaids.

Jim Danbert served as best man, while Don and Bob Rozema, brothers of the bride, and John Nachazel served as groomsmen.

Duane Carpenter, nephew of the bridegroom, and Doug Schuitema, cousin of the bride, were ushers.

A reception given by the bride's parents at the American Legion Hall in Charlevoix followed the wedding ceremony. The Ebenezer Ways & Means Committee served the food, and Hud and Jan Drenth, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, acted as host and hostess.

Steve and Thelma Cheflis, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, were master and mistress of ceremonies. Dianne Rozema, sister-in-law of the bride, was in charge of the gust book, Kathy Wynsma, sister of the bride, was the bride's personal attendant, and Max and Joan Bolzer were punch bowl attendants.

The rehearsal dinner was held December 9 at the Lamplight Inn in Central Lake, hosted by the bridegroom's parents.

Mr., and Mrs. Cornelius J. Vandenberg

Following a trip to Niagara Falls, the newlyweds will be at home in Ellsworth. The bridegroom is employed by Concrete Construction, Inc. of Traverse City and the bride by Dinwiddie & Smolinski, P.C. in Charlevoix.

Dunne named new director of Big Brothers-Big Sisters

Robert "Rob" Dunne has been appointed as Executive Director of the Charlevoix County Big Brothers and Big Sisters to succeed Jim Marshall who resigned the post in October.

Dunn lives in Boyne City with his wife Christy who ix a teacher in that school system. Dunne 'ix a substitute teacher in the Char-Em district and will continue to teach in addition to the half-time position with Big Brothers and Big Sixters. He can be reached at 582-6011.

Marshall, who will remain on the organization's Board of Directors, said, "We looked for two months to find the right person for the job and we believe we certainly found that person in Rob Dunne. Many qualified people applied for the position and Rob has the unique qualities we were looking for. Much work needs to be done in the Boyne City area in recruiting Big Brothers and Sisters as well as in East Jordan so we were especially pleased to locate a person living in one of those two towns."

For the past 12 years the Big Brothers-Big Sisters office has been located in Charlevoix where it was founded and at this time most of the members of the Board of Directors live in that area but efforts have been made to recruit additional board members from East Jordan and Boyne City to provide more county-wide strength to the organization.

Rob Dunne, right, recently appointed executive director of Charlevoix County Big Brothers and Big Sisters, accepts congratulations on his new post from former executive director Jim Marshall.

Her teddy bears are part of the family

by PEG OHLE

Ann DiMartino first fell in love with teddy bears at the age of five.

Ann's great-great aunt had a large teddy bear that always reclined on her high four-poster bed, out of the reach of sticky little hands but near enough for a little girl to stand on tiptoes to admire.

Ann DiMartino and Tante.

This was not an ordinary bear, Ann knew even at an early age. Her aunt always dressed the bear in beautiful satin ribbons and treated it as a companion, not a toy.

Eventually that bear came into Ann's possession, and this month, at the ripe old age of 80, it sits proudly in front of the teddy bear display at Trademark Clothiers in downtown Charlevoix.

Ann's love of teddy bears has continued through the years. Her second one was a wind-up mechanical bear that came from Miss Porter's School in Farmington, Connecticut, probably left there by a student who considered herself too grownup for such childish things.

The Ann DiMartino teddy bear collection now graces the front window of Trademark Clothiers, owned by her son Fred DiMartino.

From there on, the collection just grew until it now numbers 120. Most of the bears are in the window display – bears of all sizes from 24 inches to less than an inch; bears from all over the world, brought home by travelers who knew of Ann's interest; and bears made not only of the usual furry material, but of wood, China, pewter, sandstone, plastic, fabric, and other materials. They were arranged in the window by Vivi Woodcock of Boyne City.

This is the first time the bears have been on display. Their regular home is in a hutch in the family room of the DiMartino residence in Boyne City. Remembering her aunt and that first teddy bear, Ann admits that she treats her bears as companions, moving them around, and enjoying being with them.

It was because she wanted to share this enjoyment with others that Ann consented to bring her bears to Charlevoix. She spends part of the week working at Trademark Clothiers (run by her son Fred) and is thrilled with every compliment her bears bring from customers and passers-by.

In fact, she is enjoying the experience so much that the window display may become an annual affair.

As might be expected, each bear has a name, often the name of the person who gave it to Ann. Others, like the chubby "Francois" brought home from France by Ann's daughter, Chris, are named for different reasons.

The latest addition to the collection is called "Tante" the German name for "Aunt". Why this name for a teddy bear? "Because she looks like a German aunt – she's stern and non-sense looking." Ann exlains.

Tante is also in the window and will be there, along with all the other bears large and small, through the end of the month. It's worth a trip downtown to see them during this holiday season.

Club makes tray favors

The Charlevoix Area Garden Club met recently at the home of Mrs. Julia Leedy for its annual December meeting which is always devoted to making Christmas tray favors for the Charlevoix Area Hospital.

This year the club made decorated eggs under the direction of Mrs. Leedy. These will be a gift to the hospital for use as favors on patients' trays on Christmas.

Mrs. Marge Dinwiddie, memorial garden chairman, reported that the garden had been mulched and several of the decorative trees moved. The members voted to place $500 in the memorial fund to further its projects.

During the work session, holiday refreshments were served by the co-hostesses, Mrs. Nancy Wood and Mrs. Agate Santek.

"Pruning" will be the subject of the January meeting. Mrs. Arla Staublin will present the lesson.

McSauba Ski School set

Plans for the 1984 Mt. McSauba Downhill Ski School have been announced by Dwight Boss, City Recreation Director. Sponsored by the Charlevoix Recreation Department, the school will begin Jan. 9 and run for five weeks, ending Feb. 9.

Classes will be available for beginners through the intermediate classes for grades K-2, 3-6 six plus and also for adult groups.

Five weekly sessions will be $15 for children and $20 for adults. All participants of the ski school will receive half-price lift tickets the night of the class. Individual ski pass holders, i.e. persons who are paid in full by Jan. 8, will receive their first class free. Participants must provide all their own equipment.

Registrations will be held at the Mt. McSauba Lodge on Friday, Dec. 30. Registrations will be accepted on a first come-first served basis for the classes that will be limited in size. Full payment for the ski school must be made at the time of the first lesson.

Four local youngsters were the big winners in the Charlevoix Courier Christmas Coloring Contest which was judged last week. Young artists were asked to color a drawing of Santa and his elves for the contest. The two age groups in the contest were 9 to 12 and under 9. The winner of the 9-12 bracket was Ann Hogan and she got a $10 check for her efforts. Jim Holm took second and won $5. In the under 9 category, Jeremy Charbonneau won the first place prize of $10 and Sarah Groh was second and won $5.

4-H offers performing arts workshops

Charlevoix County young people looking for an opportunity to develop their skills in dance, drama, vocal or instrumental music are eligible to participate in the 1984 4-H Performing Arts Program according to Leah Green, Charlevoix County 4-H coordinator.

Members of the 4-H Performing Arts Program also have the opportunity to join the 1984 Michigan 4-H Performing Arts Troupe.

A series of in-depth arts workshops will be held on weekends in January through March for all interested young people. Workshop participants must be at least 13 years old. Participants are not required to have an extensive background in the performing arts to attend the workshops.

Young people interested in troupe membership must be at least 15 years old by Feb. 1, 1984, and no more than 18 years old or in their last year of high school.

Over the past four years, the Michigan 4-H Performing Arts Troupe has entertained more than 100,000 people throughout the Midwest. Major appearances include performances at the Pontiac Silverdome, the Upper Peninsula and Michigan State Fairs, Boblo Island and the Grand Rapids Art Festival.

Musicians are especially needed for the coming troupe season but any young person interested in honing his or her performing skills is invited to apply for membership. Interested youths don't have to be current 4-H members but they must agree to enroll in a 4-H arts project in their county upon acceptance as troupe members.

There are no membership or application fees for the 4-H Performing Arts Program. Participants are responsible for their transportation to and from workshops, camps, rehearsals and preview and residency programs.

The 4-H Performing Arts Program activities are made possible in part by a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts.

For registration forms or additional information about the 4-H Performing Arts Program, contact Leah Green at the Charlevoix County Cooperative Extension Service office or call 582-6232

Tim LaBlance looks for the open man.

Rayders survive scare from Petoskey Northmen

The Charlevoix Rayder basketball squad, led by junior Brent Cole, passed their first pressure test of the young season Friday night.

With about four minutes left, the winless Petoskey Northmen were within three of the Rayders at 40-37 and were thinking upset. Then Cole struck with three quick, unanswered baskets to put Charlevoix up 46-37 and Petoskey's carriage turned back into a pumpkin.

The final score, 52-39, does not adequately reflect the struggle Charlevoix had against the Northmen to keep their undefeated record clean. The Rayders were stone cold in the first quarter managing only four points to Petoskey's ten. In addition, starters Tim LaBlance and Doug Sloan found themselves in early foul trouble, each picking up two personals in the opening stanza.

Missed shots by Petoskey from both the field and the free throw line, however, allowed the Rayders to gradually climb back into the contest. By halftime, the Northman lead was 21-16.

Charlevoix burst from the gate following the intermission to hit ten quick points and never got behind again - though at times they heard footsteps. Petoskey pulled within one at least a couple more times - once at the end of the third quarter at 32-31 - and were well within striking distance before Cole took over at the four-minute mark.

Cole, a 6'1" guard, was the game's high scorer, with 23 points. For the Rayders, Sloan added 12 and Will Syvertsen 6.

The Rayders now boast a 4-0 overall record, 3-0 in Michigan-Huron Shores action. Petoskey drops to 0-4, 0-3 conference.

Charlevoix's next opponent will be Gaylord Tuesday night in the Charlevoix High School gym.

Middle School basketball team to debut

The Charlevoix Middle School boys basketball season will get underway Wednesday when the teams host Cheboygan in games to be played at the middle school gymnasium beginning at 6 p.m.

Henry Wagner will be the seventh grade coach and Barry Pierce the eighth grage, mentor.

Wednesday's game will be the first of a nine-game schedule to be played Wednesday night with the exception of a game with Petoskey to be played Feb. 13.

The season will conclude with the Cheboygan tournament scheduled to begin Feb. 20 and run through March 2.

Frosh lose by one

The Charlevoix Rayder Freshmen dropped their game to Petoskey by a slim 56-55 margin Thursday night after leading from the opening whistle.

The team will travel to Gaylord for its final game before the holidays on Wednesday.

The young Rayders jumped to a 23-14 first period lead, were ahead 35-28 at halftime and still had a 49-44 advantage going into the final period when they were outscored 12-6 by the visitors who took over 56-55 at the final buzzer.

Jamey Spencley paced the scoring for the game with 22 points. Dave Hudson had 14 points and Eric Bell and Mark Brumfield 12 points each for Petoskey.

Matmen place 8th

The Charlevoix Rayder wrestlers placed eighth with 16 points among the eight teams entered in the St. Ignace Invitational Tournament Saturday.

St. Ignace won the meet with 196 points, with Gaylord with 143 coming in second. Other teams entered were Gladstone, Grayling, Manistique Onaway and Kalkaska.

Earlier in the week, Charlevoix had lost to Rogers City 48-24 and to Gaylord 68-6 in a meet held at Gaylord.

On Saturday, Jeff Mervyn in the heavyweight class was pinned by Cole of Manistique in 3:53; pinned Bill Brown of Gladstone in :30; pinned Jay Bishop of Onaway in :49 and pinned Tony Walker of St. Ignace in 5:45 to place third in his class.

Rick Gallant (138) placed fourth after losing to Gary Horn of St. Ignace by a 7-0 decision; pinned Andy McGinn of Onaway in 3:47 and losing to Mike of Campbell of Kalkaska 4-3.

Others who participated were Matt Hull (155) who lost twice; Bill Marquardt (196) who also lost twice; Dan Kelly (132) who wrestled but had to default because of an injury.

In the double-dual meet at Gaylord Thursday, the results of the meet with Rogers City were as follows:

Christian LaCroix (119) was pinned by Tim Rickle in 1:29.

Dan Kelly (132) pinned Wayne Pepke in 3:16.

Rick Gallant (138) pinned Chuck Buening in 5:26.

Shawn Hartnett (145) pinned Darwin Snow in 3:42.

Bill Marquardt (198) pinned Jere Gersinger in 3:17.

Jeff Mervyn (hvy wt) was pinned by Rhiny Pomeranke in 3:38.

Charlevoix lost by forfeit in the 98, 105, 112 and 167 pound weight class.

In the meet with Gaylord, LaCroix was pinned by Boyer in 1:53. Kelly was pinned by Mark Kryszynski in 1:39. Gallant pinned Bill Courture in 3:14. Hartnett lost by a 31-2 decision to Kerr. Hull lost by a 17-7 decision to Klingson. Coy Groves (185) was pinned by Bryan Wilson in :23. Marquardt was pinned by Holloway in :14. Mervyn was pinned by Peffers.

JV team beats Northmen

The Charlevoix Rayder JVs racked up a 48-37 win over the Petoskey JVs by a score of 46-37 Friday.

The team is scheduled to meet Gaylord Tuesday on the home floor in the last game before the holidays.

The Rayders jumped off to a 16-6 first period lead over the young Northmen in the first quarter and slowed up in the second period, scoring only four points to Petoskey's eight for a 20-14 advantage at halftime.

Petoskey outscored Charlevoix 15-12 as the second half got underway to trim the Rayder advantage to three points, 32-29 going into the final period when Charlevoix got back on the track and scored 16 points to Petoskey's eight for the win.

Jody Putman led the scoring with 14 points and Sean Ferguson had 13 for the victory. Don Proctor had eight points for Petoskey.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR Gaylord District Office

Many lakes in the northern counties are presently ice covered ranging in depth from 1 to 4 inches, but extreme caution should be exercised by anyone going out on these lakes.

Snowshoe rabbit hunters report the population below normal with only scattered areas that are producing good success.

Pressure and success generally light by grouse and archery hunters in the month-long season that will end January 1.

A joint operation by the DNR will conduct an elk survey on December 19, weather permitting. The last survey was done in January, 1983 with a count of 624 animals and the herd estimated at 700-plus.

Conditions for the opening of the beaver and otter trapping season that got under way December 10 are generally good with streams mostly clear of ice.

Cross country skiing and snowmobiling conditions were fair to good over the weekend and with more cold weather and snow expected, conditions conditions should be very good for the coming weekend.

Application cards for resident and senior resident turkey licenses will be available at DNR licensing issuing offices and all license dealers in mid-December, 1983. Applications will also be available by mail from the DNR Information Services Division in Lansing. Unsuccessful applicants will be refunded their application fee.

Townhouse, 6-0, leads adult league at break

Following last week's games in the Charlevoix Independent Basketball League, action will be suspended until after the holidays.

In action last week, Townhouse defeated First State Bank 71-33; Judy's Restaurant beat County State Bank 66-45; Erber-McKeown Ford defeated Wojan Aluminum 74-52 and Kit Carson downed Air Force 79-53.

Townhouse was ahead of First State Bank 16-10, 29-20 and 47-30 at each of the quarters behind the scoring of Clint Berlage who had 17 points, Steve Dunkelberg who had 13 and Chris Putman and Dan McKenzie who had 12 each. Ike Boss had 13 for the Bankers.

Judy's Restaurant held on to second place in league standings by defeating County State Bank 66-45. County State got off to a 12-8 first period lead but Judy's took control in the second period for a 25-23 halftime lead which was increased to 47-33 going into the final period. Randy Holecheck had 18, Jim Alger 14 and Kevin Swanson 12 points for the victors. Larry Skippergosh had 22 for County State.

Kit Carson, with a 79-53 win over Air Force, remains in third place in the standings. Carsons coasted to an easy win after leading the Air Force 18-10, 33-30 and 56-43 by quarters. Butch Kloester had 20 points, Vince Left 17, Dave Storm 16 and Mike Crain 10 for Carsons. Brian Stewart set the pace with 27 and Mike Runyon had 12 for the Air Force.

Erber McKeown Ford moved into fourth place in the standings after defeating Wojan Aluminum 74-52. Erbers led all the way 12-5, 28-23 and 49-33 by quarters. Mike Schmidt led the team's scoring with 14 points followed by Jim Parrish with 13, Dennis Dominic and Doug Drenth with 12 each and Mike Crain with 10. Stan Martin had 13 and Don Ward 10 for Wojans.

League standings are: Townhouse 6-0, Judy's 5-1, Kit Carson 4-1, Erber McKeown 3-2, First State Bank 2-3, County State Bank 1-4, Air Force 0-5 and Wojan 0-5.

Mrs. Lasater to head hospice

Margaret Lasater has been appointed Director of the Charlevoix County Hospice, replacing former director Kathleen Smith who resigned to continue her education.

Mrs. Lasater's role as director of the hospice will be to oversee and coordinate the work of volunteers and professionals who serve the needs of terminally ill people who have chosen to remain at home.

A Boyne City resident, Mrs. Lasater brings to her new job a background in education and social sciences. She holds a B.A. degree from Michigan State University as well as a Masters degree from MSU in Education of the Deaf and Hard of Hearing. She has worked in education in Northern Michigan and the Detroit area as well as in private business.

Charlevoix County Hospice is now accepting patients. Earlier this fall 14 people completed an intensive training program so they may work with the professional volunteers helping patients and their families in their homes. These individuals will assist families in myriad ways, running errands, visiting, assisting with household chores and generally being good neighbors.

In addition to coordinating the work of these volunteers, Mrs. Lasater will work closely with a team of professional volunteers including hospice's medical staff headed by Dr. Dennis Joy of Charlevoix.

Kathleen Smith, who served as Charlevoix County Hospice's first director and was instrumental in the founding of the hospice in Charlevoix County, resigned her position to return to college. The Board of Directors honored Mrs. Smith during their December meeting with a plaque acknowledging her tireless service.

Fund raising activities for Charlevoix County Hospice and another series of training classes for volunteers will be announced in January.

For further information on Charlevoix County Hospice call 536-2842.

SANTA WAS SMILING when he visited the Charlevoix Lions Club Christmas Tree Sale last week because the sale was such an unprecedented success. Every one of the 250 trees ordered by the Lions had been sold by Monday, December 12 with proceeds going to the abused and neglected childrens fund of the Probate Court. Chairmen Pat McKeown and Jack Lane attributed the success of the sale to the fact that all the trees this year were hand picked by McKeown, Don Couse, Ken Heininger and Dave Phillips. Gratitude was also expressed to Charlevoix Garbage for free pick-up, Medusa for the lighting, the Charlevoix High School art class for window decorations and Ron Pair for use of the building.

THE WORLD'S LARGEST CHRISTMAS STOCKING was presented last week by Central Drug Store owner John Ochs to Mary Bataran who won a special contest sponsored by Central Drugs. The Christmas stocking featured in the contest and shown above is over six feet long

Snow Emergency Called in County

Many Charlevoix County residents spent part of the Christmas weekend either without power, without plowed roads — or both — as subzero temperatures and howling winds plagued area road maintenance and power company crews.

The Christmas weekend blizzard left some county residents stranded for two to three days and drifts up to 12 feet high were reported on Peninsula Road north of East Jordan. Charlevoix sewage treatment plant recorded 18.5 inches of snowfall Dec. 22-27.

Main highways were open in Charlevoix County this morning. However a state of emergency still was in effect in the county as many side roads remained closed, according to Earl Muma, county emergency services director. Muma said the county sheriff department is advising residents not to drive unless absolutely necessary.

About 400 homes served by Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Co. were hit by a series of outages over the weekend due primarily to a downed power line between Advance and Hemingway Point, general manager Tom Hanna said.

The longest outage lasted nearly 10 hours, from 11:45 p.m. Saturday, Christmas Eve, to 9:20 Christmas morning.

The adverse weather and increased power demand due to the holidays contributed to the outages, Hanna said.

County road crews were sent in to open roads so that Top O' Michigan linemen could reach the downed line.

Hanna advises all Top O' Michigan customers that, when an outage occurs, to shut off all lights and electrical appliances. This will help Top O Michigan restore the load much easier and could mean the difference between a short and long outage, he said.

A large snowblower from the state highway department was expected to arrive from Kalkaska Tuesday morning to begin work on widening the state trunklines, said Fred Welch, county road commission engineer-manager.

If the weather cooperates, the county road crew will attempt to get all back roads opened today, Welch said. This morning most secondary roads were still plugged and sections of Horton Bay and Maple Grove roads in the northwest end of the county were also closed.

Welch guessed there were about six vehicles left abandoned along county roads.

The road commission had a full crew on the job Saturday and Monday and a skeleton crew of eight workers reported Christmas Day to handle emergencies.

ALMOST LIKE WINTER FOLIAGE, a thick coating of hoarfrost gave many trees a brilliant white appearance for the morning hours last Tuesday. The most spectacular examples, such as this tree on the Charlevoix Municipal Golf Course, were found on the north side. Low cloud banks drifting in off Lake Charlevoix in combination with extremely low temperatures resulted in the picturesque phenomenon.

Typo lowers County budget increase from 12 to 11 percent

by PEG OHLE

Only one private citizen turned out for the recent public hearing on the 1984 Charlevoix County General Fund Budget of Expenditures.

The budget presented for approval amounted to $2,996,771, up over 12 percent from the 1983 budget of $2,653,589. It was discussed, duly adopted by resolution, presented to the press and reported in the local daily newspaper.

However, it didn't add up. The sum of department expenditures was $30,000 less than the indicated budget total. A later check with the County Clerk disclosed it was a simple typographical error: The budget really totalled $2,966,711, up only 11 percent-plus over the 1983 budget!

Karl Waldner of Boyne City, the one and only private citizen in attendance at the budget hearing, voiced his opposition to holding the hearing during daytime hours so "the poor working peasants could not attend." He also raised objections to some of the ways in which public money is being spent.

The budget increase is due partly to increases in employee salaries and the hiring of new personnel in at least three departments, according to Commissioner Oral Sutliff, Ways & Means Committee chairman.

County employees received a raise of three percent of this year's salary plus 30 cents an hour. One new employee each is slated for the Cooperative Extension Service, Soil Conservation Service, and the Sheriff's Department.

The only explanation given for other budget increases is that they reflect the costs of providing services to the people of Charlevoix County.

Commissioner Don Smith, who represents the townships in the Charlevoix area, objected to the

A substantial part of the annual Charlevoix County budget goes for employee salaries and fringe benefits. Most employees have just been granted raises amounting to three percent of this year's salary plus 30 cents an hour.

This brings the 1984 salaries of elected and appointed officials up to:

County clerk, $18,952; treasurer, $18,952; register of deeds, $17,021; sheriff, $22,567; under-sheriff, $20,103; prosecuting attorney, $38,108; civil defense director, $14,437; equalization director, $21,452, county planner, $19,472; building code official, $20,023; building maintenance man, $15,111; drain commissioner, $4,060; veterans' affairs counselor (21 hours a week), $8,032; and medical examiner (as needed) $520.

Superfund TCE search continues

Testwells done; results in Jan.

by DAVE KNIGHT

Test well drilling as part of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) effort to find the source of trichloroethylene (TCE) contamination of Charlevoix's water system has been wrapped up but it will be at least until mid-January before any results indicating a potential source or sources of contamination is available.

John Perrecone, spokesman for the Region V EPA office in Chicago, said last week that a series of 12 monitoring wells were completed December 16 by team from Keck Consulting Services, Inc. of Williamston. The Keck firm was subcontracted to drill the monitoring wells by the engineering firm of CH2M Hill which holds the general engineering contract from EPA for Superfund projects, of which the Charlevoix TCE search is one.

Groundwater samples from the wells are now undergoing laboratory analysis, a process which has a two to three week turnaround, said Perrecone.

With the 12 wells now in place at selected locations fanning out from the municipal well, conductivity tests, which use water level readings, are now being done at the well sites to determine at what rate the groundwater is flowing.

The test wells were the first phase of an EPA Superfund "remedial investigation-feasibility study" that got under way in late November.

While the original timetable for the feasibility study phase was scheduled for the latter half of 1984, recent discussions involving the City of Charlevoix and the Michigan Department of Public Health (DPH) have resulted in the possibility that a faster, "two-track" approach may be taken.

The two-track approach is so named because it would start the process of studying alternative water systems as soon as it becomes evident that the elimination of the source or sources of TCE contamination will not be practical under the deadlines for action by the city set by the DPH.

Following an agreement reached with the DPH November 17, the city has until May 1, 1984 to decide on a definite course of action and until January 1, 1987 to implement its decision.

Perrecone said that the EPA's decision to fund a study of improvements to the Charlevoix water supply separately from its search and clean-up effort will ultimately be made at EPA headquarters in Washington.

He added, however, that the EPA Regional office is well aware of the May 1, 1984 DPH deadline and that a solution to the city's water problem, based on early data, is hoped for sometime in the "first quarter" of 1984.

Charlevoix City Manager Robert Hunt met again with representatives of the EPA, DPH and Department of Natural Resources (DNR) in Lansing December 15. In his report to City Council, Hunt said that the two-track approach appeared to be gaining favor within EPA but that other frustrations have developed.

Presently at issue is who shall assume the role of lead agency in designing and constructing an EPA-funded solution.

Hunt maintains strongly that the city is the most appropriate agency to take on this function saying, "I believe it will lead to a faster, less costly and better result."

While the EPA has had no problem in delegating Superfund responsibilities to a state agency such as the DNR, the DNR flatly refuses to pass along the role of lead agency to the City of Charlevoix.

"It is a legal impossibility for the city to take the lead role," said Ron Wilson, water quality specialist in the DNR's Remedial Action section.

Obituaries

PHYLLIS A. HUTZLER

Funeral services for Phyllis Ann Hutzler, 64, of Boyne City, who died Dec. 21, 1983, were held Saturday, Dec. 24, at the Free Methodist Church in Boyne City. Rev. Dale Turner of Marshall officiated. Burial was in Maple Lawn Cemetery, Boyne City.

Vanderwall Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

The former Phyllis A. Inman was born Sept. 15, 1919, in Boyne City. She moved to East Jordan as a young girl and graduated from East Jordan High School in 1937. On Aug. 7, 1937, she married George A. Hutzler in Charlevoix. From 1949 to 1963, the couple lived in Detroit returning to the Boyne City area in 1963.

Mrs. Hutzler was a waitress at Hilton Shanty Creek in Bellaire from 1965 to 1973 and worked in the blueprint department of Courter-Bendix in Boyne City from 1965 to 1967.

She was affiliated with the Free Methodist Church in Boyne City.

Survivors include her husband; one daughter, Mrs. Carl (Deborah) Massey of East Jordan; four grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Ernest (Mildred) Coxon of Concord and Mrs. Richard (Edna) May of Boyne City, and one brother, Charles W. Inman of East Jordan.

The family suggests memorials to the Charlevoix County Hospice. Envelopes for that purpose are available at Vanderwall Funeral Home.

Offices closed

Charlevoix County offices will be closed from Friday at 5 p.m. through the weekend until 9 a.m. Tuesday, Jan. 3.

Offices at the City Hall in Charlevoix will be closed from 5 p.m. Thursday until Tuesday at 9 a.m.

Camp Charlevoix acreage sold

A 300-acre tract of land on Lake Charlevoix's Oyster Bay on which the former Camp Charlevoix youth camp was located has been sold to a Grosse Pointe Woods interest.

Senior Corporation, a diversified real estate firm based in Miami, Florida, announced last week that it had completed the sale for an undisclosed amount to Fox & Associates of Grosse Pointe Woods.

Toni Splichal, representing Senior Corp., said that to her knowledge, the buyer of the property had no immediate plans for it.

The acreage, which is zoned for residential use, includes 2,700 feet of frontage on the north shore of Lake Charlevoix just north of the City of Charlevoix.

Other Senior Corp. holdings in northern Michigan include Birchwood Farm Estates, a planned-unit-development site near Harbor Springs and 450 additional acres near Harbor Springs.

Outdoor Report

from the DNR Gaylord District Office

Weather conditions the past week remained mostly cloudy with snowfall recorded each day. Temperatures ranged from 20 below zero to 32 above. Snowfall the past week was 11 inches with depths ranging from 8 inches in Alpena to 24 inches in portions of Cheboygan and Charlevoix Counties.

The elk survey has be rescheduled for January 9th because of the below zero temperatures.

Ice fishing is rapidly on the increase as most inland lakes are now ice covered. Ice depth ranges from 2-7 inches depending on the size and depth of the lake, caution should always be exercised.

Some fair to good catches of walleyes being taken from Black Lake, Cheboygan while bluegills, perch and northerns are being taken from many scattered locations. Many shanties are being placed on lakes at this time, and many more will be as we get near the January 1 spearing season and safer ice conditions. Name and address must be on all four sides of shanties in two inch waterproof lettering.

Pressure and success generally slow at this time on rabbits, deer, and grouse.

Cross country skiing and snowmobiling good at present as many trails are being groomed.

Fishermen are reminded to hold on to your present valid license, it is good until March 31. New licenses will be needed beginning April 1, 1984.

This department wishes everyone a happy holiday season and enjoy the great out doors.

AWARDS OF APPRECIATION were presented at last week's Charlevoix City Council meeting to two of the council's members who will be retiring as of January 1. Third Ward council member Clement Olach, left, was cited for his year and a half of service and First Ward council member Dr. Jeffrey Porter, right, was honored for his five year, eight month tenure on the City Council.

Central Lake Lions Club boosts fund for hospital

Thanks to the Central Lake Lions Club, the fund drive to raise $50,000 for new specialized monitoring equipment for Charlevoix Area Hospital's Intensive Coronary Care Unit, was swelled by $300, last week.

Nelson Kirby immediate past president of the Central Lake Lions, and Charles Themm made a pre-Christmas presentation to R.N. Kathy Boss, Patient Services Director.

Kirby commented that the donation was "in appreciation for the fine job Charlevoix Area Hospital laboratory and nursing staff has done for the past two years with their diabetes screening program in Central Lake."

The Lions Club donation will be added to the growing fund to help pay for the new monitoring equipment which will be installed in the ICCU this January. Two types of new monitoring capabilities will be added to the existing monitoring system at the hospital.

Invasive monitoring, which sends small delicate instruments through a catheter directly into the heart of critically ill patients, will enhance the ability of the ICCU staff to detect potential problems before they become serious.

Telemetry, or radio controlled monitors, will be used for less seriously ill patients with suspected heart irregularities. The radio controlled equipment will permit these patients to be placed on the medical-surgical floors of the hospital, where they will be monitored while they go through a more normal daily routine than they could as ICCU patients. This will provide physicians with a better picture of how their hearts are functioning.

The use of telemetry will also mean a savings to patients who do not have to remain in the ICCU, as well as having the effect of expanding the ICCU by freeing beds for the most seriously ill patients.

The fund drive to help the hospital pay for this equipment has been met with enthusiastic area response. Donations, which are tax deductible, help the hospital continue this sort of important equipment acquisition.

Cribbage tourney to start

The 52nd annual Masons-Oddfellows cribbage tournament will open Thursday, Jan. 5 at the Masonic Temple, Donald Couse, tournament secretary, has announced.

Play will begin at 8 p.m. and continue at this time every Thursday for ten weeks.

The Oddfellows are the defending champions. Albert Gerald Johnson will captain the team for the Masons and Albert Russell the Oddfellows team.

All cribbage players are invited to participate in the tournament. It is not necessary to be a member of either organization to play.

Knight on the Town

We love it here, remember?

by Dave Knight

When I got home last Thursday evening, our house resembled a cross between a Salvation Army soup kitchen and a Greyhound bus station.

Stranded motorists, whose vehicles had succumbed to one of the fiercest blizzards we've seen in a few years, had sought refuge at our Eveline Township homestead and were in various states of misfortune.

One had left her car right where she had planted it in a drift down the road and was nervously waiting to see if her husband would indeed fetch her. (He did.)

Another had called a tow truck and as I arrived, the tow truck driver was anxiously explaining to the hapless fellow that he could not tow him any further than my driveway. Seems the truck driver was getting a little jumpy about the embarassing possibility of him having to call a tow truck for his tow truck if he didn't get back onto the highway before our road drifted over completely.

That left said victim's van marooned in our driveway, with said victim and said victim's dog holed up in our living room. To complicate the issue, his home three miles away was heated with wood and could not be left untended through the night because the pipes would freeze.

We finally reached a neighbor with a snowmobile and within minutes, the rescuee was on the back of a Skidoo with a 30-pound springer spaniel on his lap heading for home.

Take heart, oh ye fellow denizens of the North! We are the ones who enjoy four seasons, right?

County budget...

budget for several reasons.

He said that he and some other members of the Board had not been told of the need for additional help in at least two of the departments scheduled to receive it. He objected to increases in per diem paid members of County sub-commissions and boards, and said he did not believe it was necessary to reprint the 50,000 County maps, because of coloring errors, at a cost of $7,500, among other cost-cutting items.

However, Smith suggested small increases for the Juvenile Officer and Sheriff. He also suggested several changes in record-keeping to simplify procedures and to follow directions laid down by the auditors.

None of Smith's suggestions were adopted before the roll call vote on the budget, so he voted against it. Later on, he was told by County Board Chairman Lee Moerland that many of his (Smith's) suggestions were being considered.

Smith replied that if he had been told that before the roll call vote, he would have voted for the budget.

"The law prevents the city from receiving money directly from the federal government. Either a federal agency like EPA or a state agency like DNR can take the lead but not the city."

Regardless of which level, state or federal, ends up in charge, Wilson assured that the city will have a "major involvement" in design and construction.

Wilson also maintains that it is much too early in the remedial investigation process to determine which direction the Superfund project will take and who will head it.

"Until the investigation is completed, it is premature and rather presumptuous for me to speculate on how each agency will be involved, said Wilson, "But I do know that the city will never be the lead agency."

Hunt's greatest fear is that, should the EPA delegate the lead responsibility to neither the city nor the DNR, the project may fall to the Army Corps of Engineers.

"This makes even less sense and I told the EPA and DNR as much," reported Hunt, "The Corps is so used to building projects for itself that I doubt it could ever successfully do a project for anyone else. As we know all too well, the Corps is simply not accustomed to allowing any inroads to its autonomy."

Wilson sees the Army Corps' involvement as a possibility saying, "The Corps has been involved in the areas of oversight and procurement on other Superfund projects."

Hunt called the DNR's position "insulting, not only to Charlevoix, but to every other local agency in the state that will ever have water supply problems on the Superfund list." (Charlevoix's is the first municipal water supply to qualify for Superfund money in the State of Michigan and one of the first in the country.)

Hunt went on to tell council that he plans to seek assistance from the Michigan Municipal League and State Senator Mitch Irwin to "help devise a way to weave our way through the tangle of red tape which once again threatens to stall any solution to the city's water woes."

Clockwise

Paying the piper

by Bob Clock

THERE IS A sense of balance in Nature that won't let us get out the door without paying the piper.

Take last winter, for example, one of the most beautiful on record. Snowfall was scanty at best. And when it did snow, a warm front moved in right behind the storm and melted it away.

February — which often is our coldest month — was downright balmy compared to other years

Furthermore, our delightfully "open" winter was followed by the most pleasant summer in living memory. The lakes warmed up early and stayed warm. Most days were hot, but not really uncomfortable Evenings were were reminiscent of the tropics.

Throughout that spate of deliriously fine weather I kept wondering when Mom Nature intended to balance the books. I thought maybe we'd have a blustery fall, with 80-knot winds off Lake Michigan pumping gigantic breakers down Pine River Channel. But we didn't. Fall was almost as nice as summer and some of us continued to take our nightly dips in Lake Michigan right into October.

FINALLY, HOWEVER, what I have been dreading all along has happened. The powers-that-be are finally making amends for the royal treatment we have enjoyed for the past 12 months. Charlevoix's snowfall since Dec. 1 is rapidly approaching the total snowfall for all of last winter (52.3 inches) and will probably have passed that mark by the time this column sees print, thanks to the winter solstice blizzard now in progress.

Although temperatures in Charlevoix continue to be moderated by the still unfrozen lakes, readings of 20 below have been common a few miles inland — unheard of temperatures for mid-December.

What lies in store for us in January, February and March is anybody's guess. Old Man Winter could back off and turn on the charm like he did last year. Or he simply could be winding up for another skein of weekly blizzards like we suffered through in the winter of 1981-'82.

In a way, we're lucky we don't know what lies ahead. If we did, we might all rush south like lemmings and tumble into the sea. But the worry and uncertainty of not knowing could drive us bonkers.

Old Bobby Burns certainly knew whereof he spoke when he wrote "To a Mouse."

Mousie, thou are blest compared wi' me.
The present only touches thee.
But Ouch! I backward cast my e'e
On prospects drear.
And forward though I canna see
I guess and fear.

Federal enterprise zones on horizon

by Congressman Bob Davis

A program to allow tax incentives for businesses located within designated enterprise zones is still under consideration by Congress. These enterprise zones have proven to be very effective in providing incentives for businesses already located in the zone to remain there or expand in economically depressed areas, and in attracting new business and industry into these areas. Currently, an enterprise zone is a designation made by either the state or the local government to a depressed area which is already zoned for business or industry. Any existing or new commercial venture within the zone is then eligible for the incentives.

Although this is not a new idea, only nine states have active enterprise zone programs in effect at this time. Another twelve states recently enacted legislation to set up programs of incentives to businesses located within areas of low employment and depressed economies. Michigan currently has enterprise zone legislation under consideration. The average length of time that these special zones have been in operation is about ten months, yet they have already proven that the enterprise zone works. In this ten-month period over 20,000 jobs have either been created, saved, or pledged by businesses within areas designated as enterprise zones. Additionally, over $450 million in new investments have been committed for development of new commercial ventures within the enterprise zones already created in the nine states.

Studies done on existing zones have shown that, contrary to earlier estimates, the main gains in employment came not from newly relocated businesses, but from renovations and plant expansions of existing businesses. A large share of the jobs created by these expansions went to the locally unemployed, including the long-term unemployed. The study showed that almost 30 per cent of new hiring in enterprise zones drew from the unemployed or disadvantaged residents in the area.

The success of these enterprise zone programs at the state level has prompted Members of Congress to consider offering a similar incentive program to businesses and industry willing to either relocate to depressed areas or to remain in these areas. These incentives would include a federal tax break, removal of some obstacles to business development, and streamlining regulatory procedures. The House Ways and Means committee has held hearings on the results of the programs at the state and local levels, and on the possibility of a federal program. Several pieces of legislation have been introduced on this subject and have already drawn considerable bipartisan support. The federal program would add additional incentives to the state and local programs in an effort to help areas which are especially in need of an economic boost.

I am hopeful that the interprise zone concept can be applied to Northern Michigan at aid in our economic revitalization.

County wages...

Members of the County Board of Commissioners did not give themselves a salary raise this year. They will continue to receive $1,800 a year plus $60 per diem for committee and liaison work.

Per diem for members of the various County sub-commissions and boards ranges from $60 for the Board of Canvassers and Plat Board to $32.50 for the Jury Board, Parks Commission, Building Code Appeals Board, Commission on Aging, and Library Board.

Other commission and board members are paid $50 per diem (County Road Commission special meetings); $45 (Welfare Commission, Elections Commission, Special Elections Commission, Building Authority, and Economic Development Commision); and $40 (Planning Commission).

Members of the County Road Commission receive $1,200 a year for attending monthly meetings. Medical Examiners receive $50 per within their own prescribed area and $75 per call outside their area.

In the non-classified personnel category, the circuit judge receives a supplement of $9,078 (his salary is paid by the state), and the district and probate judges (also state paid) receive a supplement of $5,578 each. The park manager receives $5,100.

Technical, office, paraprofessional, and service personnel are paid on a grade and level basis beginning at $5.34 an hour ($9,713 a year) and progressing to $19.65 an hour ($35,770 a year) for a professional management job.

County employees using their own vehicles for County business receive a mileage allowance of 23 cents a mile.

Salary figures for Emmet County employees were also recently announced. For comparison, here are seven of the top jobs:

County clerk, $21,360; treasurer, $21,360; register of deeds, $21,360; sheriff, $24,470; prosecuting attorney, $38,241; equalization director, $21,360; planner, $29,500.

Bill Klimas

Holiday music program planned

Charlevoix area residents are invited to attend a program of music for Christmastide, to be presented by Bill Klimas, organist, Fran Tollas, soprano, and Kate Kramer, violinist, at the St. Francis Church, Petoskey on Wednesday, December 28, at 7:30 p.m.

Bill Klimas is presently organist and music director at the First Unitarian Church in Philadelphia. He received degrees from Grand Valley State College in organ and piano, and from Westminster Choir College in organ performance. In Charlevoix he served as organist for the First Congregational Church for three summers, and received the Harold E. Kohn Scholarship for help in preparing for a music ministry. He has given organ recitals in Petoskey, Charlevoix, and the Grand Rapids area, and most recently in Philadelphia and Trenton, New Jersey.

Fran Tollas teaches voice in Charlevoix and at the Crooked Tree Arts Council in Petoskey, as well as a music class at the Petoskey Friendship Center. She holds degrees from the University of Michigan and Grand Valley State College in music history and Vocal performance. She has recently completed her second grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, written with the CHIP Counseling Center, presenting recital workshops for all ages.

Kate Kramer is a violist with the North Western Michigan Symphony in Traverse City, and most recently was the concert mistress with the orchestra at the Petoskey performance of the "Messiah". She is a graduate of the Interlochen Arts Academy and the University of Michigan, where she studied violin and the allied arts. She teaches violin at the Crooked Tree Arts Council and in the surrounding communities. As a versatile musician, she is also part of the outstanding local folk trio, Dr. Goodhart's Home Remedy.

Selections include compositions by Walcha and Franck, a Christmas song cycle by Cornetius, familiar songs and carols for Christmas, and a choral setting for organ, soprano, and violin by the 19th century composer Karg-Elert. A free will offering will be taken, and light refreshments will be served.

Rayders go to 5-0 with win over Gaylord

The Charlevoix Rayders won their fifth straight game of the season without a defeat last week beating the Gaylord Blue Devils 66-44 with another of their patented second half surges.

The Tuesday night game on the Rayders' home court was neck and neck through the first two quarters with Gaylord behind by one, 14-13 at the end of the first but ahead by one, 29-28, by halftime.

The second quarter, in particular, took its toll on the Rayders whose agressive man-to-man defense resulted in a rash of personal fouls. Gaylord took advantage of the situation, converting six of eight free throws in that quarter alone.

As has become a familiar routine, however, Charlevoix came out with some defensive adjustments and a smoking offense in the third quarter to outscore the Devils 19-10 and take a 47-39 lead that only increased as the game went on.

Gaylord, whose lack of rebounding resulted in very few second shots, managed only five points in the final quarter to Charlevoix's 19 and limped to the 66-44 loss.

Brent Cole, emerging as a worthy successor to Craig Klooster as a consistent scoring threat, led both teams in scoring with 22 points. Three other Rayders scored in double figures in the balanced attack with John Pearl hitting 15, Tim LaBlance 13 and Doug Sloan 10. Jim Martin contributed six points and was an integral part of Charlevoix's domination of the boards in the game.

For Gaylord, Gary Scott was high scorer with 17 points.

Charlevoix's next action will be in the Traverse St. Francis Christmas Invitational this week. The Rayders face Glen Lake in the opening round Tuesday night, Dec. 27 at 7 p.m. Finals of the tourney are set for Thursday.

A WEATHERVANE TERRACE MOTEL ROOM was converted into a temporary water analysis laboratory for all practical purposes over several recent weeks as the Environmental Protection Agency's search for the source of TCE contamination of Charlevoix water got under way in late November with test well drilling. To facilitate the search process, the portable analysis equipment was set up at the Weathervane to enable drillers to get a quick read-out of TCE levels from various well sites and from various depths at each well.

Above, technician Stacy Merrigan of the Ecology & Environment firm of Buffalo, sub-contracted by EPA for the Superfund project in Charlevoix, runs a water sample test on a Photovac portable photoionazation gas chromatograph. Seconds after introducing the sample into the Photovac with a syringe, above, the level of TCE detected in the sample is indicated and marked on a printout, below. The capability to get fast analysis results from the portable equipment enabled the drilling teams to zero in much more rapidly on the contamination plume.

Eye ailment going around from District Health

Dept. No. 3

Acute hemorrhagic conjunctivities (pink eye) is an extremely contagious form of viral conjunctivitis. According to Dr. Brian Youngs, Regional Medical Director for District Health Departments Number 3 and 4 (The top 8 counties of the lower peninsula) "Our region has not had any major outbreaks, but periodic reports of conjunctivitis are occurring."

Conjunctivitis is inflammation of the white part of the eyeball and the inside part of the eyelid. The symptoms of conjunctivitis vary depending on feeling that something is in the eye, redness in both eyes, swelling of the eyelids, excessive tearing, and bloody blotches of the white part of the eye and inner part of the eyelids. Frequently, every member of a family becomes ill in which one member has been affected. It typically lasts only one week and usually requires no special treatment. No long-term vision problems are usually recognized following this illness.

Patients with bacterial conjunctivitis or "pink eye", have redness of the eye large amounts of pus-like discharge. Frequently, the eye lashes are coated with crusts of foreign material, causing the eyelids to stick together. Specific treatment with a local application of an antibiotic is generaly needed.

Good handwashing practices have prevented the spread of conjunctivitis among medical personnel and are encouraged among contacts of patients with this infection. Articles soiled with discharges should not be shared soch as towels and washcloths. Children should not attend school while ill.

If a person suspects that they or a member of their family has conjunctivitis, or any eye infection, the person should see a physician to establish the diagnosis and receive treatment. Individuals with questios should contact their family physician or contact any District Health Department office in Antrim 533-8670, Charlevoix 547-6523, East Jordan 536-7371, Otsego (517) 732-1794 and Emmet County at 347-6014.

If you have further questions about this release contact Bert Notestine at 347-6014.

For Saints and Sinners

by Pastor David H. Yingling United Methodist Church

To read: John 1:1-18

We have a problem. God is always reaching out to us through our interactions with life and trying to move us toward the fulfillment of our highest possibility. But how are we to recognize what God is doing in our lives? How are we to know which experiences rightly represent God and which misrepresent God? How are we to know how we should respond and what shape our lives should take?

In one event in human history, God did something decisive to help us with this problem. God purposefully became knowable. God took all of the truth we need to know about God, and about the meaning of life, and about how we ought to live, and wrapped all of that truth up in one package and put it before us in a form that we could understand. God put it before us in the life of a person like ourselves who lived under circumstances like our own. That person was Jesus of Nazareth. The whole Christian faith pivots around that event that was his life.

The church has been very careful to spell out its beliefs about Jesus. It is important to remember that Jesus was really human just as we are. He was a man living in a perfect relationship with God. But there was more to the Christ event than just the exemplary life of a good man. In the life of Jesus, God acted purposefully to save us from the distortion of our lives and to move us toward the fulfillment of our high purpose. In the Christ event, we see both God reaching out in love toward humanity and humanity living in a perfect response to God.

Down through the centuries, the lives of many people have been changed by the discoveries they have made through Jesus Christ. Many have told about the difference he has made in their lives. Their stories have been different because God has found them in many different situations, suffering from many different distortions of life, and God has acted in each of their lives in a way that would meet their particular needs. Some of these stories have shaped the great doctrines of the church. Many of us suffer from the same needs and distoritions of life that the storytellers suffered from. When we read their stories and understand what they mean, we can learn from them what God is trying to do in our lives.

Something to do:

Try to become conscious of your own deepest needs. Let the good news that God is reaching out in love to help you, encourage you to be honest about your need for help.

From the book "I Believe" by James L. Killen, Jr.

Dear Friends,
... Because of you we are a success—Thank you.

On December 31 we will close our doors however, we will be thinking of you. We are going to collect the best of New York and bring it back for you ... and your teenage daughter. In our lower level we will open a new trendsetting store for juniors. Look forward to seeing you all in the spring.

Volunteers' only pay is satisfaction

by PEG OHLE

(This is the conclusion of a two-part series on volunteers who work with the Sheriff's Department. In this installment, we report on other activities of the more than 60 volunteers who work in the Sheriff's Department.)

Among the most active Sheriff's volunteers are the Junior Deputies who are shown above putting together fruit baskets which they distributed Decemebr 18 to elderly citizens around the community.

It was probably only natural that Dick Gallant of Marion Center should join the Sheriff's Patrol Posse. As he explains it, he runs a gun shop and frequently goes to the Sheriff's Department to receive permits for and to register guns.

Dick has been part of the seven-member Patrol Posse for over five years. He characterizes a posse member as one who provides "an extra set of eyes, ears, and hands for the certified officer."

Dick and other members of the Patrol Posse spent over a year learning the communications and road patrol skills of the Posse. As a member of the group, he is certified with weapons and to handle hand guns. He always works with a regular officer and the only thing he can't do that the officer can do is make arrests. However, he can hold and detain a suspect.

Dick, who is employed by American Mold, volunteers for one night shift a week on the Sheriff's Posse, working from 12 midnight to 5 a.m. During the concert season at Castle Farms, he works the concerts regularly, and on occasion is called from his home to help with a traffic accident or other emergency. He is certified in cardio-pulmonary resuscitation and advanced first aid so he is able to provide professional help in emergencies.

Sheriff Lasater stresses that Patrol Posse members are always the second person under the direction of a full-time officer, that they do not take the place of an officer.

Dick says he knows his volunteer work is appreciated because "It is seldom that Posse members don't get a 'thank you' at the end of a shift."

Sheriff Lasater points out the diversity in occupations of Communications and Patrol Posse members: security guard at Big Rock, telephone company employee, two employees of local industry, local power company employee, psychologist, three housewives, bank employee, carpenter, and student.

As with all Sheriff's Department volunteers, members of the Posses receive no compensation. In fact, some time ago, Dick Gallant was injured while patroling at Castle Farms and could not work for several days. He was not compensated in any way for his time off from work.

Posse members wear uniforms like those of the deputies except for different shoulder patches and badges. The uniforms are "hand-me-downs" from the deputies and when they don't fit, "It's good to have a wife who is handy with a needle," Dick says.

The Mounted Horse Posse is another Sheriff's Department volunteer group. It is made up of 25 experienced horse people who are on call for search and rescue operations as well as patrol duty in the parking lot at Castle Farms. Each year, Sherriff Lasater "loses himself" somewhere in Charlevoix County and the Mounted Posse is called out to find him. So far they have.

The use of horses at Castle Farms was undertaken only after the horses and their riders went through several training drills, including using lighted firecrackers to try to frighten them. "Horses have a psychological impact," Sheriff Lasater says, pointing out that many people are afraid of them.

"Before the Mounted Posse was used at Castle Farms, at least one rape was reported at each concert. With the FBI statistic that at least four rapes occur for each one reported, this means there were actually at least five rapes at each concert. Now, with the use of the Mounted Posse, no rapes are being reported," he explains.

Deputy Sheriff Michael Wheat is in charge of the volunteers who make up the Mounted Posse.

The Neighbood Watch Program was organized three or four years ago when neighbors discovered a breaking and entering in progress. They called other neighbors and eventually the criminals were apprehended.

The increased activity brought to the Marion and Eveline Townships area by Castle Farms concerts called for further "Neighborhood Watch action so the program was enlarged and more volunteers signed up. They now operate two citizens band stations and several cars monitor Channel 9 on concert nights.

Pat Lambert of Marion Township has been active in the Neighborhood Watch since the beginning. Right now, she says the group is trying to raise money for some "Neighborhood Watch" signs. "People with crime in mind won't go where they see these signs," she explains.

The Watch program is designed not only to protect personal property but children and adults as well. Although it has been more active in northern Marion and Eveline Townships, members would like to see it spread to other critical areas of the County.

The services provided by the Watch program are cited by the Sheriff, who says that his first advice of a criminal action often comes from the Watch.

The volunteer watchers are serving because they feel there is a definite need for their services, according to Pat Lambert, adding that more volunteers are needed.

Retired Charlevoix school teacher Betty Potter has been spending many volunteer hours at the jail in recent months teaching four illiterate prisoners how to read.

The experience has been most rewarding, she says, because "Helping adults who are at rock bottom is more rewarding than teaching 25 children." Learning to read changes an adult's self image, Betty has found, and when she proves to them that after learning a few words, they can learn a lot more, they are like new persons.

Day One

There are 365 days ahead for all of us. No one knows what is going to happen on those days. Many will be days to be remembered. Let us take this year one day at a time. Let us fill each day with peaceful thoughts and with love for our neighbors. Day Two, Day Three, even Day Three Hundred may then be as full of hope and joy as Day One.

To everyone who reads the Charlevoix Courier, our best wishes for a very happy 365 new days.

instrumental in setting up a Literacy Council this fall, attended by three men and 11 women who are being trained to teach reading skills. One of the men, Bob Hooper, has taken over Betty's jail work for the winter while she does volunteer work in Alabama. As time goes on, other members of the Literacy Council will volunteer to help jail inmates.

Members of the Charlevoix County Ministerial Association serve as chaplains to jail inmates. Each one is on call one week at a time and available for spiritual counseling and guidance for whoever requests help.

One of the chaplains also holds an informal "service" each Saturday afternoon at 1:30, complete with scripture readings and a little talk relating the scriptures to present-day living.

The Reverend David Yingling of the Charlevoix United Methodist Church is head of the Chaplain's Committee. He says that some chaplains hope to be able to serve for three or four weeks at a time, which would give them an opportunity to set up Bible study classes for the inmates.

Other future plans call for Sunday afternoon services and counseling to try to reconcile inmates with God and perhaps the persons they have offended, Reverend Yingling adds.

At least one lay person is also active in the chaplain's program with jail inmates. Jim Rathburn, a member of the East Jordan Missionary Church regularly volunteers his counseling services and holds get-togethers with inmates.

The Reverend Mike Mitchell of the Assembly of God Church in Charlevoix is president of the County Ministerial Association, which only recently undertook this volunteer program.

Sheriff Lasater is forever grateful for the help the volunteers give his Department and says he could use more volunteers in all present programs and any other programs that would fit into his service area. Statistics indicate why the need has arisen:

In 1976, when Sheriff Lasater took over his job, the Sheriff's Department handled 976 activities and complaints. In 1983, the total will be about 9,500.

In 1976, the population of the jail averaged 5.5 persons a day. In 1983, the average population is 15.5 persons a day.

The Sheriff's Department is now working with a staff of two fewer persons than in 1976, Sheriff Lasater points out. He has lost the services of a detective and now has only a part-time custodian and part-time matron instead of full-time people in those positions.

Volunteers wishing to serve the community through the Sheriff's Department should contact Sheriff Lasater at 547-4461.

CHRISTMAS AROUND THE WORLD was the theme of the annual Christmas pageant held at the Charlevoix Elementary School last week. That theme was evident in the colorful international costumes of the students shown above.
